Emancipation Clubs Fight Disguised Klan

Council members' purses targets

COLUMBIA, S.C. (ANP) — South Carolinians have been urged to join the Lincoln Emancipation Clubs, Inc., a new organization designed to fight economic sanctions imposed by the White Citizens Councils.

I. S. Leevy, president of the new group, and Mrs. Andrew Simkins, secretary, have circulated brochures telling colored citizens how "the economic squeeze can be made to work from both ends."

In a letter to state organizations and leaders, Leevy says that South Carolinians have a potential voting strength of about 400,000 and that it is an "urgent and undeniable necessity to have eligible colored voters vote in the way that it will count . . ."

"AS LONG as we do not control or swing elections, we will continue to be victims of various injustices and inequities visited upon us solely because of race," Mr. Leevy said.

He also listed the following points for colored people in the cold war which was declared by the Citizens Councils last year:

1. Watch the newspapers every day and check the names of officials and others prominent in the councils.

2. Shun all business of which such persons are a part. Do not buy or use anything from their businesses. Go into the next town—or state if necessary. Money talks louder than newspapers or Dixiecrats.

3. Buy more and more from colored businesses. Do anything to deny business to concerns which deny constitutional rights.

4. WORK TOWARD cooperatives through which purchases can be made jointly.

5. Work together, plan together and pray together.

The letter listed B. M. Edwards, president of the South Carolina National Bank, as a member of the Citizens Council. It urged colored citizens to withdraw their funds from the bank and its branches.

"Ironically, all we have ever known is economic pressure," the letter stated. "So we can stand lots more. Let's not give anyone an instrument with which to strike us."

"REMEMBER, WE are not fighting alone. The Constitution of this nation gives us guarantees that must be made good. Hundreds of thousands of honest men in America even in the Southland — and throughout the world are with us.

"Let's not get mad about the squeeze; let's not get scared of the squeeze. Let's get in there and squeeze like hell from our end."

Flood victims to receive American Red Cross aid

NEW YORK (ANP) — Hundreds of colored families who were made homeless by the devastating floods following Hurricane Diane were promised aid this week by the American Red Cross.

The worst flood in the country's history forced the closing of 24 Phillies Church camps at Great Neck, Pa. Some 90 children were returned to their homes after flood waters forced them to abandon the camp site.

Camp Minisink operated by the New York City Mission, was also hit hard. Port Jervis suffered the brunt of the heavy rains and, at one time, the city of 10,000 was under water.

E. ROLAND HARRIMAN, chairman of the National Red Cross, conferred with President Eisenhower, who rushed from Denver to survey the flood situation and ask for emergency relief.

The Red Cross has set up disaster headquarters in New York and has issued an appeal for emergency funds to provide temporary shelter and medical aid to scores of thousands left destitute by the flood.

In a wire to chapter chairmen, Harriman said:

"I fully realize that to accomplish our purpose, we must joint-ly and severally work hard on our disaster fund drive.

"The need is great—our chapters in the disaster area and field staff are doing us proud to meet that need."

Cook investigating new Klan group

ATLANTA (NNPA) — Eugene Cook, Georgia's attorney general, who took away the old Ku Klux Klan's charter in Georgia several years ago, disclosed Thursday that he has a new type Klan group under constant investigation.

He said he does not oppose the objective of the new group to preserve racial segregation, but he will oppose any methods of the old Klan.

"My office is keeping an eye on them to see that they do not use violence or violate any laws," Cook told reporters. Thus far, there is no proof that the group headed by E. L. Edwards of Atlanta has resorted to violence or intimidation, he added.

Chicago NAACP launches campaign

CHICAGO — The Chicago Branch of the NAACP will kick-off its 1955 Fight for Freedom membership drive with a mass meeting Sunday (Sept. 4) at 3:30 p.m. at the Greater Bethesda Baptist Church on S. Michigan Ave.

The Rev. A. Lincoln James, pastor, and a member of the executive committee of the local NAACP was the speaker. The Rev. Mr. James previously served as pastor of churches in Richmond and Suffolk, Virginia.

While in Suffolk he was president of the NAACP branch. He is a graduate of Tennessee State University and Virginia Union University.

Urban League unit to cite 15 workers

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. — Lester B.Granger, executive director of the National Urban League, will be the guest speaker at the Westchester branch's third of directors meeting Sept. 14.

Ten board members, three staff and two volunteer workers will be cited for five or more years service. Heading the list is Mrs. Max Meyer, who along with her husband, the late Max Meyer, founded the local group 37 years ago.

Others include Mesdames Edwin J. Hiller, Walter Chamberlain; Richard Dammann, Charles Griffin, Booker Perry, Alma D. Thomas, Phillip W. Perry, Louise Brown and Cora Tolliver.

Also Louis Druss, Morris E. Lasker, Richard Maass, Harcourt A. Tynes and J. Harvey Kerns.

Flying squad firemen cut Harlem's multiple alarms

NEW YORK — Some of the busiest men in the New York City Fire Department have turned out to be the volunteers of Squad Unit 1, Harlem's fire fighting flying squad which has answered over 600 alarms since it was put into operation less than four months ago.

Within seconds after the sounding of an alarm, the squad is on its way to fight a fire somewhere among Harlem's ancient and congested tenements.

SET UP LAST April by Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh to provide additional manpower in the initial stages of fires, Squad Unit 1 is housed in the firehouse at 180 W. 137th St.

Manned by four lieutenants and firemen, all volunteers recruited from engine and ladder companies throughout the department, Squad Unit 1's principal function is to provide extra manpower.

Its equipment includes no ladders or hoses, but masks, cylinders of compressed air, sound-and foam extinguishers, axes, hooks, lockbreakers and rope.

ITS MEN ARE trained in both engine and ladder company techniques and upon arrival at the scene go into action under the direction of a battalion chief.

As soon as the fire has been brought under control, Squad U 1's work is over, for that one, and the lieutenant in charge reports the unit "back in service" by short wave radio.

Comparative fire statistics for 1954 and 1955 indicate that the use of the squad has materially reduced the number of multiple alarm fires, and comparable units are planned for other sections of the city.

Everett C. Gaylord fails to get honorary award

BY HAROLD L. VAUGHN

ATLANTIC CITY — J.C. Browne of Hawkeye Lodge 160, Des Moines, Ia., was recommended by the Grand Lodge Committee on Resolutions for the honorary degree of Pat Grand Exalted Ruler at the Elks 56th annual convention here last week.

The action was met with marked disappointment by the New England delegation who had endorsed Grand Lodge Policeman Everett C. Gaylord of Worcester, Mass.

Because of the organization's standing custom of awarding only one such degree annually, the committee deferred acting on the resolution petitioning the delegates to honor Mr. Gaylord.

The committee, however, recommended that the resolution for Mr. Gaylord be reintroduced at the 1956 session. The Worcester Elk official has served the organization for 28 years.

Church parley backs NAACP school fight

DETROIT—Resolutions calling for nation-wide support of the NAACP's school fight and for the campaign to curb juvenile delinquency were adopted here Sunday at the 24th International Convention of Applied Christianity Spiritual Churches.

The Rev. J. E. Davis, founder and international president of the church, appealed to the delegates for prayer for the success of world peace, declaring that prayers and faith in God could bring world happiness, peace and prosperity.

MESSAGES WERE read from Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Mayor Albert E. Cobo who sent the key to the city to the Rev. Mr. Davis. The host minister to the convention is Supreme Elder Lucy Wilson of New York, pastor of the Detroit group.

Dr. Davis told the delegates: "Democracy has been the salvation of many and persecuted peoples all over the face of the world. Our forefathers acknowledged the supreme God and the inalienable character of those rights flowing from God. Our Nation was built on principles of liberty and justice for all are rooted in God and that without Him they would have no meaning. Religion and morality are indispensable to the continuance of America as a truly great democracy."

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The National Bar Association, in a business session Saturday morning, chose New York City as its 1956 convention site.

Dawson-Townsend contest developing

CHICAGO (ANP) — A political battle may be developing between two veteran leaders here in Rep. William L. Dawson and Willard S. Townsend, president of a CIO union.

Mr. Townsend has been asked by some Republican leaders to run for Congress against Rep. Dawson. He would have a job cut out for him, facing one of the biggest political powers in Chicago.

Rep. Dawson not only controls the First Congressional district for which Townsend will be challenging. The Congressman is the admitted head of five great wards with some hundreds of thousands of residents and controlling the bulk of the colored population in Chicago.

THE HEAD of the CIO Transport Service Employees union would not agree to run until it later results of a pending merger of the CIO and AFL unions are known. He did, however, make known his displeasure with political leadership in the South Side.

"Our community must get rid of policy wheels, crime and the other stuff that our neighborhoods have had to endure since Dawson has been in Congress. I think that Mr. Dawson has used the colored vote to advance his own political cause and to retain himself in office."

at Townsend's statement, Congressman Dawson said:

"When you consider the number of people in our area and compare the crime with that in other areas, it is nothing. It is a shame that we stand by and see our neighborhood ruined. The little policy played on the South Side is nothing. There is far more Bingo played than policy.

"Mr. Dawson has been the target of most daily newspapers in Chicago for tomorrow. They have attempted to associate him with gambling on the South Side. However, at no time have they been able to connect him with anything definite.

"Many observers here seen in the move to have Townsend run against him another effort to "get" Dawson.

Nation's high schoolers support desegregation

NORTHFIELD, Minn. — Episcopal high school pupils, representing schools throughout the country, went on record last week in support of desegregation in the public schools.

The action came at the close of a session of the House of High School Students, one of the three legislative bodies of the National convention of Episcopal Young Churchmen meeting August 24-31 at Carleton College here.

The resolution reads:

"Whereas the present situation regarding racial segregation in the American public schools is one of deep concern to Christians today, be it hereby resolved that:

THE HOUSE of High School Students go on record as favoring the desegregation of American public schools and as expressing their approval of the recent Supreme Court decision regarding this grave and serious issue."

Procedural questions threatened to bog down the resolution until a young high school girl from Wyoming rose to ask "for a prayer at this moment."

THE REV. M. Barlett Cochran, colored youth advisor from Denver, Colo., promptly rose, exclaimed that he was "a southerner by birth, but first and best I am an Episcopalian by birth."

"There are things in our church that can happen and are happening and our world is better because they are happening."

After he had 14 the delegates in prayer, the resolution came to an immediate vote and was carried over-whelmingly.

Bay State enters juvenile compact

BOSTON — Attorney General George Fingold hailed as "a great step forward" the Interstate Compact program aimed to combat and prevent juvenile delinquency," the passage of the new law authorizing Massachusetts to join 25 other states in "the state Compact of Juveniles."

The new statute which became Chapter 687, Acts of 1955 when Governor Herter signed it Aug. 5, directs the chief executive to execute an interstate compact providing for the welfare and protection both of juveniles and the public.

The form of the compact was drafted at a national conference on delinquency in New York last January. Three members of Fingold's new Youth Division represented the Attorney General at the session.

Victim sues cop for 50G

Henrico Countian charges assault

WASHINGTON

A 30-year-old Henrico County man wounded by a policeman during a gambling raid Aug. 13, filed a $50,000 damage suit against the officer in Law and Equity Court Wednesday.

Named defendant in the suit is George G. Miller, white, a rookie policeman; who participated in a gambling raid in the 1-hundred block on St. Aug. 13 and fired two shots at a man who fled.

The suit was filed by Howard H. Carwile, attorney, for Roosevelt Gibbs of Route 14, Henrico County, who was hospitalized for the gunfire. Gibbs is in serious condition at St. Philip Hospital.

The motion for judgement against the policeman contends that the shooting was done "wanteously, maliciously, unlawfully and without any legal justification."

Gibbs charges that as a result of being wounded he suffered "painful and permanent injuries, permanent disability and has been prevented from transacting his business."

FIVE PERSONS were arrested on gambling charges when the vice squad, led by Capt. Dan Duing, raided a card game in the rear of the Madison St. address. One man, 'Cape' Hicks, 73, who lives at 411 Madison St., was charged with maintaining a common nuisance.

Hicks said that Gibbs came to the house to collect some money one of the men owed him and was not participating in the game.

The police department launched an investigation into the shooting but it had not been completed at prestime.

Interracial nuptials get bride confined to mental hospital

DETROIT — A writ of habeas corpus was requested here recently seeking to have a young Jewish University of Michigan graduate freed from a hospital for the mentally ill to which she has been committed by her father after he learned she had become the wife of a colored man.

The daughter, Mrs. Ruth Spielberg Judkins, knowing that her father would not have approved of her marriage to Hayes Judkins waited until her graduation before becoming Judkins' bride.

According to O. C. Udo Udoff, Judkins' attorney, Spielberg said he would rather see his daughter dead than married to a colored man and even offered Judkins $5,000 if he would give up his wife. He made the offer before "kicking her" into Glen Eden Hospital.

In Memoriams

DORSEY—In loving memory of my dear husband, WILLIAM R. DORSEY, who departed this life Sept. 10, 1954:

Today my heart is heavy
My thoughts are all of thee
Oh, how I miss you Rey-mond
None but God can see.
Sweet, say time heals an aching heart
But, no, it isn't true
For the lonely year has passed, dear
And my heart still aches for you
Husband, Father, Son
SADIE DORSEY,
BEATRICE E. MARIE DORSEY.

JONES—In loving memory of my dear daughter, and sister, ALVERTA JACKSON JONES, who passed away September 1, 1944:

We often sit and think of her
When we are all alone;
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Life is dim on the withered oak
When all leaves have gone
Our love for her will sink deep
Her memory
And never fade away
MOTHER, FATHER, SISTERS AND BROTHERS.

KEYS—A tribute of love and devotion to the memory of my husband, ALBERT LEE K
