Baptists end 2-day session at Fountain

"An aversion to change was not characteristic of the early church. Apostle Paul said: 'I became all things to all men, to the weak I became weak.

"'To the wise I became wise.' The church must adjust itself to a changing community," the Rev. William Tapscott, pastor of the Morning Star Baptist Church in Catonsville, said Friday.

The Rev. Mr. Tapscott was addressing the 30th annual session of the Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Convention of Md., which ended a two-day session Friday at the Fountain Baptist Church, Monument and Gay Sts.

THE REV. DENNIS Barrow was host pastor. "The early church was not hard to change," the Rev. Mr. Tapscott continued. "The church since it became so highly organized is hard to change.

"The only hope in the church is that we must adjust ourselves to change," concluding his message, the Rev. Mr. Tapscott said. 'What can we do in a changing time? Set your eyes on the unchangeable

"Find something in life that will not change. Jesus Christ is still the same yesterday, today, and forever. I offer you a changing Christ for a changing community."

Words To Live By

A man and his wife were leisurely walking home when a dirty-looking drunk accosted them. He was seeking information. The husband stopped, listened, and tried to be of service.

Meanwhile, the wife walked on a few paces ahead and waited. When her mate rejoined her she angrily said, "I don't see why you wasted your time fooling with him."

This statement reveals the attitude of many today. They consider it a waste of time to be bothered with those who need help most. Herein is the tragedy.

They pass by individuals who are sick and or sad. What accounts for these forsaken people's sickness? Why are they sad?

THEIR SICKNESS is that of being ignored. Their sadness is the result of the belief that nobody cares for them.

And the truth of the matter is there are Christians (?) and non-Christians who consider it a waste of time to "fool" with them.

The example of Jesus is very disturbing at this point.

When he ate with individuals who were outside the religious circle of the Pharisees and Scribes, the criticism lodged against him was he was wasting time.

WHEN HE talked with women who had allowed sex to become supreme in their life, some thought he was wasting time. When he played with little children, even his disciples seemed to believe this a waste of time.

Many of the Master's activities were considered by his contemporaries to be a waste of time. But, he frequently declared his mission was to serve.

Moreover, his "time-wasting" efforts were expressions of the divine love by which man is redeemed and recreated. Because of this love, he refused to dismiss anyone as being unworthy of help.

He never said: "I'm too busy" or "I don't want to be bothered."

WITH WHOM are you keeping company? With the husband who is willing "to waste his time fooling with" disturbed, drunk and discouraged persons? Or with the wife who refused to help the disinherited?

Paul Tillich, one of the most influential thinkers of our generation, has said:

"The history of mankind is the history of men and women themselves—not only their time—in the service of others.

Take time out as a discordant note on the score of your affairs; instead be not afraid, nor ashame, to waste your time in service.

For by doing so in the spirit of love you contribute to the making of God of new men for a new creation. More thrilling still, you join the noble company, headed by Christ himself, who wasted his time in service.

Gadabouting In Baltimore

Miss Gladys L. Roane is married to Collos Hines

with Lula Jones Garrett

"Twas strictly a family affair when cute Gladys L. Roane became Mrs. Collos Hines in St. Marks Institutional Baptist Church, Saturday.

And why shouldn't it have been? With nine sisters and five brothers to choose from, there was little need to look outside for bridesmaids. And what looking she did do was all in the family, for she selected a cousin, Miss Jacquelyn Hurley, to complete her corp of bridal attendants.

Her sister, Helen, was maid of honor. Other sisters, bridesmaids were Misses Florence and Mary Roane and Mesdames Charlotte Skipwith, Dorothy Stokes and Doris Banks.

Best man was Mr. Frank of Jamaica, B.W.I. and ushers included her brothers-in-law Eugene Banks, Charles Stokes and a cousin, of the bride, Thomas Hurley.

Her lovely bridal gown of white organdy, was made by her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lottie Roane, as were the pretty pastel organdy frocks worn by bridesmaids.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, carried a bridal bouquet of mixed white flowers. Bridesmaids carried nosegays of garden flowers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Spencer Dobson. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, 2317 Reisterstown Road.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Roane and a junior in New York University, where she is majoring in psychology. Mr. Hines is a senior in the school of dentistry at the same university.

MISS ELLEN F. CHRISTMAS, daughter of Mrs. Christmas and Mr Oscar Christmas, was married recently, to William H. Gordon, son of Mrs. Evelyn Gordon, of this city.

The ceremony at 4 o'clock, took place at Metropolitan Methodist Church, with Rev. Kelly L. Jackson, officiating. Mrs. Evelyn D. Johnson was at the organ. Guest soloist was Mrs. Delores D. Owens.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Oscar R. Christmas. Petite and pretty as a picture, she was attired in an exquisite original gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. Her finger-tip length veil of nylon tulle was held by a tiara of seed pearls and sequins. She carried white carnations.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Jeannette C. Smith, sister of the bride, was attired in a pink shantung gown with matching carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Florence Clark, wore a pale green lace gown with matching accessories. She also carried pink carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Christmas wore brown lace with matching pink accessories, and a pink rose corsage. Mrs. Gordon, mother of the bridegroom, wore blue taffeta with matching accessories, and a pink rose corsage.

Linwood Anderson served as best man for William Gordon. Ushers included Warren Barnes Jr., brother-in-law of the bridegroom and Julius Williams. A reception was held in the parsonage of the church honoring the newlyweds, their friends and relatives.

The bride and bridegroom will spend a late honeymoon in New York and Canada this summer. They will be at home at 2000 North Avenue.

WE NOW closed their club year with a number of interesting activities for themselves and their offspring, the past week.

Just prior to the official closing, the pre-teen group had an outdoor barbecue in the State Park. The youngsters had a delightful time cooking and participating in organized play.

This year's awards (U.S. Savings Bonds) to Junior High School pupils went to Jan Simms and George Martin of the Harvey Johnson School No. 106. Presentations were made by Mrs. Thelma Thompson, faculty member of the school.

Children of all age groups were brought together for the club's family outing, which was held at Sandy Point.

Officers elected for the coming year are:

Neonta Corbin, president; Lucille Williams, vice president; Thelma Thompson, recording secretary; Patricia Holtsclaw, corresponding secretary; Max Cornish, treasurer; Jeanette Johnson, business manager; and Ruth Sampson, editor.

THE CONTINENTALS had a series of celebrations to mark their anniversary during the last few days . . . starting with the installation of five new members on Friday evening.

For the induction they gathered in the Blue Room of the York Hotel at nine . . . took in the neophytes (all picture pretty in svelte white frocks) then sipped champagne until the arrival of escorts for dining and the fun that followed.

New members are Ada Woodson, Serena Holmes, Phyllis Thompson, Ellen Howard and Edith Davidson.

Other members include Doris Freeland, president; Frankie Hinchen, Helen Garrie, Margaret Mason, Helen Quarles, Sue Miles, Lillie Branch, Margaret Beamon, Emily Peck, Frances Turner, Delores Young and Doreva Stanley.

Guests for the evening were:

Messrs. and Mesdames William Gibson, Walthall Berry, Daniel Brewington, Robert Matthews, Raymond Tilghman, Ezrah Taylor, Walter Jackson, Henry Scarborough, Clifton Smith, Emerson Brown, J. C. Reaves, John Lanier.

Mesdames Robert Watts, Nickie Randolph; Misses Betty Williams, Louise Smith.

Dave Mason, Norman Branch Webster Hinchen, Harold Howard, Augie Hutchins, J. White, Milton Stanley, Clifton Gattis, Richard Quarles.

On Saturday they donned sports attire and took themselves to the Gunstock' home for a lawn party and crab feast.

Before they were finished with celebrating their anniversary they had another reason to have a party.

Their secretary, the former Margaret Spriggs had become the bride of Dave Mason so they planned a shower. Lillie Branch's home was the place.

The bride was most charming in a dark blue cotton with light blue flowers and light blue accessories. The table was decorated with a pink umbrella with pink and white roses, with pink ribbon that led to many gifts. The highlights of the evening were sipping orange blossoms, playing of games, for which prizes were awarded for the winner, and the answering of the questions that were put answered with some hesitation, on each gift, which Margaret Only club members were present.

The Chipperettes held their final meeting of the year on the Magotby, at the home of Bernardine Harrison, Friday.

They dispatched with business and just had fun.

EVEN OLD MAN WEATHER smiled in benign benevolence upon the J.U.G.'s and some 60 guests as they shoved off for their annual picnic at Johnson's Farm, Saturday.

And no breezer was the weather, than were those sport Chicks toga-doned for a day of snacks and aspables through the hours, and a full picnic supper at the turn of the evening.

Twas the end of the season for the "Just Us Girls", whose clubhouse has been chucked full of wedding, birthday, for instance; gift presented to Crownsville Hospital Mental; a ton of clothing, books, and magazines which they have been collecting all year.

Members of this group are Osceola Alier, Ella Bailey, Margaret Diggs, Madeline Dyes, Eunice Rogers, Violet Thrash, Carole Washington, Catherine Watson, Mildred Whitlock, Rose Whitaker and Mildred Brackett, president.

Their guests on Saturday included:

Messrs. and Mesdames Maurice Owens, John Lindsay, Walter Edmonds, James Smith, Paul Turner, Harrison Smalley, Vernon Prout, James Carroll, Charles Richardson Jr., Leonard Greene, Ray Hill, Franklyn Richard and Morris Simmons of New York.

Mesdames Evelyn Bass, Dorothy Pratt, Marie Newton, Clara Rogers, Mae Sanderson, Lucille Burdnell; Misses Mary Phillips, Marietta Pyles and Mary Riddick;

Harold Richards, of New York, Nat Alier, Taylor Washington, William Watson, Charles M. Johnson, Frank Williams, Raymond Winder, Marshall Pyles, Eugene Whidbee, Harry Thrash, J. C. Bailey and Shirley Diggs.

The 1956 Regatta Queen of the Columbia Beach Boat Club is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ottawa L. Saunders of 4609 Blagden Terrace, NW. Miss Saunders was an honor student in the ninth grade at Banneker Junior High School in June.

The Queen's Coronation will open the Regatta on Saturday, July 28. The Coronation will start at 5 p.m. on the beach beside the Chesapeake Bay.

After the crowning of the queen, the day will be full of social activities for the teenagers. Dr. and Mrs. Saunders will give a dinner party on their cottage lawn, "La Casita," on Columbia Drive after the ceremonies for the queen, her court and their guests.

During the week there will be beach parties, house parties and dancing for the popular girls and boys in Columbia Beach—and their visitors.

THE MISTRESS of ceremonies will be Miss Edna F. Saunders.

On-Sunday morning, July 29, church services will be held on the lawn of Al Jones on Bates Drive at 11.

During the four days of the Regatta the days and evenings will be packed with parades, fishing, crabbing, boating, bicycle races, jamborees, beach and house parties until Aug. 5.

THE REGATTA will start on Sunday morning. Trophies and prizes will be awarded to the winners of the races at 5 p.m.

All races are open to all participants who can qualify. The traditional Sweepstakes race is for Columbia Beach entrants only.

THE CORONATION program will consist of outstanding talent from Baltimore, Annapolis, Washington and Columbia Beach.

The chairman is Mrs. Lucy Saunders.

Before the Queen's activity there will be a pre-coronation boat race, that will start at

Dr. Nichols back at ranch, not in saddle

Back to his ranch-type home at 7 South Lane in Turner Station from a one-month sojourn in Provident Hospital came Dr. J. Harold Nichols recently.

He had been treated for a coronary condition which hospitalized him from May 23 until June 23, causing him to give up his practice indefinitely.

According to Dr. Nichols, Dr. James D. Carr, heart specialist, who had been in charge of the case of the Turner Station physician, said he will not be able to resume his medical practice until sometime this coming winter.

LOOKING MORE like a robust athlete than a heart patient, Dr. Nichols is relaxing in his one-story home, surrounded by his family of three children and wife and by his many hobbies, which keep life far from dull for the erstwhile too-active physician.

Caring for him are his wife, Miss Audrey C. Nichols, and his three daughters, Susan, who will be 9 years old July 30; Cynthia, 7, and Josette, 5.

Things that help him while away his time include a from 24 gal. aquarium which has 20 different varieties of fish, a model train set that would be the envy of any model train collector, a record collection that any jockey would give his eye teeth for, and paintings by his father that could be hung in an art gallery.

For out-of-door activity (inside, mostly), Dr. Nichols can pick up his Jersey Sea Skip boat "Miss Audrey," at the Honeysuckle Boat Club, or ride around (not too rapidly) in his blue Crystler Imperial.

A graduate of Lincoln University and the Howard University Medical School, Dr. Nichols takes the deprivations of his illness with resignation. He just enjoys life.

The Turner Station community, which has but one active physician, Dr. William C. Wade hopes Dr. Nichols' convalescence will be complete and that he will be able to serve it again in his affable manner as soon as possible.
