Guests from 10 cities at Williamses' 28th picnic

...with Lula Jones Garrett

When Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Williams of Monkton, Md. (co-hosting with Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Powell of Towson) held their annual picnic (the 28th) a Sunday back, there were guests from some ten cities attending.

There was, of course, the food that is always a feature; there was binge, pinochle and bridge to alternate with the conversation; there was an informal band of saxophone and a couple of guitars to support dancing and group singing; and there were the following to enjoy the above:

From Baltimore: Mesdames Montie Roberts, Lucy Smith, Mamie Glover, Mamie High, Daisy Kennedy, Suetta Taylor, Miss Marie Henderson;

Messrs. and Mesdames Julius Scott, Furman L. Templeton, Eddie Evans, Ed Wharton, Wilco James, Edward Grannison, J. Henry Jones, Lloyd Clark;

Messrs and Mesdames Nelson Waters, Albert Jackson, C. Horace Gibson, Joe Young, Claude Patterson, Walter Day, Furman Patterson, Walter Day, Claude Johnson, J. William Crusor and Furman and Roye Templeton also:

Manson Tucker, Towson; Mrs. Bertha Randolph, Newark, N.J. Mr. and Mrs. Sylbester Hardy, Bronx, N.Y.; Mrs. Gertrude Robinson, Washington;

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Griffin, Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carter, Harrisburg, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Gibson, Pennsauken, N.J.;

Mrs. Maude McCombs, Riverton, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Williams, New York City; and W. Boone Hamer, Philadelphia, Pa.

FUN WITH CONNOISSEURS

The Connoisseurs (they're the five young matron whose club pattern does naught but pamper their penchants for lobster and champagne) had there first open party on Sunday... a grand one it was!

They garnered some forty guests ... stocked food and drink enough for a hundred (including oodles of the champagne) ... tucked the whole aboard Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Thomas' super yacht and went off down the Chesapeake for the day.

The weather was perfect ... the guests easy to look at ... and the mood of that lazy leisure that made conversation enticing and banished even any impetus toward so much as a game of cards.

The hostesses were Emily Jones, Vyets Murphy, Irma Dixon, Allegra Taylor and Inez Kent ... aided and abetted, of course by Messrs. Murphy (Jimmy), Dixon (Bill), Taylor (Leroy) and Kent (Harold).

On the cruise-feast with them were:

The Howard Hucleses, Ernest Dennises Roy Garvins of Washington, Mark Pattersons, P. D. C. Penningtons, Cecil Glosters, Bill Spielders, William Gardners, George Rosedomes, William Gardners, Powell Sheffeys, Claude Urquharts, William Gosnells, Mrs. Bruce Turner, Anne Thomas, Charles Laws; Nellie Buchanan, Elizabeth Johnson, Nathaniel Scott of New York, Linwood Koger, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas and Mr. Patterson.

JOHNSONS HOSTS

The same day, Dr. and Mrs. Louis Johnson entertained members of the Me-De-So Club, their wives and children, and a few guests at their Eldersburg, Md., place "Ridgeview Farm."

All of the Me-De-Sos were about, with the exception of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Watts' she having recently lost her father; and Dr. and Mrs. John Gunn, who are summering in Cape May.

Other guests were Mrs. Alma T. Thomas and son, Frederick; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Murphy Jr., Dr. and Mrs. K. Albert Harden, Dr. and Mrs. Riley F. Thomas and Mrs. LaTrea Hedricks of Washington; and Mrs. Jean Carter of Chicago.

BLAIRS ENTERTAIN

Felix and Ann Blair held forth at a beach side supper and boat ride at Tates cottage Sparrows Beach, Sunday.

Their guests were:

Mesdames Sarah Redmond, Bernice Brown, Aloise Holliday, Rose Adams, Willie Netterson, Misses Corinthia Green, Julia Jenkins, Evelyn Burton, Mary Cooley of Washington;

Warren Parker, J. Hanks, Thaddeus Logan, Kenard Adams and Luther Evans of Washington.

MISS CARTER BRIDE

'Twas a very quiet ceremony, with only members of the immediate families present, when Sarah B. Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Carter, became the bride of Charles M. Smith Jr. on last Saturday afternoon.

Edna V. Brown was her maid of honor and Charles Morris his best man. The Rev. James L. Moore officiated.

Mr. Smith is on the faculty of School No. 148. Mr. Smith is an operator for the transit company. The newlyweds are at home at 2131 Dukeland St.

MISS ADAMS SHOWERED

Mesdames Modestina Cox and Charlotte Shockley entertained Miss Rosetta Adams, a fellow employee at the Social Security Administration with a kitchen shower on Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. Cox.

Miss Adams will be married on August 8 to Edward Donald Green of this city.

Guests present were: Mesdames Molly McCray, Delores Jenkins and Dorothy Lucas; Misses Celeste Adams, Lola Johnson, Yonzella Watts, Marion White and Patricia Thomas.

The gifts were arranged vengually in a fashionable pink parasol. Among the many presents received were a rolling pin, an aluminum range set, an aluminum cannister set, a hammered aluminum ice-bucket, an aluminum bread warmer; a pantry set, a pyrex refrigerator set, a Pyrex casserole, a dish drainer, dish cloths, pot holders, a luncheon set, a hostess set and a broom.

Pink and green was the color scheme used in the table arrangement and snapdragons arranged in a crystal basket used as the centerpiece.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Willis of Canton, and an X-ray technician at Mercy Hospital in that city.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Willis wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin, ballerina length for her wedding. She carried a white rose atop a Bible. Her veil was held by a coronet of seed pearl.

Miss Betty Ann Tucker, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She was gowned in pink. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Elvis Poole and Miss Iona Hester, who wore blue and yellow gowns, respectively.

Mr. Best Attends

Elmer Best was best man, and ushers were Mr. Poole and Ronald Earley.

The couple spent their honeymoon here and in Washington. The bridegroom, who has just returned from Okinawa, will be stationed in Wilmington, Del., as of this month.

Can You Have Long, Rich, Perfect Hair?

Scientific facts show: It all depends on the nature and condition of your scalp. In other words, you can have long, naturally attractive hair—smooth, soft, growing out full and healthy—only if your scalp is ready and able to make it so.

Millions of people are learning this vital truth. They are also learning the amazing facts about Sulfur-8 Hair and Scalp Conditioner and how it works for the beauty of the hair.

The Power of Sulfur-8

Only Sulfur-8 has that special formula with the wonder drug hailed by famous hair and scalp specialists—the new scientific "super-sulfur" called polysulfides. Of course, Sulfur-8 cannot give you a new scalp, nor make your hair grow or be longer than your scalp allows, but when used in time it works wonders in building up the looks of the most abused, dry hair to fresh, radiant beauty.

Race Relations Institute links common problems

There is a common link among the problems which confront all minority groups.

This fact was impressed upon Mrs. Mae Gellman, executive secretary of the Baltimore Fellowship as she attended the 11th annual Institute on Race Relations at Fisk University, June 28-July 10.

On scholarships awarded by Fisk, Mrs. Gilman and Miss Marie Ellen Jones, music-teacher, made up the interracial delegation to the Institute from the Baltimore Fellowship.

The approximately 100 persons in attendance represented a wide range of backgrounds, cultures, traditions and occupational interests.

They included social workers Spanish speaking peoples, residents of Mississippi, NYC, Cleveland; college students from Antioch, Northwestern and some Southern colleges; ministers, Indians from North Dakota and California; and leaders in organized labor.

Different Problems

Mrs. Gellman says she was surprisingly made aware of the existence of minority group problems different from those in Baltimore.

There is, for instance, the problems of leadership within the Spanish-speaking groups. In New York City, the Puerto Ricans present problems of economy, education and social work second in seriousness only to city care of the aged.

Authorities reported that there are 60,000 children with language limitations in New York, requiring the employment of special Spanish teachers.

The Puerto Ricans represent such a large segment of the city that during election periods, both political parties send Spanish-speaking workers into their communities to count their votes.

Leadership Problems

Concerning group leadership, the Puerto Ricans lament the fact that too often when their leaders get all the advantages of education and the American culture, they become absorbed into the white society, still leaving the natives without proper guidance.

A delegation of nine Indians — representing the Navahos, Hopis, Pueblo and Cros Ventre tribes—told of their problems at the Institute.

Heading the delegation was Mrs. Helen Peterson executive director of the National Congress of American Indians, with headquarters in Washington.

They have problems of employment both on and off the reservations, particularly in cases where they have been moved to leave their fertile farmlands to make way for government projects.

Object To Freedom

The Indians, having a strong feeling of racial identity, are opposed to any legislation which suggests that they be freed and integrated into general American society.

They much prefer to remain segregated, but be given all the advantages of education and assistance in earning a livelihood which has been promised to them.

Mrs. Peterson said that whenever a piece of legislation began with the enticement "to improve the lot of the Indians," they are immediately on the look out for a hidden motive by a utility company which might want the land or by a government agency seeking an out from its obligation to the Indian tribes.

Enlightening And Educational

Mrs. Gellman said that a realization that there are Spanish-speaking problems, Indian problems and Jewish-Christian problems, proved both enlightening and educational.

The Rev. John Tilley, president of the executive board of the Fellowship spent two days at the Race Relations Institute on home from the NACCP Convention in Dallas.

Mimeographed reports on the Institute sessions which featured speakers, panel discussions and seminar clinics, will soon be available at Fellowship House, 21 W. Preston St.

Clubs

BABS—The pinochle club met with Mr. and Mrs. John S. Blackley, 2020 Ridgehill Ave., recently.

Plans were completed for a lawn party to be held at the same address on July 24.

AVAILABLE FOR ADOPTION—Youngsters like this cute little tyke are available for adoption through the Family and Children's Society, 204 W. Lanvale St. Interested persons may telephone the agency at MA. 3-7332.
