Her bed occupied, wife gets divorce

When Mrs. Hattie Johnson of 637 Ensor St. returned home from work and found a woman sleeping in her bed, along side her husband, she "cleaned house."

That is what she testified in Circuit Court, this week, when she obtained a divorce from the husband, Charles W. Johnson.

"I not only put him out, I put his father, who was living with us, out. The woman — I didn't have to put her out. She ran out," Mrs. Johnson said.

"His father told me that my husband didn't mean any harm ... that he and the woman had been drinking a little. But whenever my husband is in bed with another woman, and both unclothed ... it is some harm and not no harm!" Mrs. Johnson added.

She and Mr. Johnson had been married on August 18, 1948. The union ended Oct. 23, 1950, according to testimony.

* * *

ALSO WINNING a divorce from her husband on grounds of adultery was Mrs. Vernonia Gadson of 1602 Division St., who testified that she surprised John Gadson in a rendezvous with another woman.

Mr. and Mrs. Gadson were married on April 20, 1945 and separated on Nov. 1, 1953.

JAMES BUMPHERS of 1025 N. Ashburton St. was granted a divorce after he testified that Mrs. Elizabeth Bumphers deserted him on Feb. 16, 1951. They were married on May 16, 1949.

* * *

ROBERT L. CHASE of 2002 Prestman St. was granted a divorce from Mrs. Elaine Chase on a desertion charge.

Mrs. Chase had charged that her husband left her, but he filed a cross bill showing that she was the deserter.

The court awarded the decree to him and gave him custody of one of their sons. One son, and $10 per week support order, went to the mother.

MRS. EDNA O. HARPER of 1836 Presstman St., a special security worker, was divorced from Ernest L. Harper of 604 N. Payson St.

She testifies that they were married on Sept. 9, 1948 and he deserted her on Dec. 29, 1954. Their three children were given into her custody and he was ordered to pay her $15 per week for their support.

Mrs. Edna M. Jenkins of 2700 Sethlow Rd., won a divorce from John Jenkins of 320 N. Calhoun St., custody of two children and $20 per week support. She charged desertion in Sept. 1953. They were married on April 6, 1941.

Claim board can integrate

No bar seen to Barrett move

A difference of opinion over the necessity of going to the legislature for approval of a plan to combine the Barrett and Montrose Training Schools for Girls, has developed among board members of the State Department of Public Welfare.

Thomas J. S. Waxter, head of the department, has stated that such approval is necessary because the plan would mean the end of the racial segregation policy in the training schools.

However, one faction on the board is contending that such approval is not needed, and the board itself can approve integration with a ruling by the state's attorney general that segregation in Maryland schools is void on the basis of the Supreme Court decision.

* * *

MR. WATER has taken the stand that since children are sent to the schools by the courts, that the legislature must issue a mandate directed to the courts that segregation ceases to exist in the training schools.

He told the AFRO this week that his department has no control over where the courts send the children, and therefore could take no action to end segregation until the legislature acted.

The differences between Mr. Waxter and some members of the board, grew out of a plan to move the colored girls from the Barrett School to the newly-allwhite Montrose School, and to convert the Barrett site into a detention center.

Doctor tries heart massage

Twenty-four hours after a physician at Lutheran Hospital had massaged his heart to start it beating again, James C. Brevard, 36, 600 block W. Saratoga St., died at the hospital on Wednesday.

Mr. Brevard was admitted to Lutheran on Tuesday with a growth in the upper portion of his chest that had obstructed his breathing, causing him to collapse from an insufficient supply of oxygen.

Dr. Austin Givens first insertedl a tube into his throat to allow the patient to breathe, but Mr. Brevard had been without oxygen so long that his heart stopped beating.

The physician immediately made an incision in his chest and massaged the heart for several minutes until it began to beat again.

However, the patient's physical condition had reached the point that physicians were unable to save his life. Mr. Brevard died 24 hours later.

Young girl wins picture award

Mary Hopson, 12, 104 Calhoun Ct., Turner Station, is the latest winner in the AFRO'S Lucky Picture Contest.

Her picture appeared in Tuesday's edition of the AFRO with a circle about her head. Under the rules of the contest, this meant that she was entitled to a $5 cash award which she collected on Wednesday.

Mary had her picture taken as she had a group of youngsters from the Faith Tabernacle Bible School of Turner Station were visiting the AFRO plant.

SOMEWHERE IN THIS edition there is another picture in which the head of one person has been encircled. This person may claim his or her $5 by appearing at the AFRO office before noon on Tuesday.

The latest winner enters Sollers Point Junior High School this September. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hopson and has three brothers and sisters.

She hopes one day to be a private secretary and she intends to use her award to purchase clothing.

$166.47 raised for Mack triplets

Some $166.47 was raised at a garden party for the benefit of the Mack Triplets and their parents, Alice and George Mack, on Sunday, at the Community Playlot, W. Lafayette Ave. and Payson St.

The affair was sponsored by the Community Protective Association, Inc. in order to move the family of eight from their one room at 540 N. Fulton Ave. to an apartment and buy furniture for them. Net proceeds after expenses totaled $112.66.

The Rev. M. G. Woods, pastor of Providence Baptist Church, spoke and Lis Male Chorus sang.

* * *

CHAIRMAN of the committee was Robert O. Matthews, business manager of the association. Mr. Matthews recently succeeded in getting Mr. Mack a full time job where he works.

Others on the committee were Jodie Vance, Mesdames Thelma Faulcon, Viola Bernard, Frances Stafford, Sarah Osborne, Miriam Glenn, Overy Vance and Elizabeth Newton.

The Mack family also received this a $20 gift from John H. Murphy Jr., of the AFRO. The money was sent to him by Oakleigh Seitz, owner of a pet cemetery for his personal use or as a gift to a worthy family.

Ike's to be a grandpapa for 4th time

WASHINGTON

Grinning delightedly, President Eisenhower informed reporters Thursday morning that he expects to become a grandfather again, sometime around Christmas.

Setting aside for a moment the cares of state, the President broke the news at his weekly press conference.

He announced that his daughter-in-law, Mrs. John S. Eisenhower, had informed him of the coming event when he returned from the "summit" talks at Geneva.

The President already has three grandchildren — David,— Barbara Ann, 5, and Susan Elaine, 3.

There's a Lucky Photo with the head encircled in every edition of the AFRO. Look for it, it may be you. It's worth $5.
