Mrs. White appeals police court fine

MRS. KATRINE WHITE
"I just want to be left alone"

"We have filed an appeal. "We intend to follow this through."

That was the statement Thursday of Fred Kolodner, attorney for an attractive social worker, Mrs. Evelyn White, 30, of 1641 W. Pratt Ave.

Wife of Herndon White Jr., a chemist at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Mrs. White was fined $25 and costs Monday in Pine St. police Court for disturbing the peace.

The charge against the Morgan College graduate who is now studying at Howard University, was filed by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Katrine N. White of 1014 Bennett Pl.

* * *

THE SENIOR Mrs. White, a well known musician and widow of Dr. Herndon White, told the court that her daughter-in-law had been disturbing her with annoying telephone calls.

The appearance of the two women in court on Monday, was their third visit before a magistrate in as many days.

Mrs. Evelyn White was called into Northwestern Police Court on a summons on November 23 by Magistrate Linwood Koger, and was warned to leave her mother-in-law alone.

The following day the senior Mrs. White returned to court and complained that the young woman had annoyed her on the telephone an hour later.

A warrant was then issued for the arrest of Mrs. White.

AT MONDAY'S hearing Mrs. White described her daughter-in-law as a "little malicious meddler" but declared, "I don't want to hurt her, I just want to be left alone."

Fined $25 and costs by Magistrate Vernon Wiesand, the young Mrs. White was told, "the next time, you'll go to jail."

At the hearing, the younger Mrs. White's attorney contended that a record against his client would do immense harm.

He was told by Magistrate Wiesand, "she should have thought about it."

On November 9, Mrs. White filed a suit in Circuit Court against her husband in which she charged him with adultery and asked for permanent alimony.

An answer to the charge has been filed by Mr. White through Brown, Allen and Watts, attorneys.

* * *

IN HER suit Mrs. White claims that:

"Mr. White is employed as a trainee officer at Aberdeen Proving Ground with an annual salary of $4,575 per year, and is also employed by the Department of Recreation as a referee part time, and earns for the eight month period he works each year $600.

"That the complainant is a placement student on a scholarship at Howard University, and works as a case worker for the Family and Children's Society, but is not on the payroll and does not receive a salary from same.

"That the complainant's scholarship covers only the cost of her tuition and she is otherwise without funds for the support of herself and her child.

Mrs. White asked the court to pay to her reasonable sums and alimony, and that she be awarded the legal custody of their infant child, and that the husband be required to pay permanent alimony and attorney's fee.

IN HAPPIER DAYS — Mr. and Mrs. Herndon White Jr., shown after their pretty wedding in June 1949 at Douglas Memorial Church. In Pine St. police station this week, Mrs. White, the former Miss Evelyn Chandler, was fined $25 for disturbing the peace of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Katrine White, by annoying phone calls. Testimony during the police court hearing was that the junior Mrs. White had filed suit for divorce from her husband three weeks ago.

Handcuffs necessary part of officer equipment—Hepbron

"Our police are not equipped with handcuffs. We have equipped all of our cars with handcuffs and our cruisers carry handcuffs and leg irons, but unless the patrolman buys his own, he does not have handcuffs. Some officers have nippers."

"It would be a good thing if they did have handcuffs though because I think they are a necessary part of an officer's equipment."

"It would take a lot of money to provide handcuffs for all of the men in our department."

Police Commissioner James M. Hepbron was giving his views to the AFRO on the subject of handcuffs after he had declined to discuss the recent case which involved three educators who were stopped and handcuffed by the police at Fairmount and Ann Streets for a triffle violation.

* * *

THE THREE were;

Hawthorne Smith, Jr., education assistant and dormitory counselor at Morgan.

The Rev. Leonard C. Anderson, dean of men at the same school, and rector of St. Mathews Episcopal church; and,

Samuel N. Phillips, principal of Elementary School No. 148.

All were arrested for investigation when Mr. Smith, the driver, voluntarily mentioned to the officers that two weapons were in the trunk of his car.

All three of the men were ordered to stand against a wall and were handcuffed despite Mr. Smith's insistence that both of the weapons in his automobile belonged to him, and he had used them earlier in the day on the Morgan rifle range.

For over seven hours all three men were held at the Central Police station while the guns were taken to the crime lab.

Mr. Smith must appear in Traffic Court on Dec. 3 on charges of speeding, reckless driving and going through a red light.

Wife will administer R. T. Bright estate

Mrs. Helen E. Bright, 1727 E. Jefferson St. has been granted papers to administer the estate of her husband, Robert T. Bright, who died August 29.

Mrs. Bright is the sole survivor. Mr. Bright's estate consists of the Jefferson St. property, which has been valued at $2,000.

Education Week marked at Coppin

The faculty and student body of Coppin State Teachers College recently participated in a series of programs celebrating American Education week.

On Wednesday afternoon a film, "Our Mr. Sun" was shown to the student body under the sponsorship of Cyril Byron, instructor in physical science.

Parents of Coppin students were invited to the college on Thursday evening. Musical selections were presented by the college choir. The speaker for the evening was Dr. Houston Jackson, assistant superintendent, Baltimore City Department of Education.

* * *

MRS. Georgia Boston served as chairman of the program, which also included a panel of parents who discussed "areas in which parents may assist the college." The panel members were Mrs. Mary Harmon, Mrs. Frederick Peyton, Mrs. Richard Baptist and Mrs. O. G. Grimes.

During the Friday assembly program, Dr. Ambrose Caliver, chief Adult Education Division, U.S. Department of Education, addressed the assembly.

Dr. Caliver concluded his talk by posing the question, "if teachers of America fail, who is to carry on?"

* * *

SEVERAL members of the faculty attended conferences in different sections of the country.

Mrs. Allie Cliff, instructor in geography, went to Cleveland, Ohio, to attend a meeting of the National Council of Teachers of Social Studies, and Mrs. Flossie Dedmond, instructor in English, attended the meeting of the National Council of Teachers of English in Saint Louis.

Mrs. Phyllis McKinney, registrar, went to Atlantic City to attend the meeting of the Middle States Association of College Registrars and Officers of Administration. Dr. Parlett Moore, president will attend the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in Atlantic City.

BTW pupils give program

By EMMA DORSEY

The Booker T. Washington Junior High School Junior Red Cross, represented by 12 girls, visited the Bar-Wi-Ba Convalescent Home last Wednesday to bring the residents a bit of Thanksgiving cheer through a program.

A regular devotion period was held after which the girls presented a program typical of the Thanksgiving theme. Miss Iona Johnson and Mrs. Frances Finney are sponsors of the club.

Mrs. Bernice Newsome, along with her homeroom class, 8A204, entertained the pupils who participated in the butterfly and baloon dances that were given during the recent coronation of the king and queen of Booker T.

Special guests were:

Alon King, Rosetta Graham Olivia Newman, Shella Owens, Helen Smith, Jacqueline Robinson, Barbara Temple, Margaret Mason, Rosa Jones, Theresa Louden, Lorraine Brown, Mary Hubbard, Irene Emerson and Delores Chippy.

Officers of the class are: Vernetta Scott, president; Dorothy March, vice-president, and Lucy Scott, secretary.

The humor department or why pupils smile

Some of the most interesting reading material available is to be found in the various local school newspapers, as witness several publications which passed across the desk of local school reporter this week.

One was the "Houston Broadcaster" . . . from the Pupil—"Here it is (pointing to Russia)."

Teacher-(Exasperated) "How long have you been in the U.S."

Pupil—"About eight years."

Teacher-"Where did you live before coming to the U.S."

Pupil-"Norse Carolina."

* * *

THEN THERE was this tidbit from the "Douglass Courier," representing Douglass High School:

"Thanks very much for the beautiful necktie," said Junior kissing grandmother dutifully on the cheek.

"Oh, that's nothing to thank me for," she muttered.

"That's what I thought, but Ma said I had to."

* * *

THEN, AND we promise that this is the last one, here is the contribution from Forest Park High School:

Teacher-"If you were the last person alive on the rule of Kon Tiki, what would you write."

"Pupil-"An obituary."

And that rounds out the humor department.

Play given at Mt. Winans

Mrs. Ruby Harris' fifth grade class at the Mt. Winans Elementary School No. 156 was host for the regular Monday assembly at which they presented a playlet in the cast were:

Venus Welch, Vinson Jones, Patricia Carter, Myrtle Brown, Carolyn Christian, Geraldine Fleet, Geraldine Green, Beverly Grimes, Patricia James, Gale Jordan, Hattie Mayfield, Joanne MacLean and Maybelle Nicholas.

The fourth grade pupils, accompanied by their teachers, Miss Lillian Chamberlin and Miss Maxine Gunther, visited Carroll Mansion in connection with their study of colonial life. They will present a program for Book Week in cooperation with Mrs. Ethel Hall, librarian.

The Thanksgiving program was sponsored by Mrs. Inez Henson. Appearing were Venus Welch, Cynthia Blackwell and Lamont Thomas. The Rev. Edgar Ward of Cherry Hill Community Church delivered the message.

Soloists were Laurence Thomas, James Grimes, Harrison Henderson, Diana Scott and James Palmer. Mrs. Blanche B. Powell is the principal. The choir was directed by William M. Birche.

Charles H. Houston Junior High School, which told this joke with a straight face:

Teacher—"Place the U.S. in correct position on the map."

Dunbar PTA meets on Tuesday night

The PTA of Dunbar High School will meet at the school on Tuesday night, Dec. 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the boys' gymnasium.

Conferences between parents and teachers make up the agenda for this meeting. All parents are invited to be present at this final meeting of the first semester.

Schools honored by safety program

Booker T. Washington Junior High School and Harriet Beecher Stowe School No. 118 were among the seven city schools who for the first time on Tuesday received safety honor role certificates from the National Safety Council.

The ceremonies were held in the James Mosher School No. 144 at Mosher St. and Wheeler Ave.

Receiving an award for the fifth consecutive year was Elementary School No. 139 at Central Ave. and Lexington St.

The Phyllis Wheatley School No. 110 at Fremont Ave. and Waesche St., received an award for the second straight year.

Progress preview at Cherry Hill Hi

A showing of the General Motors Parview of Progress was held at the Cherry Hill Junior High School recently for pupils of the eighth and ninth grades.

Mrs. Bernice Brown, science department head, introduced the demonstrators and explained the purpose of the showing.

DES head lays Christmas job bars to some downtown stores

"As long as the orders come in for white people only, we are in a position where we can't help ourselves.

"It's unfortunate, but some downtown department stores are just not giving us any jobs for colored.

"If there are any complaints, we most certainly would like to know about them.

According to Walter Goss, local (director of the Department of Employment Service, that's why the majority of 1,000 part - and full - time temporary Christmas jobs in Baltimore are not open to colored workers.

Mr. Goss was commenting on reports form AFRO readers who visited the Liberty St., employment office after reading an announcement of job openings in the AFRO and were "turned away."

* * *

THE ANNOUNCEMENT published on Tuesday, was sent to this newspaper by the Employment Security Bureau itself.

It urged persons desiring jobs as "cashiers, packers, wrappers and stockmen" to apply immediately and earn Christmas money.

The announcement stated:

"We have job orders for almost every store in town."

The acute shortage of Christmas help, the announcement pointed out, "is due partly to the fact that employment in Baltimore is at an all-time high and partly to the recent opening of a number of new department stores."

One Job applicant told the AFRO she visited the Employment Security Office on Wednesday and was told there were no job openings.

She said that while all colored applicants were turned away, white persons were being interviewed, and none were turned away.

* * *

ELABORATING ON the reason why colored applicants had been turned away Mr. Goss said:

"I don't find that anybody has been turned down in the registration office. It is our intention to continue taking everyone's application.

"It's an unfortunate thing that boys and girls, men and women have to spend their car fare to come down here under the circumstances.

"I have heard of no complaints but if there are any I would like to know about them.

"I would also suggest that a person or persons having a complaint contact Alvin Jones the department's minority representative." Mr. Goss concluded.

When he was asked if colored workers were being hired, Robert B. Kimble, chairman of the Employment Security Board stated:

"I'm inclined to think so. I don't know why they shouldn't be.

GOOD NEIGHBORS — Dr. Jerome D. Frank (left) presents, and G. Cheston Carey, Citizens Chairman of Housing Authority, accepts the Ninth Annual Award presented by the Sidney Hollander Foundation. The honor came for work done by the authority in removing racial barriers in public housing.

250 at Hollander Awards ceremony

"I think it is fair to say that desegregation progress in the public housing projects has been smooth and orderly. This is true because of the careful and detailed planning with which this matter was undertaken.

G. Cheston Carey, chairman of the Housing Authority, has just accepted the Ninth Annual Award presented by the trustees of the Sidney Hollander Foundation when he made this statement Wednesday.

"Another important step was the notification of all tenants living in the project about to be desegregated, of the policy and of the fact that they would shortly have new neighbors," he said.

The award was in the form of a $250 check and was presented by Dr. Jerome D. Frank.

* * *

AN INTERRACIAL group of 250 persons witnessed the presentation ceremony at a luncheon meeting sponsored by the Housing Authority of Baltimore on Wednesday noon.

The program was held in the auditorium of the Lafayette Courts Housing Project, 201 North Aisquith Street.

Two churches were cited for their creative example in establishing exchange programs of leadership and activities among churches.

Robert B. Watts, attorney, made the presentation of honorable mention awards to the Rev. T. Guthrie Speers, pastor, the Brown Memorial Presbyterian Church and the Rev. Robert T. Newbold, Jr., pastor, Grace Presbyterian Church.

* * *

THE REV. Mr. Newbold said: with profound gratitude to those responsible for our receiving it."

"I sincerely hope this occasion today may help to bring encouragement and inspiration to those who are wrestling with the problem of implementing the concept of the inclusive church, and having done with the time-worn concept of the exclusive church."

First honors went to the Housing Authority of Baltimore in recognition for the removal of racial barriers among neighbors through voluntary and effective integration in public housing occupancy.

A SPECIAL highlight of the luncheon meeting was the presentation of Miss Elizabeth Wood, Special Consultant, Citizens Housing and Housing Council of New York City.

"I have always believed that public housing is a social welfare instrumentality, though about this since the early we have not cared to talk days."

"And it hasn't been so recognized by the professional sociera of psychiatry," Miss Wood said, "neither — in this era of psychiatry." Miss Wood said.

"But I wish to point out—with perfect clarity—that it is un-American, anti-social, uneconomic and generally awful to regard public housing as hospitals and our problem families as patients."

* * *

ELLIS ASH, director of management for the Housing Authority, introduced the guest speaker.

Other speakers were Oliver Winston, executive director, Housing Authority, and Sidney Hollander Sr.

Guests seated at the speakers' table included:

Mrs. Sidney Hollander Sr., and Walter Self, vice-chairman of the Housing Authority of Baltimore City Commission.

Also, Mrs. Henry E. Corner, Robert E. Merrick, and Dr. William LeRoy Berry, commissioners of the Housing Authority.

Also Gordon Manser, executive secretary, Baltimore counsel for Housing Authority.

Carver plans for convention

To become familiar with the functioning of the Department of Public Welfare as an initial step in preparation for the Model Youth Council, Pupils in 12B1-2-3-4 of the Carver Vocational-Technical High School spent half a day at that department on Monday.

Carver will be competing against Dunbar High School for the office of comptroller at the nominating convention to be held at Mergenthaler on January 11.

Winston Talbott, 12B2 is Carver's candidate. The Council is scheduled for May at the City Hall.

In connection with their work in industrial relations, the seniors at Carver spent Tuesday, in Washington, where they visited the White House, the F.B.I. and the Treasury Department. Mrs. Ida Wroten, teacher of industrial relations, accompanied the group.

Misses Jean Deskins, secretary to Dean Grant of Morgan State College; Yvonne Davis, secretary to Linwood Koger Jr. attorney, Delores Madden, clerk at Provident Hospital, and Miss Blancha Reed, medical secretary, were speakers at the recent professional faculty meeting.

The young ladies who are recent graduates of the school spoke on the value of the work-study program.

In addition to the alumnae, other speakers were Mrs. Ida Wroten and Joseph Raye, coordinators. Anthony Watson (travel trades teacher, chaired the meeting.

TEEN AGE MEDLEY

By LAVANIA RICE

The Thanksgiving holiday was really quite enjoyable with plenty of turkey fun and parties galore.

Religion In Life Week opens Sunday at Morgan

The annual Religion In Life Week will be observed at Morgan State College Dec. 2-6 with eight outstanding leaders visiting the campus for lectures, talks with students and discussions.

"LIFT—LIVE IN FAITH TODAY" is the theme of this year's observance.

The celebration attempts to focus attention on the need for a living faith and to give students the advantage of intimate and expert counsel on religious and personal problems.

The week will officially open Sunday, Dec. 2 with Dr. Vernon Johns, former pastor of the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church of Montgomery, Ala., delivering the worship sermon at 10:30 a.m. in the Morgan Christian Center.

ALSO OPEN to the public among the Sunday activities is a Festival of Religious Music, scheduled for 7 p.m. in the E. P. Hurt Gymnasium.

Groups participating will be the Har Sinai Temple Choir, with Cantor Henry Cooper directing; the St. Gregory Catholic Choir, Edward Smith directing; the Baltimore Chorale, with Gerald B. Wilson, directing; and the Morgan State College choir, under the direction of Clarence Henderson.

In another public activity of the week, the Rev. T. B. Cowan, pastor of Everybody's Church, Lexington, Kyo. will speak at an assembly Wednesday, Dec. 5 at 10 a.m. in the Hurt Gymnasium.

Other speakers scheduled to participate in the observance are: Dr. Abraham Shusterman, spiritual leader of Congregation Har Sinai here; Father Vincent P. McCorry, S. J., teacher and author;

Also Dr. Carl Michalson, a member of the Minnesota Conference of the Methodist Church, visiting professor and author; Mrs. Mary Moss Cuthbertson, outstanding YWCA worker, and,

The Rev. Robert T. Newbold, minister of Grace Presbyterian Church, Baltimore; and Dr. Ruth Brett, director of the Lower Division of the college.

The observance has been planned by a faculty-student committee of 100, with Dr. Martin D. Jenkins, Morgan president, as honorary chairman, and Dr. Richard I. McKinney, professor and head of the department of philosophy as chairman.

Other officers of the executive committee are: The Rev. Howard L. Cornish, director of the Morgan Christian Center, executive secretary; Yvonne Fisher and Fielding Gentry, student vice chairman; and Ruby Thompson, student secretary.

Morgan man named as Army teacher

Another success story for Morgan State College's ROTC graduates has been contributed by Second Lt. Joseph Oliver of Baltimore, who has been selected an instructor in the Guided Missiles School at Fort Bliss, Tex.

Ordered to active duty in September, 1955, following his June, 1955 graduation from Morgan, Lt. Oliver was sent to the Artillary Basic course at Fort Sill, Okla, and then to Fort Bliss for attendance in the Surface-to-Air Missile Maintenance Course for 32 weeks.

Upon completion of this course, the officer was singled out and selected for future classes in the course.

HE WILL assume his duties as instructor at Fort Bliss following completion of a five-week "Jump School" at Fort Benning, Ga.

While attending Morgan, Lt. Oliver majored in mathematics. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McMillan, reside here at 2127 W. Mulberry Street.

King, queen at BTW

By EMMA DORSEY

The coronation of the king and queen of Booker T. Washington Junior High School and Student Day took place last Friday.

Pupil executives were installed in their offices by the principal, Harry R. Parker. They were: Joyce Brown, principal; James Lofton and Susie Jones, vice-principals.

Following this, Miss Brown crowned Albert Watts and Sheila Biddle as king and queen.

A VERY COLORFUL coronation was centered around these activities. First, the ladies-in-waiting marched down the auditorium aisles with the most beautiful gowns that anyone could imagine.

A ballet was performed by Gloria Dickins. A clarinet solo was presented by Harold Mason and a butterfly dance was performed by a dance group under the direction of Mrs. Bernice W. Newsome.

The dance group, under the direction of Mrs. Mattye Ashton and Mrs. Barbara Bennett and the band, directed by Prentis Nolan, rounded out the coronation service.
