3,000 AME Churchwomen Meeting In D. C.

Metropolitan Turner hosts to meeting

Special programs planned for Uline, Griffith Stadium

WASHINGTON—The vanguard of some 3,000 churchwomen began arriving in Washington today (Friday), in preparation for the Third Quadrennial Convention of the Women's Missionary Society of the African Methodist Episcopal Church.

The convention will be held here tomorrow (Saturday) thru Thursday of next week. Meetings are scheduled for Metropolitan AME Church, Sixteenth and M Sts., Northwest, and Turner AME Church, Sixth and Eye Sts., Northwest.

Special programs will also be held at Uline Arena, Third and M Sts., Northeast, and Griffith Stadium, Georgia and Florida Aves., Northwest.

• • •

HEADING THE GROUP, which will include some 1,500 delegates from AME churches throughout the world, will be Mrs. Anne E. Heath, of Philadelphia, Women's Missionary Society president, and Bishop D. Ward Nichols, of New York City, presiding officer of the Church's Second Episcopal District.

Bishop Nichols and Frank M. Reid, of Columbia, S.C., are currently directing the activities of the Second District, which has been without a permanent head since the death of Bishop L. H. Hemingway earlier this year.

The District, which will serve as convention host, comprises Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, and the District of Columbia.

Among the women attending this year's parley will be delegations from the United States, Canada, Mexico, and several South American and African countries.

African countries sending delegates include the Belgian Congo, Gold Coast, Liberia, Natal, Nigeria, Orange, Sierre Leone, Swaziland, Transvaal, and Bambezi. They comprise the Church's fourteenth and seventeenth Episcopal Districts.

THE WOMEN'S MISSIONARY Society is believed to be the oldest active organization of colored women in the United States today. It was founded in 1827 by Mrs. Richard Allen, of Philadelphia, wife of the AME Church's first bishop. The organization's first members were seven ministers' wives who met regularly to perform personal tasks for their husbands.

During its 50 years, the Society served in churches throughout the United States. In 1874, the women raised $600 to send the Church's first missionary to Africa.

By 1931, they had raised more than $502,000 to sponsor ministries and other charitable projects, and during the past five years, the Society has spent more than $1,400,000 for these purposes.

Serving as hostesses to the convention will be Mmes. Nichols and Reid, wives of the presiding bishops. They will be assisted by Mrs. G. Dewey Robinson, wife of the minister of Metropolitan AME Church, and Mrs. I. A. Miller, wife of the minister of Turner AME Church.

• • •

The six-day convention program, as announced by Mrs. Heath, includes a mammoth opening ceremony, a series of eight workshops devoted to the conference theme, "Seeking Christ Amid World Tensions," and pageants.

One pageant scheduled for Tuesday evening at Turner Church, will be presented by the Young People's Department which is holding its meetings in keys.

PLANNING COMMITTEE for the Third Quadrennial Convention of the Women's Missionary is shown as it met in St. Louis earlier this year to organize the meeting which begins Friday. The committee is headed by Mrs. Mary Lee Parks of Champaign, Ill.

ACCORDING TO MRS. HEATH, the convention will be the most extensive in the Society's 128-year history. The highlight of the program is expected to be the "Pageant of Faith" which will be held at Griffith Stadium Wednesday at 7 p.m.

The pageant, which will be directed by Mrs. Mary Hildebran, of Newark, N.J., will feature an original play by Mrs. Nichols, titled "Faith Is the Victory," based on John Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress."

Music for the pageant will be furnished by a 1,000-voice choir made up of singers from First and Second Episcopal District Church choirs.

• • •

SATURDAY'S CONVENTION program will bring together members of the Society's board of directors and executive committee.

W.M.S. officers who will attend include Mrs. Heath; Mrs. Nora W. Link, Chester, Pa., treasurer; Mrs. Hazel T. Gomez, Waco, Texas, first vice president; Mrs. Alma A. Polk, Pittsburgh, Pa., director of the Young Peoples Department, and Miss Mary E. Frizzell, Philadelphia, director of missionary education.

Also: Mrs. A. B. Williams, Jacksonville, Fla., editor of Missionary Magazine; Mrs. K. C. Davis, Houston, Texas, assistant editor; Dr. A. Chester Clark, New York City, secretary of missions; Mrs. Ruth E. Dinkins, Sumter, S.C., recording secretary.

Also Mrs. Daisy Myers, New Orleans, La., assistant secretary; Mrs. Mabel W. Jones, New York City, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Clara E. Harris, Baltimore, historiographer-statistician; Dr. Martha J. Keyes, Louisville, Ky., chaplain; and Mrs. Myrtle T. Ransom, Wilberforce, Ohio, parliamentarian.

• • •

THE CONVENTION will be formally opened Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at Uline Arena, an air-cooled building with seats 6,000. Presiding at the opening ceremony, which will feature a mass communion, will be Bishop Harry A. Gibbs, head of the Eleventh Episcopal District.

Evening sessions will get under way at 9:15 a.m. Monday, following devotions by Dr. Heath.

Among the more than 3,000 delegates registering for the third quadrennial AME convention of the Women's Missionary Society and Youth Conference are:
