WASHINGTON

An AFRO report that there was only one woman in the life of Pfc. Page T. Baylor — his mother—led to the revelation Tuesday that this recently released prisoner of war also has a wife.

This came to light within two hours after the AFRO hit the newsstands Tuesday.

A front-page article quoted the released POW's 18-year-old sister, Theodora, as saying that her brother, Private Baylor, was not married.

Obviously disturbed, the wife telephoned the AFRO newsroom to put them straight. "Private Baylor is married and I am his wife," she said.

The mother, Mrs. Marie Baylor of 326 G st., se., insists that her son isn't married.

New swimming pool open to everyone

Baltimore's NAACP, now preparing its case against the city for failure to provide equal outdoor swimming pools, has received additional encouragement this week by the news of a new municipal pool opened to all citizens on an equal basis in Paterson, N.J.

Last week, the Missouri Court of Appeals ruled that the colored pools in Kansas City were unequal and ordered all pools there opened on an equal basis. The city is appealing.

The dedication in Paterson of the old Circle Pool as the new Memorial Pool, honoring the city's war veterans by Mayor Lester F. Titus was a great victory for liberal and humane forces.

Adults and children of all races, creeds and nationalities, 562 in all, flocked to the pool Aug. 1, the first day it was

City Council oks motion calling for probe in incident

(Special To The AFRO)

ANNAPOLIS — This city is highly disturbed over charges made Monday to the police commissioner of alleged police brutality last Friday in the arrest of first, a local matron and, later, her husband who came to her aid.

A conference was held in the office of Mayor Arthur G. Ellington on Tuesday after affidavits filed with the City Council by the couple prompted this city's two colored councilmen to demand an investigation.

The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Roberts of 43 Paca st., faces a hearing August 24 on charges of disorderly conduct, destruction of property, resisting arrest and assault on a policeman.

Jobs covered by federal contracts cannot discriminate

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower recreated the government contract committee by an executive order issued in Denver, Colo., Thursday.

The committee will act as a watch dog to insure the enforcement of the non discrimination clause in federal contracts.

It will be composed of 14 members including representatives from the Atomic Energy Commission, the departments of labor, commerce, defense, and justice and the general services administration. Eight other defense civilians are to be appointed by the president.

Differs

The present committee differs from a similar one established by former President Truman on December 5, 1951, in the following manner:

(1) It will receive complaints and may transmit them to the appropriate agency.

(2) The committee is increased from 10 to 14 members.

(3) It can recommend to agencies how complaints should be handled.

(4) It encourages educational programs by volunteer groups among nine governmental businesses.

(5) It establishes and maintains a cooperative relationship with state and local government as well as non-governmental bodies.
