Gumchewing Hilda McClure gets 15 months for abortions

Mrs. Hilda McClure, 3212 Pressman St., recently found guilty of performing abortions, was sentenced Monday in Criminal Court by Judge E. Paul Mason to 15 months in the Maryland Reformatory for Women.

Charged with two cases, the middle-aged woman, still chewing gum and blinking her eyes nervously, listened as the judge stated that the sentences applied in both instances and were to run concurrently from the date of her arrest.

Catonsville News

5 meeting: Mesdames Carwella Parker, daughter ruler; Mary Robinson, vice daughter ruler; Anna McCormick, assistant daughter ruler;

South Balto. Notes

By GEORGE W. E. HILL

Mt. Winans Elementary School 156 has scheduled a full week of Christmas activities starting with "The Night Before Christmas" pantomime on Dec. 17. On Dec. 21, the school closes for the Christmas holiays.

The Gerald Burks Wilson Choral Series presented the Philaharmonic Choir and the Baltimore Singers at the Madison Ave. Presbyterian Church Sunday.

The Adult Advisory committee of School 156 will sponsor a benefit dance in January.

A King and Queen Rally and Talent show was held Wednesday by the Teen Council of Recreation Center 156. C. O. Bryant and Mrs. J. V. Greenwood are leaders.

'Sister' story fails this driver

"I left because my sister wanted me to take her to the hospital."

Armour G. Sparks, 1900 McDonough St., offered this excuse in Traffic Court on Monday as he explained why he left the scene of an accident without identifying himself.

Officers testified that after Mr. Sparks collided with another car at Franklin and Pearl Sts., he left the scene and his car was located some six blocks away several hours later.

Listening to Mr. Sparks' story that he was in a hurry to take his sister to a physician, Magistrate Stanley Richardson fined him $100 and suspended his license for 90 days.

Ultimatum frees father of three

"If he takes care of the kids, buys food for them and pays the rent, he can go free," declared Mrs. Lena Bryant, 900 block N. Calhoun St. Thursday in Northwestern District Court.

Magistrate Meredith Hoffmaster listened attentively and then gave her 24-year-old husband Alfonso a suspended 30-day-in jail sentence and placed him on probation for a year.

Mrs. Bryant told the court that she and Alphonso have been married four years and have three children. She accused her young husband of hitting her "her right side my head. "He promised me he wouldn't do it any more," she added.
