Easy-To-Launder Fabrics God-Send To Working Wives

Many a June bride will have two jobs which will keep her busy a total of 79 hours a week.

According to the General Electric Company's copyrighted survey on the homemaking habits of 700 working wives, she will spend 40 hours a week on her moneymaking job and an additional 39 hours a week caring for her home.

Ironing Hard Task

The same survey showed that of the household tasks performed by the homemaker, ironing is the most disliked of all. So the smart young homemaker will take advantage of automatic home laundry equipment and the many soap and water fabrics now available when she starts buying home furnishings, and buy those which need little or no ironing.

Most woolens —and some silks and synthetics — need dry cleaning. Cottons and Linens, and many silks, rayons, nylons, and other synthetic fabrics take to suds enthusiastically.

You must expect that, in some instances, adding washability to a fabric also adds to its cost. Some of the newer fabrics, like nylon, Orlon, Dacron or combinations of these fibers with cotton, rayon or wool, seem more expensive initially. But when the savings made possible because of their home washability are compared to dry cleaning bills, they actually cost far less in the long run. Some curtains can be removed from their rods washed and hung in 15 minutes!

Check Fabric Construction

Washable fabrics, however, may be fashioned into furnishings which are not washable. That's why it's important to save washing instructions or to buy from reliable stores which you can depend upon for accurate information. Loosely tacked hems may rip out after a few tubbings; and unless seams are pinked or frenched, they ravel and then pull part. If the fabric is a synthetic, the thread used for stitching should be of the same synthetic fiber to prevent the seams from puckering.

Wide Assortment

Curtains, draperies, slip covers, tablecloths, bedspreads, blankets, and even rugs are now available in a wide assortment of colors, prints, and textures. And all of them, including rugs up to and including 4 x 6 foot size, can be laundered at home. Here's the General Electric Consumers Institute's list of soap and water fabrics which even when made into bulky household items can be laundered in short order at home:

COTTON — With all of the marvelous dust and dirt resistant fabrics, one wonders if cotton might be on the way out. Not in our lifetime! Cotton is still the most popular of all fabrics. Corduroys, seersuckers, terry cloth and chenille are some cotton fabrics which can be machine washed, dried in an automatic clothes dryer, and need no ironing at all.

NYLON — No other fabric is so versatile and wear-resistant. Nylon is washable, but dyes, finishes and trim on nylon fabrics may not be, so judge construction when rating washability. Because nylon is naturally elastic and can be 'heat-set", it will hold its shape. It now comes in a variety of textures and weaves suitable for home furnishings.

FIBERGLAS — Fiberglas is most familiar as marquisette curtains, but printed slipcovers and draperies are beginning to appear. This material will not burn, stretch, or shrink, and resists mildew and sun. Because its fibers are non-absorbent, the curtains shed dirt readily, and do not require frequent laundering. When laundering Fiberglas, do not include any other fabrics in the load. Use warm water with a mild detergent. Omit wringing or spin-drying after the rinse, but out excess moisture by rolling in a terry cloth towel, and hang at the window. They dry so quickly, there's no need to put them in the dryer.

ORLON — This twentieth-century miracle fabric is rapidly becoming available in a wide variety of household furnishings. They're wonderfully wrinkle resistant, and, when properly constructed, are thoroughly washable. When fabric is a blend of Orlon and another familiar fiber such as cotton, rayon, or wool, the percentage of Orlon must be greater than the percentage of the other fiber to retain the easy-washing, quick-drying characteristics of the wondrous Orlon.

ELEGANT VARIATION—Here's a new approach to the "sandwiches and coffee" theme. The above sandwiches are elegant little loaves and the coffee tall and frosty.

COOKING FUN

An authority tells us that blueberries and huckleberries are pretty much the same fruit but that different localities prefer different names.

There is a difference, however.

Blueberries are generally sweeter, milder and larger than huckleberries, and the seeds, though more numerous, are so much smaller as to be scarcely noticeable in eating.

Blueberry season extends from June to mid - September in different areas. Actually with present day freezing and preserving facilities, the season is year-long.

Here are some favorite fruit recipes.

Blueberry Surprise Pudding

2 cups fresh blueberries
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1½ cups sugar
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup All-Bran
¾ cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water.

Place berries in well - greased 8 x 8-inch pan; sprinkle with lemon juice. Blend ¾ cup sugar and butter; stir in All-Bran.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; add to shortening mixture alternately with milk, mixing well after each addition. Spread evenly over blueberries.

Combine remaining sugar, cornstarch and salt; sprinkle over batter. Pour boiling water over pudding.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 1 hour.

Yield: 6 servings.

Peaches And Cream Pudding

1 cup Bran Flakes
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
2 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ cup chopped nutmeats
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
2 cups milk
2 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/8 teaspoon almond flavoring
1 cup sweetened, sliced peaches

Crush Bran Flakes into fine crumbs; mix with melted butter, brown sugar and nutmeats; Heat in heavy skillet, stirring constantly, until sugar melts and caramelizes slightly. Cool and crumble.

Soften gelatin in ¼ cup of the milk. Heat remaining milk to scalding. Beat egg yolks with salt and ¼ cup of the sugar. Sowly stir in the scalded milk.

Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until mixture coats a metal spoon. Remove from heat stir in softened gelatin. Chill until mixture begins to set. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry.

Beat in remaining ¼ cup of sugar until egg whites stand in stiff peaks. Fold in custard mixture, flavorings and peaches. Pour into 8 x 8-inch pan which has been rinsed with cold water.

Sprinkle topping over pudding. Chill ✓ until firm. Cut into squares to serve.

Yield: 9 2½-inch squares.

Sweet Cherry Cake

1/3 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, separated
½ cup All-Bran
1½ cups drained, chopped fresh sweet cherries
1 1/3 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup milk

Blend shortening and sugar; add egg yolks and beat well. Stir in All-Bran and cherries. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Stir into All-Bran mixture alternately with milk.

Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into greased 9 x 9-inch pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 55 minutes.

Serve plain or with Marshmallow Cherry Sauce.

Yield: 9 servings.

Marshmallow Cherry Sauce

1 egg white
½ cup light corn syrup
½ cup water
¾ cup confectioners' sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
2/3 cup chopped fresh sweet cherries

Beat egg white until stiff but not dry. Heat syrup and water; stir in sugar gradually, and cook 8 minutes. Stir in vanilla.

Pour syrup slowly into stiffy beaten egg white; beating constantly until fluffy. Fold in cherries.

Yield: 2 cups sauce.

Foundation Is Fashion Must

Your ready-to-wear garments will look smarter and fit smoother if you'll first shop for your foundation garments.

That's the advice of clothing specialist Helen Shelby, University of Maryland Extension Service. She points out that the woman who first selects a dress or suit, intending to invest later in a new girdle and brassiere, may find her measurement slightly different, the fit wrong, and the dress less stylish in appearance.

You'll save both time and trouble if you'll have your foundations fitted first, says Miss Shelby, and here's why.

Full Skirts

When skirts are full, they require a small waist or at least a small-waisted look. A girdle that rises high to nip in the waistline, a brassiere combination, or a garter belt fitted above the waist is a definite "must" for a full skirt garment.

If your dress is a sheath, you must pay even greater attention to hip and thigh control. A girdle rising just to the waistline and with four-section construction is suggested, or a firm panty girdle with a long leg. The princess dress, figure-revealing coat dress, or fitted middy is best underlined by a corset.

Bra Tips

Your selection of a brassiere should also depend upon your outer garments. For example a suit which tends to flatten the bosom requires a bra with greater accentuation than does a sweater, which looks best with a softly rounded curve.

Besides considering the silhouette, give thought to the neckline. Others have straps in a halter arrangement. And some have half-cups or cuffed tops that go with the very low neckline.

Add a tablespoon of kerosene to a gallon of soapsuds if you want to cut the greasy film on woodwork and make cleaning easier.

Pour a film of paraffin over the bottom of your garbage container to prevent rust from forming. This makes it much easier to clean out, also.

Paraffin also has another good use: for drawers and windows which stick, rub paraffin on the slides of drawers and ropes on windows. This same lubricant may also be used on tops and bottoms of doors which tend to be sticky.

Tack some tiny corks on the backs of picture frames. This will prevent dark lines from forming on the wall paper or painted walls.

Red ink may be removed from floors or desks by washing first with soapsuds. Follow this with a rinse of vinegar and water.

Wall plaster does not crack easily if you use some cellophane tape or adhesive tape over the spot where you want to pound a nail or insert a tack.

Sew a square of cardboard to the corners of rugs if you want to keep them from curling. Replace the cardboard on small throw rugs after laundering.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Dessert Dumplings

(Serves 6)

1 cup orange marmalade
1 6-ounce can frozen orange juice
1 6-ounce can water
6 maraschino cherries, quartered
1 cup biscuit mix
3 tablespoons sugar
1/3 cup milk.

Place orange marmalade, orange juice, water and cherries in saucepan. Heat to boiling. Combine biscuit mix, sugar and milk, stirring just enough to moisten ingredients. Drop batter by spoonfuls on hot boiling syrup. Turn down heat and simmer, uncovered, for 15 minutes.

Prune Ripple

2 cups cooked prunes
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups milk
2/3 cup granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
4 eggs
1 cup evaporated milk
2 teaspoons vanilla extract

Cut prunes from pits and put through food chopper, using a fine knife. Add cinnamon. Combine fresh milk, sugar and salt, and scald. Pour over beaten eggs stirring briskly to prevent curdling.

Stir in evaporated milk, vanilla and prunes; cool. Pour into refrigerator tray and place in freezing compartment with control set at lowest temperature.

Freeze until firm. Remove to chilled bowl and beat until smooth with rotary beater. Return to freezing compartment and freeze to desired consistency, stirring occasionally. Reset temperature control to normal.

Makes about 2 quarts.

Look For 'Full Slip' When Soliciting Good Cantaloupes

Look for a "fullip" when you select cantaloupes of good eating quality. This smooth, slightly sunken, well calloused scar at the stem attachment of the fruit tells you that the cantaloupe is mature. It separated easily from the vine when harvested.

University of Maryland marketing specialists point out that during hot weather, especially when cantaloupes must be shipped great distances, they are often picked with a "half slip." A half of the scar is slightly sunken and the other half is rough.

Mature Fruit Favored

Only in well-matured fruit will you find sweetness, good texture and fine flavor, say the specialists. Look for cantaloupes with course netting or veining on the outside surface. The dark green ground color of the rind should be of lighter shade with a grayish or yellowish tinge.

You can't improve the quality of a melon after it has been harvested. Never buy an unripe melon—it can't be improved in flavor. It can only spoil. You can detect immature cantaloupes by poor veining that is somewhat shallow with the surface showing through in darker green.

No Shaking

Don't try to select melons by squeezing or shaking to see if the seeds rattle. Several squeezings and shakings will produce the desired results even in immature fruit. Not only will it be misleading, but it will aid in more rapid deterioration of the fruit.

Often cantaloupes are selected on the basis of aroma alone. Unfortunately melons that haven't been refrigerated for several hours or that are overmature can also meet this test of quality.

Two Killed In Accident

Seven Hurt In Cape Cod Crash

MASHPEE, Mass.—One of the worst auto crashes on Cape Cod, occurred here last week, when two men died and seven other persons were injured, in a head-on collision on route 130.

Killed were Earl G. Franklin, 38, of Symphony road, Back Bay section of Boston and husband of Mrs. Annette Franklin, and Harold E. Lund, 28, airman, stationed at Niagara, N.Y.

Those critically injured in the Franklin car were:

Miss Francine J. Couzens, 22, of 6 Wabeno st., Roxbury, who suffered a possible skull fracture and fractured legs;

Henry E. Quaries Jr., of 36 Greenwich Park, jaw fractures and severe internal injuries, and Mrs. Martha Thompson, 22, of 10 Harold st., Roxbury, fractured right leg and head injuries. All are on the danger list at Cape Cod hospital.

Four persons in the other car all from out of state, received critical injuries and are also on the danger list.

90 Get Awards During 1st Tenn. Session

NASHILLE, Tenn — A total of 90 awards were given out during the closing ceremony of the first Boys State sponsored by the 11th district of the American Legion Sunday through Thursday on Tennessee State university campus.

Some 61 Tennessee High school boys went through the political paces of running mythical cities and the state. "Dry run" political campaign, intercity competition and individual competition in a physical fitness program utilized every minute of the boys' time.

Joe L. White, Memphis, was elected "governor" over Logan H. Westbrooke, also of Memphis. White, a Hamiltonian, and Westbrooks, a Jeffersonian party representative, were both citizens from the mythical city of Radford.

Justice Administers Oath

Tennessee State Supreme Court Justice Alan Prewitt administered the oath of office to the Boys State governor. Bridg. Gen. Joe W. Henry Jr., adjutant general for Tennessee, gave the inaugural address, pinch-hitting for Gov. Frank L. Clement.

St. Clair Jolly, Hermitage; Alpheus Fields, Memphis and Richard Reed, Chattanooga, took the first three places, respectively, in the debating contests.

David Rice, Memphis, and Jolly led the "top ten" with a perfect score of 10 in a written test on state government. All 61 boys received lapel pins and certificates as awards for their good conduct while attending Boys State.

Two Graduates Get Fellowships

NEW YORK — W. J. Trent Jr., executive director of the United Negro College Fund announced that the 1953 Fleming Lasker fellowships have been awarded to an honor student of each of the two women's colleges associated in the fund.

The winners are Miss Bettye J. Washington, valedictorian of this year's graduating class of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C. and Miss LaJune McDonald, who graduated with honors from Spelman College, Atlanta, this June.

The $25,000 Fleming Lasker fellowship fund which was established in 1951 to give annual aid to qualified colored women by financing their first year of graduate study at schools of their choice, is administered by the Fund.

Two fellowships ranging from $1,500 to $2,000 each are awarded each year to candidates selected among the women graduates of 31 private Negro colleges and universities, associated in the fund.

NO BAR TO LOYALTY:

Dulles Supports White On Mixed Friendships

NEW YORK—Association between white and colored persons is no "indication of disloyalty or of security risk," John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, has assured Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, in a letter recently made public.

Prompted by repeated stories that white employees and applicants for positions with the State Department, and other governmental agencies have been questioned by federal investigators as to their association with colored persons, Mr. White wrote to the Secretary of State urging him to take steps "to forbid the asking of such questions in the future by State Department Security officers or any other representatives of government making inquiries with regard to loyalty."

In response, Mr. Dulles expressed "complete agreement" with Mr. White's views, "that associations between Americans of different skin color should not be a factor in judging an employee's loyalty...to the United States."

'Complete Agreement'

"I am calling this matter to the attention of responsible officials concerned with the security of Department employees and I am advising them of my agreement with the sentiment expressed in your letter," he said.

Mr. White has also written to J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI, asking that "another directive be issued to all FBI agents on this matter" in accordance with assurances given back in 1948 by Louis Nichols that FBI agents asking questions about interracial associations "were acting contrary to instructions."

Tragic Love Tale Ends At Socialite's Grave

LOS ANGELES (ANP) — The last chapter in the loves of two pretty young mothers, and a jealous husband was written last week.

Mrs. Jacqueline Brooks, daughter of A. Porter Davis, president of the National Medical Association, a pioneer aviator, and long-time owner of a sanitarium in Kansas City, Kans. was buried from Neighborhood church here.

Mrs. Brooks and a friend, Mrs. Laura Davis, had both been instantly killed by bullets fired by her husband, John Brooks, on July 4. Unwilling to give her up after she had won a divorce decree, he had followed her and their two children, Yvonne and Dewaynne, to San Francisco, where she had taken them to visit her friend, Miss Davis.

The funeral services were touching and a number of former Kansas City residents attended.

Dr. Davis, who came here for the rites, was deeply grieved. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

Youths Receive Death Penalty

BROOKLYN (ANP)—In one of the severest sentences meted out to teenagers, two youths were sentenced to death in the electric chair. They were doomed to die the week of Aug. 23 for the holdup slaying of a 63-year-old grocer last year.

The pair, Henry Louis Allen, 19, and John Martin, 18, Beard County Judge C. J. Joyce pass sentence without showing an outward display of emotion.

"Pop" Gaspare Ingargiola was reported to have struggled with the youths when they entered his store in Bushwick and announced a holdup. He was slain with a meat cleaver and switchblade knife. The pair then rifled his pockets of $100 and fled.

One Rider Killed In Overturned Bus

JACKSON, Miss. (ANP) — A colored man was the lone fatality last week when a bus overturned on a highway near here. At least eight other persons were injured.

The victim was Thurman Thompson of Leland, Miss., who died at a hospital. A passenger on the bus said the vehicle was traveling not more than 50 miles an hour when the driver lost control of it on a curve. The bus turned over twice.

Three colored persons were among those injured. They are: Miss Vivian King, West Point, Miss., and William Murray Sr. and William Murray Jr., both of Chicago, Ill.

Jury Told Matron Set Mate On Fire

RALEIGH, N.C. — A young housewife accused of dousing her husband with kerosene and then setting his body on fire, has been acquitted of a second degree murder charge in Wake Superior Court.

Mrs. Cora L. McPhail was freed by a jury in the death of her husband, Tommy McPhail, 35, who died in the local St. Agnes hospital after a fight near Fuquay Springs, on Feb. 3.

The prosecution charged that Mrs. McPhail set her husband on fire after he had been knocked to the ground with an ax, held by a man who has since been committed to the State hospital for the insane at Goldsboro.

Testifying during the brief hearing, Manuel Barber said that he, Mrs. McPhail and Hubert Dean were drinking in his house (Barber's), when Mr. McPhail entered.

After several angry words a fight started between the men and then struck Mr. McPhail with an ax, knocking him to the ground, Barber said.

He also said that Mrs. McPhail threw the kerosene on her husband's body and set it afire. With his body wreathed in flames, Mr. McPhail staggered from the house and collapsed in the yard, Barber testified.

Found in Yard

Another witness, E. M. Johnson of Fuquay Springs, said he went to Barbers' home a short time after the fight, and found Mr. McPhail lying in the yard in a semi-conscious condition.

He quoted Mr. McPhail as saying:

"I drawed a knife on Hubert . . . He slapped me down with an ax . . ; Cora poured kerosene on me and set me afire . . Oh Lord, I'm dying."

Mr. Johnson said he took the injured man to the hospital, where he died a few hours after admittance.

A short time after Mr. McPhail's death, Dean was committed to the hospital. He had been charged with murder but doctors pronounced him incompetent to stand trial at present.

Attack Described

The girl, who was criminally assaulted and beaten about the face and body, told police that after she got off the bus three doors from her home, she heard "fast" footsteps behind her.

She said when she looked back and started to walk faster a man she identified as Hersbey, grabbed her from behind. The girl said when she screamed Hersbey put his hands over her mouth. She said as she fought with her assailant he threw her to the ground and pounced on her with both hands and she blacked out.

Held For Police

The girl's screams were heard by Walter Luck, 28, of 1805 Oakland, who rescued her from the suspect and held him until police arrived.

Hersbey admitted drinking five quarts of beer and some whiskey earlier in the day. He said he remembered getting off the bus and getting off, but could not remember attacking the girl.

Hersbey was employed at Budd Wheel Company as a machine operator. A native of Pennsylvania, he has lived here since 1946. He has no previous police record.

FBI Probes Killing, Beating By Police

MOBILE, Ala. — The FBI moved in last week to probe two cases in Alabama involving evidence of civil rights violations in the death of a 63-year-old paralyzed woman and the brutal beating of a 35-year-old school teacher by law enforcement officers.

The investigations centered around Wilcox County Sheriff Lummie Jenkins and Police Chief Clarence Bryars of Atmore in Escambia county.

Jenkins is alleged to have struck down Mrs. Jessie McPhatter, a paralytic, with a rubber hose in her husband's little cafe in Alberta the latter part of April. Bryars was said to have assaulted Mrs. Corinne Hines, an Atmore school teacher, on May 3.

Charge Cafe 'Invasion'

The Wilcox county sheriff and two highway patrolmen were said to have invaded Mr. McDuffie's crowded cafe shortly after midnight Saturday, April 2, swinging blackjacks and rubber hose because "someone was playing the juke box on Sunday morning."

Patrons scurried in all directions, some jumping out of windows, to avoid having their heads "cracked" with the blackjacks and rubber hose. Several shots were said to have been fired by the officers into the ceiling and floor to "scare the n—rs."

Invalid Beaten Fatally

The helpless Mrs. McDuffie, sitting in a rocker, was not spared by the officers, witnesses said. She was named as one assailant. She died less than an hour later.

In the Atmore case, Mrs. Hines was said to have been assaulted by Bryars when she went to the city jail to make bond after the arrest of her husband by police officers at the Hines home shortly before the attack on her.

The Mobile NAACP, which investigated both cases, said Atmore citizens complain that the town "makes a racket" of arresting colored citizens on week ends for anything possible to provide a city kitty with revenue in fines on Mondays to help operate the town.

Teacher Kicked By Cop

Mrs. Hines was allegedly beaten, kicked and otherwise assaulted by Bryars.

J. L. LeFlore, Mobile NAACP secretary, said frightened tight-lipped colored witnesses in several instances failed to tell all they know about the two incidents.

The cases were presented to the Department of Justice through Thurgood Marshall of New York, NAACP special counsel.

Owner Jailed In Fatal Fire

NEW YORK — Convicted on two manslaughter charges growing out of a tenement fire in which two persons lost their lives, Edward Nelson, 54, of the 600 block Madison st., Brooklyn, was sentenced to from seven and a half to 11 years in Sing Sing prison, last week.

Nelson, who owned the tenement, was convicted by a jury in May, after testimony that he failed to provide proper fire-retarding equipment in the four story building at 71 Lefferts st., Brooklyn, and that last Nov. 17 he accidently set the place on fire while heating a roofing composition.

The flames spread throughout the building. George Green, 48, died to death from his fourth floor apartment, while Mrs. Elizabeth Grady was burned to death. Four other tenants were injured.

Nelson was sentenced to 10 to 11 years on a first degree manslaughter charge, and to seven and a half to 11 years on a second degree manslaughter count, the terms to run concurrently.

Bond Set At $25,000

Held For Attack On 17-Year-Old

DETROIT — Charles Hershey, 30, of 1200 Seldon, was held in $25,000 bond recently by Judge Joseph A. Gillis.

Hershey is accused of attacking a 17-year-old girl, July 7, a short distance from her home, after the girl had alighted from a bus at Oakland and Grisdale.

He was charged on two counts in a warrant issued by the Wayne County prosecutor's office. They were, common-law criminal assault and assault with the intent to murder.

Attack Described

The girl, who was criminally assaulted and beaten about the face and body, told police that after she got off the bus three doors from her home, she heard "fast" footsteps behind her.

She said when she looked back and started to walk faster a man she identified as Hersbey, grabbed her from behind. The girl said when she screamed Hersbey put his hands over her mouth. She said as she fought with her assailant he threw her to the ground and pounced on her with both hands and she blacked out.

Held For Police

The girl's screams were heard by Walter Luck, 28, of 1805 Oakland, who rescued her from the suspect and held him until police arrived.

Hersbey admitted drinking five quarts of beer and some whiskey earlier in the day. He said he remembered getting off the bus and getting off, but could not remember attacking the girl.

Hershey was employed at Budd Wheel Company as a machine operator. A native of Pennsylvania, he has lived here since 1946. He has no previous police record.

Members of the winning aggregation were Paul Jordan, Lamar Simpson, Elwood Hughes and Frank Simpson representing the YMCA. The losers were Johnnie M. Winberly, Evan Daniel and Rubena Byrd.

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER!

Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

Nothing - no, nothing - beats better taste!

Never before have so many smokers been bombarded with so many reasons for smoking so many brands of cigarettes!

But actually, there's only one good reason for smoking a cigarette—enjoyment. And you get enjoyment from only one thing—the taste of a cigarette.

Luckies taste better ... for two reasons. They're made of fine tobacco—fine, light, mild tobacco—and they're made better. It's as simple as that.

So, for the better taste—the cleaner, fresher, smoother taste—that only fine tobacco in a better-made cigarette can give you...
