Miss Lois Johnson wed to Waverly Hendericks

with Lula Jones Garrett

Ring Sunday, September 13th, for that testimonial honoring the town's top lady, Alice Arrington, whom citizens will fete in the Morgan college refectory at five p.m.

Mrs. Arrington, as you know, will leave the post of executive director of the Madison Avenue branch YWCA to take over a similar position in the New York branch.

And now to the news of yesterday:

Cute little Lois (Bitsy) Johnson, daughter of the McCulloh st. Harvey Johnsons, and Waverly Hendericks, of Dunbar high school faculty, dropped into Sharp Street Methodist church, Saturday at one-thirty, and were wed.

'Twas a ceremony without fanfare, with just family and intimate friends about ... and equally without fanfare the couple joined Robert and Vera Williams and Gay and Dr. George Spaulding, and went off to Canada on a honeymoon.

The bride was as pretty as a peach in pale beige wool jersey suit, with hat and shoes exactly matching and carrying a bridal bouquet of orchids and baby's breath.

She was attended by Betty Randolph of Richmond, Va., who was a class mate at Virginia Union university. Miss Randolph wore a pink suit. Her shoes and hat were also of the same shade, and she wore a corsage of tea roses.

Richard Cummings was best man. The Rev. Joshua O. Williams was officiant, and Morris Queen was at the organ.

And here to do the official welcoming into the bridegroom's family was his sister, Mrs. Becky Willis of Farmville, Va.

Harrises Feted

Other wedding items of the week are anent that very lovely wedding reception, on Friday afternoon which Mr. and Mrs. Neva Clark gave for the recently married Lt. and Mrs. Robert H. Harris (their daughter, Juanita) at their 32rd st. home.

The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Harris.

For the affair, the bride wore a frock of blue organza over pink taffeta ... held a bouquet of tiny pink blossoms. Receiving in place of Elsie Clark, who had been bridesmaid, but who was out of town on that evening, was Shirley Chambers.

Her frock of blue nylon, lace enhanced, and halo of white flowers, complimented the bride's ensemble. She also carried pink blossoms.

Mrs. Clark selected royal blue silk shantung and navy accessories for her reception. Mrs. Harris wore rose-colored lace over ombre organza, with pearl trim. About 150 guests called during the receiving hours, including Blanche Hubbard, and Margaret Darnell of New York; Shirley McLean of Boston, Mass.; Cecile Myers of Memphis, Tenn.; Anne Kinard of Washington and A. J. Bailey of Raleigh, N.C.

Shower For Hilda

Hilda Shelley, whose wedding to Eugene Asque is set for next Friday, was the recipient of the linen showered given on Saturday by Eva Murdock.

And add to the Cupiddoodling, the Jesse W. Reddens (Alma Francis) being off on a delayed honeymoon in California ... will attend the National Funeral Directors' convention in Los Angeles.

Previously a television set for the deaf children, table, curtains and cash had been given the school.

Then off for the annual vacation jaunt, this time to New York City, checking in early Friday at the Hotel Theresa were Verna Mason and Nellie Wright, after stopping over in Pennsylvania. For a few days; Melvina Jackson just in from two weeks vacation in Asbury Park, Belmar, Atlantic City and Virginia, and Dorothy Jackson.

The club and their guests set off after all were checked in to enjoy such fun as a crusie down the Hudson, tour of Chinatown and downtown New York, the races at Monmouth Park, and of course, visits to famous eateries and night spots.

Returning home Monday, very much pooped, they all agreed that there still is no place like New York.

Do you recognize this family?

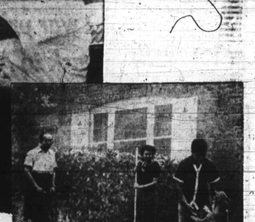
DO you recognize the McGuires in your market and media plans? Do you invite them—directly—to buy your product or service? As Negroes, they are part of a prospering minority, part of America's fastest growing market. Signs of their progress are all around us. You too must have observed it — Negro urbanization; better education; upgrading in jobs; and growing incomes — all substantiated by government reports.

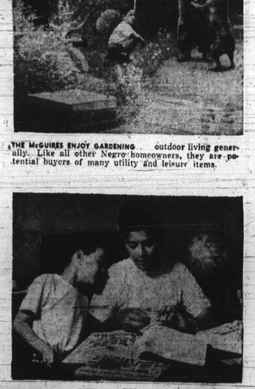
You can recognize the McGuires with a direct invitation to buy—by advertising your product or service in the Afro-American Newspapers—as many top national advertisers are doing regularly. The McGuires, like 2,000,000 other families, read a Negro newspaper each week. Your buying invitation in these newspapers maintains present brand loyalties and develops new customers for you.

Afro newspaper coverage of the Negro market—largest ABC circulation in the field—extends into 6 major urban areas with over 1,000,000 consumers. But coverage is a timid word. As newspapers mold and move these communities, influence Negro families. Case histories prove this is why increasing numbers of important national advertisers include Afro newspapers in their market and media plans. Commanding loyal readership as champions of Negro social and economic progress, they enjoy exceptional readership (70% to 100% for all pages, both men and women, a survey in one of America's prime markets disclosed). They're exclusive in the sense that they are the only paners written in terms of Negro interest, for and about Negroes.

For an eye-opening appraisal of a market larger than Greater New York, ask for your free copy of the booklet "Quick Facts about Selling the Negro Market."



THE McGUIRES ENJOY GARDENING ... outdoor living generally. Like all other Negro homeowners, they are potential buyers of many utility and leisure items.



ABOVE: Fifteen-year-old high school senior Mickey McGuire plans to study law after undergraduate work at Dartmouth. Dad's alma mater. The number of college-trained Negroes has increased 84.9% in the past ten years. Interested John, 6, examine their stamp collection.

LEFT: Mrs. McGuire wouldn't have needed her dietetics courses at Howard University to know what suits her boys most in mid-afternoon—a snack! This mother-businessman is Secretary of her husband's undertaking firm, 37% of Negro wives are employed.
