Six stake races set for Laurel

Six stakes events, headed by the third Washington "International" on Nov. 3, and the 29th "Selima" on Oct. 23, are scheduled for renewal during Laurel Race Course's 16-day fall race meeting opening Oct. 16 and closing Nov. 3.

The total value of the six features will be $155,000 with the Washington "International" and the "Selima," both prestige races, carrying the more lucrative purses.

The invitational international, a weight-for-age affair at a mile and a half over the grass course for three-year olds and up, carries a prize of $65,000 of which $50,000 goes to the winner.

Another popular stake on Laurel's fall agenda is the $20,000 Turf Cup Handicap, another grass fixture for three-year-olds and up at a mile and a furlong, scheduled for October 16.

Petersburg Y withdraws from national association

250 pledge financial moral support to exective dismissed for exercising rights

By LEE BARROW

PETERSBURG, Va.—After denouncing the firing of their executive secretary as "un-Christian, reactionary, an economic lynching," 250 members of the Harding St. YMCA branch Friday night voted unanimously to pull away from the white YMCA and form a separate Y or an entirely new organization.

The members who braved a heavy rain storm to attend the protest meeting also donated $244 in cash and $615 in pledges to pay Alfonso McCain's expenses to that they could "keep him in Petersburg."

Mr. McCain has been the executive secretary of the Harding St. YMCA branch since April 1, 1949.

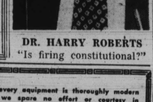
—o O o—

HE WAS fired as on April 16 by the all-white board of directors of the Petersburg YMCA central committee for participating in a "controversial issue."

(Last year Mr. McCain was one of 32 colored citizens who signed a petition asking that the segregated and operated Wilcox Lake be opened to all citizens. The case is presently pending in the Richmond Federal District Court but the lake is no longer being operated.)

No colored person is or ever has been a member of the board of directors which has control of personnel at both the Central YMCA for white and the Harding St. branch for colored.

LEWIS WEST
"All they want are Uncle Toms"



DR. HARRY ROBERTS
"Is firing constitutional?"

—o O o—

"WHAT MR. DUNN (Mayor Churchill G. Dunn) and everyone else downtown wants is a bunch of Uncle Toms," Lewis West declared.

Those reactionary white people downtown aren't going to change their minds. We have to start doing something for ourselves," Robert Mason thundered.

Raymond Valentine termed Mr. McCain's dismissal an "economic lynching."

The Rev. R. G. Williams urged the members to "fight fire with fire." He said, "If we really want to fight back we ought to petition Lee Park and the golf course."

His suggestion was heavily applauded but no action was taken on it.

—o O o—

CHARLES BALLARD suggested pulling away from the YMCA entirely and forming a new organization known as the YMA. "Let's leave the 'C' out," he declared, "because there certainly is nothing Christian in this matter."

James Burton said that the only way to keep Mr. McCain in Petersburg would be to form an independent organization.

Marcellus Heath echoed Mr. Burton and said, "We should have been an independent Y all the time. I think that's the best thing for us to do now."

Rev. Williams offered the use of his church as a home for the new organization until something more suitable could be found.

—o O o—

SOME APPREHENSION was voiced about the financing of a separate Y or a new organization but the Rev. W. L. James assured those present that sufficient funds could be raised. Currently the Harding St. YMCA is financed by Community Chest funds. It received $9,000 from the Chest last year.

In a calmly and carefully spoken statement, Dr. Harry Roberts expressed doubts as to the constitutionality of the firing.

"What issue is not controversial?" he asked. "This man was fired from his job because he signed a petition of the right of every citizen, guaranteed by the constitution of the United States and the state constitution.

"We ought to look into this issue to see if we have a court case here to see if a man can be fired for exercising a constitutional right."

—o O o—

DR. ROBERTS was applauded for several minutes after said, "If we are to acquire our rights, we can only do it as we learn the lesson of struggle and the lesson of sacrifice."

At the close of the three-hour meeting, the members formed a committee headed by J. R. Thomas and P. M. Vaughan, with the responsibility of investigating the possibilities of establishing a separate YM or a completely different organization.

They made it clear that Mr. McClain was to be the executive secretary of whatever organization was formed—if he wanted the job.

Rites for box factory worker held Friday

Funeral services for Andrew Williams of 46 Wheeler Ave., who died at the Lawrence Hospital Monday were held today (Friday) at the Williams Funeral Home.

A native Baltimorean, Mr. Williams was employed at a local box factory. He had been ill for two weeks and was a member of Enon Baptist Church.

Mr. Williams is survived by his wife Mrs. Katie T. Williams; two sons, Andrew Jr., and Hiram Williams; a brother, Basil Williams; and a cousin, Mrs. Maude Simpson of Washington.

READY FOR INVASION—James Smith, vice commander, and Jesse Thomas, junior color bearer, are preparing to entertain at the James Reese Europe Clubhouse, 2027 North Capitol St., the bulk of the 25,000 Legionnaires, who will invade Washington for the 36th annual American Legion Convention that begins Monday.

American Legion

there will be a continuous open house for Legionnaires and their families during the convention. The Europe Post is staging a cabaret dance at the Lincoln Colonnade on Wednesday night.

Garland Mackey, a member of the housing committee, states that there should be no shortage of rooms for the visitors.

He revealed that over 30,000 reservations had been processed and 7,000 hotel rooms are under contract.

J. FRANKLIN WILSON, a member of the national convention committee, believes that the coming convention will be the "largest in history."

The committee is working out details to make all Legionnaires feel at home. "I don't think any visitor will be embarrassed for racial reasons," Mr. Wilson said.

ONE OF THE CONTROVERSIAL features is the Legion clubhouse at Third and E Sts., NW, which has been "off limits" to tan Legionnaires.

During the convention, colored Legionnaires have been given "courtesy cards" indicating the "off limits" policy is being temporarily suspended.

Henry Jacobi, convention chairman and president of the Clubhouse, feels that the policy will be changed when the Clubhouse board meets in September.

THE 10-HOUR PARADE will start promptly at 2 p.m.

Police officials are predicting that the city will see one of the worst traffic jams in history because Government workers will not be permitted to get off early.

However, Police Chief Robert V. Murray is going to utilize a helicopter to direct traffic from the air as a method of unsnarling the anticipated jam.

Lending color to the coming events, merchants in all parts of the town are draping their buildings with the traditional yellow and blue colors of the legion.

Legion officials say that Legionnaires are not as destructive as they were back in the 1920's when many cities closed their doors to the convention.

However, it is felt the town will see many either exuberant Legionnaires engaging in tomfoolery that can be associated with a second childhood.

BISHOP "DADDY" GRACE
"I don't know the woman."

of "Morris" and that he was known there as James E. Morris, and that she was to be known as Louvenia A. Morris.

UPON THE BIRTH of the child, Frances, the suit charges that he "coerced and forced" her to sign the birth certificate of the father as James E. Morris and the mother as Louvenia A. Morris.

She charges that in January, 1928, the aforesaid John H. Morris, alias known as James E. Morris and Bishop C. M. Grace, left, abandoned and deserted her and failed to support her and the child.

FURTHER, SHE SAYS, for approximately five years subsequent to January, 1928, he contacted her on several occasions "but refused to reveal where he was or what he was doing."

In 1933, she says, she discovered him "under the name of Bisop C. M. Grace or better known as Daddy Grace."

She charges that he threatened her with severe bodily harm if she ever revealed his true identity or intruded upon his life, or revealed any of his past activities.

QUERIED ABOUT these additional charges, Mrs. Grace Grace declared that he knew nothing of the circumstances cited in the suit.

"I didn't know about it until it was filed," he asserted.

AS FOR HIS PLANS in connection with answering the charges, Bishop Grace said:

"I don't know what I'll do about the suit. Right now, I'm going to Baltimore."

He left Wednesday.

MEANWHILE, Mrs. Royster was interviewed by AFRO reporters at the Parklands apartment of her daughter, Mrs. Frances Anderson who is employed as a clerk at women's bureau.

Mrs. Royster, a diminutive soft spoken, silver - haired kind voiced woman, couldn't "under and all the fuss."

"I didn't think that this would get into the newspapers," she said. "I certainly didn't want any publicity."

As for questions about her reported marriage to Bishop Grace, Mrs. Royster would say nothing.

About the name of Mrs. Morris, the reply was silence. A silence that was punctuated from time to time with "I didn't want all this publicity."

Governor hears 'Caddie Eddie' case Monday

An extraditionhearing for Edward A. Cole, 32, of Los Angeles, has been set for Aug. 30 in the governor's office at Annapolis.

California authorities want the danger Cole returned to that state to answer three bogus check charges and two counts of grand larceny.

Cole is currently being held in the Baltimore County Jail at Towson under $4,000 bail as a fugitive from California. He was arrested July 15 when State troopers stopped his baby blue Cadillac as he was headed for New Jersey.

It was the same expensive and flashy automobile that earned Cole the name "Cadillac Eddie."

without the knowledge of school authorities, and impressed the students with his lavish spending habits his stories of being the scion of a prominent West Coast family and a student at the University of California.

California authorities instituted the extradition proceedings against Cole during the BEFORE HIS ARREST, Cole reportedly spent a week in Morgan College's Banneker Hall weekend, thereby blocking the possibility that he might be released from custody.

Under Maryland law, if a state which wants a prisoner returned to it's jurisdiction does not institute extradition proceedings within 30 days from the time of arrest, the suspect may be released.

Cole's 30 days were up on Sunday.

No one to be embarrassed, AFRO told

Herbert Jacobi talks about convention

BULLETIN!

Members of the James E. Walker Post were scheduled to vote Thursday night on whether to picket the American Legion Convention over the racial issues, such as: American Legion clubhouse policy.

Spokesman for the James Reese Europe Post said that no action was being considered.

— WASHINGTON

American Legion officials were making frantic last - minute efforts, Tuesday, to prevent discrimination of some 25,000 visitors to the 36th National Convention which opens Aug. 31.

Herbert J. Jacobi, president of the American Legion 1954 Convention Corporation of the District, said he was "shocked" to learn discrimination was being planned for Legionnaires at places which did not admit all races.

"There's no use pussyfooting around on this thing. We don't want to cause any embarrassment to anybody and we certainly don't want to invite any discrimination," he told the AFRO.

Mr. Jacobi made the statement following an inquiry about democratic arrangements for the thousands of delegates and visitors expected in the District next week.

The AFRO inquiry referred specifically to coupon books which are being given to all registered Legionnaires, offering special and free admission rates to various places of amusement.

Establishments listed in the booklet include Glen Echo Amusement Park, the Glen Echo Ballroom, the Wilson Steamship Line's Capitol Steamer and the American Legion Clubhouse, 433 N. 3rd St., NW.

—o O o—

THT GLEN ECHO PARK and Ballroom have never previously admitted colored people to its location in Montgomery County, Maryland.

When asked about this, Mr. Jacobi appeared surprised and immediately began checking with his subordinates. He called Orville Crouch, chairman of the convention's entertainment committee and asked him to look into the matter "right away."

"They can't do that. These people knew we were the American Legion when we made these arrangements and these booklets are going to all our members. If one is admitted, all of them ought to be admitted," he declared.

—o O o—

"IF I HAD KNOWN about what you're telling me, these —coupons wouldn't have been in here because I don't stand for anything like that. You can bet we're going to do something about it or raise — !" he added emphatically.

A spokesman of the Wilson line, who refused to identify himself, said there are no restrictions against colored passengers on its luxury steamer, the Mount Vernon, on the 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. trips.

He said no colored could be admitted on the moonlight cruise because it goes to Marshall Hall Park in Maryland and "they don't admit colored people."

The spokesman said the colored Legionnaires could take the Mayfair Steamer at night.

—o O o—

THE AMERICAN LEGION Clubhouse feature of the coupon book has raised the greatest storm center among members of the James Reese Europe and James E. Walker posts.

The local Legionnaires contend that they should be given cards admitting them to permanent membership in the District Clubhouse, since D.C. Department of the Legion passed a resolution banning segregation in July.

Mr. Jacobi, who is chairman of the board of directors of the clubhouse, said he had informed representatives of the post that action would be taken on the resolution by the board of trustees in September.

—o O o—

"I AM ALL FOR this thing, because I suggested it, but we don't want to do anything without the consent of the board of trustees which meets in September" he stated.

Mr. Jacobi said he did not remember the names of any of the other members of the clubhouse board of directors at the present, but none of them were colored.

The convention chairman said Walker and Europe posts are included in all committees handling the giant annual session, including the convention's board of directors.

J. Franklin Wilson of the Europe Post is the lone colored member of the 25-member direction board. Europe Post will also provide 15 sergeants - at - arms at the convention, Mr. Jacobi stated.
