ROYAL HAS MICKEY SPILLANE SCREEN DEBUT

CinemaScope goes to the circus in "Ring of Fear," currently playing the Royal's giant screen. Clyde Beatty, Pat O'Brien, Mickey Spillane (making his screen debut) and the entire Clyde Beatty three-ring circus help provide the thrills in this tale of a homicidal fanatic who escapes from the police and joins the circus as ringmaster.

Playing himself in "Ring of Fear" is Clyde Beatty, acknowledged the world's most famous wild animal trainer.

STIRRING SEA DRAMA ON NEW ALBERT SCREEN

The rescue of a temporarily blinded U.S. Navy jet pilot, who is "talked down" into a perilous but successful carrier-deck landing by an air mate, is unfoled on the New Albert screen with in "Men of the Fighting Lady," an MGM picture starring Van Johnson, Walter Pidgeon, Louis Calhern, Dewey Martin, Keenan Wynn and Frank Lovejoy.

Inspired by Navy flier Commander Harry A. Burns' story, "Case of the Blind Pilot," and James A. Michener's widely-read magazine story, "Forgotten Heroes of Korea," the MGM Ansco Color photoplay combines striking realism, emotional tension and harrowing suspense in its psychological study of jet heroes who risked their lives in phenomenal low-level raids over Korea, climaxed by the blinded pilot episode.

'PLAYGIRL' STARS SHELLEY WINTERS AT THE HARLEM

The shocking impact of today's headlines and the sensational facts behind those headlines accounts for much of the powerful drama in Universal-International's "Playgirl," which is now playing at the Harlem Theatre. Co-starring Shelley Winters and Barry Sullivan, the picture has a provocative story-line keyed to that modern phenomenon, Broadway's glamorous party-whirl.

"Playgirl" is, in fact, two strong narratives, tensely and jaultly interwoven. There is the tragic "torch" that nightclub singer Shelley Winters carries for philandering magazine publisher Barry Sullivan. And there are the events that befall wide-eyed Colleen Miller, Shelley's small-town girl friend, seeking fame as a big-city model. After scandal links Colleen with a killing, she and Shelley become estranged. It is at this point that Colleen switches from modeling to a career as a "playgirl." And it takes more tragedy and scandal to bring her and Shelley together again.

MARTIN AND LEWIS 'LIVE IT UP' AT THE CARVER

As gay a celluloid romp as has ever graced a motion picture screen is the brand new Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis Technicolor comedy, "Living It Up" which is now playing at the Carver Theatre.

Based on a smash Broadway musical, the hilarious package of mirth and melody co-stars Janet Leigh and Edward Arnold with dancing sensation Sheree North.

The hovel-a-second story concerns Jerry Lewis, as a whistle stop station master, who comes to the big city as the guest of newspaper editor Fred Clark, after it has been widely reported he is radioactive and has only a short time to live.

Under the direction of sob-sister, newspaper reporter, Janet Leigh, Jerry gets the celebrity treatment. He is enjoying himself no end when lo and behold it is discovered that he is as healthy as a mule and that country doctor, Dean Martin, had diagnosed his case incorrectly.

'DEMETRIUS AND THE GLADIATORS' THRILLS REGENT FILM-LOVERS

The story of the making of "Demetrius and the Gladiators," the multi-million dollar sequel to "The Robe," Regent Theatre with Victor Mature and Susan Hayward starring, is almost as fabulous as that of its predecessor. While it did not take eleven years of preparation, as "The Robe" did before it came to the screen, "Demetrius and the Gladiators" did call for a courageous decision on the part of Darryl F. Zanuck head of production at Twentieth Century — Fox, and Producer Frank Ross.

They had already invested nearly five million dollars in "The Robe" and it had not yet been released when they decided to bet another huge sum on its sequel.

In 'Demetrius and the Gladiators' we have the vital young wife of an old emperor falling in love with a virile young man, who happens to have a conscience. That the story is told in Roman magnificence and brutality does not alter the fact that it could be a modern triangle.

MET FEATURES 'WITNESS TO MURDER,' MYSTERY

The new trend among Hollywood producers toward shooting on actual location sites has now hit Hollywood itself. Roy Rowland, director of "Witness to Murder," now playing at the Met Theatre, wheeled his camera out of the studio and down Hollywood's main streets and byways for key sequences in the film, the background of which is the glamor city itself.

Barbara Stanwyck, Gary Merrill and George Sanders are co-starred in "Witness To Murder," an offbeat suspense film.

Among the more prominent Hollywood landmarks which served as backdrops for the action in "Witness to Murder" were the Brown Derby, Frascati's, W and J Sloane's, City Hall, the Beverly Hills Hotel and the downtown headquarters of the Los Angeles Police Department.

Timer saver spout aid to busy mothers

NEW YORK — All housewives are busy, and mothers are the busiest of all. Nobody knows this better than the Beech-Nut Packing Company, of Canajoharie, New York, one of the nation's biggest producers of baby foods.

Beech-Nut is now introducting a new time-and-trouble saver for America's mothers.

Not Complicated

It's a relatively simple thing— a metal spout for Beech-Nut's popular 4-ounce cereal package, but it is sure to make much easier, mother's daily chore of doling out just enough cereal for baby's meal.

The new spout is not in the least complicated. Mother simply breaks the seal, pulls down the metal spout, and pours the exact amount of cereal she desires into baby's dish.

Then she pushes back the spout and the contents of the package is automatically resealed against dust and dirt.

Beech - Nut's 4 - ounce cereal package, introduced last year, was itself an innovation designed for mother's convenience. The addition of the new spout simply adds to its appeal.

BARBARA STANWYCK and George Sanders in a scene from "WITNESS TO MURDER" Now playing at the Met Theatre.

VAN JOHNSON analyses an argument on the part of Dewey Martin in a scene from "Men of the Fighting Lady," MGM's stirring drama of jet pilot action over Korea, now playing at the New Albert Theatre. The picture unfolds a pulse-tingling story of a blinded pilot who is "talked down" into a perious carrier - deck landing by an air mate.

Gene Ammons seized for dope

PHILADELPHIA

Gene Ammons, nationally famous saxophone-playing band leader, on Tuesday was held for the grand jury in $1,000 bail on drug charges.

The saxophonist and his band started an engagement on Monday at the Powelton Bar, 40th and Filbert Sts.

Eugene O. Easton, 27, of Dayton, Ohio, was discharged at the hearing before Magistrate John Morlock in Central Station, City Hall. He, too, is a saxophonist with the band.

The 29-year-old Ammons, who lives in Chicago, and Easton were taken in custody at the close of their performance, early Tuesday morning. They were arrested by Detetives Leo Spaeder and John Grant.

The narcotics squad officers, currently under command of criminal investigation officer Firman Hopkins, stated that they received an anonymous telephone call on Monday night. A male voice said, "Gene Ammons and his band are all 'hopped up' at the Powelton Bar."

Spaeder said that he had known Ammons to be using drugs for sometime, but did not know he was in the city.

Ammons and Easton were examined in the office of the manager of the Powelton, William Clark. Arms of both men Spaeder said, appeared to be oozing from fresh needle marks. He added that there were also old puncture marks on their arms.

Ammons, according to Spaeder, admitted that he started taking injections of heroin this year. He asserted that he had received his last shot in May.

Following examination by Dr. Alexander Lieberman, Ammons was pronounced positive and Easton, negative. Ammons, who was released in bail, was scheduled to continue his engagement on Tuesday night.
