Numbers rap upheld by Appeals Court

Wiggins, Shaw lose bid to upset lottery conviction

WASHINGTON (NNPA)—The United States Court of Appeals has upheld the convictions of Thomas Shaw and Thomas R. Wiggins in District Court on charges of violating the lottery law.

It rendered no decision in the case of Miss Ella Ledbetter, which was consolidated for brief and argument with the Shaw and Wiggins cases.

In an opinion by Judge E. Barrett Prettyman, the appeals court held that since neither Shaw nor Wiggins were arrested, No one claimed any of the money found and no one made claim to the premises at that time. The officers left a copy of the search warrant on the premises.

POW atrocities probe is sought

The United Nations was called upon this week to set up a commission to investigate atrocities committed upon UN prisoners of war by North Korean and Chinese Communist forces. Demanding this action was the American Veterans Committee (AVC).

"Two charges should be investigated by this body," AVC National Chairman Curtis Campaigne, Jr. wrote to Dag Hammarskjold, United Nations Secretary-General.

Torture

"First, that torture has been used upon the persons of UN prisoners of war contrary to all international agreements on the treatment of such persons.

"Second, that allied prisoners of war have been sent to Manchuria, China, and Russian-Satellite nations of Eastern Europe to do slave labor."

New anti-cough drug successful in tests

A new drug to reduce the severity of coughing spasms that may prove to be twice as effective as the codeine sulfate now commonly employed, is promised as the result of a series of tests reported by two Harvard research physicians.

In the current issue of "The New England Journal of Medicine," Drs. Leo C. Cass and William S. Frederick describe a 45-day test involving 11,000 clinical observations of patients at the Long Island Hospital, Boston, and the Cambridge Tuberculosis Sanitarium, Cambridge.

The new drug, known chemically as dextrometherphan hydrobromide, is an experimental product, still in the process of development and investigation by scientists in the Nutley, N.J., laboratories of Hoffmann La Roche, Inc.

MYSTERIOUS LIGHT TURNS OUT TO BE CANDLE FLAME

Pedestrians, alarmed by a strange flickering light in the second floor window at 1382 N. Carey St., called the fire department Tuesday. Upon arrival, firemen discovered the light to be a flame of a sacrificial candle.

City, county take over housing units

Turner Station projects, Fairfield Homes to change

The housing situation for colored perked up during the week, both in Baltimore city and Baltimore county.

In the city a move promises more homes in the future, possibly in two years.

In the county the move is immediate, although temporary.

Fairfield Homes, one of three federal war housing projects to be turned over to the city for low rent housing, will gradually convert to colored occupancy the Housing Authority announced this week.

Need For Housing

Ellis Ash, director of management for the authority, said the conversion, based on the need for colored low-rent housing in the extreme southern portion of the city will take at least two years to complete.

In the county, an agreement reached between the Federal Housing Authority and the County Board of Commissioners, halted the eviction of the residents of two Turners Station housing projects.

The low-income homes, Sollers Homes and Turners Homes, containing more than 600 temporary war housing units were built in 1942 for the "duration of the emergency," and the government had ordered them closed and abandoned by next June.

Residents Appealed

Residents in the homes appealed to the county commissioners for help since they claimed they had no place to go.

The county has announced its intention of accepting responsibility for running the projects for at least three years more.

However, since the government announced its intention of abandoning the projects, regular repairs and upkeep has all but ceased and rapid decay has set in among the wooden and fiber building.

Have Until Dec. 31

At a meeting held in Towson recently between the county commissioners and Federal Housing officials, the government gave the county until December 31 to complete all plans regarding the projects.

The Fairfield Homes project is located on Chesapeake avenue in the Fairfield area. A survey, conducted by the Housing Authority, revealed that except for the occupants of he Fairfield project itself, it is located in a predominately colored area.

The decision to convert was also based on the pressing need for housing for colored families in a low-rent economic level.

No Other Projects

The absence of other low-rent housing projects for colored in the southern district of the city with the exception of Cherry Hill;

Additional low - rent housing available for whites in the southern district in the Brooklyn and Westport projects and in a planned addition to Westport.

Mr. Ash said the City Council has approved the transfer from Federal to city ownership and the paper work will be completed some time in the fall by the Federal Public Housing Administration.

Families applying for units in the low-rent housing projects will be referred to Fairfield Homes.

Mysterious shots rock Essex House

Essex police are investigating ten mysterious shots which shattered the windows of a Hopewell st. house, Monday.

Joseph Hylton, 1632 Hopewell ave., told police he was sitting in his home when shortly after 1 p.m., a series of shots startled the neighborhood.

At first he thought it was an automobile backfiring, but when the blasts continued, Mr. Pullum called police.

Search Neighborhood

Patrolmen J. O'Conor and T. Terry arrived in a prowl car and searched the neighborhood but could find no trace of the person firing the shots.

Meanwhile, Mr. Pullum searched other houses in his house and found that the window in a second floor bedroom had been knocked out by bullets which lodged in a far wall.

In the kitchen, another window was knocked out by a bullet that struck a refrigerator and then richochetted to the floor.

Mr. Pullum could advance no reason for the shooting.

Midway in their investigation, however, Essex police are inclined to believe the shots were fired by youngsters in the area using homemade "zip" guns.

To support this contention police point to an increasing list of complaints fro m Essex motorists concerning radio aerials which have been pilfered from their cars.

Police explain that the aerials are an essential part of the zip guns, which although handmade, are still deadly.

GETS SILVER STAR — Hospitalman William C. Woods of the Navy receives the Silver Star medal at the U.S. Naval submarine base at New London, Conn. from Rear Adm. George C. Crawford, for heroism while serving with the marines in Korea in December, 1952. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Woods of Rocky Mount, Va.

Ex-marine awarded Silver Star medal

Hospitalman William C. Woods received the Silver Star medal in ceremonies held recently at the U.S. Naval submarine base at New London, Conn.

Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Woods of Rocky Mount, Va., was formerly attached to the Fifth Marine Regiment in Korea.

He was cited for "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity" while serving with a marine infantry company in Korea on Dec. 2, 1952.

The citation stated in part:

Woods displayed "outstanding courage, initiative and devotion to duty, by rescuing a wounded comrade in te face of intense enemy mortar, machine gun and small arms fire."

Helped Wounded

"He returned for a second wounded marine lying in hostile territory. He helped the wounded man across a 250 yard rice paddy, under constant and devasting enemy mortar and machine gun fire."

The citation continued that, "although suffering frostbite as a result of the extreme cold, Woods continued with his mission until his comrades were evacuated."

Rear Adm. George C. Crawford, Atlantic Submarine Force commander, made the presentation.

Labor head accused of $12,828 theft

NEW ORLEANS—(ANP)— Informed that Dave A. Dennis, president of the General Longshore Workers Local No. 1419 (AFL) ILA, was about to leave the city for Liberia, the district attorney's office received accepted charges against the popular labor leader of the alleged embezzlement of $12,828.78 of the union's funds.

Dennis posted bond of $5,000.

Although the DA's office pretended it had sent for Dennis under the guise of straightening out financial matters which the DA's auditors said was at a variance with the union's auditors, it was obvious that the charging of Dennis was a cut and dried affair.

Dennis considered the drop-posed plans of the DA as death for him, in that the union is presently aflame with internal strife and that as a result of these charges against him, anything might now happen along the waterfront.

For more than two hours, Dennis and his attorney tried to smooth things out in a conference composed of the two DA investigators and two of the DA's aides, but to no avail.

The hullabaloo centered around two checks drawn in 1951 by Dennis. The DA contended that Dennis used them to purchase personal real estate.

Dennis said the money had been returned. The DA said it had not. The DA also said that if it had been returned it had illegally been taken.

Politics Seen

The move of the DA's office in charging Dennis, has given rise to considerable conjecture. Some say it is politics. Others point out the two DA aides will be candidates for that office in the coming January elections.

In defense of himself Dennis gave the following statement to the press:

"I was charged with the theft of $12,828.78 of funds from the Crescent Broadcasting Company Incorporated, a corporation owned by Local 1419 ILA.

"I testified under oath before the Tobey committee with respect to the above money and stated that I had borrowed these funds with the permission of members of the Board of Local 1419 ILA and that every dime thereof was subsequently paid back. In addition a personal note was given by myself as collateral for the above loans.

"For some strange reason this matter was not referred to the grand jury, but the office of the district attorney made those charges."

38,000 drivers killed last year

There are 63 million potential killers roaming the country today in America. When a motorist steps inside his automobile he becomes the nations number one potential killer. He is the executioner of many citizens and spares not, for he too dies by his own hand.

At the end of 1952, 38,000 of these self-made executioners had committed suicide. Driving too fast, driving while drunk, failure to obey traffic signals, all contributed to this mass mayhem.
