'He went into this with his eyes wide open . . .'

"Here he is at this age in life; doing this and yet he knows the attitude we take toward this business. He went into this with his eyes wide open.

"There is no excuse for him violating the law."

Judge Joseph Carter thus reprimanded a 63-year old, 6 foot p'us, gray haired man in Criminal Court Monday, and then fined him $1,000 and sentenced him to one year in the Maryland House of Correction.

The accused, Robert Jones, Jr., 1732 West Lexington St., was convicted of a lottery law violation.

He is a former long time Western Maryland Railroad employee.

"He exists on a pension of $150 a month. Your Honor," Morris Siegel, Mr. Jones' attorney, declared, "and because of disability he wrote numbers in orde rto help himself."

THE ATTORNEY also entered a statement from Dr. Ralph Reckling, a physician, which stated that Mr. Jones had been under treatment and unable to work.

Officer Vincent Serio testified that when the Lexington St. address was raided, police officers discovered 25 conventional lottery slips, 13 non-conventional lottery slips and 421 numbers plays under a blanket.

'He is what you call a small writer', Sgt. Serio added.

"In view of the fact that he has heart trouble and he has no record whatsoever, couldn't you give him a long probation period?" Mr. Siegel pleaded.

"He'd be better of at the House of Correction where he can get medicine."

"I can't treat him any different than the others in these cases," and imposed the 12-month term.

The giant, elderly man, who sat silent during the brief trial, did not utter a word when the one-year sentence was imposed.

Cooking Is Fun

By FANNIEJOE REID

If you haven't tasted a souffle of yellow turnips you have missed a great treat.

You are also missing an opportunity to save on your food budget. This vegetable, plentiful in the markets this time of year is quite cheap.

* * *

TURNIP SOUFFLE is made with three tablespoons of butter, four cups yellow turnips, a half teaspoon salt, one and a half tablespoons sugar, an eighth teaspoon pepper and two eggs. You may also use a half tablespoon chopped onion if your taste trends in that direction.

Peal and dice turnips and cook in two cups of water until they can be softly mashed. Drain the water off before mashing, however. If onion is used, melt butter and cook onions until delicately browned. Add turnips, salt, pepper and sugar. Mix thoroughly.

Add beaten egg yolks. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Put into a greased baking dish and bake about 25 minutes in a hot oven of about 350 degrees.

SINCE PORK is one of the better priced meats on the market just now, this is a good time to try a good Dutch dish.. . . . . pork and krout with applesauce gravy.

You will need two tablespoons of bacon drippings, one and a half tablespoon flour, an eighth teaspoon each of garlic salt and pepper, a half teaspoon each of salt and Worcestershire sauce; Also three-fourth cup boiling water, a half-cup applesauce, a half teaspoon lemon juice, a No. 2 can sauerkraut, drained, two cups finely diced cooked pork, a teaspoon carraway seed, two tablespoons grated onion and a large whole bay leaf.

Melt bacon drippings over low head. Add flour and blend. Add garlic salt, salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce and boiling water.

Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add applesauce and lemon juice. Mix thoroughly. Combine drained sauerkraut and cooked pork, carraway seed and grated onion. Mix thoroughly.

Turn into one and a half quart casserole. Pour apple gravy over kraut mixture in casserole. Place bay leaf in center of casseole so that flavor will permeate throughout. Bake for 25 minutes at 300 degrees.

THE MARKETS are full of cider, too. So do try a cider ice cream float.

This is made with six cups sweet cider, a half teaspoon allspice, one and a half teaspoons cinnamon, eight whole cloves, a half cup brown sugar, a tablespoon grated lemon peel, a pint of vanilla ice cream, a half teaspoon mace and a half teaspoon grated nutmeg.

Heat cider with spices and sugar over low heat for about 10 minutes, stirring to dissolve sugar. Remove cloves. Add grated lemon rind and chill. Serve in mugs topped with ice cream and sprinkling of grated mace and nutmeg.

ERROL CHERRY, "Prosecutor for the Queen" and Mrs. Cherry, of Trinidad, B.W.I., left, were guests of Dr. Bruce Alleyne, right, and Mrs. Alleyne in Baltimore, this week. The couple was en route home from a vacation in England.

Trinidad barrister, wife, guests of Dr. and Mrs. Alleyne

Merry England is nothing like the good old USA these days, according to Errol Cherry, of Trinidad, B.W.I., who, with Mrs. Cherry, was a guest of Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Alleyne, here, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cherry have recently returned from a four-month vacation in London.

The Barrister, who holds the position of Crown Counselor in Trinidad, said that London is quite cold, the houses without central heating and that he had not seen a shower during the whole of his stay there.

"There are many colored people living in London. They live chiefly in flats, and nothing like on the scale of Americans," he added.

MR. CHERRY is "prosecutor for the Crown," a similar position to that of State attorney here. He is one of about 100 barristers in Trinidad, he said.

In contrast to London, Trinidad, he said is the perfect vacation spot, with no "winter" weather, although there is a rainy season there.

This was Mr. and Mrs. Cherry's first visit to this country. They were especially impressed with American hospitality, they said.

ON MONDAY EVENING, Dr. and Mrs. Alleyne entertained for the visitors in the Auchentoroly Terrace home.

To meet them were:

Mrs. John Wheeler, formerly of this city and now of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs Fred Adams, Mrs. Verda Welcome, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Folkes, Magistrate and Mrs. E. Everett Lane Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee,

Dr. and Mrs. I. B. Higgins, Dr. and Mrs. George McDonald, Councilman and Mrs. Walter Dixon, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Monroe, Dr. and Mrs. McD. Bando, Mr. and Mrs. Cortlandt. Brown, Jn Patterson Mrs. Theresa Waters, Frank Gordon, Mrs. Julius Zolver, Dr. and Mrs. Albert. Dr. Martin Rodney, Mrs. Lubert. LaForest, Dr. and Mrs. Cyril Atkins.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. CHERRY visited the offices of the AFRO-AMERICAN, where he had a conference with Dr. Carl Murphy, president of the company; and Morgan State College where he was guest of Dr. Martin Jenkins president of that institution. He and Mrs. Cherry also visited in Washington.
