Park services slated Sunday

The Community Summer Park Services will be held Sunday, under the auspices of the Council of Churches and Christian Education of Maryland-Delaware, Inc. The speakers will be:

Clifton Park — 7 p.m., the Rev. Leslie Bowling, Grace Baptist Church; Patterson Park — 6:45 p.m., Lt. Evans Colbert, Salvation Army; Druid Hill Park — 6:30 p.m., the Rev. Ira Dinkle, Woodberry Methodist Church; Riverside Park — 6:30 p.m., the Rev. Thomas I. Smith, Light Street Presbyterian church.

These services are held at the bathhouse pavilion of each park and are open to the public. The chairman for the parks are as follows:

* * *

CLIFTON PARK, Arthur S. Richmond; Druid Hill Park, Robert Owens; Patterson Park, C. C. Haines, and Riverside Park, I. Joseph Fout.

The chairman of the lay-ministerial committee is Franklin C. Austin.

COOL LASSIE—Betty Harding of Baltimore enjoys the cool breezes away from the heat of the city at Carr's Beach. Hundreds of Marylanders and others from District of Columbia trek to the summer spot located outside Annapolis as the thermometer rushes skyward.

Park Band sets 2 weekend concerts

The Bureau of music has arranged excellent programs for the two concerts to be given this weekend, one this evening (Friday), at Mount and Saratoga Sts.; School No. 100 at 8 p.m., and the other on Sunday, at 3 p.m. at Lafayette Square.

The No. 2 Park Concert band, conducted by Charles E. Gwynn, will appear at both of these locations, and featured will be Margaret Bass, assistant conductor, conducting the Knightsbridge March.

Also included in the program will be the Raymond Overture, Mannequins' Festival, Invitation To The Dance, Bugle Call Boogie, At The Gremlin Ball and others.

The complete program is as follows:

Along The Avenue

It's The Irvin Bean Quartet, over at the Club Astoria, Edmondson Ave. and Calhoun St. Front man Irvin Bean, manufacturing sweet sounds on the vibes, is backed by the drums of Harold White, the bass fiddle of Gilbert Church and the piano stylings of Ben Holley.

Bean and the boys have been together about two years, doing most of their work in Baltimore and Washington and once, for a time, in Oklahoma. This group gives the customers what they want — the slow and the soft tunes and the swift, bouncy type of rhythm.

Bean developed his music ability at the Holloway Conservatory here and doing special service stints while in the Army. He turned down offers from Erskine Hawkins and Jan Garber to continue his schooling, but came out to form his own group.

The Baltimore lad would like to continue studying some day, but for the present, he is kept busy making the kind of music that is packing them in at the Club Astoria.

The club, with its cozily remodeled interior, is managed by Herman Claybourne, who extends a cordial invitation to those who want to enjoy a good time, with good music in pleasant surroundings.

* * *

THE LOVERS of quiet jazz stylings will go for The Sharons, the instrumental trio now holding down at the Tijuana. Ralph is the big man in the trio and a master craftsman on the keyboard.

With him are Chris Febba on the drums and Jay Cave on the bass fiddle. Sharon, who has worked in Canada and the United States, is a London label recording star.

The big kick in the show, however, is Susie Sharon, a very capable songbird. The lass does a bang-up job of "Foggy Day in London Town" and Hoagy Carmichael's "Baltimore Oriole," a lament which she has recorded.

This is real nice quite entertainment in the cool Tijuana, a perfect combination for a hot summer evening.

* * *

ETHEL ENNIS, at the Red Fox with Monte Poulson, is tops every time. The piano work of this girl, along with one of the most unique refreshing voices that has come along in a long, long time, spell out the best that can be offered.

Ethel has that rare quality of showmanship that has destines her for big things in the entertainment world. There are very few who can handle a song so easily and yet so masterfully as she does.

Monte backs her up on the bass fiddle and on the week ends, and on Tuesday, the duo is strengthened by the versatile Billy Fox, a singer and pianist in his own right.

The Red Fox summer policy of "Relax in your slacks," is strengthened by the constant appearances of big name stars, who come to hear the Poulson Duo and often sit in on a number or two.

* * *

OVER AT THE Comedy Club, it's Little Jimmy Scott, who is riding high on the automatic coin machines.

Jimmy, who has his seasoning in years past with Lionel Hampton, has been captivating audiences with his baby voice since he was 13 years old, and he still does it with the finesse that has put him at the top in entertainment.

Jimmy is real great when backed up by the Emanons (that's no name spelled backwards, with an "s" added), he gives out with "When You're Alone." You don't hear the song sung like this every day.

And the way he does "I'll Be Seeing You," a song which he practically made a classic a few years back — this is big time.

Jimmy will hold forth at the Comedy Club through Sunday, after which he will head for Baltimore and Washington and then, on to Oklahoma.

This group gives the customers what they want — the slow and the soft tunes and the swift, bouncy type of rhythm.

NEW BARMAID — At the Comedy Club is Lois Burns of the 3400 block Auchenroly Ter. She's been at the club for a month and comes from Washington, D.C.

'Hot Rod' will arrive at party from 'out of space'

Disc Jockey Maurice (Hot Rod) Hulbert is celebrating another birthday Saturday, July 30, and he's going to arrive at his party at Carr's Beach again from "out of space."

Last year many party guests were too late to witness Hot Rod's spectacular landing by helicopter on the pier at Carr's Beach. The WITH deejay arrived in full space regalia following the pattern of his "Rocket Ship Show."

This year, however, Hot Rod says he's not arriving by helicopter nor will he land on the pier. He promises something more spectacular.

* * *

HOW WILL HE arrive?

"From out of the stratosphere," explains Hot Rod enigmatically.

"If you are there," he continues, "don't look back toward the gate, look up.

"I'm still coming down," Hot Rod promises.

* * *

THE BEACH is to be cleared at 5 p.m. and the gate will be reopened at 6 p.m. for Hot Rod's birthday, highlighting the Social Mixers of Washington and Baltimore.

Ernestine Jackson will be presented as "Miss Out of Space of 1955." Entertainment will be furnished by Paul Quinichette and his orchestra, featuring Harold Baker former trumpet player with Duke Ellington; player Jackie Davis' Hammond Organ Combo, and Tommy Mosley, seven times winner of the Horace Heidt show.

In addition, disc jockeys from Baltimore, Washington and Annapolis will be on hand to pay tribute to the "Rod."

And, naturally, everybody's waiting to see just how the guest of honor arrives.

"From out of space," says Hot Rod. Wherever that is.

FROM OUT of space Maurice 'Hot Rod' Hulbert will drop in on guests attending his annual birthday party Saturday at Carr's Beach. Outfit is proper attire for those residing in the stratosphere, says Hot Rod.

Philadelphia, Coming into the Comedy after him will be the renowned Betty McLaurin and her "I'll Hate Myself in the Morning," according to genial Ike Dixon.

Incidentally, while Little Jimmy Scott was holding out in Cleveland and not doing the circuit, he was married and is now the stepdaddy of a four-year-old lass.

* * *

OVER AT the Knotty Pine, it's dancing every Friday, Saturday and Sunday to the rhythms of Eddie Gaff and his trio. The Biddle St. and Park Ave. location is one place where you can unimber the legs and spin around the floor at will.

Dancing is from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. and the customers seem to go for it in a big way, according to the packed house that prevails over the week-ends.

* * *

THE QUAINT atmosphere of Jones Cafe, 1724 Lanvale St., is enhanced by the winsome, dimpled smile of Viola "Dukie" Toledo, one of the four barmaids who make the evening a pleasant occasion.

Serving along with "Dukie" are Margy, Arline and Emily, who make up a really fine staff of barmaids. In the air conditioned atmosphere of Jones Cafe they dispense that kind of service that adds up to customer satisfaction.

Dukie, who has been working there for eight years, said the boss, Theophilus Jones, was down at Carr's Beach at a policemen's outing the night the 'Avenue' stopped by.

High-fidelity recordings and shrimp, that's the carte du jour at the Fulton Cafe, Fulton Ave. and Baker St. Every Monday and Wednesday nights, customers enjoy a shrimp feast and listen to the top tunes of the day on Hi-Fi. A good quiet way to spend an evening.

Aug. 1 to be 'Haiti' Day

WASHINGTON

Approximately 500 guests have been invited to attend Haiti's annual Armed Forces Day reception next Monday evening at the Sheraton-Park Hotel.

Hosts will be Col. Thimoleon Pierret, military attache at the Haitian embassy, and Mme. Paret.

* * *

AMBASSADOR JACQUES Leger entertained at his residence at the Sheraton-Park, this past Monday, in honor of members of the board of governors of the American National Red Cross.

The occasion served to signify Haiti's gratitude for aid rendered during the havoc wrought by Hurricane Hazel last Fall.

Decorations for the National Order of Honor and Merit were conferred upon the following Red Cross officials:

Commander — Roland Harriman, chairman of the American National Red Cross; officer—James T. Nicholson, executive vice president; Claude Barnett, member of the board of governors; and Gaile Gallub, assistant director of the office of international relations; chevalier (in absentia) — Howard Ross, director of the American National Red Cross in the Caribbean.

Among the guests at Monday's party were, in addition to the honorees and their wives:

Messrs. and Mesdames DeWitt Smith, R. F. Shea, W. H. Dabney, S. A. Winfrey, R. F. Eaton, P. K. Betts, G. M. Elsey, R. W. Wilson, and L. L. Blair; Earl B. Dickerson, Dr. F. D. Patterson, H. W. Starr, W. D. St. Seaubin, and the following members of the staff at the Haitian Embassy:

Ives August, Pierre Louis, Col. and Mrs. Paret and Messrs. and Mesdames Hogar Nicolas, Gerald Leger and Alain Turnier.
