Gadabouting In Baltimore

Mrs. Mildred Goodrich wed to Otho W. Harman

with Eula Jones Garrett

With her closest friends gathered in the central pews of the auditorium of Ames Methodist Church, Saturday, Mrs. Mildred Goodrich exchanged vows with Otho W. Harman, until recently of Princeton, N.J.

The bride, who is on the faculty of Dunbar High School, is a pioneer in work with slow learners. Mr. Harmon recently retired after 38 years with a Princeton banking concern.

Mrs. Goodrich was given in marriage by her father, Marcellus C. Goodwin, and attended by her sisters, Mesdames J. Walter Smith of this city and James A. Garner of Boston, Mass.

She wore embroidered imported raspberry lace gown, street length, with a back panel of raspberry organza, matching hat and slippers, and a mother of pearl necklace that had been the possession of her mother.

Both attendants wore blue lace, Mrs. Garner, matron of honor, over navy and with navy accessories; and Mrs. Smith, over pink, with navy accessories. Their corsages were of yellow roses.

Mr. Hemon had as best man his brother, Mansfield Harmon. Marshall Jones, James A. Garner and J. Walter Smith were ushers.

The ceremony was read by the Rev. Frank J. Frye, minister of Ames, and William Hassell was organist.

The 125 guests were entertained at a reception in the parlors of the church following the ceremony.

Assisting hostesses were Mesdames Geraldine Baylor, Dorothy Chambers and Naomi Stanley, and Miss Dorothy Jones.

For her daughter's wedding reception, Mrs. Goodrich was attired in bronze gold lace, with which she wore a corsage of red roses.

The newly weds will divide their honeymoon between New York and Princeton, and will make their home in this city.

WE WERE SITTING in Ellie Henson's living room, Saturday, quietly chatting while awaiting the two o'clock hour for the wedding of her granddaughter, Annestia Edmonds, when one of the gals facing the door gasped "WHO IS that good-looking man!" Looked up and there stood tall, tan, white-haired Frank Brown (Newport News, Va.). He had just glided up in a Thunderbird (aqua blue, My Dear) which did nothing to lessen the impression he was making on the feminine aggregation.

Annestia and her bridegroom, Airman Herbert J. Turner, were still in town, Monday...not being able to tear themselves away from the household of out-of-town guests here for their wedding. Midweek they went on to New York, Philadelphia, et al, honeymoon bound.

"MARRIAGE IS more fun than Christmas." 'Twas vivacious Barbara McGuinn quipping on the morning of her marriage (Saturday) to Dr. Blair T. Hunt.

She was out early, having Bernice Holloman reset the coiffure designed to be worn with that pert little hat which was to top her wedding ensemble that afternoon.

In particular she was talking about the elegant shower which Ida Chisholm had given for her on Wednesday evening. The party, with a white umbrella motif, was a lovely thing to see. Small white umbrellas decoyed Ida's club room, a huge one, pointed, by ribbons to the gifts. The buffet was a lovely thing in white one. Added to these were big white balloons with the names "Patricia" and "Blair" on them.

The bride-elect garnered all sorts of personal gifts from delectable negligees to silver, from:

Ruth Glenn, Melva Logan, Merrial Hamilton, Irma Givens, Ruth Wilson, Mildred Jordan, Margaret Bass, Jacauelyn Spencer, Catherine Richardson, Nellie Moore, Shirley Moody and Erma Rawlings.

The hostess's and honoree's mothers, Mesdames McGuinn and Freeman, were also present.

DR. HUNT, who arrived from Boston the evening before the wedding (Friday) has almost immediately been yanked off to a bachelor party given by his brother-in-law — to be, David Glenn.

Frank Ellis, Clarke Davis, Lawrence Logan, Bill Mumby, John Triplett, Lloyd Davis, Alfred Moore, Dr. George Brown, Henson Hill, Carroll Lee, Clarence Cross, Herbert Turner of Boston, Alec Jones of New York, Dr. Aaron Bradford and Thomas Rose were about or whatever is done at bachelor affair.

"Well, I just sat down and went," she admitted.

And her sorors (Lambda Kappa Mu) say Vivian Alleyne really turned on the tears at that surprise party they gave for her, Wednesday evening.

The girls, after a super effort, had pinned Vivian down a moment on pretext that Lena Lee was in state of emergency. Then they piled her with gifts, entertained her with games and chucked her full of fine foods.

Mrs. Alleyne, and a number of the sorors, had just returned from Pittsburgh, Pa. where she had completed the allotted terms allowed as national basileus of Lambda Kappa Mu and had stepped down from office.

The national organization had feted her, gifted her with nothing less than a handsome vase of steuben glass. The Mayor of Baltimore and the Mayor of Pittsburgh had been among those sending and presenting greetings, and oodles of folks throughout the country had piled her with telegrams and messages.

Capping the honors on Wednesday were:

Sorors Hattie Tilghman, Mamie Knox, Pearl Jackson, Josephine Maxwell, Naomi Johnson, Eunice Brooks, Alma Redden, Ida Wroten, Louise Anderson, Valrie Butler, Imogene Douglass, Myrtle Jones, Olivia Bates, Eulalia Stevenson, Louise Turks and Fannie Briscoe.

THAT WAS a cute ice-breaker that Verda Welcome used at the going-away party for Robbie Chisell, Friday night. She tucked the hands of arriving guests in paper bags and, since don't let them take their digits out until they could remember everyone's name.

The honoree will join her husband, Dr. H. Carland Chisell, Jr., at Fort Dix, N.J.

Mrs. Welcome engaged the whole family in fostering the party...even turning Dr. Welcome from his offices. Small Mary Sue, and Verda Mae Logan from Winston-Salem, N.C., received the guests and Joan Ann Allen managed the hi-fi.

And about to enliven the evening were:

Mrs. Chisell, Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Burke, Stevie Harris, Ellsworth Abeita, Mr. and Mrs. Blake King, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Griffin.

Philathea Hall, Nicki Randolph, Tillie Pair, Mary Maiden, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Polakoff, Emma Oliver of Winston-Salem, Anethia Williams, Cleola Minor, McQuay Kish, Marian Bardoff, Larry Bliss.

THE 7-8 JACKS AND JILL held their closing Saturday with a bus trip to Fort Smallwood. The group spent the day swimming, games and plain relaxing topping it off with a barbecue lunch, in charge of the day's activities were Ida Smith, Evelyn Bass and Esther LaForest chairman of the group.

Chaffeurs attending were: Cassandra and Camilla Cassell, Sandra Smith, Nina and Tennie Howard, Renna Jacqueline, Rita Bass, Connie Blacke, Patricia and Robert Payne, Emerson and Thomas Walden.

Yvonne and Elizabeth Matthews, Vashti Smith, Erica Fry, Arthur Johnston, Karen Pinderhughes, Hartshorn Murphy, Ruthie, Susie, Reynold and Heber Leigston.

Mothers included:

Mesdames Elaine Bevans, Novene Howard, Evelyn Bass, Ruth Blacke, Alice Payne, Celonia Walden, Vashti Smith, Betty Fry, the Hartshorn Murphys, Alice and Milton Branson, Ruth Leigston.

"THE PARKS are yours—use them"

So the E. S. Williams Guild of Metropolitan Methodist Church came forth with a moonlight Picnic in Druid Hill Park as their closing activity on Friday.

The picnic began at seven and lasted well into the evening. The decorations of the grove carried out the Independence Day motif, centered with a laden table from which a buffet supper was served. Food had been elegantly prepared by Naomi Sullivan, chairman of affair. Husbands and friends joined the party to make the evening a well spent one in fun, music.

Cornelia L. Smith is president of the guild and the Rev. Kelly L. Jackson, pastor.

Little-Holly wedding held

St. Peter Claver Church was the setting recently, for the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Arbenia Holly to Samuel E. Little Jr.

The bride, the daughter of Mrs. Bertina S. Holly, was given in marriage by her uncle, Joseph Snowden. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace over satin. Her fingertip length veil was held by a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses centered with an orchid.

She was attended by Mrs. Florence Wallace, matron of honor; Miss Betty Bifby and Miss Barbara Shepard, Bridesmaids.

The honor attendant wore blue crystalette with the bridesmaids in pink and aqua, respectively. They carried cascades to match their dresses.

GABRIEL MADDOX was best man. Ushers were Melvin Knock Wiley Etheridge and Abraham Moore.

Father brown officiated and Joseph Neale was at the organ. Ellsworth Williams was soloist.

The newly weds were given a reception at the YMCA by her aunt, Mrs. Gertrude Scott, following the ceremony.
