THE MATINEE ENSEMBLE held its closing session on the lawn of the Calonsville home of Mrs. Catherine Banks, Saturday evening.

'Twas a delightful spot for the group to sit and chat of summer peregrinating . . . including Vivian Alleyne telling of her visit to Mackinac Island, where she attended the Moral Rearmament Conference; Bertha Winson relating her 10-day stay at the Chelsea on the Boardwalk, Atlantic City, when she attended the Young People's Congress as counselor and board member; and Violet Hill Whyte speaking of her proposed trip to California.

Later they were served refreshments, then Acting President Odelle Payne called members inside for a program planning session and election of officers.

Mrs. Payne was elected president; Mrs. Virgie Waters, vice president; Mrs. Jane Wilson, secretary; Mrs. Ethel Jones, treasurer; Mrs. Winston, reporter and Miss Emma Bright, program chairman.

Also attending were Mesdames Virginia Love, Hattie Smith and Mamie Douglas.

THE VINCENT NORRISES (both city teachers) will be off for California, Monday . . . permanently.

They had, they say, been thinking how delightful it would be to live in California . . . that she might like a teaching career there; that he would like to experiment with a small animal farm.

Then, they say, they decided

EPA entertains 500 children

The Evergreen Protective Association held its annual children's party, Friday afternoon, when 500 youngsters were entertained in the Union Memorial Methodist Church.

The party is one of the projects of the organization designed to show the children that they are a definite part of the Association and have definite responsibilities in keeping up the standards of the community.

Mrs. Mary Brooks, principal of School No. 144, addressed the group. She talked on "Friendship, Fun and Unity." A talent show was held with participant representatives from the various blocks. Parents served as hostesses.

William R. Dean, chairman of the program committee of the Association, conducted games and community singing.

Mrs. Eula M. Watts is president of the Association.

Miss Iris Coleman wed to school head with Lula Jones Garrett...

Surely, one of the prettiest brides of the season was Iris M. Coleman, town schoolmarm and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard G. Coleman Sr., when she exchanged marriage vows with Thomas J. Wheaden Jr., vice principal of School No. 160, Cherry Hill.

Only the immediate family of the bride and bridegroom witnessed the ceremony, which took place at 1:30 p.m. in Shiloh Baptist Church, Saturday. The Rev. J. Timothy Boddie officiated.

Miss Coleman was beautifully gowned in Chantilly lace frock, ballerina length, wearing a veil of tulle attached to a cap of Chantilly lace and seed pearls, and carried a bouquet of white orchids and delphiniums.

She was given in marriage by her father and attended by her youngest sister, Shirley. The latter was radiant in ice blue silk ballerina-length gown. Her bouquet was of pink roses and blue delphiniums. Vernon Wheaden was his brother's best man.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple was feted at a reception in the home of the bride's parents, Arlington Ave.

Mrs. Coleman was charming in shell pink crystalline, also ballerina length, with matching chapeau and shoes.

Arriving guests were greeted at the entrance by the bride's brother, Leonard G. Coleman Jr. Her sister, Mrs. Senora Watkins, showed guests to the receiving line. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Alma Changler Frazier of New York, Mrs. Eunice Boyce and Mrs. Clarice Norris. They wore pastel colored frocks, with matching slippers and corsages of Robin Lillies and red roses.

The red roses, with white snapdragons and ferns were used in profusion to decorate the entire house.

The bride looked positively stunning in a two-piece travel ensemble with dress of white silk with aqua flowers and topped with a Coolie coat of aqua. Her accessories were white. Their honeymoon destination was not disclosed. They will be home after August 1, at 2209 Eutaw Pl., since the bridegroom has a two-week stint of teaching to do at New York University when the trip is terminated.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wheaden are graduates of Coppin Teachers College and alumni of New York University, where they received masters degrees.

Among guests at the wedding were:

Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Frazier of New York; Miss Gertrude Williams of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Johnson of Cockeysville, Miss Lovey Jane Johnson, Cockeysville.

Mary A. Smith, Annnie Weems Mr. and Mrs. McDonald Boyce, Florence A. Dennis, Ruth Cleaver, Inez Johnson, EULA Mae Watts, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Proctor, Waitress Halley, Lottie Taylor, Edna Brownley, Samuel R. Owenings Sr., Doralyn Davis, Carole Coleman, Clifton Coleman, Elizabeth Grice, Laura J. Phillips, Agnes Smallwood, Marian Ross, Nixon A. Camper;

Lillian B. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Dates, Joyce Brown, Margaret Smith, Virginia White, Mildred R. Murphy, Rosa Gladden, Aretha Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Williams, Sadie Coleman, Garth Coleman, Claudine Franks, Enna A. Payne;

Lester Davis, Viola M. Wright, Mary Hinson, Pauline Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Harry, M. Bruce, Lillian Rustin, Anita Henry, Ruby Thomas, Harvey Seay, Ellie V. Charles, Warren Stinnett, J. A. Frisby, Isabella Edmonds, Lena King Lee, Edward J. Parker, Levi Staten, Reginald Ashby and Mrs. Malcolm Chamberlain.

AND SPEAKING OF WEDDINGS, Wilhelmina Garner flew out to Houston, Texas, Thursday, for the wedding of her brother, Madison Allen and Daisy Marie Jacques, which will take place, Saturday.

Mr. Allen is the son of Dr. M. C. Allen, president of Virginia Seminary, Lynchburg, Va., and Mrs. Allen an accountant with the General Cable Company, NYC.

The bride-elect is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. William Lindsay of Houston, a teacher in the high school of the Texas city, but will teach here, next year, having been assigned to the Woodbourne Junior High School (predominantly white).

Bob Arrington of New York (he's the son of Mrs. Alice Arrington formerly of Madison Avenue branch YWCA) flew down to be best man. The newlyweds will have their official home in Jersey City (despite her position, here).

AND BRINGING UP the question of teacher integration in Baltimore schools, June Butler Thorne has been assigned to the Gwynns Falls Parkway elementary school No. 60, as of the coming term.

ALSO LIST AMONG RECENT weddings that of Gloria E. Lee, daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Lee of Cockeysville, Md., and Fred Brooks Jr. of Linwood, whose ceremony took place in Gough Methodist Church, recently. The Rev. Fairfax King officiated.

The bride was lovely in white nylon tulle and lace over satin, with a finger-tip length veil of silk illusion, and carrying white carnations centered with gardenias. Two hundred guests attended a reception following the ritual.

WHEN THE SMART SET held its closing pinochle session, last week, in the home of Carrie D. Scott, it had a guests Ethel Hall and Morine Jewett of NYC.

Closing refreshments eased the way through for Hazel Lewis and Lilli Adams to garner club prizes and Ethel, the guest memento.

Other club members present were Naomi Nash, Ruth Bailey, Mabel Dinkins, Elizabeth Bartz and Myrtice Bennett.

Earlier in the week Jimmie Norcom of Portsmouth, Va. had been the holiday guest at the Scott home.

Informal partying with Dr. and Mrs. Talmadge Pinkney, a Sunday supper party with Carrie as hostess and guests including the Pinkneys, the William Reddickses, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Nichols and Mabel Waters; picnicking with the W. Eugene Paynes, and several other small affairs sent Jimmie and Morine both thoroughly relaxed.

Later on in the month a joint birthday party is anticipated by Carrie and Morine as is their custom.

Miss Edith L. Ricks becomes bride of Roosevelt Brown

The marriage of Miss Edith L. Ricks, daughter of Mrs. Gracie E. Ricks—of this city to Roosevelt Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Brown of Pansey, Alabama, took place here, Sunday.

The ceremony was performed at Leadenhall Baptist Church by the Rev. Thomas B. Davis, pastor. A reception was held at the bride's home, 2359 W. North Avenue.

Escorted by her brother, Wendell Ricks, but attended by her mother, the bride wore a ballerina gown of imported lace, which was made by her sister, Miss Chandler A. Ricks. Her veil of illusion was held by a queen's coronet of sequins and seed pearls. She carried a Bible with a white orchid and blue ribbons sewn with forget-me-nots.

MISS DORIS B. RICKS was the maid of honor for her sister. The bridesmaids were two cousins Miss Carlese Hamlin and Mrs. Selma Hines and two friends, Miss Geneva Vanderwall and Mrs. Margaret Hockaday.

They wore ice blue sheer organdy and ballerina gowns with pleated collars and full skirts over taffeta underskirts and matching gloves.

The flower girl was Jean Lane who wore an ice blue sheer organdy tier dress which was also made by Miss Ricks.

Montford Brown, a cousin, was best man and the ushers were Wendell Ricks, Jack Gray, Matt Bond and Harry Hill.

Read "What's Ahead For Willie Mays?" complete with action pictures showing Willie as the hero and Willie as the goat in the fabulous August issue of EBONY magazine, now on your newsstand. Or send 30¢ to EBONY, 1820 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago.
Where are NEGROES fighting for rights in the SOUTH?
There's a new Negro in Dixie and he is fighting back. He is demanding his civil rights and is no longer frightened by threats, intimidations, terror and brutality. What little town in Mississippi has flared into open violence? How are the Negroes in this little town resisting gangland-type killings? How are they standing up against the rising tide of hate brought on by desegregation? Read "The New Fighting South", another EBONY picture-report in the big, August issue, now on your newsstand.
