Heavyweight Title Fight Biggest Lure Since 1938

Rocky sure he'll win

GROSSINGER, N.Y. — Question and answer session with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, which took place late last Tuesday afternoon in his training camp:

QUESTION — Whom do you think will win the September 26 fight between yourself and Archie Moore?

ANSWER — I think I will.

QUESTION—Do you think you will win by a knockout or by decision?

ANSWER — I don't wish to predict a knockout. Just say I think I will win and I'll go at that.

QUESTION — Is there any doubt in your mind that you can lick Moore?

ANSWER — No.

QUESTION — Do you look for this to be your toughest fight?

ANSWER — Unless something happens that nobody can foresee, it should be a great fight. I have no doubt that this will be my toughest. Archie will make it so.

QUESTION—Do you have any set plans—any that you can reveal, of course—for fighting this one?

ANSWER—No. I believe Archie will try to start fast. He knows I am slow to get started and he might try to take advantage of that. I'll do my own fighting, though. We won't take the play away or make me fight his way.

QUESTION — Would you say Archie can hit hard enough to hurt you, or to knock you out?

ANSWER—Oh yes, Moore can hit hard, perhaps hard enough to hurt any man. But I don't plan to go in there and wait for him to hit me.

QUESTION — What would you say is his best chance of hurting you, if he should?

ANSWER—I'm surprising me. He could get in a fast start and sting me. I don't expect him to hurt me or stop me, however.

QUESTION — What is your opinion of Moore as a fighter?

ANSWER — I think Archie is clever, an excellent boxer, a good puncher and amazingly well conditioned.

QUESTION — Have you really been peeved, as the newspapers have said, at Archie for his alleged "copping off!"

ANSWER — Not really, no. He has done a great job of building up this fight. You don't get sore at a guy who's fixing it so you can make a lot of money.

AFTERTHOUGHT—Of course, he can other fighters he's going to be in there trying to knock my block off. It is logical then, that I'm here any given thing that you plan to watch for, more than something else?

ANSWER—Everyone talks to me and warns me about Archie's left. I know he's got a right, too. A good, sneaky right. I won't be surprised his left so much I'll forget that.

QUESTION — If you were in my shoes, whom would you bet on?

ANSWER—If I were in your shoes, I wouldn't bet. But I were in my shoes, I'd bet on me.

Champion serious, set for anything

Regards Tuesdays scrap as 'roughest' of all

GROSSINGER, N.Y. — This ciano who is winding up his is a deadly serious Rocky Mar- training chores for Tuesday night's heavyweight defense against Archie Moore at Yankee Stadium, New York.

Rocky talks about 'law of averages'

Explaining why he has put more energy and thought into his preparation for this battle than for any of his previous 43 contests, the titleholder told the AFRO:

"There are two reasons for working hard. Number one, I always work hard but this one is extra special.

"Second, I figure this is the roughest fight of my career, on paper, anyway, and remember, my fights with Jersey Joe Walcott and Ezzard Charles, the first ones, were not easy.

"I DON'T KNOW Archie Moore and have never been particularly interested in watching him. I do know he's got a great reputation and is said to be a great fighter.

"But I have learned from my other fights. I have learned that I don't start early enough. I am working toward getting an early start. I want to be able to start punching without missing, right from the bell.

"I WANT to be like a pitcher all warmed up when the game starts. I may have to warm up a little on the dressing room to reach the proper pitch of mind. I don't believe in the theory that he who rushes to the post first will win the race. I believe that at long last he has found peace of mind.

The world light - heavyweight champion, on the eve of realizing his dream of fighting for the heavyweight title, insists he has never been so happy in his life. That, he says, explains his smiling, carefree attitude of recent weeks.

Archie contends he now has everything except the crown he has fought to get a chance at and the way he figures it, that will be his on September 21. That is the day after his fight with Rocky Marciano.

Moore gives the impression that he is cocky and conceited. He says he is far from that. He argues that he is a realist and philosopher.

"IM NOT A DREAMER, he says, "I'm a practical man. I don't believe in the phony that he who waits gets. You have to go out and get what you want.

"I wanted a fight with Marciano for the title. He didn't give it to me. I force him into it by yelling my head off for public made that match possible. They don't want to fight.

"I may sound like a braggart when I say the title is mine. I know I can lick Marciano, not because he's a bad fighter but because I'm better one.

"Rocky isn't afraid of anything or anyone. I'm sure he will be a great fight but he can't beat me.

"THEY SCREAMED BLOODY murder when a picket line came in camp. Now that the newspapermen have seen it, they are on my side. Now, I'm picking my sparring partners. I want to train.

"The ride to North Adams through the beautiful Berkshires is relaxing. Up here, it is cool and peaceful. A fighter should train where his mind is at ease. Here, the air is like cool wine.

"Moore lives at nearby Camp Kenwood, a camp for boys and girls. He trains at Glover's Bowl, just on the fringe of town. He has the people in Marciano's own backyard rooting for him.

"Isn't that astonishing," he laughs. "His people are on my side."

Size holds no worries for Archie

NORTH ADAMS, Mass.—"I'm used to fighting big men. Rocky Marciano is just another small man to me." said Archie Moore as he neared the end of his training for Rocky Marciano.

"I've fought big men with power, some of them with much more power than Marciano.

"I think Curtis 'The Hatchet Man" Sheppard hit as hard as any man in the game. He knocked out many a good fight-

Challenger says he's finally happy

Denies bragging; sees Rocky's fans for him

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. — Archie Moore, the fellow with the wanderlust in his feet, claims that at long last he has found peace of mind.

Moore has a good chance to record two 'firsts'

NEW YORK—If Archie Moore wins the heavyweight title from Rocky Marciano Tuesday, he will become the first challenger ever to dethrone a champion in either of the New York ball parks. They fight at Yankee Stadium.

He also could become the first light-heavyweight champion in history to challenge for, and win, the heavyweight crown.

Dating back to the Jack Dempsey era and up to the present day, challengers have invaded the Stadium and the Polo Grounds and have all wound up on the losing end of battles for boxing's biggest prize.

Some have come closer than others but at the finish it was the champion who had his hand lifted in victory.

The heavyweight championship fight in either of the ball parks was the great Joe Louis-Lou Angel Fire thriller of September 14, 1935, at the Polo Grounds. The first at the Stadium was the battle between Gene Tunney and Tom Heeney which saw Tunney end his career in triumph, undefeated as heavyweight king.

Although nine previous light-heavyweight titleholders have sought the coveted heavyweight belt through the years, none has succeeded.

And in the lot where such as Billy Conn, Georges Carpentier, Tommy Loughran, Gus Lesnevich and Joey Maxim.

Rumor has Joe marrying Rose Morgan

NEW YORK — Joe Louis's retirement refused to be included in a magazine feature article on "eligible bachelors," with the reason the magazine's search for an eligible bachelor when the magazine hit the newsstands," has been in vain researchers have again to delve into Joe's matrimonial prospects.

Last time they are linking the name of Miss Rose Morgan, of the Rose Meta House of Beauty, with the name of the former heavyweight boxing champion of the world because long distance telephone calls and airline fares between the pair have added to the four-figure mark.

NEITHER LOUIS Nor Miss Morgan have intimated what their plans are, if they have any, with respect to a marriage pact between them.

Interviewed in New York, Miss Morgan stated: "We have made no plans, but I have the highest admiration and respect for Mr. Louis Any further statement will have to come from him."

In Chicago, Joe, in his usual blunt manner, said only this: "I think that Rose Morgan is a wonderful girl and a mighty fine business woman."

Foreclosures

Dr. Barnett M. Rhetta Sr. and his wife, Mrs. G. Clara Rhetta, received the notice of the court to foreclose mortgages on two pieces of property Tuesday.

One property involved was at 1202 Druid Hill Ave., on which the physician and his wife Rhetta took a mortgage for $6,500 from Mrs. Beatrice B. Hawkins, Thomas Hawkins and the latter's wife, Mrs. Anita Hawkins.

A balance of $5,669.35 plus $121.01 interest was owed by the Hawkinses.

The second mortgage to be foreclosed will be against Mesdames India T. Silver and Minnie L. Dorsey on property at 607 N. Carey St.

The original mortgage was for $3,200. $1,555.02 has been paid on the debt. In addition to the $1,644.98 there is $49.35 interest due.

Marciano, once a hungry fighter, now proud one

GROSSINGER, N.Y. — Rocky Marciano, world boxing champion, got that way because he was a hungry fighter and he says that way because the hunger has been replaced by infinite pride and spirit.

Since the Elizabethan era, when England and old Dan Flatt ruled in their glory, a hungry fighter has been a dangerous fighter.

MARCIANO, WHOSE smashing fists have set ring precedent, merely added words to the ancient truism. The soft-spoken New Englander, who defends his title for the sixth time against the wiles of Archie Moore at the Yankee Stadium on Tuesday, was an extremely dangerous fighter when hungry-desperately so if you ask victims like Walcott and Charles, But he became even more dangerous when the pangs of hunger gave way to the pleasure of being champion of the world.

THE OTHER day, working in a sparring session with Felix Antonio, an ambitious youngster from—Dayton, Ohio, Antonio made a grave tactical error. He threw a flurry of punches that brought excited applause from the overflow crowd.

Marciano stopped in his tracks, scowled then moved forward in the deadly stalk that brings panic to most opponents. He got Antonio in a corner.

"Don't do that again," the champion muttered, a fighter who, in spirit, is more hungry than ever.

Union, Md. State to clash in Norfolk

NORFOLK, Va. — Two of the "Biggies" of the CIAA come to grips Saturday night down in Norfolk at 8 p.m. it will be the season's pigskin opener for the Panthers and the Hawks.

Tom ("Tricky") Harris, the No. 1 spoiler of the conference, has made no secret of the fact that he is bent on grounding the air-minded Alpha McCain Squad from Princess Anne, Md.

LOOKING IN on the Shore College recently, the impression was that the Hawk backs are up to par. Talking with the Mentors, Earl Tiger Bank, line coach, summed up the situation using the title of a once popular ditty:

"It's too soon to know/ Nay" Taylor chimed in with this "if the ends and guards deliver, it will be a tough game for both teams. At least, right now we don't have four sick linemen."

Obviously, this was a reference to the Florida debacle, when the Rattlers caught McCain short on his varsity forward wall.

Joshing McCain about this, all reporters got was a knowing wink and a laconic - "there's always tomorrow."

VIRGINIA'S TOM HARRIS, for the first time in years, is not weeping. The Panthers have been steadily improving, and this season seem to be early favorites in the race for conference honors.

Union's line consistently top-notch, looks even better now, and team morale is at a new high.

With backs like Johnny Sample (Sam ("Pappy") Jones and Andy Dement running against Johnny Vaughn and Speed Johnson, a lot of action is promised for both teams. At least, right now we don't have four sick linemen.

Obviously, this was a reference to the Florida debacle, when the Rattlers caught McCain short on his varsity forward wall.

Joe picks Rock to beat Archie

TOLEDO, Ohio (ANP) — Joe Louis thinks Rocky Marciano will turn back the challenge of Archie Moore in their Sept. 20 heavyweight championship, but does not think that the heavyweight titleholder has a chance to upset Rocky.

Louis expressed his view on the fight while in Toledo to take part in the annual Midwestern Golf Tourney.

The former heavyweight champion said he thought Marciano's punching power was superior to that of Moore's and that Rocky would win the fight, possibly by a knockout.

But, said Louis, Moore is a crafty veteran and he can stay out of the way of Marciano's big guns, Archie might well out of Yankee Stadium as heavyweight champion.

Title Tilt Tidbits

"I don't care who you pick in your column," said Archie Moore, while stretched out on his rubbing table last week, "but if you want to know who's going to win this fight, and you want to get down a wager, you'd better make it me."

The reporter was seated on the floor at the head of the long table, his back propped against a water heater. He had just said: "Arch, I'm picking against you for this one. I think the other guy's too rugged." That was his answer.

"I'll go along with him in the picking. I've quit betting.

Visitors to the challenger's training camp last week were critical of his work with three sparring partners, particularly Gorilla Brown, a big bruiser who sailed viciously into Archie in two torrid Labor Day rounds . . . "I've been fighting almost 20 years as a pro," Moore answered them. "I know what to do in a ring and knocking stuffing out of sparring partners doesn't prove anything. I'm looking for speed and sharpness and I know how to get it. If they don't like the way I go about it, I'm sorry."

Marciano celebrated his 31st birthday last weekend with a press party at his Grossinger's training base. In the midst of the festivities, his wife, Barbara, handed the Rock a telegram. It said: "Congratulations, Rocky, on your birthday. You were a great champion," it was signed, "Archie Moore."

So completely has Archie Moore taken over the community of North Adams, Mass., where he pitched his training camp, that he has been made a deputy sheriff of Ohio County, an honorary member of the Massachusetts Police Chief's Association, and honorary member of the police departments of Adams, North Adams and nearby Williamstown. At the same, it didn't help him any when he got a traffic ticket shortly before the Labor Day weekend in Pittsfield, Mass.

The champion was chatting with a group of reporters following his mid-week workout and not-loose with the impression that Archie Moore spends too much time fishing. "If old Arch fights the kind of fight he talks, things should be pretty lively," asserted Rocky.

Having heard of Moore's explanation of his actions in sterning into the eyes of Bobo Olson prior to their June fight, Felix Antonio, one of Marciano's sparring partners, comments: "Archie says he can conquer a man by peering deeply into his eyes. I studied psychology in Cincinnati and I know I understand what he's driving at. But Moore can take my word for it, it doesn't work with Rocky."

Archie's companion on a ride to North Adams from the nearby airport was talking, but the light-heavyweight champion appeared to be distracted. That is, until the other fellow mentioned the fact he considered himself a philosopher. "You're no philosopher," piped Moore, "you're too young to be a philosopher." To which the other fellow replied, "I'm old, I'm older than you, yet you claim to be a philosopher." Back in Archie: "You're older perhaps, but you gotta suffer to be a philosopher. I've suffered, so I'm a philosopher."

Someone in the green shack at Rocky Marciano's Catskill training camp, ventured the opinion that Archie Moore appears not the least bit scared for his upcoming fight with the Rock. Said Marciano's manager, Al Weill: "That guy talks too much. He's always trying to say things to hurt us. I don't know why he thinks Rocky's afraid of him. He's a 'to-and-no' nuisance, if you ask me."

Informed of the Weill statement sometime later, Moore retorted: "Maybe I do talk too much. But it is just that I answer questions the way they're put to me. They also say they're not scared; not angry. If they weren't scared and if they weren't mad, how come they bothered to notice me?"

James (Cheerful) Norman, the fellow behind the scenes in Archie Moore's training camp, has been the light-heavyweight king's chief conditioner since 1950. He was at one time a welter-weight boxer, though one would hardly believe it to look at his 286 pounds today. Born 48 years ago in Athens, Ala., Cheerful now lives in Toledo and is the only man alive to whom Moore listens.

Rock bigger, Arch smaller

NEW YORK—According to a recent measurement, Rocky Marciano has grown a full inch and Archie Moore is not only shorter but has lost two and a half inches in reach.

These startling facts are unearthed in the interests of authenticity and accuracy as the two men prepare for their world heavyweight championship bout in the Yankee Satdiumon Tuesday.

Comparison of the before-and-now measurements, makes an interesting study. Here it is:

BACK IN HARNESS — His classroom difficulties straightened out, Jackie Jensen stated Moore was back in uniform with his Penn State University teammates this week. The nation's No. 2 ground gainer last year, Moore is regarded by many as a sure bet to gain All - American honors during the grid season coming up.

Collins is currently on duty at the Atlantic City race track.

Maxim sees KO win for Moore

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (ANP) — The man from whom Archie Moore won the light heavyweight title last week said that he believes Moore will knock out Rocky Marciano when the two meet for the heavyweight championship fight Sept. 20.

Pointing out that Moore is a far superior boxer to Marciano, Joey Maxim said: "I'm picking Moore to win the fight.

"Archie is by far the superior boxer. Marciano is a nothing boxer. Rocky is so easy to hit. I'm sure Archie will win by a knockout, in spite of Marciano's ability to absorb punishment.

"Moore hits terrifically hard with one punch, and I think he can call his shot."

BERNEAU—In loving memory of our dear mother, grandmother, BERTHA BERNEAU, who passed away September 18, 1934.
Today our hearts are heavy.
Our thoughts are all of thee.
Oh, how we miss you mother dear.
None but God in Heaven can see.
Some say time heals an aching heart.
But no, it is not true
For twenty-one long years have passed over.
And our hearts still ache for you.
Devoted Son,
HOWARD BERNEAU
Daughters,
