Why not do a little pickling this year?

This is one of the most rewarding kitchen tasks. You can work on a special meal all afternoon and it's eaten in a few minutes. But, an afternoon of pickling will brighten literally dozens of winter meals and gain you the gratitude of the whole family.

August is a good month to start pickling. There are so many fresh fruits and vegetables at their budget best in the stores right now. And if you have a home garden, you're probably wondering what to do with your surplus.

Easier Job

Pickling is easier now than it used to be, with better range, kitchen aids and improved jars.

Even the spicing that makes homemade relishes and preserves so special, is simpler. Nowadays for proper seasoning all we have to do is add a spoonful or so of Mixed Pickling Spice to the other ingredients.

Mixed Pickling Spice is a blend of from 1to 16 different whole spices. It includes pepper, cloves, ginger, cinnamon, bay leaves, turmeric, dill and others, balanced to give a perfect distinctive flavor.

These easy pickling recipes from the American Spice Trade Association show how to use Mixed Pickling Spice.

"Sweet And Sour" Pickled Peaches

3 cups brown sugar
1 pint cider vinegar
2 tablespoons Mixed Pickling spice
3 lemons sliced very thin
4 tablespoons lemon juice
3 pounds fresh ripe peaches

Combine sugar, vinegar, Mixed Pickling Spice, lemon slices and lemon juice. Bring to a boil and simmer 15 minutes. Dip peaches in hot water. Peel, but do not seed. Add peaches to syrup and simmer gently until tender (about 1 minutes).

Pack peaches in hot sterilized jars. Fill with syrup. Seal. Yield: 4 pints.

(Apricots, cherries, crab apples or sickle pears may be prepared in this manner.)

Pickled Brussels Sprouts

1½ cups olive or salad oil
4½ tablespoons vinegar
3 tablespoons Mixed Pickling Spice
2 teaspoons salt
2 cloves garlic, minced
3 lbs. brussels sprouts

Combine oil, vinegar, spice, salt and garlic. Simmer 10 minutes. Add sprouts that have been washed and trimmed. Cook just until sprouts are tender, stick in hot sterilized jars and seal immediately. Makes 4 pints.

Mixed Spiced Pickles

6 large cucumbers
10 medium onions
3 large green peppers
3 sweet red peppers
½ cup salt
2 cups vinegar
4 tablespoons Mixed Pickling Spice
1 cup water
4 cups sugar
1½ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon garlic salt
1½ teaspooncurry powder

Cut cucumbers, onions and peppers into thin slices about 2 inches long. Sprinkle with salt and cover with cold water. Let drain. Combine with remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil and boil gently 1 minutes.

Pack into sterilized jars and seal immediately. Makes about 4 pints.

And now for some other spice suggestions:

A Different French Dressing

French dressing's one of the traditional favorite dressings for a tossed green salad. For a Spicy French dressing with that different flavor, season it with Mixed Pickling Spice. For one cup of dressing add one teaspoon of spice. Let stand several hours to blend and then strain before serving. Fixed this way, it's delicious with fruit salad and ham salad too.

Tomato Aspic

Tomato aspic is always delicious, but it seems doubly so when you fend a zesty tang by flavoring it with Mixed Pickling Spice. Two cups of tomato juice and one envelope unflavored gelative, require about 2 to 2½ teaspoons Mixed Pickling Spice, depending upon your own taste. Just simmer the spice and then strain.

Spice With Beets

Ruby red, tender fresh beets acquire new eating distinction if you tuck a tablespoon or so of Mixed Pickling Spice into the water when you cook them.

Spicy Beef Stew

Beef stew one of the family's favorite foods? Surprise them with a new flavor by adding a tablespoon of Mixed Pickling Spice to the simmering stew. Tie the spices in a little cheesecloth bag and they can be lifted out with neat dispatch when the stew is done.

HOMEMADE PICKLES—These homemade sweet and sour pickled peaches owe their distinctive flavor to mixed pickling spice, an easy-to-use blend of several different pungent spices.

Freshen shredded coconut by soaking in fresh milk to which a bit of sugar is added before using the coconut.

Excessive salt in your soup? Drop some slices of raw potato into the soup for five or six minutes, then remove.

If you're poaching eggs and want to keep the whites from spreading, add a teaspoonful of vinegar to the water used for poaching. An egg poacher is also a good investment if you like the eggs to be in small cup.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Double Quick Cookies
(Makes 40)

½ cup seedless raisins
½ cups biscuit mix
¼ cup brown sugar (packed)
1 egg
3 tablespoons milk
teaspoon vanilla

Rinse and drain raisins. Melt shortening and allow to cool while measuring remaining ingredients. Combine biscuit mix, sugar and raisins. Beat egg lightly, add cooled shortening, milk and vanilla. Stir into dry mixture, blending well. Drop by teaspoonfuls on to greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderately hot (375 degrees) oven 10 to 12 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool.

When you are heating sweet milk for a recipe and want to keep it from curdling, add a pinch of soda to the milk while heating.

Brown sugar may be added to gravy which is too salty. It does not sweeten the gravy nor does it spoil the flavor.

Brush molds for gelatin salads and desserts with salad oil before adding the mixture to them. This makes melting or seating the molds after chilling unnecessary and helps remove the mold easily.

Keep pecan meats whole by pouring boiling water over unshelled pecans and let stand for 30 minutes before cracking. Meat can then be removed from the shells, keeping them practically whole.

IF YOU can take care of your odds and ends neatly efficiently, many storage problems can be solved and order restored in the home. Here are some hints which may help you:

Keep crayons and pencils in a partitioned cutlery drawer in a desk so they're easily available when the children want to draw and color.

Your coupons and premiums can be tacked to a reminder board in the kitchen so they'll be available easily when you take the list from the board and the coupons when you go to market.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Taffy Bread Pudding
(Serves 6)

2 slightly beaten eggs
¼ cup molasses
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nitmeg
1 cup soft bread cubes
1½ cups hot milk
¼ cup water in cooker with rack

Combine first five ingredients. Trim crust from bread slices; cut into cubes and add to the egg mixture.

Stir in hot milk. Pour mixture into 6 custard cups; cover each with aluminum foil or several layers of waxed paper, securely tied. Arrange custard cups on rack in cooker, containing the boiling water. Cover with a second rack or flat cover on which set the remaining 3 cups. Put the cover on cooker. Allow the steam to flow through vent pipe to release all air from cooker.

Place indicator weight on vent pipe. Cook 3 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Cool cooker at once under cold water.

For bills and receipts, tape two large envelopes on the side of a kitchen cabinet door. Bills can go in one, receipts in another. Or, have a small house-hold file which is sectioned for bills and receipts.

Peach special

Colorful and cool, and perfect to serve for a patio luncheon, along with a litempting nut bread and rich and tasty dessert, is this "Summer Peach Special" salad.

It consists of golden canned cling peach halves, figs — either fresh or canned — and orange sections, all temptingly arranged on salad greens. A tart French dressing is the perfect accompaniment for the fruits.

Summer Peach Special

4 canned cling peach halves
Salad greens
8 fresh or canned figs
1 cup orange sections

Tart French dressing

Drain peaches thoroughly. On each of 4 garnished salad plates, arrange 1 peach half, 2 figs cut into halves and several orange sections. Serve with French dressing.

Hot Summer Days Need A Simple Hot Main Dish

Occasionally during the hot days the family welcomes a meat platter or some hot bread or even a baked dessert. With the emphasis on light foods during the summer months, here are a few simple to prepare dishes that add zest to warm weather menus.

Luncheon Meat Loaf

Combine in a large mixing bowl 3 cans ARMOUR Deviled Tongue, 3 cans ARMOUR Deviled Ham, 2 cans ARMOUR Potted Meat. Season with 1 tsp. garlic salt, 1 cup sauted celery, onion and green pepper and 2 tbsps. catsup. Add 2 eggs and 2 cups bread crums and mix thoroughly. Spread the mixture evenly in a casserole or loaf pan and bake at 375 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes.

Baked Tongue

Three cans ARMOUR Tongue, 3 medium size carrots, 2 small onions, 4 stalks celery, 1 tbsp. Horse Radish, 2 tbsps. CROSSE AND BLACKWELL Mushroom Sauce, 2 tbsps. black pepper, 1 tomato.

Cook carrots, onion and celery until tender. Slice tongue ight halves, spread in a loaf pan. Place vegetables around meat and sprinkle meat with pepper, Horse Radish and mushroom sauce, and garnish with sliced tomato. Bake in hot oven, 425 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes.

Party Rice Pudding

To one cup of boiled rice add 2 eggs, ½ can milk, 1 tbsp. lemon juice, 2 tbsps. vanilla, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup raisins mixed thoroughly. Place in large casserole dish and bake at 375 degrees for 50 minutes to an hour.

All Bran Drop Rolls

Add 1 cup Kretchmer Wheat Germ and 1 cup All Bran to 1 cup milk. Stir in 1 well beaten egg. Add 1 cup sifted flour, 3 tsps. baking powder, ½ tsp. salt, ½ cup sugar, 3 tbsps. melted shortening. Bake in greased muffin tins at 400 degrees 25 minutes. Yield: 12 large rolls.

Rainbow Sandwiches, Frosty Coffee Elegant Party Menu

For summer, when heat-jaded appetites need tempting, individual Rainbow Sandwich Loaves and iced coffee hit just the right note.

Light, tasty and surprisingly satisfying, the sandwiches are as pretty as a cake. Each layer has a filling of a different color and flavor, carefully chosen to harmonize. The easy-to-apply cream cheese frosting adds enough protein to make a nourishing luncheon dish.

The iced coffee, cooling and stimulating, should be served in stemmed glasses. This way, it keeps the tone set by the sandwiches, is aesthetic enough to please a dowager duchess.

Incidentally, serve a simple sugar syrup with iced coffee. It goes into solution with one languid swirl of the spoon.

Rainbow Loaves Fillings

1. Combine 1 cup flaked crabmeat, 1/3 cup minced celery, ¼ cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, salt and pepper to taste.

2. Combine 2 cans deviled ham, ¼ cup mayonnaise, ¼ cup pickle relish.

3. Combine 3 hard-cooked eggs chopped, 2 tablespoons chopped ripe olives, 1 teaspoon curry powder and enough mayonnaise to spread.

4. Combine 1 jar pimiento cheese spread, 2 tbsps. onion, grated, and few drops tabasco.

Cut crusts from 30 thin slices of bread. Put 5 slices together with 4 fillings. Cut each stack in half. Continue until bread and fillings are used. Frost top and sides of each "loaf" with the following mixture:

Combine ½ lb. cream cheese with 1 tablespoon mayonnaise and 1 tablespoon light cream; whip until fluffy. Garnish with olive and green pepper "flowers." Yield: 12 loaves.

Fruit cup

It isn't often Dad expresses his preference for a dessert, but here's a dessert which all dads seem to cherish, Dad's Choice Fruit Cup.

It isn't what you'd expect a man's type of dessert to be, but once you've tasted this fruit-wine combination, you can readily understand why the "heads of the house" insist on having it served often.

Everyone knows that fruit and wine make a good team, but the exotic use of the lovely California Port Wine with mint and lemon in a simple syrup makes this a four-star offering. We like the wine sauce over strawberries, cherries and banana, but it would be equally good with other fresh fruits.

Dad's Choice Fruit Cup
(Serves 6)

½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup water
10 large mint leaves
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¾ cup California Port or other dessert wine
1 cup fresh strawberries
¼ cups pitted, fresh, sweet cherries
1 cup diced banana

Combine sugar and water bring to a boil. Boil 5 minutes. Crush and mash mint leaves in syrup. Cool. Strain. Add lemon juice and wine.

Pour over strawberries and cherries refrigerate for about 3 hours; add banana just before serving.

Succotash Salad

Here's a favorite vegetable combination in a new salad recipe.

"Succotash Salad" uses whole kernel corn and meaty large lima beans. Crisp onion rings and chopped pickle accent the flavors of the two hearty ingredients.

Succotash Salad

1½ cups cooked California large dry limas
1½ cups canned whole kernel corn
¼ cup finelychopped sweet pickle
½ cup thin onion rings
Mayonnaise
Salt
pepper
Salad greens

Combine all ingredients except salad greens, using enough mayonnaise to moisten well. Toss lightly with a fork. Season with salt and pepper. Serve very cold on crisp salad greens.

¾ cup uncooked.

Frankfurter most unpredictable of nine Supreme Court justices

Ex-Harvard prof has liberal record

By LOUIS LAUTIER

WASHINGTON (NNPA)—Justice Felix Frankfurter is perhaps the most unpredictable of the justices of the United States Supreme Court. He is one of the most intellectual of the justices who have sat on that court, an adroit questioner of lawyers who appear before the court, and an individualist.

Born in Vienna, Austria, November 16, 1882, Justice Frankfurter was brought to the United States in 1894. He received his bachelor of arts degree from the College of the City of New York in 1902 and his law degree from Harvard in 1906. The University of Oxford conferred upon him the degree of doctor of civil law in 1939.

Justice Frankfurter served his legal apprenticeship as assistant U.S. attorney for the southern district of New York from 1906 to 1910. He was law officer of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, War Department, from 1911 to 1914. He became a professor at Harvard law school in 1914 and held that position until his appointment to the Supreme Court by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt January 5, 1939.

Decline Nomination

In June, 1932, he declined Governor Ely's nomination to the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court.

Justice Frankfurter was a friend of the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, and while in Washington, often visited Justice Holmes. He is the author, among other books, of "The Case of Sacco and Vanzetta," 1927; "Mr. Justice Holmes and the Supreme Court," 1939; "Mr. Justice Holmes," 1931, and "Mr. Justice Brandeis," 1932.

Justice Frankfurter is well grounded in liberalism. His concern with the Sacco and Vanzetta case and his association with Justice Holmes and the late Justice Louis D. Brandeis are proof.

Nicola Sacco, a fish peddler and philosophical anarchist, and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, shoe factory worker and radical agitator were arrested April 15, 1920, for the murder of Fred Parmenter, paymaster, and Alex Beradelli, helper, who were carrying two boxes of payroll money in South Braintree, Mass.

Convictions Affirmed

They were convicted. On appeal the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court, reviewing the law and not the evidence, affirmed the convictions.

On May 12, 1926, C. Medeiros, convicted of murder, testified he had taken part in the Braintree attack and that Sacco and Vanzetti were not present. A new appeal was rejected by Judge Webster Thayer, the trial judge, on October 23, 1926. In a 25,000-word argument, Justice Frankfurter, then teaching in the Harvard law school, denounced the prosecution.

Sacco and Vanzetti were executed on August 22, 1927. The Wickersham Commission on court procedure condemned Judge Thayer for having denied six motions for a new trial and then refusing to have the question of his prejudice submitted to another judge.

So much for Justice Frankfurter's background. Let's search his record in civil rights cases during the 15 years he has served on the Supreme Court and then see if you can predict how he will vote in the five school segregation cases which are set for reargument next October 12.

Only In History

But before doing so it should be noted:

1. Justice Frankfurter is the only Supreme Court judge in the history of the court who has had a young colored lawyer serve as his law clerk — a wonderful experience. Following the practice of Justice Holmes, he chooses his law clerk each year from the graduating class of the Harvard law school. One of those he has chosen is William Coleman of Philadelphia, who served for a year.

2. Justice Frankfurter often disagrees with both the majority and the minority of the court and writes a separate opinion in which he states his own individual views.

One of the first opinions of the court, written by Justice Frankfurter, upheld the right of colored voters to register, and, therefore, vote in Oklahoma.

1. W. Lane sued three Oklahoma county officials for damages of $5,000 for refusing to register him on October 17, 1934. He charged violation of the 15th Amendment.

The Oklahoma "grandfather clause" had been stricken down by the Supreme Court in 1915. A special session of the Oklahoma legislature enacted a new scheme to bar colored persons from registering and voting.

Under the new scheme, persons who had voted in the 1914 election, which had been based on the offending "grandfather clause," automatically remained qualified voters, but others had to apply for registration between April 30 and May 11, 1916.

Struck Down

The crux of the Lane case was the validity of the registration scheme, which permitted white citizens, who had voted under the "grandfather clause," to remain registered and eligible to vote. Lane did not register in 1916. Under the terms of the statute he permanently lost the right to register and hence the right to vote.

The Federal District Court found no discrimination against colored citizens and denied that the legislation conflicted with the 15th Amendment. The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed that decision.

In a 6-to-3 decision, the Supreme Court held that the 1916 legislation "partakes too much of the infirmity of the "grandfather clause."

"We believe that the opportunity given Negro voters to free themselves from the effects of discrimination to which they should never have been subjected was too cabined and confined," wrote Justice Frankfurter.

Joseph E. Snowden sued in the Federal District Court at Chicago to recover damages he claimed he suffered at the hands of members of the State Primary Canvassing Board of Illinois.

Republican Candidate

Snowden was one of several candidates at the April 9, 1940, Republican primary election for representative in the Illinois General Assembly. He charged that Edward J. Hughes, Louis E. Lewis and the late Governor Henry Horner had "wilfully, maliciously and arbitrarily" refused to certify him as one of the Republican nominees.

The District court dismissed the suit on the ground that the facts alleged did not show that Snowden had been deprived of any Federally - secured civil right and that the failure of state officers to perform duties imposed upon them by state law was not state action forbidden by the 14th Amendment.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the decision. The Supreme Court, in a 6-to-3 decision, upheld the judgment of the lower court.

Justice Frankfurter wrote a concurring opinion. He said the action of the canvassing board, taken in defiance of the duty of that board under Illinois law, "cannot be deemed the action of the State, certainly not until the highest court of the State confirms such action and thereby makes it the law of the State."

Justice William O. Douglas, in a dissenting opinion in which the late Justice Frank Murphy joined, said he thought Snowden should be given an opportunity of showing that he was denied the equal protection of the laws by "an invidious, purposeful discrimination," and not have his case dismissed on motion.

Irene Morgan Case

Justice Frankfurter wrote a separate opinion concurring in the opinion of the court in the celebrated Irene Morgan case, in which the court held invalid a Virginia statute requiring racial segregation of both interstate and intrastate passengers.

He said Justice Harold Burton, in his dissenting opinion, "stated with great force reasons for not invalidating the Virginia statute." But for him the case of Hall vs. DeCuir was controlling.

In 1948, the court held in a decision 13-years ago, that Louisiana statute which required public carriers to give all persons travelling in that state "equal rights and privileges" without distinction or discrimination on account of race or color."

The Supreme Court ruled that state regulation of the subject matter was inconsistent with the commerce clause of the Federal Constitution.)

"The imposition upon national systems of transportation of a crazy - quilt of State laws would operate to burden commerce unreasonably, whether such contradictory and confusing State laws concern racial commingling or racial segregation," he wrote, concurring in the opinion of the court in the Morgan case.

"The States cannot impose diversity of treatment when such diverse treatment would result in unreasonable burdens on commerce," he said.

Chicago policeman indicted for murder

CHICAGO (NNPA)—Hezekiah Williams, 32, a colored policeman, has been indicted by the Cook County grand jury on a charge of murder, growing out of the fatal shooting of David Speed, 48, of 5126 Indiana ave., in a tavern at 4400 State st. on July 3.

A coroner's jury had previously returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in the shooting, but on the basis of a report from an assistant state's attorney who attended the inquest, the case was presented to the grand jury.

Segregation seen fading in churches

Even from the deep South are coming signs that the morality of discrimination in the nation's churches is being seriously questioned by ministers and church goers alike.

According to an article "The Shame of Sunday Morning," written by Howard Whitman and published in the August issue of Redbook, American churches have lagged behind other agencies in wiping out discrimination.

However, Mr. Whitman quotes statements from a number of important church organizations and clerical leaders to prove that the situation is not without hope.

Cites Detroit Casis

He cites the case of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church in Detroit where: "Pastor Sissel and his congregation have not merely opened the doors of their church; they have actively gone out into the neighborhood to get people in. Negroes as well as white."

In spite of this and several other notable examples, Mr. Whitman says:

"There is more Jim Crowism in America at 11 o'clock on Sunday morning than at any other time. We Americans have fought race discrimination in sports, in labor unions, in education — and have scored great victories. But one place where we can't seem to put the idea of human brotherhood across is, ironically, in church."

In viewing the overall picture Mr. Whitman said:

"A current survey of three denominations, embracing 13,579 churches, shows that 9.8 include either Negroes or some other racial minority. As for the Negroes themselves, it is estimated that less than one per cent find themselves in churches where they worship side by side with their white brothers . . .

"If Jim Crow's gaunt specter eventually is to be driven from the temple, young members of our churches must do it, for they are the ones with the strength and desire for fair play. And make no mistake the fight has begun. But progress is pathetically slow . . .

"The luxury of the gradual approach may not be available to us much longer. For we live in a world where colored people — the brown of India, the black of Africa, the yellow of Asia are looking us over and appraising this product called democracy in which we are trying to interest them," the article stated.
