heated discussion on what to do to circumvent the ruling.

J. M. Court, a naval commander and father of six children and a representative of the Crownsville PTA, was spokesman for the meeting.

The acting chairman was Frank Carter of West River.

—oOo—

INTERESTED parents came from as far as 80 miles away.

"We want to keep our schools white and our bottoms white," one lady remarked.

"I used to live in the District, but I moved to Maryland to get my children away from colored people," a buxom lady stated.

Every available space in the vast ground-floor assembly room was taken and some persons stood on the outside, listening and hurling remarks through the windows.

The only colored person in the audience was the AFRO reporter who was treated courteously by those present.

For the most part, the meeting was orderly.

Parole PTA backs integrated schools at first meeting

The Parole, Md. Parent Teacher Association on Monday unanimously endorsed a resolution in support of the end of segregation in public schools.

Some 135 members went on record at their first meeting of the elementary school organization to say:

"We, the PTA, in initial session for the year 1954-55, unanimously pledge our resources in support of de-segregation in all walks of life and especially in the education of our children."

—oOo—

COMMANDER COURT told the group:

"We are not here to condemn anybody, race or creed, but we'd hate to look at a newspaper tomorrow and read about what happened in West Virginia happening here."

The reference to White Sulphur Springs—where white residents forced the withdrawal of colored pupils from a previously all-white high school on Tuesday—was heartily applauded by spectators.

The assistant attorney general's remarks, however, dampened the ardor of the anti-integration crowd which only a few minutes previously had seemed inclined to bolt from the Maryland Congress of Parent and Teachers on the school issue.

—oOo—

AN EARLIER speaker, who had attempted to remind representatives of their duties and responsibilities as subsidiaries of the National Congress of PTA's, was shouted down and invited to leave.

Another unidentified spokesman who said he came from the Maryland Congress of PTA's as a guest, read to the body a section of the Congress constitution, prohibiting discrimination based on race, creed or color.

"He isn't telling us anything new, or that a good PTA president hasn't told us before," a lady drawled.

"Let's ask him to leave and get on with the nice meeting you're conducting," a man from the rear hollered.

"He was probably sent from the Governor, anyway," another man said.

—oOo—

AS THE GROUP continued to express outspoken opinions on the Supreme Court decision, those present appeared to ignore the AFRO reporter in their midst.

At one point, a spectator in a sport shirt whispered to an AFRO reporter: "Don't you know this meeting is for white people?"

When the reporter replied that it was a public meeting and no one else objected, the man said: "I was only speaking for myself," and walked away.

—oOo—

BEFORE THE meeting ended, the group voted to set up a steering committee to decide on a name for the group and a plan of action.

Commander Court said the committee would probably be known as the Maryland Council for Separate Schools.

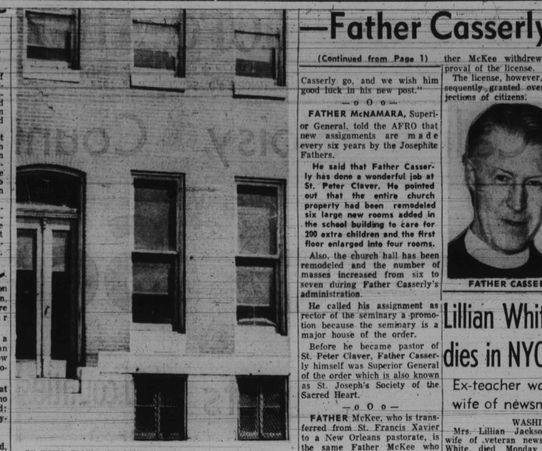
The group also voted to express its opposition to the integration before a meeting on Nov. 11 in Baltimore of the board of management of the Maryland Council.

Md. backs gradual desegration, says leave it to counties

The Attorney General of Maryland has told the Supreme Court that he feels county boards of education should be allowed to determine when all schools should be opened to colored and whites.

W. Giles Parker, assistant attorney general, made known the state's official position on integration this week as Maryland met the Sept. 15 deadline set by the court for states to file briefs on the segregation question.

"We do not think the Supreme Court should decree immediate desegregation and we believe the Supreme Court should allow time for a gradual adjustment," said Mr. Parker.



IS THIS YOUR HOUSE?—If it is and you correctly identify it, you can collect $5 in cash by calling at the CITY DESK of this newspaper BEFORE Tuesday noon. There are no strings attached to this "Identify-Your-House" game. All you have to do is to be living in the house to win the $5 the AFRO offers to the first person living there who correctly identifies it. The AFRO's roving photographer will have a new house photo worth $5 in the next issue. Watch for it. It may be your house.

Casserly go, and we wish him good luck in his new post."

—oOo—

FATHER McNAMARA, Superior General, told the AFRO that new assignments are made every six years by the Josephite Fathers.

He said that Father Casserly has done a wonderful job at St. Peter Clever. He pointed out that the entire church property had been remodeled six large new rooms added in the school building to care for 200 extra children and the first floor enlarged into four rooms.

Also, the church hall has been remodeled and the number of masses increased from six to seven during Father Casserly's administration.

He called his assignment as rector of the seminary a promotion because the seminary is a major house of the order.

Before he became pastor of St. Peter Claver, Father Casserly himself was Superior General of the order which is also known as St. Joseph's Society of the Sacred Heart.

—oOo—

FATHER McKee, who is transferred from St. Francis Xavier to a New Orleans pastorate, is the same Father McKee who figured in a case before the Board of Liquor license commissioner early this year.

Citizens, represented by the Committee registered objection to a license for Sidney I. Mintz's tavern in the 900 block N. Eden St., opposite the St. Francis Xavier Church Hall.

A letter from Father McKee stating he had no objection to the license figured in the hearing before the board. Subsequently, citizens wrote Archbishop Francis Keough and later Father McKee withdrew his approval of the license.

The license, however, was subsequently granted over the objections of citizens.

Lillian White dies in NYC

Ex-teacher was wife of newsman

WASHINGTON

Mrs. Lillian Jackson White, wife of veteran newsman, Al White, died Monday at New York Hospital.

A former school teacher, writer, and more recently, social investigator with the New York City Department of Public Welfare, Mrs. White retired a few years back to join her husband, then Washington correspondent of the Associated Negro Press.

Her writing career was limited to a Chicago chil-that magazine "Light," but she had taught school in Virginia several years before coming to New York for advanced study. It was then she became interested in social work and joined the Department of Public Welfare.

—oOo—

BORN IN Ashland, Va., she was educated at the public schools of that city, later attending and graduating from Virginia State College at Petersburg. Two of her brothers, Allen Jackson and Clarence Jackson, were CIAA football heroes.

Mrs. White had been ill two years following a serious operation in 1952. Surviving, besides her husband, are a daughter, Beverly, 11, a student at Hunter College Junior High School; six brothers and four sisters.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning, the Rev. J. M. Wilson officiating, with Bruce Wendell, noted musician, rendering the music. Interment was in Pinelawn Cemetery.

New York patrolman cited for heroic act

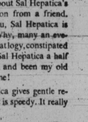
NEW YORK (ANP) — Patrolman Norman Howard of the Harlem 25th Precinct was presented the N.Y. Journal-American Public Protector Award for August. Along with the citation for heroism went $100 in cash.

Patrolman Howard, 25 years old, shot and captured a murderer in Harlem while off duty. Deputy Commissioner James Kennedy, who made the presentation, praised his "gallantry and alertness."

CONSTIPATED?

Then read this letter from Audrey L. Robinson of Washington, D. C.

"I used to suffer a lot from constipation. Never seemed to get the kind of relief I wanted—every laxative I took was either too harsh or too slow.



"Then I heard about Sal Hepatica's gentle, speedy action from a friend. And let me tell you, Sal Hepatica is really wonderful. Why, many an evening when I've felt that logy, constipated feeling, I've taken Sal Hepatica a half hour before dinner and been my old self again by bedtime. Sweetens sour stomach, too! So, keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

St. Joseph's at 121 W. Lee St., is the only parochial school surveyed, which indicated it was not welcoming colored children. A spokesman said any applicants would be referred to St. Monica's, an all-colored Catholic school at 114 W. Hill St., in the same neighborhood.

—oOo—

OPENING OF Catholic parochial schools means that educational institutions on all levels have abandoned color barriers.

Some high schools and colleges in this area have been open for over two years.

All four colleges are open to all. They are Loyola, Mount St. Agnes, Notre Dame, and Calvert Hall. All now have colored students enrolled this semester except Calvert Hall which reported none has applied.

Also open are the Villa Julie Junior College and Medical secretarial School at Stevenson, Md.

Catholic High for Girls at 2800 Edison Highway has three colored students this semester.

Loyola High School for Boys in Towson will also accept all qualified students.

Other schools which report they will welcome colored students are: Seton High, 280 Charles; and Trinity Preparatory, Ilchester, Md.

—oOo—

SCHOOLS WHICH said they had never had any colored pupils and would not indicate whether they would accept these pupils if they applied were Baltimore Academy of the Visitation, 3112 Roland Ave.; Mt. Washington County School for Boys, Mt. Washington; Institute of Notre Dame, 901 Aisquith St.; Notre Dame of Maryland Preparatory School for Girls, N. Charles St.

The Maryvale Trinity College Preparatory School at Brooklandi, Md., reported through a spokesman who declined to be identified that "I doubt they (colored students) would be admitted since this is a boarding school."

The Mt. St. Agnes High School said no colored pupils were enrolled and the registration had closed. Mt. DeSales Academy at Catonsville, reported that no colored pupils were enrolled and the decision on integration would be based on directions from the office of Archbishop Francis Keough.

—oOo—

OTHER COUNTY Catholic schools and colleges have also admitted all qualified students.

Fourteen - year - old Charles Brown was among the ninth grade pupils enrolled when St. Mary's High School in Annapolis opened Sept. 9.

Up in Cumberland, Md., Ursuline Academy, a Catholic School for girls, admitted Carolyn V. Gates, 15. LaSalle High School in Cumberland had among its new students, William L. Stephens, 16.

Both are transfer pupils from Carver High School in Cumberland.

D. C. Transit firm integration bound

WASHINGTON (ANP) — The Public Utilities commissioners stated recently, that they were just beginning to work on the problem of integration in employment of the Capital Transit Company.

This statement was made by PUC chairman Robert E. McLaughlin after a two-hour hearing with CTC officials and representative of Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railroad and Motor Coach employes of America, AFL.

Both groups agreed in a "memorandum of understanding" last month to study possibilities of expanding the company's present employment practices to all races. The PUC said the delegation would look the problem "squarely in the face" at its next meeting on Sept. 21."

Announce New Way to Relieve Pain of Arthritis and Rheumatism* Without Pills!

Greaseless, odorless cream penetrates deep—speeds up flow of fresh, rich blood into sore areas—actually helps drive away pain-causing congestion and pressure.

New York, N. Y. (Special)—Science has now developed an odorless, greaseless cream that acts in a new way to bring a new kind of relief from minor pains of arthritis, rheumatism, and muscular aches and pains. This new cream relieves these pains without the need of taking pills and other internal medicines that may only upset the system.

Gently rubbed into painful areas, this cream penetrates so deep and completely that it actually vanishes. Quickly a comforting feeling of warmth develops and the whole painful area takes on a pleasing glow. This is striking evidence of the power of this cream to penetrate quickly and stimulate the circulation of the blood. This glow illustrates how it speeds up the flow of fresh, rich blood into the sore areas and actually helps drive away the painmaking congestion and pressure.

146 British and French doctors are so satisfied with this new help for patients suffering from arthritis and rheumatism that they have prepared written reports of success based on hundreds of cases. Further, one of the leading arthritis and rheumatism clinicians in the United States has now confirmed the findings of these doctors.

Now for the first time this remarkable cream can be obtained without a prescription at drug stores throughout America—under the name Infrarub®. The price of Infrarub is only 98¢ for a large tube. *Infrarub is backed by the amazing guarantee that sufferers from the minor pains of arthritis, rheumatism, lumbago, neuritis, neuralgia or muscle injuries or sprains will get hours and hours of comforting relief or their money will be refunded in full.

"annex" of the Perryville Elementary School and is held to be subject to Maryland laws.

The State Attorney General of Maryland has ruled, contrary to rulings of other State Attorneys General in border states, that the United States Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation in public schools did not void Maryland law requiring such segregation.

—oOo—

ONLY WHITE children attend 10th the Perryville Elementary School and its annex on the center.

The eleven colored children at the center are sent to a Jim Crow school off the center. Parents of these eleven promise to take the matter to the courts.

In seeking an answer to why segregation of colored children at the center was being continued, it was learned that segregated schools are still being maintained for children at Fort Bliss, Texas; Fort Sill, Oklahoma; Fort Sam Houston, Texas; Fort Hood, Texas; Fort George G. Meade, Maryland, and Fort Jackson, South Carolina.

—oOo—

ONE OFFICIAL at the Pentagon denied that the school at Fort Hood, near Killeen, Texas, the home of Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, was still segregated.

The school at Fort Meade is said to be located on land leased by the county from the post. The one at Fort Jackson is said to be located on county-owned land in the Fort Jackson area.

At all of these installations local school boards are providing free public education for children residing on the post, on a segregated basis. The local school districts receive federal assistance on account of the children who live on the military reservation or whose parents are employed there.

—oOo—

UNDER A directive issued last January 12 by Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, effective as of that date no new school was to be opened for operation on a segregated basis, and schools being operated on such a basis are to cease operating on a segregated basis as soon as practicable, and under no circumstances later than Sept. 1, 1955.

Mr. Wilson's directive provided that if local school boards were unable, under state law, to operate the existing school in accordance with this policy, the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and the Air Force were to arrange with the United States Commissioner of Education for providing non-segregated free public education in such school facilities.

—oOo—

IT ALSO provided that on military locations on which new schools were being built, but were not then in operation, immediate steps should be taken to make certain that the permit for operation of the school contained a non-segregation clause.

Before a school district can come on a post and operate a school on the post, the Defense Department must give the United States Office of Education a use permit, permitting access to the property by the school district.

If the Defense Department refused to issue such a permit, the United States Commissioner of Education, under existing law, would have the responsibility of making other arrangements.
