Korean vets get last call

Aug. 20 deadline for school choice

The Department of Education and the Veterans Administration are jointly issuing a last call for veterans who were discharged from service on or before August 20, 1952 and who desire educational benefits under the Korean G.I. Bill.

All veterans who were discharged on or before August 20, 1952 must be enrolled in a training program of their choice on or before August 20, 1954 if they intend to use their G.I. Bill.

On the basis of the non-segregation policy recently adopted by the Department of Education the following courses are available on a day or night schedule for all veterans and other adults.

List of Courses

Air conditioning, auto mechanics, body and fender, bricklaying, cabinet making, carpentry, combination welding, commercial and industrial art, dry cleaning, electric shoe repairing:

Electric wiring, general woodwork, machine shop, painting and decorating, printing, radio service, refrigeration, tailoring, television, and tool and die making.

All courses are approved by the State Department of Education and the Veterans Administration and local conditions indicate many job openings for trained men in these particular areas.

The main office of the Department of Education Room 111 B, 3 E. 25th St. will be open for registration and information daily from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Monday and Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 9:30 or you may call BE. 5-6300 Ext. 79.

Fire guts apartment at Civic League House

A fire gutted a third floor apartment at 1618 McCulloh St., early Thursday afternoon. The apartment was unoccupied at the time.

Traffic on the boulevard was detoured on Madison Ave. for approximately one hour as firemen fought to get the blaze under control. Damage was confined to the third floor. The first floor is occupied by the Civic League House.

GOVERNOR'S GUESTS—These policewomen guards joined with 350 others throughout the state to attend a reception given by Gov. and Mrs. McKeldin, Wednesday, at the mansion house in Annapolis. Five buses carried the Baltimore guests escorted by city and state police. Also waiting to greet the women was Police Commissioner Beverly Ober. Following the refreshments, each guest received a safety booklet. Shown boarding the bus in front of the War Memorial building are: Mesdames Gloria Davis, Odessa Davis, Norma Goldsmith, Elmira Harris, Mary Riggle, Jean Shipley, O'Neal Watson, Fredereka Davis, Beatrice Martin, Frances Chapman, Esther Cole, Doris Tarter and Gertrude Bush.

Safety experts seek tighter traffic laws to curb accidents on highways

Model law revised for lights, brakes, speed and licensing to go to State Legislatures

Seventy traffic experts met in Washington, D.C., on June 29 for the purpose of making streets and highways safer through tighter traffic laws.

The National Committee on Uniform Traffic Laws and Ordinances amended lighting, braking, maximum speed and driver licensing requirements in the Uniform Vehicle Code, which is the nationally accepted guide for motor vehicle legislation among the States.

Sidney J. Williams, assistant to the president of the National Safety Council and chairman of the group, in describing the aims of the meeting, stated, "The Uniform Vehicle Code can never remain static as long as the conditions sought to be controlled change as frequently as they do through ever-increasing motor vehicle use and traffic congestion.

"Our responsibility as a group is to keep the Code up to date. To this end, subcommittees composed of experts will recommend changes in it based on careful analysis of the problems assigned to them."

The principal changes made by the Committee in the Uniform Vehicle Code were—

(A) Five exclusive use categories were assigned to warning lights on motor vehicles, namely:

Low candlepower, steady burning, with one or more lamps displaying white or amber lights to the front and red light to the rear; for parking and tail lights.

High candlepower, steady burning, with one or more lamps on the rear displaying red to amber light; for braking lights.

High candlepower, flashing to one side only at any time, lamps showing white to amber light to the front and lamps showing red to amber light to the rear; for turn signals.

High candlepower, flashing alternately, two or four lamps mounted as high as practicable and displaying red lights to the front and the rear; requiring other traffic to slow and usable only on school busses and authorized emergency vehicles such as fire and ambulance, with optional use on police vehicles.

High candlepower, flashing simultaneously, lamps displaying white to amber light to the front and lamps displaying amber to red light to the rear: for vehicles requiring the exercise of unusual care in approaching, overtaking and passing.

High candlepower flashing lights are to be as widely spaced laterally as practicable.

(B) Farm tractors, farm equipment and implements of husbandry operated on public highways at night must have specified lighting equipment in use.

(C) An absolute maximum speed of 60 miles per hour, with 50 miles per hour at night for all vehicles, replaces prima facie limits. Lower limits are provided for urban and zoned areas.

(D) An applicant for a driver's license in any State must certify that he does not hold a currently valid driver's license issued by another State.

(E) Stopping distances in feet for motor vehicles upon application of the service (foot) brake were lowered for private passenger automobiles and raised for trucks and busses for the purpose of bringing them into line with reasonable standards and to facilitate stricter enforcement.

RECENT GRADUATE of Carver Vocational Evening School, Miss Narcissus Bishop of 418 Orchard St. plans to resume study of tailoring this fall and eventually to operate a tailoring and dressmaking business.

Accident victim stays in hospital

One of the four victims injured in an automobile accident on June 26 is still confined to St. Joseph's Hospital in a "fair" condition.

Miss Lorene Dickerson, 23, an employee at the Perry Point Hospital, suffered a fractured thigh and lacerations of the arms in the accident at 25th St. and Kirk Ave.

Accident reports said that an automobile driven by Mrs. Minnie Ceasar, 45, of 40 Monroe St., Aberdeen, Md., and moving west on 25th St., swerved into the Path of an automobile moving west on the same street, and driven by William Martin, 35, of the 1400 block Cedarcroft Rd.

Had Back Injuries

Mrs. Cesar, a social worker, sustained back injuries and a fractured pelvis. Miss Etta Wilkerson, 25, of the 500 block Cumberland St., suffered cuts of the scalp and a fractured right ankle. Both victims were treated at St. Joseph's and later released.

Also injured—in the accident was Martin who suffered bruises of the chest and lips. Mrs. Cesar was given a ticket for reckless driving and Martin received a summons as a witness.

Trial is set in Traffic Court at 2 p.m. on Aug. 18.

Community group loses in battle against tavern

The Winchester Improvement Association lost their fight to prevent a neighborhood tavern from converting from white to colored trade this week.

In a decision handed down Tuesday, the Liquor Board granted Ott's Lounge, 1300 block Poplar Grove, permission to make the change.

The decision was given in opposition to a community group headed by Mrs. Esther Yancey. In a hearing held three weeks ago the Association presented a petition containing 636 signatures.

42 At Hearing

Forty-two members were on hand for the hearing. The lounge is owned and operated by Arthur Von Nordick.

The Association was represented by Harry Cole, attorney, and Mr. Von Nordick by Clement R. Mercalio. The tavern owner contended that he wanted the change because the neighborhood in which his place is located is predominately colored.

"Against All Taverns"

Mr. Cole told the board that the Association would continue to protest against the tavern even if it was mixed.

The Winchester group, he said, is against any tavern in the community because the resident want it to remain a residential area.

There is no city or state law barring the issuance of liquor licenses to taverns which will serve both white and colored customers.

Segregated licenses are a custom of the Liquor Board which has never been challenged in the courts.

Welder injured in explosion

In an explosion which blew out a 12-foot section of window in an Edmondson Ave. garage, Stanley Lynch, 43, of the 2100 block Ashton St., was seriously burned Thursday.

An employee of a garage in the 2100 block Edmondson Ave., he received burns over almost 50 percent of his body and a cut on his forehead.

Firemen believe that the explosion was caused by sparks from a welding torch which may have ignited a 55-gallon drum partially filled with anti-freeze.

Mr. Lynch was alone in the garage at the time. His clothes were burned off completely.

12 at Yale studying alcoholism problems

Twelve Marylanders who are interested in the problem of alcoholism have been awarded scholarships to the Yale Summer School of Alcohol Studies July 5 through 29.

Joe B. Dellinger, Chief of the Section on Alcohol Studies, State Health Department, announced that this is the second year that the Department has made such scholarships available.

Nurses Institute

This year, in addition to the twelve persons attending the month-long course, 16 nurses will attend a three-day Nurses Institute on Alcoholism July 26 through 31 at the Yale University in New Haven, Conn.

The scholarship group includes Dr. Stephen Klinger, psychiatrist at Crownsville State Hospital and at the Anne Arundel County Alcohol Clinic; and Theodore T. Watkins, city teacher and representative of the Baltimore Urban League.

Hospital list boy's condition as critical

Henry Mack Jr., 10, of 1034 N. Calhoun St., remained in a critical condition on Thursday at Provident Hospital, where he was taken after a fall from a 20-foot wall.

The boy fell head first from the wall at Lanvale and Upton Sts., on Sunday afternoon, a few minutes after he and a friend left the Lincoln Theatre.

Police still hold feud victim's car

The 1947 black Buick sedan which belonged to the slain Isaac Linton, 26, 3400 block Spellman Rd., Cherry Hill, is still in custody at Northern Police Station.

Because of a $200 loan, which was made by Mr. Linton, on the car, the vehicle has not been turned over to the family, though payments are up to date.

Bernard Kaufman, supervisor of the Fidelity Finance Corporation, who made the transaction, explained the car can be released to any member of the family who is of legal age and who is financially able.

Wife Underage

Mr. Linton's wife, Mrs. Louella Linton, is only 20 years old and told the AFRO last week that she may have to go on relief to get support for herself and her five small children, ages 18 months to six years.

Mr. Kaufman further explained that since the account was made in Mr. Linton's name, the new car owner would have to pay off the loan either by cash or by refinancing the car.

If no one takes the car, it will be turned over to the finance company, July 21, at which time a public auction date for the sale of the vehicle will be set.

After the car is sold the company will take its share of the money and the rest will be turned over to Mrs. Linton, Mr. Kaufman said.

Mr. Linton was shot and killed, June 26, during a feud fight involving 10 men in the 2100 block N. Howard St.

Boat Overturns, 2 Drown

POW Hero Yesterday, Goat Today

Rescue 6 From Bay

Survivors float in life jackets for 16 hours

Boat discovered with hole in the bottom

Of a party of nine, which left Baltimore at 1:30 a.m. Thursday to go fishing off Bower's Beach, Dela., three are reported missing and six saved, when their boat overturned.

All had life preservers.

Identification was made possible by the Coast Guard

Saved

Charles Jones
Sam Owings Sr.
John L. Berchette
Morris Gosnell
Zelda Gosnell
Capt. Harry Heideck

Bodies Recovered

Mrs. Marie Owings
Mrs. Leila Jennings, teacher at P.S. 122

Still Missing

James Gosnell Jr.

The search is still continuing for Mr. Gosnell.

First advised by the AFRO that her husband was safe, Mrs. Jone said, "Thank God."

by identifying the license plates of three automobiles said to belong to the following:

Charles W. Jones, principal of School No. 122, 1143 N. Carey St.;

Mr. Nicholas Gosnell, engineer at School No. 122, 1920 Lauretta Ave.;

Samuel R. Owings, principal of Waesche St. School, 911 N. Carey St.

Others In Party

Mrs. Jones told the AFRO that the entire party included her husband, Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Gosnell, Mr. and Mrs. Owings, Mr. Gambrill, who is an engineer in one of the housing projects, and a Mrs. Leila Jennings.

Many Baltimoreans fish at Bower's Beach in Lowes, Dela.

Mrs. Jones said that she was scheduled to go with her husband and the party, but she decided to stay home at the last moment. She said she did not like the idea of going out in that much water.

They left at 1:30 a.m., Thursday and were to start from Mr. Owings house. There were three cars.

Up All Night

Mrs. Jones said, "I was up and down all night. Every time a car drove up I would look to see if they had arrived. When daybreak came, I was frantic.

"I wondered what had happened because they never stayed so late before. They were never later than 10 o'clock getting home.

"They would leave here at 1:30 a.m., geting up to Bower's Beach by 5 o'clock, have breakfast at the eating place on the wharf, and leave for fishing in the Delaware Bay about 6 o'clock in the morning.

Coast Guard's Story

The Coast Guard told the AFRO:

As far as we can determine, the accident occurred about two miles west of 14-foot light.

"We found the boat overturned with a hole in the bottom.

"The accident occurred about 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

"We pulled six persons out of the water sometime between 6 and 8 o'clock Friday morning.

"All of them wore life preservers, some of them wore two life jackets.

"Two persons were drowned, the other still missing.

Last Boat In

"You see nobody had reported the boat missing and nobody happened to sight them out there.

The way it happened, evidently there were no boats around.

I think they were on their way in when it happened.

Probably was the last boat to go in and all the other boats had gone on in and nobody seemed to miss them.

When they didn't show up nobody reported them missing at all.

Nobody knew anything about it until this morning

Masons and Shriners to meet in Ill.

Unusual session in Chicago on July 24

Jackson's suit under discussion

Master in Chancery's fee $75 an hour

CHICAGO—Masons and Shriners gather in Chicago July 24 and 25 to discuss their current litigation.

These sessions will be held in the Masonic Temple and the hosts will be the Illinois Grand Lodge and Grand Master Rogan. A long list of grand masters in the various states signed approval for this meeting.

Grand masters in a score of states issued edicts some months ago enjoining Masons in their jurisdictions from participating in national Shrine affairs.

Shrine's Officers

Their complaint was that the Shrine's national officers, headed by Potentate Raymond Jackson, disturbed the peace and harmony of the Masonic order.

Jackson sued this Illinois grand lodge and a master of chancery recommended to the court that it declare the Shrine a separate organization and forbid grand masters from penalizing individual Masons for acts of Potentate Jackson.

Fee Is Set

The Master in Chancery recommended also that each side be assessed one-half of the costs of the hearing and he asked the

$5 award granted to church worker

Miss Olive J. Williams of 4907 Alemeda was this week's winner of the AFRO's $5 lucky picture award.

As director of music at the Cherry Hill Community Presbyterian Church, Miss Williams's picture appeared in Tuesday's AFRO with staff members of the church's Vacation Bible School.

Another lucky picture may be found somewhere in this edition. The person in the circle can collect his or her $5 simply by calling at the AFRO office, 3rd floor, before noon, Tuesday, July 20.

It must be your picture in the circle for you to win.

Office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. If it's your picture, bring it into the AFRO and win yourself $5.

Weatherman sees drop in mercury as heat wave ends

Baltimoreans seek relief when thermometer climbs to highest point in six years

If you think it has been hot this week — you are absolutely right—it has been.

The warmest day in six years was recorded on Wednesday when the temperature rose to 102 degrees and at least 20 persons fell victims to heat prostration in Baltimore.

On the list was George Banks of the 1900 block Bolton St., a carpenter, who was treated at Provident Hospital after reportedly collapsing while working. He was later released.

Heat Wave Broken

Nightfall on Wednesday brought little relief to Baltimore until almost midnight as the temperature hovered in the 90s. And then the back of the heat wave was broken by storms swept the area sending the thermometer down to more normal levels.

The weatherman followed the storms with the pleasant prediction that the weekend will be fair and cooler with temperatures averaging in the 80s.

The scorching weather that hit Baltimore was mild compared to what some other cities were going through. Take a look at these temperatures in the midwest.

St. Louis, 112.3; Springfield, Ill. 113.8; Kansas City, 110. One spot in Oklahoma had a reading of 117.5 degrees which, as a song of a few years ago observed is "seven times hotter—hotter than it ought to be."

Several Remedies

Here in Baltimore, residents met the problem of the heat with a variety of remedies.

Some of them headed for the nearest air-conditioned theatre.

Celebrated Korean sergeant demoted to private for visiting family Christmas Day

By WILLIAM WORTHY

DURHAM, N.C. — Any day now, from the U.S. Veterans Hospital in Durham, a repatriated prisoner-of-war, a former sergeant, will be reaching his home on a rural road five miles from South Boston, Va.

THERMOMETER: 102, CONCRETE: 108 — Mrs. Shirley Morgan, 2803 Gwynns Falls Pky., demonstrates that it was hot enough this week to cook an egg in the street. A hat check girl in a downtown club, she says the best way to stay cool is to wear shorts and relax.

Wife of man slain in feud in a destitute condition

By SHIRLEY KYLE

Mrs. Louella Linton, 3421 Spellman Rd., Cherry Hill, needs help and needs it right away.

Her 26-year-old husband, Isaac, who was her sole supporter, was shot and killed, June 26, during a feud involving 10 men in the 2100 block N. Howard St.

Only 20 years old, Mrs. Linton is left saddled with five young children, ages 18 months to 6 years who need food and clothing; an apartment which is nearly a month overdue in rent; $400 funeral expenses and other small bills.

Expecting Baby

But to top it all, she's expecting another baby any day now and she has no visible means of income.

The tiny, attractive brown-skinned girl, eyed the reporter with a worried questioned look on her face, Thursday.

"What can I do?" her eyes seemed to ask.

But she forced a smile on her thin lips and laughed. "I'm doing fairly well. I'll make out some way."

She won't tell you about the day she and her children went without food because they had only 50 cents in the house, and she ended up going to her mother's home to stay for awhile.

She couldn't stay because her mother has several small children of her own and can barely make it herself.

Mother Has Pride

Mrs. Linton has pride, lots of it. So much, in fact, that she won't seek help from her friends and neighbors.

"They have enough troubles of their own, not to be worried with me," she reasons.

Little does she realize, however, that her friends consider

Local hotels would bar Dr. Bunche

Admittance of colored guests to downtown hotels is not a closed issue, but the hotel associations are giving the matter no further consideration at the moment.

This is the situation as explained Thursday by H. Nelson Busick, manager director of the Lord Baltimore Hotel and president of the Hotel Association of Baltimore City Inc.

Mr. Busick was asked would the eminent Dr. Ralph Bunche be permitted to register at the Lord Baltimore. His answer was no, because of the present discrimination policy.

When it was pointed out that Dr. Bunche is one of the highest ranking U.S. members of the United Nations, Mr. Busick said in obvious admiration and respect:

"Oh, I know who he is. You don't have to explain that to me."

Latter Prompts Query

The question was prompted by a letter which appeared in a national newspaper this week in East Mt. Vernon, N.Y., lamenting the fact that a person of Dr. Bunche's stature would be denied accommodation at hotels in some southern states.

Mr. Lewis, who is a member of the NAACP's national board is a regular writer to newspapers all over the country.

Mr. Lewis' letter said:

"I had the pleasure of listening to Dr. Ralph Bunche, the

Explosions wreck factory

Hundreds feared killed on Shore

CHESTERTOWN, Md. — A series of severe and frequent explosions wrecked the Kent Manufacturing Co. near Chestertown Friday morning. First reports said several hundred persons were killed.

Chestertown has been evacuated of all its citizens and the State Civil Defense, handling rescue operations, has urged "all tourists and sightseers" to stay clear of the Eastern Shore.

State Police headquarters reported that only "two or three" persons were killed and 40 injured.

The plant, located across the river from Chestertown, makes explosives for the U.S. Navy.

Forest Fire

The first explosion occurred around 10:30 a.m., and continued all day. Early Friday afternoon a forest fire was reported to have broken out in the area.

The Kent County Civil Defense organization under the direction of Col. Harry Russell, sent a plea over the radio that any employee not hospitalized should call civil Defense or State Police headquarters.

Early reports that the Chesapeake Bay Bridge has been closed to traffic were denied by Civil Defense officials.

No definite fatality list could be obtained in early reports because teams were still unable to enter the buildings where the explosions occurred.

Other Civil Defense rescue teams in other parts of the state were alerted but were not dispatched to the scene of the explosions.

The explosions were still continuing as late as 1:15 p.m. Friday. One building was entirely demolished and explosions were continuing intermittingly in a second building, it was learned.

At 1:30 p.m. it was learned six buildings were leveled and the fire had been brought under control. Rescue workers were ready to enter the buildings to recover the bodies.

Two cancel purchases at Ward's

Refused a sandwich at the cafeteria, the son and daughter-in-law of Mrs. Emma Brown, 1924 N. Eden Street, cancelled their order for electrical fixtures at Montgomery Ward's Washington Boulevard store, July 3.

Mrs. Brown told the AFRO her children had done their shopping at Ward's, including a large order of electrical fixtures.

They went to the cafeteria to rest a minute and ordered a sandwich. After sitting sometime, she said, one of the employees told them, "Sorry we can't serve you."

Mrs. Brown added, "We did not know that that was the policy at Montgomery Ward and so we went back into the main store and cancelled our purchases."

Harold E. Saunders

Asked whether Ward's cafeteria employee correctly stated the company's policy not to serve colored people, Harold E. Saunders told the AFRO:

"The only thing we have for colored persons here is a take-out service. In other words, they can go in and get something to take out of the cafeteria."

Question: Then the eating facilities are not open to everybody?

Mr. Saunders: That is absolutely right.

Question: But you do have a cafeteria?
