POLITICS

Republican Viewpoint

By HARRY A. COLE

The present activities of the Democratic candidates for Attorney General point out one fact very clearly and that is, that for too long politics in the Fourth District have been conducted on a very low level.

An examination is being conducted at the Supervisors of Election to weed out those persons who live outside of the district and come back to vote.

It has been alleged that these persons know that they are ineligible by matter of residence but that they remain on the district books to continue the present forces in power.

— 0 0 —

A COMPARISON of signatures on the registration books with those on voters authorization cards has led the Mahoney candidate to suspect that not only were persons outside the district voting, but persons other than the actual voters went into the polls and voted.

This is certainly the worst kind of political corruption that could exist.

It is this type of political behavior which is expected of persons who want to perpetuate themselves in office. It is this type of behavior which good citizens abhor and should vote to end.

Good citizens should rise in indignation and protest and vote solidly against this faction and any candidate who identifies himself with its program.

— 0 0 —

SO FAR, the Mahoney candidate has directed his attention to the 30th precinct of the 15th Ward.

I beg him to look at the rolls in the 22nd precinct of the 15th Ward, particularly in the 1600, 1700 and 1800 blocks of N. Bentalou St.; the 1600, 1700 and 1800 blocks of Maryland Ave.; the 2300 and 2400 blocks of W. North Ave.; and the 1600, 1700 and 1800 blocks of Euxton Ave.

Democratic Viewpoint

By ROBERT B. WATTS

All is not well on the Democratic front these days.

George P. Mahoney is still carrying on his fight to gain the nomination for Governor. Philip H. Dorsey Jr. is planning a court test on grounds of fraud with respect to the voting in the Fourth District. F. Brooke Lee has stepped out of the fight for party leader, and many Democrats are talking of supporting Governor McKeldin.

Mr. Dorsey has gone into the home precinct of James H. Pollack and has challenged certain votes. If he can throw out these votes, he will turn defeat into victory. He believes that many voters voted in the Fourth District who do not live in the district.

For years we have contended that this is no evil. Harry A. Cole has seen evidence of this, has been told by many that this is the picture in the upper 15th Ward.

If Mr. Dorsey wins his court case it will, in a sense, benefit the colored voter. Certainly our strength in the Fourth District should not be nullified by so-called ghost voters.

George P. Mahoney will also benefit—for he could get the nomination if these illegal votes are thrown out. Many are watching this fight with keen interest.

— 0 0 —

MR. MAHONEY has stated he will stand or fall on the result of his fight to throw out votes in Queen Anne and Talbot Counties.

He plans to prove that the voters' cards in these two counties were improperly marked and thus illegal. If he succeeds, he will get his party's nomination.

Mr. Mahoney is a fighter and is only asserting a right that anyone in his place not prone to making deals would do.

If those votes are illegal, they should be thrown out. No man wants to lose an important election on illegal votes.

— 0 0 —

ANOTHER CONTENTION point is the inclination of many Democrats, not satisfied with Dr. Byrd's candidacy, to support Governor McKeldin.

Many colored voters, mindful of McKeldin's record, and equally mindful of Dr. Byrd's past record, have decided to support the incumbent governor.

They reason that Governor McKeldin with his many "first" appointments, his stand on the Poly School case, and his plea for equal treatment of minority groups, as well as his general overall handling of State affairs, deserves another term.

These features of Democratic thinking are at the present not at all good for the party. It is hoped that once these differences can be reconciled, the party will show solidarity and go on to win in November.

ALONG THE AVENUE

Good news comes this week from the East Side where TILLIE'S is offering the music of Lou Bennett and his Hammondtones, fresh from a downtown spot where they proved once more that a little goes a long way to wear the mantle as one of the city's brightest new groups.

Lou's last uptown engagement was at TILLIE'S, Fayette and Wolfe Sts., and it is a real pleasure to welcome him back. Lou is still featuring the smooth and highly listenable music that earned him such a wide following while he was a fixture at RICTOR'S RED FOX LOUNGE.

With the lovely voice of Dot Kelly blended with the music of the Hammondtones, there should be quite a time this weekend at the club. Tillie's is doing great business with its draft beer, which brings to mind—the fact that four of the city's best draft spots are now featuring draft beer.

THE OTHER THREE are CLUB 1017, GAMBY'S and the KNOTTY PINE. Patrons never assign the growing popularity of draft beer to the present economic situation, however. Talked about that there has been a drop in the amount of money in circulation, which means people have to cut down on the food they spend for entertainment.

One veteran club owner told me the column that the same thing took place before the outbreak of World War II, and that once prosperity came customers stopped drinking draft beer and turned to the bottled kind.

A shower was given recently for Miss Sylvia M. Weingust, niece of Gaston "Doc" Weingust. She is a former Baltimore resident who now lives in Rockers, N.Y. Sponsor was her aunt, Mrs. Florence Guy of 411 N. Mount St.

Miss Weingust is to be married to Julian Branch of the Bronx, N.Y. Present for the affair were her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Parker; Mrs. Eulalia W. Stevenson, an aunt; Norman Weingust, a cousin, and a number of local and out-of-town guests.

THE GERRY MULLIGAN quartette is doing a standing room only business at the smart CLUB TIJUANA, correctly referred to the House of Modern Jazz. Mulligan's style is a mixture of bop and jazz that is pleasant to listen to. The guy is good—as witness his nailing down the number two spot in a poll by Downbeat magazine in the baritone sax department.

A mambo outfit, Johnny Conquette and group will bow into the club on Monday. Talked about a bongo player from Washington, who says that Baltimore is more taken by the mambo beat then any outside of New York.

The CLUB CASINO has a new manager in the person of George Whyte who replaced Dickie Newton. Whyte has been employed at the club for four months and was promoted to his present job several weeks ago.

The music is being made by the very fine Percy Francis's group and the drinks and service are as usual the best.

— o 0 o —

TWIN PINES out near Essex, is back in the entertainment spotlight with a jump combo, The Livetones, providing the music. Thursday night is Fiesta Night at the spot with fun for all.

CLUB AMBASSADOR has the Mells Jacks holding down the center stage with "Wild Man" Perry on the saxophone, and business booming as usual. Makes no difference what day you visit the AMBASSADOR, something is always jumping thanks to George Nader's policy of entertainment seven nights a week.

The Seven Tilters are scheduled to open at the club on Aug. 23. The group hails from Wildwood, N.J. where they played a stream of engagements.

RICTOR'S RED FOX LOUNGE brings a new group in this week, the Soundmasters. If past performances mean anything, the group should be worth hearing and what could be nicer than a Sunday evening in the lush setting of the RED FOX LOUNGE.

— o 0 o —

BIGGEST NEWS this week is the attention the Organax trio at the COMEDY CLUB has been receiving. Coming into the club almost unknown, the trio has taken hold of the customers' imagination as few group have ever done.

Fact is that the whole town is talking about the organax and everything you hear is good. Gave a relisten to the outfit on Tuesday and was convinced again that Bill Wilson and his boys have an outfit, that belongs at the top.

They have everything. Appearance, showmanship, music ability and charm. The customers are crazy about them and the column has to echo that sentiment.

The group plays a lot of original numbers, two of the best being a dreamy "Moon Mist" and an uptempo tune "Beg ging." They close out their engagement on Sunday night, so hurry and hear them, they are fine, and that's the truth, George.

The rest of the entertainment picture lines up like this:

The Jo Jo Mambo Group at JONES COCKTAIL LOUNGE; Lawson Vessells and Jerome Berry at CLUB 1017; the Valentino Trio at the KNOTTY PINE CLUB. . .That's it . . Have fun.
