BROOKLYN ADDS FOURTH STAR TO LINEUP

WANTS THE REAL McCOY:

Wilson, Saints' Star, Hates Hits That Ain't

ST. PAUL. — Getting base hits are the baseball player's delight. But to get a base hit that isn't well hit doesn't make Bob Wilson, young St. Paul third baseman, happy.

Wilson, hitting over .340 for the Saints since the season started, was in a terrible batting slump in late June and early July. He hit the skids again for a week in July, but is out of it now and certainly happy to have only the memory.

"Breaking of a batting slump is tough," young Wilson, tabbed as a $15,000 prospect, said. "It's a headache. You wonder why you are doing wrong.

"I never had so much trouble in my life and I've been playing baseball for a long time. I can't remember when I didn't have a ball in my hand.

"I'll give batting practice the credit for solving my hitting problems."

Manager Praises Spirit

But to give batting practice the full credit isn't fair in Manager Clay Bryant's book. Bryant, the freshman skipper of the Saints and a former ace pitcher with the Chicago Cubs, feels that Wilson's attitude, hustle and intelligence will lift him some day into the major leagues.

"Wilson is a fellow who won't quit," Bryant said. "When he was in batting slumps he didn't moan and groan. He wasn't a prima donna either. He went out to the park and hit with the pitchers. You seldom see that happen today as ball players are handled with kid gloves.

"Wilson took his turn with the pitchers and then when the regulars hit he was in the batting cage some more. That's the type ball player who can get ahead these days."

Marks Debut

For Wilson it marks his debut in triple A circles to be playing in the American Association. He's lived up to Bryant's expectations at the plate.

In the field his lack of experience and the continual pressure have combined to make him unsteady at times, particularly in throwing out the final out with runners on base.

Wilson, voted the most popular player at Elmira last year where he hit .313, was watched carefully by Buzzy Bavasi, vice-president of the Brooklyn Dodgers during his stay in St. Paul. Wilson was on the shelf for a couple of days with a jammed hand, received as he refused to step out of the way of a husky Minneapolis base runner.

Doesn't Score

Wilson's play on base runners has been sensational. He won't back up for the biggest and roughest runners in the league. Flying spikes don't bother him. The bigger and harder they slide into his corner, the harder he hits them.

If Brooklyn doesn't win the pennant this year Walter O'Malley, the president of the club, has said he was going to shuffle up his team. Wilson may fit into that shuffle. The Dodgers may call him up to Ebbets Field or use him in a deal for the men they want. If the Dodgers do pedgle him they'll have plenty of offers.

Being named on the circuit's All-Star team and in the midst of the league pennant race, Wilson is out of the fight for the league batting title should make Wilson a bright spot in the Dodger farm system.

Chosen Over Yankee Chattel

Wilson was given the All-Star third base spot despite a performer like Andy Carey, given a mighty try by the Yanks twice, being in the league. He's hitting .340 and trails Dave Pope of Indianapolis, another All-Star winner, by a mere six points. Wilson has a long home stand in front of him and he'll shoot for the crown.

Seven of the nine top hitters in the league are collected in a tie. That makes them the best collection in the Minor Leagues.

Following Pope is Vic Power of Kansas City, another member of the All-Star aggregation which is one of the best in history, who has 345, a point under the Indian ace. Luis Marquez, Wilson, S. and D. Amoros, now with Brooklyn, Buzz Clarkson and Lomax Davis are all in the scrap with Davis not eligible because of his short stay in the league.

Hurt Faces Many Problems Shaping 1952 Grid Bears

BALTIMORE — With a maximum prospect of 22 letter men returning, Coach Edward P. Hurt, referred to in some quarters as the "Miracle Man" of CIAA football, was enshrouded in gloom as he made final preparations to greet his gridders on August 21. Here are the men upon whose shoulders the Morgan mentor must place the brunt of the 1952 campaign:

ENDS — Irvin Locust (co-captain), James Gamble, Matthew Marcus;

TACKLES — Roosevelt Brown (co-captain), Roland Cropper, James Fields, Pasley Graham, Albert Jennin;

GUARDS — William Buford, Edgar Covert, Lawrence Harrell, Bertram Harrington, Timothy Holy, Ernest Lindsay;

Of this list some five or six did not win letters last year. They and some fifteen or more newcomers to the squad will find the battle for berths wide open.

Numerous Problems

Plugging up the gaps in the forward wall, particularly center and tackles and grooming a set of fast, sure-footed and sticky - fingered ends is just part of the task facing the Morgan coaching staff.

Joe Cassidy, who as a freshman last year sat out a part of the season with dislocated shoulder, is a standout for center unless some newcomer proves superior. There is not another single holdover from last year for the important position.

George (Slugshot) Williams and James (Greenie) Green, who alternated most of last season at quarterback, will probably continue to do the signal - barking. Both are juniors.

Talmadge L. (Marse) Hill, line coach, and his assistant, Ken Brown, will have their hands full in building a line behind which Coach Hurt's pony backs can operate. Alvin M. (Boo) Brown will again handle the backfield coaching chores.

City Councilman Blasts Dodging Of Archie Moore

Philip H. Goodman, city councilman from the 5th district of Baltimore, this week lamented the "run-around" that has been given Archie Moore and expressed the opinion that the St. Louis light-heavyweight contender will be given a chance at the title "only when he will be brought to the arena in a wheel chair."

Councilman Goodman, who formerly coached at Loyola college and himself was an athlete of note in his undergraduate days, wrote the AFRO in reference to an article appearing in this paper criticizing champion Joey Maxim for "dodging" Moore.

"It has been my profound concern," asserted the councilman, "that sports, whether amateur or professional, in this great country of ours be kept on a free and fair basis."

His letter went on in part as follows:

"There isn't any doubt in my mind that. Archie is the greatest light-heavyweight of our generation, and it is a shame and blight on our sporting world that he has not been given an opportunity to fight for the championship.

"Two things are very apparent. First, that the boxing game is in the hands of unscrupulous personalities, who many times select the winners who are athletes of their personal choice. Secondly, they will let Archie Moore fight only when he will be brought to the arena in a wheel chair."

Schools To Share In $66,000,000 Program

WASHINGTON (ANP) — Over nine million white and colored children in 56,000 schools will share nearly $66,000,000 in school lunches in 1952-53 through the United States and territories, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

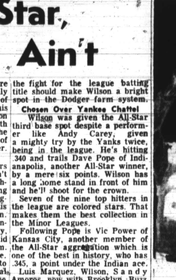
To the South, where the largest percentage of colored children live, went nearly $30,000,000—about half of the total current allotment.

Charles May Meet' Agramonte At Linn.

CINCINNATI — The Cincinnati Boxing and Wrestling Commission last approved plans of the Beckler Boxing Club for a bout between heavyweights Erzard Charles and Omelio Agramonte here on either October 7 or 8.

The bout, if arranged, will be held in Cincinnati Garden.

End Of A Long Leap



Ollie Matson (No. 23) leaps from Helsinki, Finland, where he was a medal winner for the U.S. in the Olympic Games, to Soldiers Field, Chicago to knock down a Los Angeles Ram pass in the College All-Star football game. Matson, performing the unusual feat of jumping from stardom in one sport to an all-star berth in another, was prominent as the collegians bowed, 10-7, to the professional champions.

Coleman At Ft. Lee

FORT LEE, Va. — All-American tackle Don Coleman, formerly of Michigan State, and recently of the collegiate All-Star team, arrived at Fort Lee, Wednesday.

A second lieutenant in the Quartermaster Corps, Coleman the last season was an unanimous All-American, named first by everybody picking 'all" teams.

Dodgers Promote Cuban Outfielder

Amoros, St. Paul Star, Brought Up To Guard Against Flag Collapse

PITTSBURGH — The league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers added their fourth star player here Thursday when Edmundo Amoros, 19-year-old outfielder, was brought up from the St. Paul farm club.

Amoros, a lefthanded hitting Cuban, was promoted to the parent club at the height of a brilliant season in the American Association. At the time of his departure from the Saints, the young slugger was batting a lusty .340, with 19 homers, ten triples and 24 doubles.

"Fair" Thrower

Though on the smallish side—he's 5 feet, 7 inches and weighs 170 pounds—the speedy Latin possesses good throwing ability. His throwing arm, however, is rated as "just fair."

According to Brooklyn Dodger manager Chuck Dressen, Amoros, after a few days' orientation, will move into the two-platoon system now in effect with the pace-setting Bums. He will take over the right field in the lefthanded hitting slot in the lineup against righthanded pitching.

To Play Against Righties

He will be in the outfield usually along with Duke Snider and George Shuba. The rights will be Carl Furillo, Andy Pafko and Dick Williams.

Dressen was persuaded to press for the promotion of Amoros to help guard against the possible late-season slump that lost the 1951 pe-nant for the Brooks. Chief persuader was coach Billy Herman, who managed in the Cuban League last winter and saw a lot of Edmundo.

Herman calls Amoros a combination Mickey Mantle and Willie Mays, the "boy wonders" of the 1951 major league campaign.

Reminds of Reiser

"This boy reminds me a lot of Pete Reiser," Herman says, "except his arm isn't as good as Pete's was. Otherwise he's a lot the same—chunky, strong, exceptionally fast and a very hard swinger. I didn't like his arm much when I first saw him, but seemed to throw better the more he played."

Al Campanis, the scout who signed Amoros, predicted in letter explaining that Sandy can't speak English and to direct him to Pittsburgh's Schenley Hotel.

Liked Sound Of Brooklyn

Amoros's rise to the major leagues comes like a dream. In his boyhood he was a cotton picker and wheeled larger barrels weighing more than himself. His hard labor gave him tremendous shoulders and wrists and he's built like a heavyweight fighter from the hips up.

His teammates all were jubilant over the promotion and wished him luck. Sandy just grinned as he said they pumped his hand and made remarks in Spanish.

Amoros overcame every difficulty a young man in the world could possibly have. He fought his way from the sugar plantations to the top spot in baseball—Brooklyn.

Louis Draws $3,000 For Four Rounder

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C.— Ex-Heavyweight champion Joe Louis, 220, of Detroit and Chicago and Joe McFadden, 198, of Winston-Salem and New York City, fought a four-round "No Decision" exhibitor in Bowman Gray Stadium Monday night of last week as the main event on a 32-round boxing card.

Louis received a $3,000 guarantee for his Twin City appearance.

McFadden, by the working press score card, cleanly outboxed Louis in the first and second rounds.

In the third and fourth rounds Louis was the aggressor but missed punches in the infighting, overshot his right hand punch and was obviously fatigued at the finish.

It was Louis's last fight. He said he will play plenty of competitive golf while still working as a boxing talent scout for the International Boxing Club of New York and Chicago of which Joe is a stockholder.

In the opening bout, Roosevelt Henry, 164, New York and Greensboro, scored a T. K. O. over Brown, 168, Jacksonville, Fla., in 8 seconds of the third round.

In the eight-round semi-final, Angus (Go-Go) Lowery, 147, Winston-Salem, outpointed by Ray Johnson, 149, Lumberton, N.C.

New Dodger Gardener Thought It Was 'Joke'

(Special to the AFRO)

ST. PAUL—Edmundo (Sandy) Amoros, a midget in size but mighty with the bat, got his big break Wednesday when he was called up to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Amoros was informed of his big chance by Manager Clay Bryant after Wednesday night's game in which the St. Paul Saints dropped 11-6, to Indianapolis.

Amoros, who doesn't speak English, was given the word by teammate Bob Wilson and at first thought it was just one of the many jokes his teammates have pulled on him this season.

Written Instructions

Little Sandy, a popular figure in the clubhouse, didn't realize what had happened until Mel Jones, president of the Saints, gave him his plane ticket and a
