... with Lula Jones Garrett

Gladioli and garden flowers formed the chief decorations for the pretty home wedding of Miss Margaret Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Johnson, of Hampton, Va. and James William Paul, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul of Springfield Ave., here.

The ceremony was in the home of the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel McDaniels, of The Alameda. The Rev. Willard L. Clayton of Macedonia Baptist Church officiated. Mrs. Phyllis Brown provided music.

The bride was escorted by her foster father, Fermon Butts, of this city. Miss Lucille Paul, sister of the bridegroom, was honor attendant and June Harris, 3, was flower girl.

Miss Johnson wore an embroidered organdy gown made with a tulle flounce. Her veil was of tulle and she carried white roses. Miss Paul selected a yellow tulle gown, with bouffant ballerina length skirt, and carried pink roses. The flower girl was in pink taffeta and carried a bouquet fashioned of garden flowers in the form of a basket.

Mrs. Nathaniel McDaniels, who assisted the bride in the absence of her mother, was gowned in pink eyelet organdy, while her twin sister and mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Paul, wore blue dotted organdy.

James F. Gardener was best man. Among other members of the family greeting the 100 guests at the wedding and reception were the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Carter and Mr. and Mrs. William Paul, of this city.

Mrs. Dorothy Weltshire and daughter, Vincent Paul and Miss Sandra Lee Paul, of New York City, were among out-of-town guests. After a wedding trip to Atlantic City, the bride and bridegroom will be at home at 5002 The Alameda.

MISS CLASSIE GILLIS and Daniel Hoyle, center, married in Baltimore, recently, are shown with the best man, Green Harris and maid of honor, Miss Ophelia Gillis. (Photo by William Bailey).

The Waters Turpins (Jean Fisher) accompanied by their mother, Mrs. J. Edward Fisher, are back from a tour of the Midwest, New England and Canada. Their major objective was to attend the third annual Stratford Shakespearean Festival of Drama and Music at Stratford, Ontario. While in New York they also attended dramatic productions of great appeal.

Mrs. Viola Finney, who has been vacationing in California for the past three summers, has just returned home again. She guested, this summer, with her daughter, Mrs. Delores Jones, and grandson, Collin, in Berkeley.

Incidentally, Mrs. Jones' husband, Sgt. Charles H. Jones is now on his way home from Japan for discharge after four years in the air Force. In fact this is quite a reunion time at the Finneys' Bentalou St. home. Their son Pvt. Robert W. Finney is home on furlough from Camp Gordon Ga. and due any day is their other son A/3C Merrill R. Finney who is stationed at Loring Air Force Base, Maine.

That North Pole living AFRO-AMERICAN correspondent Herbert M. Frishy (city school science specialist came in from Alaskvik NWT this week.

Willie and Victorine Adams are in Detroit guesting with Dr. and Mrs. William J. Mouze (Lettie Johnson). Charlotte Downie took off by motor for the West last week. Is visiting her brother-in-law and sister Dr. and Mrs. James L. Fields in Indiana.

Miss Mary Louise Allen, YWCA secretary, is back from the confines of North Carolina where she vacationed. Mr. and Mrs. D. Arinett Murphy of this town and Mrs. Sarah Neeley of Philadelphia are on Cape Cod for the nonce.

VISITORS WITHIN our gates have not lacked for fun either. Take for instance Mrs. Marjorie Brownvill of Los Angeles Calif. who has been guesting with Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Hunt for two weeks. She has been on a continuous round of dinners and brunches hosted by Else's friends, was among the guests entertained when Mrs. Margaret Wheatley had a picnic at Fort Smallwood honoring Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Dean of Houston Texas, and was with the 37 guests who cruised with Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Thomas of Turner's Station Sunday.

Also from out-of-town on the Thomases' party was Mrs. Lillie Maupin of White Plains N. Y. Mrs. Brownvill, who visited in New York six coming here, will return home Tuesday.

Mrs. Winifred Hardy and son also of White Plains N.Y. were guests of the Milton B. Shepherds of Gwynns Falls Parkway over the week end . . . and honoreee when the hosts entertained at cocktails on Saturday night.

To meet the visitors were the Buddy Chisholms (Jeanette looking very pretty in a two-pieces black and white peasant frock) the Harry Carpenters and the Joseph Greggses. On Sunday the Shepherds, the Hardys and the Chisholms motored to Washington where they partied with the Harold Haywards of the Parkland Apartments.

Mrs. Parnia Pate, of Nashville, Tenn., who came for a week with her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Garland H. Chissell Jr., was on the receiving end of a whole week of parties planned and hosted by Robbie's friends.

She flew up to Wildwood, N.J., Friday, where she was met by the group, who flew there from here, and who included Ivy Harris, Ellsworth Rhetta and niece, Robin Parker, Mrs. Chissell and children, Herbert and Robert; Mary Maiden, Cleota Minor and Louise Robinson and daughter, Sharon.

Mrs. Pate went on to Trenton, for a brief visit with relatives, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Beuford . . . thence to Baltimore, where, on Saturday, Ivy and Cleota held forth at luncheon for her, with Gwendolyn Carter, Marion Brown and Kay Carter joining the group.

On Monday evening, Mary Maiden entertained the girls and their husbands with the honoree's husband Mason Pate (Nashville bank teller) on hand for the bridge party.

Came Tuesday and Louise Robinson was hostess at luncheon, with guests including Margaret Proctor, Dorothea Merchant, Emma Miguel, Arnette Lottier, Jimmy LaForrest, Doris Moore, Kay Carter and Gwendolyn Carter.

The Chissells hosted the party on Wednesday evening, when guests were the Myles Robinsons, Bex Harrison, Helen Glover, the Barnett Rhettes, the Simon Carters, the Emerson Browns, the Clarence Maidens, Cleota Minor and Dr. John Chissell.

Thursday the group was off to Washington, dinner at the Water Gate Inn, and a bit of night clubbing. Tonight, the W. Emerson Browns will entertain for Mrs. Pate, and Saturday morning she will fly back to Nashville.

PARTY PRATTLE: Dr. and Mrs. George Pendleton entertained their regular bridge foursome (adding a few guests to make three tables) at their cottage at Highland Beach, Saturday.

About were Charles and Emma Nichols, Dolbert and Louise Harden, William and Dorothea Merchant, Ruth Jennifer, Ellsworth Rhetta, Herbert and Shirley Brown and Bob and Vashti Matthews.

DATE DATA: Mattie Lawson (she's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schofield Lawson) and William Mumby will exchange vows in the Morgan Christian Center on Sunday, the 11th, at four o'clock. And on the following Saturday (the 17th) Mattie Fuscon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Booker T. Fuscon, will become Mrs. Calvin H. Wesley in St. James Protestant Episcopal Church at 3:45 p.m.

On Sunday afternoon of this week, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Richardson will hold forth at their place in Annapolis with Miss Naomi Worthsin of Indianapolis, Ind. as guest of honor.

Tomorrow night (Sept. 3.) the National Alliance of Postal Employees (Baltimore chapter) will be off on the S.S. Tolchester for a "Caribbean Cruise" down the Chesapeake. The only peek that the social committee will let out on the Caribbean idea is that part of the planned entertainment will lean towards that theme. They have some surprises for us gals, too, I understand.

POT-POURRI: Mr. and Mrs. James Hall, of Pulaski Highway, (she's the sister of Mrs. Daisy Allen) will celebrate a golden wedding anniversary on the seventh . . . the event to be marked by an out-of-town (New York, New Jersey) party by their daughter, Eunice Carter.

Charlotte Trusty Williams is ensconced in a new domicile at 3409 Woodbrook Ave. Dr. and Mrs. R. Garland Chissell are in their new home. It is that lovely terraced place at Longwood and Hanlon.

JUST US — The savings club held a meeting at 237 N. Pulaski St., Monday evening, when Mesdames Effie Haynie, Lola Hines, Arlethea T. Young, Mary S. Wills, Marie M. Jones and Miss Maggie Stewart were present.

CORRECTION — The name of one of the top officials of the Grand Temple of the National Body Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World, was omitted from a story in Tuesday's edition.

Mrs. Pearl Brown, 3308 W. North Ave. is grand treasurer of the international organization. The AFRO regrets the omission.

ENGAGED—The engagement of Miss Norma Jean Matthews to A/1c Harvey Cross Jr. has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Matthews of Baltimore. Miss Matthews is a sophomore at Coppin State Teachers College. Mr. Cross is now serving with the U.S. Air Force in France.

Double-ring ceremony unites Miss Cassie Gillis, D. Hoyle

The marriage of Miss Classie Gillis, daughter of Mrs. Truma Elliott, and Daniel Hoyle took place, recently, in Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church.

The bridegroom is the son of Dorse Hoyle.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Aaron Gillis, of Annapolis, Miss Gillis wore a long-sleeved gown of white net, with sun-burst pleated skirt, opening at the front upon a pleated panel. Her finger-tip veil of net was held by a satin tiara encrusted with seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of gardenias.

MISS OPHELIA GILLIS, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of pale blue net and a matching crescent crown. Bridesmaids were Misses Catherine S. Dawson, Eulalia Woingust, Verna Mitchell and Doris Oswell. Their gowns were ballerina length and in pastel shades.

Green Harris was best man. Ushers were Gerald Hoyle, Ralph Justis and John Brooks.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Hiram Smith. A reception followed at the home of the bride's mother, 2840 Woodbrook Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick D. Washington, 1050 N. Broadway here, announced the recent marriage of their daughter, Jannie Elizabeth, to William K. Bruner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bruner of Greensboro, N.C.

The ceremony, followed by a reception, was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents. In attendance was the mother of the bride, Mrs. James L. Washington and classmates and friends of the newlyweds from A. and T., where they both are seniors, majoring in English and elementary education respectively.

The former Miss Washington is a product of local public schools, graduating from Dunbar High before entering A. and T.

The newlyweds, currently honeymooning, plan to move into their new home in Greensboro, before returning to school this fall.

TUESDAY TEN—The club met at 1626 N. Bentalou St., this week. Attending the session were: Mesdames Arlethea T. Young, Alma Stewart, Laura Arrington, Susie Johnson, Gwendolyn Carter, Martha Wilkens, Elouise Carter, Misses Mable Harrod, Maggie Stewart. Guests were Mrs. Mary Willis and Celestine Kuclerman.

Civic League schedules show

The Cooperative Women's Civic League will hold its annual fall flower show and garden exhibit on Sept. 25, Mrs. Juanita Hill, chairman, announced this week.

The show will be held at the Madison Avenue branch YWCA.

Serving jointly with Mrs. Hill is Mrs. Patricia Page, co-chairman. On the committee are Mesdames Emerson Brown, Houston Jackson, Franklin Deshields, Bernice Buckner, Pauline Watts, Jane Wilson, Theresa Ebb, Blanche Tyler, Rosie Jackson and Edna Finney.

Because of weather conditions which have made it difficult for gardeners, emphasis will be placed on arrangements, rather than quantity, this year. Entry blanks should be sent to Mrs. Page, 1816 N. Mount St. before Sept. 22.

Campbell-Amos ceremony held

Miss Joan Barbara Amos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad R. Amos of 422 E. 23rd St. and Calvin C. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell were married, here, recently.

The wedding took place in St. Francis Xavier Church and was followed by a reception at the Me-De-So Club.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of ivory lace made on princess lines. Her waist length veil of illusion fell from an ivory tiara of seed pearls and she carried an orchid showered Bible.

• • •

MISS JANET AMOS was maid of honor for her sister. The bridesmaids were Miss Anna L. Anthony, Miss Amy Woolford, Miss Myrtle Campbell and Miss Rosie Holly.

Bridal attendants wore ballerina length gowns of nylon tulle in cotillion blue and shrimp. Their half-veiled crowns and shoes were dyed to match the gowns. They carried old-fashioned bouquets.

Raymond Campbell was best man for his brother. Ushers were James Campbell, George Stokes and Milton Distance.

Mrs. Campbell is children's librarian with the Enoch Pratt Library. Mr. Campbell is with the Baltimore City Fire Department. They are at home on Brighton St.

Girls vacate Slowe, boys move in dorm

The last of the many government girls who have occupied comfortable quarters at Slowe Hall for the past 12 years were evicted by midnight Wednesday to make room for Howard University male students.

The girls, who enjoyed the cozy environment afforded by the former G-girl dormitory, raised a furor when they received their eviction notices several months ago.

• • •

A PROTEST was made to Mordecai Johnson, president, Howard University and to Congress. Their objection was based upon the housing shortage and inability to pay higher rent.

These arguments were ignored when it was learned that there is no longer a serious housing problem in the District, and that the protesting girls all held fairly decent jobs.

• • •

SLOWE HALL located at 1919 Third St., NW, was built by the Defense Homes Corporation in 1942 for specific use as a dormitory for out-of-town girls coming to Washington to accept war work in government agencies. It was opened for occupancy early in 1943. Carver Hall, a similar dormitory was built at 211 Elm St. for men at the same time.

Both buildings were transferred to Howard in 1946 to provide housing space for their expanding enrollment.

• • •

A STIPULATION in the contract transferring the buildings to the university required that their facilities be available to government workers through 1952, according to Dr. Johnson. Although there has been a need for the dormitory, the university permitted non-students to stay three years longer than required by contract.

The George Washington Carver Hall was taken over completely by Howard University for use by male students in 1953. But the Lucy Diggs Slowe Hall was permitted to remain two years longer as a dormitory for female graduate and professional students at the university and other women, principally employees of Freedmen's hospital and the Federal Government.

• • •

THE BUILDING construction program currently under way at Howard now makes it necessary to transfer the Slowe Hall facilities to men. Clarke Hall, one of the two permanent domitories for men on the campus is scheduled to be razed this year to make room for new buildings. Two other temporary structures built for veterans in 1946 are also being discontinued. This leaves only one on-campus dormitory available for the undergraduate male student at Howard. Cook Hall, the remaining dormitory only has housing capacity for 191 students and Carver can accommodate 202. The two dormitories can provide housing space for only 393 of the 2,000 students to enroll this fall.

"There is no other way to accommodate the male students displaced except by using Slowe Hall as a men's dormitory," declared President Johnson.

• • •

NOTICES WERE, therefore, sent out to the young women occupying Slowe Hall 95 days before eviction date August 31, although the contract says that only a seven-day-notice is required.

A spokesman for the university said they had been very nice to these young women and they felt that there was no cause for complaint.
