CHICAGO (ANP) — Baseball's form in the classic. Paige has greatest attraction — the East-West Classic—will have its 23rd renewal on Sunday, July 31, at Comiskey park here.

Personnel for the game will be drawn, as in the past 22 contests, from the teams of the Negro American league, which this season numbers four clubs.

THEY ARE the famed Kansas City Monarchs, who only recently signed the great "ageless" Leroy (Satchel) Paige for mound duty; the Memphis Red Sox, Birmingham Black Barons and Detroit Stars.

Adding Paige, after he was cut adrift by the major leagues, means that this great pitcher probably will be selected by

MANY OF THE big leagues' greatest stars first attracted the attention of big league "ivory hunters" in the East-West extravaganza, which always has been held in Comiskey park, home of the White Sox.

Dr. J. B. Martin, Negro American league president, says the selections of East-West managers, coaches and playing personnel will start within two weeks. Club owners and business managers and newspapermen, where NAL teams perform, will have a voice in the selections. All nominations, however, must be approved by Dr. Martin.

Patterson hailed as next heavy king

Kayo win over McBride impressive, Lacy reports

By SAM LACY
AFRO Sports Editor

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK—I believe I have just seen the next world heavyweight boxing champion.

If not the next, then the next after the next.

That bit of ambiguity is a sort of precaution against the possibility of my being wrong in thinking Archie Moore will fail when he tries to dethrone Rocky Marciano in September.

Anyway, the purpose of this piece is to point up how very impressive Floyd Patterson looked in his heavyweight baptism here Wednesday night at the Garden.

True, he had little to beat in Archie McBride, a run-of-the-mine flatman whom he beat in seven heats for his 22nd win in 24 outings. Yet, Patterson was beating his first heavyweight. In competitive sports, there's a saying you have to go along with the guy who does everything that's asked of him.

* * *

EARLIER IN THE day, relaxing in the Hotel Lincoln with his manager, Cus D'Amato, he had agreed he "might" someday hold kingdom's most coveted title.

But the youngster exhibited a remarkable restraint as he said:

"I guess you can say I might someday be the champion. But I don't want to be in too great a hurry. Some people (Floyd's manager included) are saying I should fight the Marciano-Moore winner. And if Mr. D'Amato tells me to do it, I suppose I will."

He's been good to me and he has gotten me all I have. Up to now, no one can say he hasn't picked my opponents wisely.

"Yet, I know I'm still growing up. I realize this is the first time I've been asked to to fight a heavyweight.

"I know there aren't any Moores or Marcianos among the fellows I've been fighting. But if I should get in there with Archie or Rocky I'd give it all I have."

AS THIS WRITER views the situation, Patterson still has a long way to go. Which is understandable.

It would be foolish to expect that in just three years out of the amateur ranks, and with only 24 fights' experience to handle the class of a Moore or the crude tenacity of a Marciano.

For one thing, Patterson can't continue to miss as often as he does now. That is, if he expects to keep his headbone connected to his shoulderbone.

But that imperfection in his attack figures to straighten itself out with more work.

* * *

MY REASONS for taking Patterson as a legitimate possibility to attain the goal of all fist fighters are several:

(1) He has exceedingly fast hands and although his punches do not now pack the authority of heavyweights, added poundage and another year of physical development will take care of that;

(2) He already possesses speed afoot than the average light-heavyweight or even middleweight as far as comparisons go, and

(3) Patterson shows an inclination to learn fast, never making the same mistake twice, even in the same fight.

AS FOR THE FIGHT itself, the 26-year-old McBride posed something of a problem for his younger rival at the outset.

Fighting from a deep-crouch, he exposed very little for Floyd to shoot at, and the result was that Patterson missed frequently

As the bout progressed, however. Archie started coming out of his shell more and-more. And by the fifth, Floyd had succeeded in drawing him out almost completely.

That was when Patterson started getting in some of his best shots. A right hook above McBride in the fifth. Another right followed him for a nine count in the sixth.

A left and right dropped the Jerseyan again in the seventh and a similar combination sealed it seconds later.

Series of 3-mile races scheduled

In an effort to stimulate interest in distance running, the Cross Country Club is sponsoring a series of six three-mile handicap races.

The first of the six races were held Friday at Patterson Park. Other races have been scheduled for Carroll Park on July 16, Clifton Park, July 23; Druid Hill, Aug. 13.

Races have also been planned for Aug. 19 and 26. Locations will be announced at a later date. All events will start at 7 p.m.

The races are open to amateur athletes over 15-years of age. Entries must be accepted until 6:30 p.m. the day of the race.

Medals will be awarded to the first three winners and ribbons will be presented to the next seven.

COLTS

• Sam Williams joins squad at Westminster

Those two tryout camps the Baltimore Colts held here last spring produced an unheralded pect this week when President Don Kellett announced that End Sam Williams, from little Fayetteville (N.C.) Teachers College, been signed to a contract.

Williams, a 215-pound, 6-foot-6-inch pass catcher, impressed Coach Weeb Ewbank with his speed and receiving ability in the pro practice session at Clifton Park.

"We will have to see Sam in action in a game or in a rough work drill to decide just how much football he will be able to play for us," said Ewbank, "but what I saw of the boy I liked."

* * *

THE TALL, fleet ex-Brossoer is nicknamed "The Snake" because of his slender build and sliding-by ability in the open field. Williams, a native of Pittsburgh, graduated from college in 1954 and last year taught school in Fayetteville, N.C.

Williams came to the attention of the Colts through an acquaintance of Keith Molesworth, the 26-year-old McBride was speed afoot than the average light-heavyweight or even middleweight as far as comparisons go, and

(3) Patterson shows an inclination to learn fast, never making the same mistake twice, even in the same fight.

In Memoriam

DeNEAL—In memory of my dear husband, CLIFTON E. DeNEAL, who passed away July 10, 1952.

In my heart your memory lingers
Sweetly, tender, fond and true.
There is not a day, dear Herbert,
That we do not think of you.
Wife, EMMA

KECK—In loving memory of my dear husband, WILLIAM M. KECK, who departed this life on Tuesday, July 9, 1946.

One year has passed dear William
Since God has called you home.
To be with Him in Heaven.
We miss the cheerful Throne
I miss you, Oh I miss you.
Only those who have lost can tell;
The grief that is borne in silence,
For one I love so well.
God knows how much I miss you.
Never shall your memory fade.
Loving thoughts shall always wander
To the spot where you were laid.
Wife, MRS. OSSIE D. KECK

NASH—In loving memory of my dear husband, RANDOLPH NASH, who passed away eleven years ago, July 10, 1944.

Memories are treasures that no one can steal.
Death is a heartache nothing can heal.
You may forget you now that you are gone
But I will remember you, dear husband, No matter how long I live.
Devoted Wife
ANNIE

THOMAS—In loving memory of our beloved mother and grandmother, ANNIE M. THOMAS, who passed away July 19, 1954.

Sweet memories to you were here
We had your tender care
And none can ever take your place
Or fill that vacant chair.
Your work was ended
Your race was run
Your God took you away.
But we never will forget
And we'll meet in Heaven we pray.
LOVING CHILDREN

WHITE—A tribute of love in memory of our beloved daughter and friend, VIOLA E. who departed July 10, 1953

How I miss the welcome footsteps
Of my daughter. I loved so dear.
Oft I listen for her coming,
Fully sure that she is there.
She is gone, but not forgotten.
Fresh my love will ever be.
For as long as there is memory,
I will always think of thee.
MRS. MARY L. WHITE

Love and remembrance, last forever.
Devoted Friend,
FLORENCE G. KESS
