

Q. You are acquainted with the real estate in which your uncles and the members of your family have an interest, located at Knoxville?

A. Yes.

Q. Will you describe the real estate in question for us?

A. It consists of a piece of ground of about one acre of land, improved with a log-weatherboarded house, containing six rooms and a kitchen, together with a fine well of water.

Q. In your opinion, would it be possible to divide the real estate in question among the parties entitled thereto?

A. No, sir.

Q. You believe it would be for the best interest of all the parties entitled that the property be sold under the direction of the Court and the proceeds of sale divided among those entitled?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. In your opinion, what is the property worth?

A. $500.00.

To the General Interrogatory: Nothing further.
