At The Ringside

By LUIX OVERBEA

CHICAGO (ANP) — Challenger Archie Moore and Chairman Bob Christenberry of the New York State Athletic Commission are putting the squeeze on light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim.

Moore is becoming more insistent in his demands for a title bout with the champ. His manager, Charley Johnson announced that he is offering Jack Kearns, Maxim's manager, a $100,000 guarantee or 50 per cent of the net gate if Jim Norris, head of the International Boxing Club would promote a title bout.

Johnson continued:

"If Moore should win, he will sign four contracts with four leading contenders for a fight a month. These fights will be with Maxim, Jake La Motta, Bob Satterfield and Irish Bob Murphy or anyone Norris picks."

Formal Challenge

This announcement was made in a letter by Johnson to Christenberry. Johnson already has filed $5,000 with the New York boxing commission in a formal challenge to Maxim.

Maxim is getting the big squeeze from Christenberry from a complaint by Jack Solomons, British promoter, who claims that Joey is running out on a scheduled title bout with London's Randy Turpin in London.

Christenberry has ordered Maxim an Kearns to appear before the state commission to answer the Solomons charges, Thursday, Aug. 21. The purpose, Christenberry said in his letter, is "to determine whether your conduct in such matters was in the best interest of boxing."

British Pressure

The British Board of Boxing Control sent a formal request to Christenberry asking him to hear the Maxim side of the story.

With all this pressure, maybe boxing fans will see Maxim put his title on the line. This ringsider feels that since Maxim knows a good payday when he sees one, probably he will prefer a return bout with Ray (Sugar) Robinson for his title than one with such strong men as Moore or Turpin.

Robinson is only a middleweight, and there is a possibility that in a second fight he may fade away just as he did in their first battle.

Vacation Time

This ringsider is happy to inform you that vacation time is here and there will be no column unless—he can persuade two leaders in the field of boxing, Truman K. Gibson Jr., secretary of the International Boxing club, and Rocc F. Waters Jr., a member of the Illinois State Athletic commission, to write guest columns while he takes a rest.

Otherwise—so long for a while.

Cloverdale To Hold 'Arthur Bragg Day'

Baltimore's gift to the Olympics, a modest track star who thinks that it is unnecessary for him to have a special celebration, will receive local honors on Wednesday at Cloverdale Park.

ART BRAGG

Honors in the form of a plaque will be bestowed upon Art Bragg former Morgan State trackster from the children of Cloverdale.

In addition local and state officials are expected to be on hand to extend congratulations to Bragg on "his day."

A former member of the Cloverdale track team before entering Morgan, Bragg is the second Baltimorean to be so honored.

Similar honors were heaped upon another local lad, Earl Johnson following his Olympic debut.

Bragg failed to win in his specialty in Helsinki last month, after suffering an injury.

The 21-year-old June grad now has high hopes of competing in the '56 Olympics in Australia.

He plans to keep in condition throughout the fall by participating in a number of indoor meets.

Among those expected to extend honors to Bragg on Wednesday are the Morgan State Alumni Association, Mayor D'Alesandro, Governor McKeldin, Theodore Brown, recreation department official, and Carl Murphy, president of the AFRO - AMERICAN Newspapers.

Also Coach Ed Hurt of Morgan, President Martin Jenkins, Houston R. Jackson, assistant superintendent of schools, and Albert White, former national president of the AAU.

Yokelys Await Redbird Nine

Rapidly becoming accepted as the city's lone tan representative All Stars this week are awaiting the invasion of the Jersey City Cardinals, set for Sunday.

The local clan, winners of 15 of their 18 home starts, are back at Westport Stadium this Sabbath. This time they play host to one of the three clubs that have beaten them this season. In a mid-June double-header, the Redbirds divided with the Yokely outfit.

The Stars' 1952 record was held intact Sunday when a seven-run rally in the ninth gave them a 12-11 decision over Spring Grove at Westport last Sabbath.

Coming into the final frame trailing by 11-5, the Yokelys staged a tremendous rally that overhauled the white Tri-State League champions and gained the right to the trophy awarded by radio station WITH.

Coming into Westport on the heels of the Cards are the Washington Pilots, always a toughie on the diamond circuit, and the same team which romped to an easy win over one of their two games early last month.

Easter Swings Hot Bat, But Indians Only Split

2 Sunday Homers Prolong 9-8 Senator Win; Tribe Takes Arc Tilt, 7-2

WASHINGTON

The Cleveland Indians, by breaking even in a two - game series with the Washington Senators, were back within one game of the league - leading New York Yankees as they moved into Philadelphia Tuesday.

The Tribe took Monday night's game behind Bob Lemon, 7-2, a few hours after the Yankees had been victimized by a 1-0 no-hitter by Detroit and Virgil Trucks.

Luke Easter and Larry Doby, who have been the big guns for the Indians on their eastern trip, had but one safety between them in the arclight victory, that being a run-producing single by Doby in the ninth inning. However, Harry Simpson had two hits, scored Cleveland's initial run, then batted in the final Tribe tally in that same ninth inning.

A capacity crowd at Griffith Stadium on Sunday saw Big Luke almost singlehandedly carry the Washington Senators to 16 innings before they were able to salvage a 9-8 victory that one time stood at 4-0 and again, at 7-2 in the home club's favor.

Two booming homers accounted for five of the Tribe's runs, and it was the second of these round trippers that deadlocked the score at 6-8 in the top of the ninth, just when the more than 36,000 fans were looking for the exits.

Easter's climactic blow tallied two runners ahead of him, wiped out an 8-5 Washington lead, and sent the contest spinning into seven extra frames before reaching a conclusion.

Hits Centerfield Seats

In the third, the large first baseman drove the first of his two smashes into the centerfield seats to register Doby, who had walked, ahead of him. The ninth-inning score, Doby swat cleared the rightfield wall with room to spare.

Easter needed these two homers, plus his 15th frame single, however, to take him off the hook in the game's opener. For it was he who committed three of the Indians' seven errors in the loss by played affair. He also struck out three times, each time with at least one man on the bad hickey.

Doby obtained one hit in six trips plateward and scored twice. Simpson was without a safety in six times at bat.

Win, Lose in N.Y.

Vic Raschi stopped the big bats of Easter and Doby and pitched the New York Yankees to a six hit 1-to-0 victory over the Indians Saturday.

Easter, at bat four times, singled in the second inning and went to second when Al Rosen walked. Easter reached third when Harry Simpson attempted a fake sacrifice and forced Rosen at second. But he was left stranded when Ray Boone hit into a double play.

Doby went hitless in four tries, as did Simpson in three.

Led by Easter, the Indians de-

I Believe in Insurance...

I believe in insurance because:

1. It represents an easy method of saving money. Once I have made the investment, I have no temptation to withdraw any part of it for other purposes.
2. This temptation would be present if I put the equivalent amount in savings banks or savings bonds.
3. Life insurance is a necessity no matter how little or how much the individual earns.

These are three excellent reasons for owning insurance.

In addition, many people find insurance a bulwark against the expense that may come from accident or injury, a way to provide for education of children, and for secure retirement.

Remember—more than half of all insurance payments go to living policy holders.

Wouldn't you like to find out what life insurance can do for you?

Citizens Get Scolded For Lack Of Interest In Civil Defense

The people of Baltimore were severly criticized for failure to participate in civil defense activities in a statement issued Monday by Col Frank Miani, Civil Defense director.

"It has been just finished a tour of the city's seven civil defense districts," said Colonel Miani. "During the tour I met about 280 civil defense volunteers. Less than 10 of this number were colored."

He added: "Recruitment of volunteers is going on all of the time and since nearly a third of the city's population is colored I had expected that a third of the civil defense volunteers would be colored."

Colonel Miani said that when he assumed office he promised that the civil defense program would be integrated. "This policy has been consistently followed he declared. "I want to make it perfectly clear that when civil defense meetings are called or announced, all citizens, regardless of race, color or creed, are invited, welcome and expected to take part. Whatever facilities are provided are available to all citizens on the same basis," he said.

Colonel Milani's statement declared further:

"Every citizen has a duty to participate in civil defense in order to save his own life. Anyone who has not been contacted and asked to assist in the program should take the responsibility of contacting Civil Defense headquarters on his own initiative. It is the personal responsibility of everone to find the place where he can best serve and help."

Pins Responsibility

He concluded by saying:

"The various communities must be organized for civil defense. Unless the colored citizens these communities do this important work, it may be necessary for men to send in people from other areas who don't get the job done."

Th problem of recruitment was addressed by Colonel Milani in a series of meetings with district coordinators and their staffs just completed. It was pointed out that recruitment should begin at the initial or block level for civil defense jobs, and with the full understanding of the volunteer of the obligation he has assumed.

No Stop-And-Go

Any thought that civil defense is a stop-and-go proposition should be dispelled, according to Colonel Milani, who declared that there is no stop-and-go in civil defense.

The most important echelon in the initial stage of organization, it was pointed out, is the block or neighborhood group.

William Muth, director of public relations for Civil Defense, emphasized:

"We do not intend to make a big show with a long list of names. What we need is a large number of people willing to do a specific job in the civil defense program."

Campbell Gets Testimonial

Top Schools Offer Him Scholarships

By KENNETH JENKINS

PLAINFIELD — Thousands of local residents lined the steps of the City Hall on Aug. 12 to cheer 18-year-old Milt Campbell, home-town Olympic hero, who placed second in the decathlon at Helsinki, Finland.

He received a silver medal for his feat.

Accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Campbell, and his sister, Sandra, the high school athlete clad in his Olympic blue jacket and gray slacks, told the crowd with typical modesty:

"Thank you very much. There isn't much I can say now. I tried to do all my talking for you in Helsinki. Thanks for giving me an opportunity to have an experience few boys my age ever received."

Howard At Luncheon

Campbell and his parents were introduced to Mayor Crane and other municipal officials at the City Hall at 11 a.m. A motorcade to the Park Hotel followed where a luncheon was held for him.

A fund drive, sponsored by a citizen's committee headed by M Tom Williams, enabled Campbell and his coach, Harold Bruguire, to attend the Olympic trials in Los Angeles last month.

Local high school pupils staged a "Milton Campbell Day" and raised over $1,500 from business and professional leaders and downtown merchants to finance the California trip.

Offered Scholarships

The publicity which his achievements at Helsinki has inspired and the discovery that he is a football at tackle as well as a great athlete has opened up new academic virtas for Campbell.

Attractive scholarship offers, it was reported Friday, will be made to him by such outstanding institution at:

Cornell, Illinois, Stanford, Southern California, Michigan, California and Indiana Universities, and Penn State.

Howard Begins Grid Drills On Labor Day

WASHINGTON

Two full - scale drills on Labor Day, and each day thereafter until school begins will mark the opening of the football season at Howard University for some 40 to 50 veterans and newcomers.

Coach Eddie Jackson, who piloted his Bisons to a 5-4 mark in 1951, is planning strategy for a rugged nine-game slate which includes West Virginia State, defending CIAA champions, were on Oct. 4.

The tussle with the Yellow Jackets, who posted a 9-0-1 mark to oust A. and T. College with a 5-1-0 record for the title, will be the first home opponent for the locals.

Coach Jackson could make no prediction on the relative strength of this year's squad, but commented he certainly will have to strengthen both tackles slots. He lost Capt. John Carter, 240-pound All - CIAA tackle from Catskill, N.Y.; and Richard Pope, 220-pound tackle from South Bend, Ind.

He is particularly concerned with the vacancy left by Carter for whom he foresees trouble in finding a replacement. "Carter had speed, strength and grit in tackle, and was a standing influence on the team. Seldom does one find all these qualities in a player," he opined.

Aside from Carter, the Hilltop coach will be without the service of Sam Hoston, 185-pound will-o-the-wisp runner from Ansonia, Conn., who is remembered for his game-winning 85-yard touchdown jaunt against Hampton, and Charles Howard, 215-pound tackle from Philadelphia.

Walker Post Bows In Regional Finals

PARKERSBURG, W. Va.—The James E. Walker Post, crippled by injuries and erratic play, bowed out in the final of the American Legion baseball regional playoffs, here Tuesday night to Wilmington, Del.

The Walker nine, first tan District American Legion representative, succumbed to the mixed Delaware team, by lopsided scores, 14-3, and 8-2, before crowd estimated at close to 5,000 fans.

However, it was the farthest any District representative has advanced in the regional playoffs.

Won Two Straight

Walker, winner of two straight games, 6-4 over Cassel-Saxon of Silver Spring, Md.; and 7-5 over Wilmington in a semi-final tilt, just didn't have the steadiness and punch in the final payoff contests.

The Distrct nine gave way to 10 runs in the first inning of the opening game, and never were in the contest thereafter. The initial tilt was called in the seventh inning with Walker conceding defeat.

Wilmington jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first inning of the second tilt, then added clincher points in the second and third innings to practically ice the contest.

Wilmington, Mixed Team

The mixed Wilmington team will represent the regions, Delaware, West Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia in the sectional playoffs slated at Pittsfield, Mass. ending this week.

Six tan players starred with the Wilmington team. They were John Stansbury, second baseman; Charles Stewart, catcher; Bernie Pinkett, third baseman; Orlandus Green, center fielder; Fred Mason, pitcher; and Warren Pinkett, right fielder. All attend Howard High School in Wilmington.

The Wilmington crew moved into the finals with a pair of wins and one setback. They edged Cissel- Saxon of Silver Spring, 2-1; Fairmont of West Virginia, 7-2, and bowed to the Walker Post, 7-5.

Post, Big Favorite

A big favorite going into the finals undefeated, the Walker Post actually beat itself with the help of injuries to three key players.

Going into crucial game, Walker had Garry Proctor, Rudolph DeVaughn, and Henry Gaskins on the ailing list. Proctor injured his right leg sliding in the first inning of the second game, and never regained neither his stride over his hustle. He was one of the Post's heaviest hitters, registering a .750 batting average for the regional tourney.

Gaskins, whose defense work at shortstop has been a big factor in the Walker Post achievement, injured his left ankle while sliding, and despite careful attention by Coach Leo Mills and trainers, never regained full use of the leg. Robert Green replaced Gaskins in the second game of the final playoff when the latter gave evidence of constant pain while playing.

DeVaughn In Star Role

Stout - hearted Rudolph DeVaughn, Dunbar (D.C.) athlete, played the entire four games despite injured fingers on his throwing hand. If was a tribute to the youngster, playing in his first big tourney and under constant pressure despite his injuries.

Wilmington had it easy in the first game when it pieced together two hits and eight errors, seven of which were in the infield, to push across 10 runs in the initial inning.

Charles Cephas, lanky southpaw, who hurled the Walker Post into the District championship, and figured in one of the regional victories, left the game after the Wilmington team had scored six runs.

Cephas Withdrawn

Coach Mills, figuring the 10 runs were too much to overcome, wanted to give Cephas a rest and have him fresh for the second contest which was to follow.

Cephas went all the way in the second game, but again errors paved the way for his defeat coupled with sloppy base running. This was evident in the fact the Walker Post peppered the pitched Fred Mason for 12 hits, yet garnered only two runs.

Walcott Signs For Marciano

Tickets for the world heavyweight title fight will go on sale in Philadelphia Labor Day (Monday), with prices ranging from $40 ringside to $5 general admission. Reserved seats are priced at $15 and $10, with boxes at $35 per chair.

PHILADELPHIA — Contracts were signed here Wednesday for the proposed heavyweight title fight between champion Jersey Joe Walcott, of Camden, N.J., and challenger Rocky Marciano, of Brockton, Mass.

The bout will be staged at Municipal Stadium on September 23, with promoter Herman Taylor collaborating with the International Boxing Club in putting it on.

Walcott, who dethroned Ezzard Charles, 18 months ago, and successfully defended against the Cincinatian here in June, will receive 40 per cent of the receipts. The challenger, whose chief claim to fame is a knockout of Joe Louis in November, 1951, gets 20 per cent.

Estimates are that the gate receipts, television and movie fees will provide a gate of a million dollars.

Champion of them all!
