"FOXFIRE" PLEASING FANS AT HARLEM THEATRE

Combining the acting talents of Jane Russell, Jeff Chandler, Dan Duryea and Mara Corday with a compelling screenplay by Ketti Frings, Universal - International's "Foxfire," which is now playing at the Harlem Theater, is a definite crowd-pleaser in the field of entertainment.

From the best-selling novel by Anya Seton, Miss Frings has woven an action-packed and romantic screenplay which never fails to hold the auditor's interest.

Briefly, the story concerns a wealthy eastern socialite who meets and falls in love with a rugged western mining engineer while vacationing at an Arizona dude ranch.

As the young lady with eastern ideals who meets the young man with western ideas, Jane Russell scores effectively in a tailored-to-order role.

Jeff Chandler is equally effective as Miss Russell's co-star, turning in one of the finest performances of his career.

Always a dependable performer, Dan Duryea does an excellent job in his role of a mining camp doctor who attempts to win th affections of Miss Russell during her matrimonial tiff with Jeff.

BOB CONSIDIEN STORY ON NEW ALBERT SCREEN

For the real lowdown on the higher-ups of the underworld we recommend Republic's dramatic and exciting "Hoodlum Empire" a Bob Considine story, starring Brian Donlevy, Claire Trevor, Forrest Tucker, Vera Ralston, Luther Adler and John Russell, which is now playing at the New Albert Theatre.

It took the fearless, nationally syndicated reporter, Considine, to uncover facts that even the Kefauver committee didn't have, plus the courage of Herbert J. Yates, president of Republic Studios, to bring this revealing front page story to the screen.

In addition to the brilliant cast of starring players, the film boasts many fine supporting performers including Gene Lockhart, Grant Withers, Taylor Holmes, Roy Barcroft, William Murphy, Richard Jaeckel and Richard Benedict.

Crime Probe

The film opens on a full-scale Congressional inquiry into nation-ide mob control of gambling and crime in the United States. Brian Donlevy as Senator Bill Stephens heads the committee.

Key witness is king-pin mobster Nick Mancani, portrayed by Luther Adler. Forrest Tucker as Charley Pignatalli, second in command, is also an important witness.

"HOUSE OF BAMBOO" CONTINUES AT REGENT

In "House of Bamboo" Twentieth Century-Fox brings to the screen for the first time in CinemaScope and De Luxe color the bizarre beauty of Tokyo and a suspense thriller which utilizes new concepts in Oriental thinking brought about by World War II.

To accomplish this Twentieth Century - Fox transported a troupe of 40 players and technicians to Japan to film all the exterior scenes for the melodrama which is now playing at the Regent Theatre.

Heading the list of players that Producer Buddy Adler and Director Samuel Fuller took to the third largest city in the world were Robert Tyan, Robert Stack, Shirley Yamaguchi and Cameron Mitchell, who have the starring roles and Brad Dexter, Biff Elliott and Sandro Giglio.

In Tokyo, Sessue Hayakawa, famed Japanese star in the days of silent cinematography, was added to the impressive cast which also includes Eiko Hasebusa, prominent star in Japan, as well as a number of native players and hundreds of Japanese extras.

Among the scenes to be seen in "House of Bamboo" are the famous "Ant City," a community of derelic humantiy on the banks of the Sumida River, which meanders through the Japanes capital; "The Ginza," the city's elite shopping center; Asakusa, Tokyo's theatrical district; the Edobashi Bridge; and other Tokyo beauty spots.

RANDOLPH SCOTT STARS IN NEW FILM

America's outlaw history has been prettty thoroughly covered on the screen but it remained for Producer Nat Holt to come up with new characters and a vivid new page in the book of banditry in "Rage at Dawn," which is now playing at the Met Theater.

This is the story of the notorious Reno Brothers, who terrorized southern Indiana and neighboring states with their daring bank and train robberies in the 1860's before the days of Jesse James, the Younger's and the Daltons.

It is exciting screen fiction based on fact, and with Randolph Scott, Forrest Tucker, Mala Powers and J. Carrol Naish topping the cast, it provides all of the action that western fans expect plus suspense and superior production.

In his role of an ex-Confederate spy engaged by a Chicago detective agency to bring the Reno gang to justice, Randolph Scott proves anew why he remains near the top in popularity polls year after year.

A convincing actor with the true personality appeal of legitimate stardom, Scott gives one of his best performances in this somewhat off-beat role.

'ROCK 'N ROLL REVUE' ON SCREEN AT ROYAL

The red carpet is out for musicial royalty in the new all-star colored film-musical, "Rock 'n Roll Revue," premiering at the Royal Theatre through next Thursday in Kaleidoscopic WonderColor.

The crowned head in this case is none other than Nat "King" Cole, a gentleman whose sparkling keyboard interpretations and unforgettable song stylings have made his name a musical byword from coast to coast.

Joining Nat in the new revue are such entertainment notables as Duke Ellington and his band, Larry Darnell, The Clovers, Dinah Washington, Joe Turner, Lionel Hampton and his orchestra and Ruth Brown—to name just a few of the musical greats in "Rock 'n Roll Revue."

When Nat formed his famous trio back in 1937 one of the boys placed a paper crown on his head, tabbing him one of the peers of popular music — a crown that glistens as brightly today as it did when it was first fashioned in fun almost 20 years ago. Second feature, "Wyoming Renegades," in Technicolor, stars Phil Carey and William Bishop.

Top British horse eyes Laurel classic

LAUREL, Md. — Acropolis, owned by the 8-year-old Alice Lady Derby, has become the leading candidtate to represent England in the fourth Washington, D.C. International at Laurel Race Course on November 11.

A strapping chestnut by Donatello 2nd - Aurora by Hyperi, the three-year-old Acropolis is the top colt in England, although strangely enough, he has yet to win a classic stake. This is due to the fact that both of England's leading races this spring and summer have been won by invaders from France — Phil Drake and Vimy, who also are strong possibilities for the Laurel event.

Moments Musical

By ADAM R. JENKINS

Those who forsook the comfort of any cool spot they could find last Sunday and journeyed to the Peabody Conservatory of Music were more than rewarded for their courage.

The recital, which was one of the 44th annual summer concert series sponsored by the Conservatory, featured Mme Agi Jambor (pronounced Yambor), pianist. She was received with resounding ovations and the lights had to be lowered before the audience left the hall, some may have heard more exciting and more showy ("bravura," as musicians say) playing, but certainly no more real artistry.

* * *

SHE HAS mastered technique until it is not an end in itself. It is like a brush in the hands of the painter — the colors by which she brings us the soul and message of a composition.

Even in show pieces, such as Mendelssohn's "Rondo-Capriccioso" and "Mephisto Waltz" by Liszt, Mme Jambor extracted essences of real poetry. Too often such numbers are largely exhibitions of noise and speed.

* * *

MME JAMBOR is above all else a poetic pianist. Her ability to comprehend a composition as a whole and contrast its various moods gives her playing coherence and unity. This was apparent in her playing of Beethoven's Variations on a theme by Giovanni Paisiello (an Italian opera composer).

Beethoven was a master of this form of writing and the pianist last Sunday carefully balanced the inner melodies against the principal theme in such a way as to enhance the beauty of both from and content.

* * *

THE CLOSING performance was Schumann's "Kreisleriana," a composition of eight short pieces dedicated to Chopin and built around "Kreisler," a fantastic character in German literature. Schumann was one of the great German romanticists that helped free music with African words and rhythms from the Gold Coast folk songs. The rhythms are highly complicated, much more so than the "calypso" music which is popular in this country.

Throughout the recordings there are interviews with everyday folk, leaders and students from the various sections of Africa visited by George Houser. He is a very apostle of brotherhood and his recordings are made in that spirit.

South Baltimore Notes

By GEORGE W. E. HILL and MARIE LITTLES

The South Baltimore Personality of the week is Mrs. Lillian Moore, known throughout the city for her great interest in the Shiloh Community Church of which the Rev. George Baynard is pastor.

Mrs. Moore is always willing to lend a hand in civic matters and often gives help in our Southside AFRO substation She is a member of the Adult Club of No. 162, Thrifty Saving Club, Neighborhood Club and of the Willing Workers of Shiloh Church.

One of her hobbies is reading the AFRO. She has been reading the AFRO since the days when the cost of the paper was three cents.

Mrs. Moore is the mother of 15 children and 20 grandchildren, and is still active in the 1955 Clean Block Campaign in which the 600 block of Barre St. has recently entered.

* * *

A GROUP of South Baltimore citiens visited the Liquor Board Thursday to protest against the moving of the bar at 807 — 809 Ridgely Street to 600 Barre St., which would be distrubing to the citizens of this block as well as a bring down to the children who attend School No. 162 including the church goers.

Those who spoke against it were as follows: Mrs. Clara Lively, Mrs. Anna Dixon, Mrs. Myrtle Smith, Mrs. Lillian Moore, and your columnist, but the greater work was done by our popular undertaker, Charles Rice, who used every available limousine to transort the group without cost.

The 600 block of Lee Street has entered the Clean Block Campaign of South Baltimore. Officers and members will appear in the next issue.

* * *

MANY BUSINESS places of our community will be on hand to witness the Hedgerow Concert, Sunday on the South Lawn of Madison Avenue Presbterian Church given by the Baltimore Choral and Baltimore Singers.

Gerald Burks Wilson is conductor, G. Bernard Young, Business manager; George W. Hill, president of Baltimore Singers, and Jimmie Campbell, president of the Baltimore Choral.

Annual Block Carnval is to be given by the Methodist Men of Mt. Winans Methodist Church in the 2600 block of Huron St.

The affair is July 25 through the 30th. It is known as Mt. Winans most outstanding affair of the year, hundreds of people from the city and counties attend the event.

The officers of this organization are: Cornelius Levi, Jr., chairman; Ira Blocker and Cornelius Levi Sr., co-chairmen and the Rev. Harmond, minister.

* * *

THE 1000 BLOCK of Briscoe Street has improved tremendously since the Clean Block Campaign started under the leadership of Patricia Turner, captain; Leroy Williams, assistant captain; and Dorothy Cummins, Sandra Saunders, Gladys McCloud, Doris Williams, Catherine Peterson, Paulet Covington, Arthur Covington, Dean Covington, Gene Herald, Purnell Washington, and Evelyn Harrell.

The Red and White Tire block, the 600 block of Lee St. is making great progress in the Clean Block Campaign.

Women's League to Peace, Freedom re-elects D.C. teacher a vice president

OAKLAND, Calif. — Miss Bertha C. McNeill, teacher at Paul Laurence Dunbar High School, Washington, D.C., was reelected by the board of directors as one of five vice - presidents of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, at the annual meeting of the U.S. Section, held at Mills College, here, July 10-15.

Miss McNeill president of the WILPF, District of Columbia Branch, heads the national committee on international associate membership. She has four times attended international congresses of the WILPF in European countries.

She is also a member of the board of directors of the Jane Addams Peace Association, the educational arm of WILPF. Miss McNeill was unable to attend the Mills College meeting because of the illness of her brother.

* * *

THE LEAGUE, now in its 40th year, was one of the first U.S. organizations to include colored women on national and state boards on equal terms with white women.

One of two recording secretaries elected was Mrs. Maemé R. Brock, former YWCA executive of Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Brock, who was present at Mills College, was one of 12 members appointed by the elected board membership for her second term on the board.

Mrs. Elsie Brown, homemaker, Englewood, N.J., attended as one of two delegates from the Bergen County Branch. Active in the California hostess group was Miss Erna H. Harris, journalist, chairman of the Berkeley Branch WILPF.

* * *

AT THE OPENING of the annual meeting sessions, July 10, a short silence was observed in memoriam for Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune and Dr. Albert Einstein, both of whom were on the roster of sponsors of the 40th anniversary committee until their deaths.

JO BAKER

● Suit against Winchell is dismissed

NEW YORK — Federal Court Judge John C. Knox last week dismissed the $400,000 damage suit filed by Josephine Baker charged that Winchell "maligned against Walter Winchell, nationally - known syndicated columnist.

In the action, Miss Baker cliously, wantonly and recklessly printed and published" items attacking her.

* * *

THE INTERNATIONALLY famous entertainer brushed with the columnist over an incident in the Stork Club in 1951, at which time Miss Baker accused the Stork proprietor, Sherman Billingsley, of refusing to serve a colored party, of which she was a member.

Winchell came to the defense of Billingsley and in column written shortly thereafter, denounced the singer - dancer on several scores.

Judge Knox explained in dismissing the suit that his action was taken because Miss Baker's lawyer failed to file certain required briefs by June 30. A pre-trial examination in the case was held last May.
