What Will Their Verdicts Be?

Clean Block judges pause outside headquarters, 416 Druid Hill ave., Sunday to make that final check before turning over their findings to officials. They were most conscientious and took quite a long time in making their decisions. Clean Blockers who have called the AFRO offices inquiring about not seeing the judges Sunday had better not relax. They either were seen unknowingly or will be seen before sundown Tuesday. After that hour all ratings will be tallied. The findings will be given at the closing exercises to be held at Metropolitan Methodist Church Friday at 10:30 a.m. Reading from left to right the judges are Dr. J. E. T. Camper, Mrs. Florence Scott, Mrs. Mary Kelly and Dr. W. Leroy Berry. The other judge is Mrs. Willie Valentine.

Clean Block Mailbag

Dear Clean Blockers:

Last week we said the captains had been too busy to send in their list of workers. Now what have these captains been doing?

We must have an end to this, so if you have not sent in your list please don't call us about it as the campaign will close Friday morning, August 29th.

If your name did not appear in the paper, you will have to blame it on the Captain. We printed all names that came to the office. We are deeply sorry for the mix up. The latest list includes:

Captain Brenda Cooper
227-Silver Ch.

Mrs. Louise Cummings, advisor; Mildred Johnson, co-captain; Kennis Purnell, Leadia Lewis, Lillian McWilliams, Larry Cooper, Judy Daniels, Delores Johnson, Elmer Johnson, Michael Greene, Sohdra Greene, Ava Greene, Alice Johnson, Elizabeth Johnson, Lonni White and Frank Winagan.

Captain Gwendolyn Ann Harris
466 Tubman Ct.

Dorothy E. Harris, Michelle B. Harris, Deborah Jenkins Marjorie Dixon, Daisy Croxdoc, Mrs. Ellen Hardkrick and Gwendolyn Ann Harris.

CLEAN BLOCK MAILBAG

Clean Blockers:

Don't forget your closing is Friday morning, August 29th, 10:30 a.m., at Metropolitan Methodist Church, Carrollton Ave. and Lanvale st.

All ushers are asked to meet at the church at 10 o'clock. Please be on time!

Don't forget your attire, this is not jamboree.

Captains, don't forget to wear your button.

Captains and Clean Blockers

The Clean Block campaign is just about to come to an end. Have you made your final checks?

The judges were out in your neighborhood Sunday, August 24, and we found many things to talk about in our office. In making our check of the blocks I found only two houses without a flag. Was that your house? Some had paper and others trash around. Was that you?

We were very sorry to find this but we did tell you the judges would be around. Don't worry too much; you still have until Wednesday to get these things cleared up.

You can work better now that it is cooler; so hurry and get your work done.

Dear manager:

The 200 block N. Dallas Ct., near Orleans St. of the Frederick Douglass Homes, is on the ball. We are doing everything we can to make this one of the cleanest courts in the campaign.

We have cleaned all bells, numbers, and finished a lot of painting.

All the children in the court are helping with this work to make this a winning block.

Our captain, Buck Rivers, is a hard working leader, we all enjoy working with him.

They seem to have lots of fun when they are at work, as most children like to paint. But they are doing all they can to help the captain, and they get along fine together.

Come over again and see the progress.

Buck Rivers, captain
Mrs. Mildred Hill

Mrs. F. Matthews, advisors

More Letters

Dear Mrs. Mackay — The ladies of the 2000 block of W. Saratoga st. who aided the Clean Blockers in carrying on their program, have decided to become a permanent organization.

They will meet monthly throughout the year. Mrs. Clara Bonds will serve as chairman.

At their meeting last Wednesday night, at the home of Mrs. Marguerite Burton, they planned a party for the Clean Block children. It will be held on September 5th. You and Mrs. Gibson are invited.

The party will start at 5 p.m. Food will be donated by the ladies of the block. Music will be furnished by recordings. We would like for you to be here by 7 p.m. Mimi Johnson, Marguerite Burton, Vara Hatchet, Evelyn Brown, Marie Gee, Clara Bonds and Ruth Griffin.

Very sincerely,
(Mrs.) Ruth Griffin,
secretary

First Aid For Clean Blockers
TUBERCULOSIS

Tuberculosis is a communicable disease, caused by the tubercle bacillus. Any organ in the body may become infected, but the lungs are most frequently attacked. The disease is spread from the sick to the healthy in numerous ways, principally as follows:

Through germ-laden droplets, or sputum discharged from the lungs of a person who has active tuberculosis.

Droplets of moisture from the lungs are sprayed into the air during coughing or sneezing. If a person comes in contact with this spray, he may breathe in some of the living germs, and thus catch the disease.

Through kissing. A tuberculous patient may spread the germs directly by kissing anyone on the line.

Through objects of common use, such as water glass, dishes, eating utensils, or bed linen.

Any objects that have been used by, or have come within range of the cough, or spit of a tuberculous patient, are dangerous sources of anyone else before being sterilized.

Through dust containing tuberculosis germs. If the germs are spit out they may mix with dust on the floor or ground and, after drying, be carried by air currents to a person who may beathe them into his body.

A child, crawling about the floor, or playing on the ground, may pick up some of the germs on his fingers, or on his toys, and carry them to his mouth.

Through milk unpasteurized milk from cows, that have tuberculosis can give people the disease. Be careful. Try not to get sick.

Dear Clean Blockers:

It has been a pleasure to work with you. You have all been wonderful, and I hope you have enjoyed the campaign and will start now making plans for your 1953 campaign.

Don't forget Friday morning, August 29th, at Metropolitan Methodist Church, at Lanvale st., and Carrollton ave., time 10:30 a.m.

M. Frances Mackay, manager

Man Sues Government For $75,000 For Injuries

The United States government is held libel in a $75,000 negligence suit filed Monday in Federal Court on behalf of a steel worker who was injured while working on a government ship.

Plaintiff in the suit is Leroy Gant, 1000 block Rice st., an employee of the Bethlehem Steel Co., building division.

Gant's attorneys, William L. K. Borett and Philip Beigel, charge that their client was working on the U.S.S. Whitley on Sept. 21, 1951 at Key highway.

As Gant was descending a ladder to the hold of the ship, it is alleged, he was struck on the head by a light fixture dropped from above by a crew member.

Gant contends he suffered a fractured skull and an injury to his left ear which caused him to suffer a total loss of hearing in that ear.

Mason Head Gets Bermuda Trip

Dr. Willard W. Allen was awarded a month's vacation in Bermuda at the 150th annual session of the Grand Lodge in Easton, last week.

The surprise vacation was in tribute to Dr. Allen's 28-year reign as Grand Master of Maryland's Masons.

John Murphy made the surprise announcement of the trip while the Grand Lodge was in session. In accepting the offer the Grand Master said: "I want you to know I owe you more than you owe me.

He will leave Baltimore, today (Tuesday) to catch a Bermuda-bound steamer in New York.

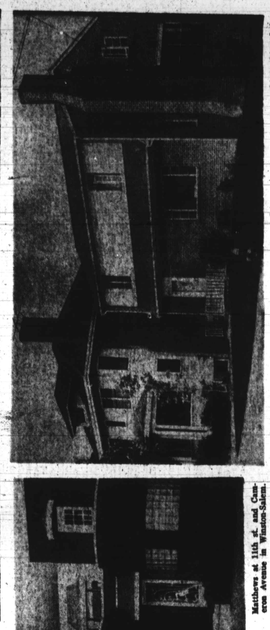
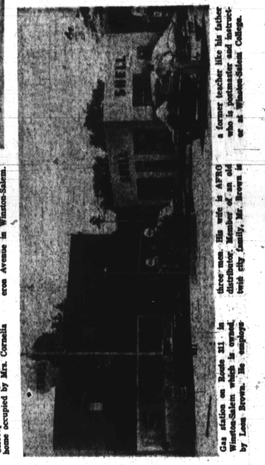
BEAUTIFUL WINSTON-SALEM





Winston-Salem takes special pride in its thriving bus company, the Southern Bus Lines, Inc. Cab Co. both of which are operated by J. Kenneth Fitzpatrick, left, and Adam Burns, operator of a cab stand. Burns operates 24 cabs, which seem to control most of the taxi business in the city. The company has a payroll of 150 persons, according to C. W. Calloway, assistant manager.

Winston-Salem is particularly proud of its institutions. One of the finest is the Kate Bitting Reynolds Memorial Hospital, pictured here. Presiding over the institution is Dr. Robert Fox. The hospital was built by Mrs. Reynolds in memory of her husband, Richard J. Reynolds, founder of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., which is the city's largest industry. Mrs. Reynolds also built the Reynolda Hotel, Reynolda Village and Reynolda Gardens, which are open to the public.
