Adah K. Jenkin's MOMENTS MUSICAL

Among the 40 or more concerts the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra gives this season, locally and throughout the state at colleges and schools, was the annual performance at Morgan State College at the College Assembly.

Under the direction of Massimo Freccia, the orchestra delighted the students with a concert of refreshing variety and interest.

The symphony for the concert was Tschaikowsky's Fourth, of which the third and fourth movements were played. This is considered the Russian composer's finest symphonic writing, displaying the master at his best.

There was nothing of tragedy or sorrow in the third movement of the symphony, played entirely pizzicato (on plucked strings). The final "Allegro con fuoco" (lively with fire) is bold and exalted, with every instrument contributing to the powerful climaxes.

The Baltimore Symphony played with evident appreciation of the contrasts in the two movements concluding with a dynamic and powerful finale.

The Department of Music at Morgan State College continued the monthly schedule of student recitals at the Christian Center. Appearing recently were Sylvia Waters and Frank Brown, organists; Judith Murray and Sylvia Ward, pianists, Matthew Farling, violinist and Eddie Rogers, saxaphonist.

Dr. R. Hayes Strider, director, has announced the programs for the rest of the semester on Dec. 21 and Jan. 25.

The annual Christmas assembly program will take place Wednesday, Dec. 19 in the Hurt Gymnasium, with the College Choir, Symphonic Band and Octette.

The rising tide of interest in chamber music throughout the city will receive fresh impetus from a series of Chamber Concerts at Mt. Vernon Place Methodist Church.

The recitals, which are held in the Mount Vernon Room, began last week with an ensemble of instruments with organ.

The voice department of the Schwarz Studio of Musical Arts, was presented in a recital Thursday evening at Provident Baptist Church.

The student body included performers from tiny Andrewnette Nance, who had to be perched on a stand near the organ for her "The Lord's Prayer," to a number of adult singers of art songs and operatic arias.

Al I were accompanied by their instructor, Prof. Herman Schwarz.

Appearing were: Josephine Johnson, Patricia Gatlis, Beverly Lee, Ernest Parker, Marjorie Butler, Claudell Young, Andrewnette Nance and Henry L. Wedley.

Also Betsy Robinson, Catherine Battle, Richard Blackwell, Shirley Blackstone, Geney Hilten, Addie Watkins, Moore L. Carson, Julia Hawkins, Dorothy Lee-Davis, Barbara Dungee, Donald Staggers and Marjorie Short.

Following the recital the Ladies Guild of the church hosted guests and performers at a reception.

CALENDAR:

Sunday, Dec. 16 at 4 p.m. — Annual Hanukah - Christmas Musicale at Fellowship House, 21 W. Preston St. with Cantor Benjamin Groboni, soloist and the Bob Haffenden Chorale. Lighting of the Hanukah candles and the Advent wreath. Out-door caroling at 3:45.

Wed., Dec. 19th at 8 p.m.— Annual Christmas Musicale in auditorium of Eastern High School, by music department of Eastern High School and City College.

Tues., Dec. 18 at 10 p.m. at the Lyric, Andre Kostelanetz, pianist and the Vienna Choir Boys will join the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra in a Christmas concert. The orchestra will be conducted by Mr. Kostelanetz. Bailey Goss will narrate "A Visit from St. Dutch dialect. The program will be carried on radio by WBAL Nicholas" in the Pennsylvania and the last hour of the two-hour concert will be televised over WMAR.

STROLLING the AVENUE

"Strictly fabulous" are about the only words that come close to describing the new new FULTON CAFE at Fulton Ave. and Baker St., and even those words leave a lot to be desired.

As Sol Goldstein says with justifiable pride "there's nothing like it on the east coast." And to that, we'll add a healthy 'yeah'—and add the note that there probably isn't anything like it on the west coast either.

Fact of the matter is that a guy could spend a week inside the FULTON CAFE, coming out only for sleeping purposes, and never know a dull moment.

* * *

YOU JUST can't be bored when you have your choice of four beautiful bars and a restaurant plus a lot of wonderful people to serve you with the best in food and drink.

As some observing night clubbers may have noted, the FULTON has recently undergone a face lifting job with the construction of another building adjoining the older one.

The interior of the cafe has been turned into a modernistic dream of soft tones and lights that give it a special air all its own.

For the pauses that refresh there's the Circle Bar "where you can really make life worth living with just a little in your pocket," the Gold Room "serving the finest drinks in the land, the Sky Lounge "where guys and dolls can live it up," and the Celebrity Lounge, "where happiness is king."

* * *

ADDED TO that is the attractive galley restaurant, done with a nautical touch and responsible for some of the best foods that will ever pass your lips.

The grand opening of the FULTON was held this week with orchids given to the first 1,000 lady customers amidst basket after basket of flowers that carried messages wishing the venture all the success it deserves.

Naturally with so much activity under one roof it takes a lot of people to keep things moving. The number at the FULTON is approximately 20 and one of these is John E. Curtis, who manes the carry-out department.

When John was a child his grandmother gave him the nickname "Toots," and that's what everyone at the Fulton calls him.

Barmaids include such lovelies as Oakey Brown, Marietta Stickett, Mildred Dupre, Joyce Taylor, Rae Carter, Audrey Neal, Rachel A. Jenkins, Betty Reaves, Viola B. Swepson, Florence Mitchell Avalon Lewis, Eloise Hawkins, Ann Kreaggor and Shirley Leonard.

There's a lot of fun to be had at the FULTON, so this weekend, when you get ready for that evening on the town or a friendly drink with a friend, the place to head is the corner of Fulton and Baker St. You'll see the sign.

* * *

IN THE upper northwestern area of the city is another excellent club where the food and drinks leave nothing to be desired. That's the GARRISON LOUNGE, 3403 Clifton Ave., where the music is being handled in excellent fashion by the Four Jacks and a Jill.

Now at the CLUB CASINO though not completely new to entertainment seekers is Cornell Muldrow, the young fellow with the bag full of songs and a way of holding the attention of his audience until the last note is sung.

Featuring music with an exotic flavor, Muldrow is one of the best young entertainers the column has heard in some time and the patrons at the CASINO are in for some entertaining moments.

Completing the show bill is another talented youngster Baltimore's Tommy Mosley, who wraps his voice around a song like he owned it. With two artists like this on the same bill, the CASINO has one of the strongest shows in town.

THERE'S A grand opening scheduled for DANNY'S LOUNGE BAR at 520 W. Mulberry St. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and the welcome mat is out. Featured at the club will be some of the best draft beer you ever tasted and friendly smiles form the people who work there.

CLUB TIJUANA keeps coming up every Saturday with a first rate jazz session and this week the musical duties will be handled by the Roosevelt Wardell Jazz Ensemble.

TIJUANA is rapidly becoming one of the most popular places for the ever popular cocktail parties. Sunday will see another one of these affairs and this time it's sponsored by the Sorority Club.

Eddie "Lockjaw" Davis is supplying the music and don't forget the amateur night on Monday.

* * *

A GROUP that you should hear this weekend can be found at the comedy Club. The lads call themselves the Tunemakers and they make a lot of music that is highly pleasing to the ear.

Flink Johnson, the organist with the magic touch, is the attraction at CHICK'S LOUNGE, and at the CLOVER CLUB, Fayette and Wolfe Sts., its the music of the Seven Imperials.

Jerry Nelson is at the piano-organo at JONES' COCKTAIL LOUNGE and the CARNIVAL LOUNGE has the music of the Night Hawks every night.

Can't recommend too strongly the RED FOX ROOM on Pennsylvania and Fulton Aves., as a place in which to relax. Have fun.

Mrs. Mary Randolph, 86, buried in native Virginia

"She was a great church person when she was well but she has been sick for almost a year now and she just spent most of her time with the grandchildren."

George H. Taylor, son-in-law, was telling the Afro about the death of his wife's mother, Mrs. Mary L. Randolph.

The 86-year-old housewife died at her home, 1928 Madison Ave., on Sunday.

* * *

FUNERAL SERVICES were held Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the Madison Ave. Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Reginald E. Daniels, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Randolph, the widow of Russell Randolph, survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lillian Taylor and Mrs. Mozelle Hallaman, and one son, Russell Randolph.

The family accompanied the remains to Goochland County, Va., where a service was held at the family church on Thursday.

She is also survived by 3 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

'Messiah' to be sung at Douglass Hi School on Sunday afternoon

The Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah" will be presented at Douglass High School, Gwynns Falls Parkway and Pulaski St., on Sunday, Dec. 16, at 5 p.m.

Leading roles will be sung Junetta Jones and Dorothy Lofton, students at the Peabody Conservatory, John McCall, a teacher at Southern High School, and Leroy Dorsey, a Howard University teacher.

BALTIMOREAN PAYS $25
