Social worker buried in L. I.

NEW YORK— Funeral services for Mrs. Dorothella C. Rackard, 44, formerly of Indianapolis and Washington, were held Friday in the Church of the Master.

The NYC welfare department employee and former music teacher, died suddenly Tuesday, of a reported heart attack. Burial was in National Cemetery, Farmingdale, L.I.

Mrs. Rackard was the wife of Dr. George Rackard, pharmacist, and lived at 730 Riverside dr. She was born in Indianpolis and came to New York 27 years ago to study piano. Following graduation she taught music in the public schools of Winston-Salem, N.C., for three years.

Worked In D.C.

On her return to New York she became a social worker with the local welfare department. During World War II, she spent several years in Washington, as a social worker, and then returned to her former post with the local department.

For the last three years Mrs. Rackard has been entertainment chairman for the "Cinderella Ball" and was a supporter of the Vocational Guidance Center.

She is survived by her husband, both parents, two aunts, and an uncle.

Mrs. M. Smyer dies in NYC

NEW YORK (ANP) — Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Holland Smyer, 78, widow of the late Rev. John J. Smyer, were Wednesday at Caldwell AME Zion church.

Mrs. Smyer died earlier in the week at Lincoln hospital after a week's illness. Her daughter, Mrs. Edwine S. Heywood, is assistant superintendent of nurses at Lincoln. Since the death of her husband in 1918, Mrs. Smyer had lived here with her daughter. The late Rev. Mr. Smyer was a minister in the AME Zion church with pastorates in Portchester, Bridgeport, and Yonkers.

A graduate of Talladega college in Alabama and Livingstone college in North Carolina, Mrs. Smyer formerly taught school in Birmingham, Ala. She gave up her teaching career when she married the Rev. Mr. Smyer.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Heywood, Mrs. Smyer leaves two son's Dr. A. C. Smyer of Jr. of New York; one grand child and two great grand children of Galveston, Texas.

Navy worker loses life because of 'racial slur'

NEW YORK — One man is dead and another is in the hospital as the result of a "racial slur" which touched off an early morning fee-for - all involving eight persons, police have reported.

The dead man was identified as Einar Olsen of Jamaica, N.Y. who was found at the bottom of a flight of steps leading to the cellar of a Transit Authority sub-station near the Brooklyn bridge.

Police said that Olsen and three other Navy Yard workers visited a bar after they finished work at midnight.

Deserted Area

Leaving the bar shortly before 4 a.m. the men went to a subway station in a deserted area near the bridge. As they started down the steps, one of the workers saw four Puerto Ricans sitting on a pile of bricks.

He called out to them: "What are you? Hindus?" and was answered with a 'shower of bricks thrown by the men, police said.

In the fight that followed Olsen was killed instantly when he was stabbed near the heart. A companion, James Naughton, 32 was cut on the head and knee and was later admitted to Cumberland hospital.

No arrests have been announced by police.

Mau Mau foe wounded; claims 33 terrorists

NAIROBI, Kenya (ANP) —The husky, bearded Sidney Davidson, a government offical who claims to have killed 33 Mau Maus, was wounded recently while leading a jungle raid against the anti-white cult.

Davidson, 41, found with four bullets in him, was shot at poinblank range by a terroist armed with a sub-machine gun. He was leading African troops in an attack on one of the biggest Mau Mau camps in the Aberdare forest, one of the worst trouble spots in the colony.

IN FRENCH CAPITAL — Attorney and Mrs. Moses H. Dixon of Cleveland spent five days in Paris recently before leaving for Switzerland and Italy. The Ohio lawyer brought no topcoat and said the weather was so cold he had to have a cup of hot coffee at almost every sidewalk cafe he passed. Ollie Stewart Photo)

Jamaica selects cabinet members

By W. E. HEMMING

KINGSTON, Jamica (ANP) — Jamaica's new cabinet under the recently advanced constitution was finally selected this week.

Gov. Hugh M. Foot approved of the selection of Allan Measel as minister of trade and industries and Jehoida McPherson as minister of labor—[illegible] recruitment of [illegible] the United States.

Both men, who are from Jamaica Labor party, completed the panel of eight ministers who will now run the country. Virtually, the present government is but one stop below self-government.

Bustamanty Hopeful

Meantime, William A. Bustamante, whose majority party constitutes the government, a few days ago repeated his hope to become the first native governor.

With this in view, the House of Representatives recently reconstituted the select committee which is charged with drafting the rules for self-government.

Sharing in that important duty, is Mrs. Rose Agatha Leon, minister of health and housing, first a commonwealth government cabinet with an English governor.

Now she becomes the first of her sex to help frame laws under which her country will be governed.

Report indicates decline of South's sharecroppers

WASHINGTON

More sharecroppers in the South probably are being shifted to the status of hired workers, according to the indications of the July farm labor report issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The report shows that the number of family members at work on their farms in June, peak of the cotton chopping season, was 69,000 fewer than a year ago, while the number of hired workers had increased by 58,000.

When the figure for June is compared with that of the average number of family workers during the period 1948-52, a decline of 476,000 is revealed. Also census data indicate a healthy decline in the number of tenant farmers in the South.

Seek Town Work

Between 1940 and 1950, there was a reduction of 546,000 white and colored tenants and croppers in the South. It is pointed out that some of these climbed into ownership, some became farm day laborers, while others left the farm for jobs in town.

The decline in the number of family workers and the increase in the number of hired hands is said to be a natural result of mechanization.

Wage rates for hired workers were up slightly in some States, and down somewhat in others. In Florida, for example, the rate with a house was up from $4.40 to $4.80 per day on July 1.

In North Carolina, it was up from $4.05 to $4.20. But in Oklahoma, the rate dropped from $5.80 to $5.70; in Texas, from $5.20 to $5.00; and in Kentucky, from $3.65 to $3.60.

Louisiana school seeks legal rating

SCOTLANDVILLE, La., —"When the American Bar Association meets next month in Boston, rating for the law school at Southern University will be discussed" stated John G. Harvey, inspector of the association.

Mr. Hervey, administrator for the section of legal education and bar admissions of the American Bar Association met with President F. G. Clark, Dean J. B. Cade, and the law school faculty; and inspected the physical plant and records of the school.

If the association approves the university law school there will be a probationary period of three years before full status of membership is granted.

Mother wins 2nd round in fight for children

OAKLAND, Calif. ANP — A county court Judge Wakefield Taylor granting Smith custody of Amanda, 10 and Erie three.

Without ruling on the merits of the case, the higher court declared Smith, who on June 7 took the children to Salt Lake City, illegally removed them from the court's jurisdiction.

Further hearings will be heard on Aug. 24, on the matter and also on contempt proceedings instituted against Smith by Mrs. Taylor through her attorneys.

WOULD END RACIAL BAN

PHILADELPHIA — City Councilman Raymond Pace Alexander has introduced a resolution in the council calling on Girard college to drop its long standing ban on colored students, or face the loss of tax exemption privileges.

ENCORES ... and ... ECHOES

By E. B. REA

The Co-Ordinating Council for Colored Performers is going to call the cards for the major TV networks. It is not going to be mere lip gymnastics, and there will be no "apple polishing" in its bid for an equitable integration in the industries.

The Council has worked out definite plans whereby, if TV and radio saean business, the proof of the talent will be right there for both in black and white.

Encores likes the working of the group, which has refused to swallow the networks pretext of a liberal hiring, integrated policy when "suitable" talent can be found.

What the Council has done is to assemble infallible statistics of the qualifications and availability of colored-talent suitable for TV presentation, or for any other entertainment media.

The Council should be commended for its most unusual and intelligent approach and follow up intentions.

Instead of just "fighting" to gain recognition, the Council is the first such group to come up with an alternative—offering something in place of what now exists, and which is not reliishable.

Its aims can easily be focussed on the legitimate stage and the movies, as well as the operatic field.

Its plans also should give birth and encouragement to our own script writers.

We castigate our actors and damn our comedians for accepting roles of which we do not approve, but up to now we haven't considered, thoroughly enough, the art of script and scenario writing, which would mean pulling worthwhile utterances, in their mouths—words and songs that wouldn't offend us.

Every spoken word, joke, or dramatic; every song, ritzy or musical; every dance routine purposes, with rare exceptions, are from white writers.

The Council is paving the way to a greater 'Operation Integration.'

Only intelligent, concerted action can root out the Lawyer Calhouns, giggling housekeepers "yes sah, Boss" handymen and the crap-shooting characters.

ABOUT PEOPLE — Dick Campbell, sponsor of the tab version of "Carmen Jones," may follow suit with an interracial version of "Finian's Rainbow."

Irvin C. Miller is still producing his famous Brownskin Models which glorified such brown frames as Blanche Thompson, Edna Mae Harris (now Mrs. Ray Robinson) and many others.

Dorothy Donegan, big - time jazz pianist (Mrs. John T. McClain), has a new male key named Jan, born last month.

The Edwards Sisters (both married), have temporarily come out of retirement for another fling on the stage.

The Ames "n' Andy" show has faded out as a regular TV network show . . . Lina Max Carlisle has a new, smash song hit, "Rhythm in the Breeze."

The working staff at Broadway's Birdland is thoroughly integrated . . . The Bandbox, text door, is tight the other way . . . "Porgy and Bess" might weather the heat but not the box office frigidaire.

DONEGAN CAMPBELL NICKERSON CARLISLE

Billy Eckstine, celebrating his birthday at Birdland, received congratulations from his wife, June, who is suing him for divorce . . . it stung Mr. B.

Mercer Ellington, son of the Duke, has shelved his band and musical activities for a career as salesman with Schenley . . . Camilla Nickerson, professor of music at Howard Univ., soon to sail for Paris.

Lionel Hampton hops off for a European jaunt on Sept. 8 . . . Nat (King) Cole playing the Venetian Room in San Francisco despite rumors of his serious illness . . . Billy Daniels and Rose Murphy are so hot Londoners won't let them come home.

Lucky Millinder to debut a new orchestra next month . . . Dorothy Dandridge booked into Rio de Janiero . . . Sammy Davis Jr. blew his top when producers suggested that he divorce the Will Mastin Trio.

Both the dancing Rimmer Sisters are baby-sitters . . . Prediction—Willie Bryant will step from the office of Mayor of Harlem to City Councilman of New York.

For Thrills—Don't miss Paramount's film on the life of Houdini . . . If you didn't see the stage play "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" make it a "must" to see the picture.

2nd HIT!

Director James E. Jones to be concert feature

One of the featured instrumentalists in the combined band concert to be held at Druid Hill Park on Sunday evening, August 2, will be James O. Jones.

Mr. Jones is a member of the No. 2 Municipal band, and serves as assistant director to Harrison M. Dodd.

His directing was lauded during the early part of the season when Mr. Dodd was forced into inaction by a serious illness from which he has recovered and resumed direction of the band.

Native Baltimorean

Mr. Jones, a veteran musician, is a native Baltimorean. He observed his 60th birthday on June 5, after almost half a century as a music student, composer and instructor.

In addition to his playing ability, he has a number of orchestrations to his credit, among them String Quartet, Fantasia, Pastoral Rhapsody, Festival Overture and Victory March.

Among his teachers have been the late Arthur Reed, organist at Leadenhall st. Baptist church; Samuel Ware, voice, and

MR. JONES

Joseph Sharples, violin, both of Atlantic City, N.J., and A. Jack Thomas, vocal, theory, orchestral and band instruments.

At present, he teaches theory, ear-training and the saxophone at the National Institute of Music of which Mr. Thomas is director.

Member Of City Orchestra

He is also a member of the City Orchestra of which Capt. Charley Harris was first director; was a member of the former house orchestras at the Regent and Royal theatres, and taught band music at Bowie State-Normal for two sessions.

He is an active member of the Colored...Musicians Union, 543, American Federation of Musicians.

Teacher And Musician

Mr. Jones, according to Director Thomas, is adept on all of the orchestral and band instruments and is a capable teacher as well as a musician.

Mr. Jones resides with his wife, the former Lula Betty Austin, at 1311 Druid Hill ave. They have no children—E. B. REA.

BAND SOLOIST — Mrs. Geneva Hillen, well known soprano, will be guest soloist with the combined No. 2 Municipal and Park bands, Sunday, August 2, at 8:30 p.m. in their annual concert in Druid Hill Park.

'Sombrero' at Harlem theatre

Something delightfully different in motion picture fare is brought to the Harlem screen Wednesday in MGM's arresting production, "Sombrero," filmed in Technicolor against picturesque backgrounds of Mexico, with an outstanding cast starring Ricardo Montalban, Pier Angeli, Ilorio Gassman, Yvonne de Carlo, Cyd Charisse and young screen newcomer, Rick Jason.

Based on Josefina Niggli's widely-read novel, "A Mexican Village," the new offering paints a vivid, sometimes joyously happy, sometimes poignantly sad picture of life beyond the Rio Grande with its songs and dances, down-to-earth humor, passions and vibrant temperament of the Latin character.

Utilizing a feud between two small communities, the respective villages of Columba and San Juan, as a thread by which the narrative is held together, "Sombrero" actually depicts three separate romances—one tragic, the second tempestuous, the third rollickingly funny.

LATIN TEAM — Ricardo Montalban and Pier Angeli are completely at home as the Latin lovers in "Sombrero," Technicolor romance which starts at the Harlem Wednesday.

Colbert stars in Regent film

The sinister tropical jungley, the oppressive heat and the ever-present threat of a raid by violence-crazed bandits are the suspenseful elements in the drama of "Outpost In Malaya," the new United Artists release which will open Thursday at the Regent Theatre.

The picture stars Claudette Colbert and Jack Hawkins and was filmed on location in Malaya. It is the story of a rubber planter and his wife and the effect of the grim, nerve-racking atmosphere has on their marriage. The hazardous day-to-day life in a rubber plantation, the constant danger of attacks by well-armed, marauding bandits, have their telling effect on what would otherwise be a happy marriage. Jim, played by Jack Hawkins, wants his wife to return to England for a time because he envisions the plantation becoming an armed camp in a death-battle with the bandits. His wife, played by Claudette Colbert, misinterprets his motive, believing that she is no longer an important part of her husband's life.
