Gadabouting In Baltimore

Variety lends charm to town's post-holiday week

with Lula Jones Garrett

PAHDON my recapping but there were shenanigans on the local front these last weeks that just gotta be told . . . not that the old gal (me) took a bus man's holiday on her vacation . . . but:

Jewel and Cephas Rawlings, who hosted Ethel Ramos Harris of New Kensington, Pa., over a week end, gave a delightfully gay party here in their picture-pretty Payson St. home on Friday evening.

Guests came early for chatter, a laden board and bar, and then stayed until early, if you know what I mean.

Ethel was here for a combined recital and fashion show in which she was being presented by the Annapolis chapter of Phi Delta Kappas . . . and with the Rawlingses had an opportunity to see any number of old friends, including:

Mae Downs, Magistrate Linwood Roger, the W.A.C. Hughes, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Sherrington, the Carlton Douglasses, the James Dorseys, the Jack Fortunes,

The Benjamin McCutcheons, Eloise Robinson and Petty Officer Jamison of Annapolis, Milburn Brown, Raymond Hyslop, Ann Holt, Dr. and Mrs. Andre Pitts,

The William Dixons, Mary Dee, Joe Michaels and the Parker Douglasses.

THEN THERE WAS Fellowship House's "paranda," which is always great fun as well as heart-warming and inspirational.

Last year the rain, pouring in sheets, failed to dampen the affair . . . but the weatherman was much more cooperative on the Tuesday evening jaunt.

The trip to several homes, for the "breaking of bread," began from Fellowship's headquarters, under the leadership of Mrs. Mae W. Allen, who was chairman.

Homes visited were those of J. B. Terrell, attorney, and Mrs. Terrell, 3705 Norwood Road; George H. Rosedom, assistant State's attorney, and Mrs. Rosedom, 3302 Carlisle Ave., and Miss Una Corbett, 2110 East Pratt St.

Twenty - eight persons who took part are all enrolled in this year's "Unity for Unity," a Fellowship House course in intercultural relations.

At the Terrell home, Mrs. Terrell served "Noodle kugel" one of the few Jewish dishes that may be eaten with both meat and dairy products. It was served with sour cream and coffee.

Mrs. Terrell, formerly a social worker, gave the background of Jewish foods in relation to the Jewish religion and customs.

She also explained the "Sabbath lamp" which is among her collections from many lands, and other items of religious and historical interest.

The Rosedoms represented an interfaith team, Mrs. Rosedom being a Baptist and her husband, Episcopalian. They served an American light snack of cold meats, with the bread being made of wheat grown at the Fellowship farm of the Philadelphia Fellowship House and ground and baked by fellowshippers.

Most of the fellowshippers learned about some of the experiences of Mr. Rosedom in his state position, and also how a chemistry major at Morgan College switched into the law. From the point of chemistry Mr. Rosedom revealed that he had mixed the paints and painted his new home himself during the summer. Mrs. Rosedom is a school teacher.

Miss Corbett, a school teacher, and one of the founders of the Teachers Union, told of her background as a native of Acomac County, on Virginia's Eastern Shore, and of how her father sided with the Union during the Civil War, and had to leave the church of which he was pastor.

Miss Corbett lives in the home of the late V. F. Calverton, one of the pioneers in lowering the barriers of race locally. Just as Calverton left it, is his library in which the fellowshippers met, right where in the 1920-30s Dr. Charles S. Johnson and Walter White, and others, had first met with liberal Baltimoreans.

Miss Corbett was the place for light dessert and a nightcap of apple cider.

Those taking part in the paranda, in addition to those mentioned, were:

Mrs. Ralph Dull, Sonia Turner, Sam Rayman, and Ken Dewese, all of the Bretheren Pilot House project; also Mrs. Ethel E. Wise, Miss Mary C. Allen, Margaret Buddin, Mary A. Ward, Edwardina Brown, Joseph Sheean, Charles H. Bailey.

Mrs. Cecelia L. Bass, Sylvia Palmer, Francis H. Bell, Annie Wright, Mrs. Louise T. Dolvey, Mr. and Mrs Henry Richardson Mrs. Adah Jenkins, Mrs. Ellen Culbertson, Roland Daugherty and G. James Fleming, chairman of the local Fellowship House.

ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON Dr. Alma Illery of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Miss Alvenize Barr of the same city, came here to set up a chapter of Alpha Gamma Chi Sorority.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS J. SMITH
Observed their 50th wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Smith wed 50 years on Wednesday

"We have had a pleasant life and a comfortable one and we think we have been very happy together. It hardly seems like 50 years."

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Smith sat in the living room of their home at 3207 Winterbourne Rd. home in Northwest Baltimore recalling their half century of life together and looking back to Nov. 21, 1906, when they were married.

She is the former Mascelis Marlow.

"The wedding was at her home on Preston St.," Mr. Smith said. "We were married by Rev. W. A. C. Hughes, later bishop of the Methodist Church.

"Her sister, Mrs. Mable Marlow Williams, who has since died, was the bridesmaid.

"Mr. George Lattier was my best man and we often speak of how few people are now living who attended the ceremony," Mr. Smith said.

"WE'RE JUST taking a little trip to celebrate. We had planned a reception, but decided to visit old friends for a few days in Myersdale and Pittsburgh," Mr. Smith added.

The Smiths left Wednesday for the home of the Misses Kate, Emma, Jane and Madge Shepard in Myersdale. Later in the week they will spend some time with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Conrad in Pittsburgh.

"I remember how happy I was being married in my graduation dress. I had just graduated that June although Mr. Smith had finished a few years before.

"MR JAMES H. Waring was the high school principal then and two of my classmates were Misses Nellie Nicholson and Mary Wilson Waller.

"Mr. George White, Mr. Robert Proctor and Mrs. Georgia Dobson Boston and Mrs. Bertha Brooks were classmates of my husband," Mrs. Smith explained.

"I'll never forget my favorite teacher, Miss Cora Jackson, and how we learned 'Thanatopsis'."

Cooking Is Fun

By FANNIEJOE REID

Turkey pie, served with mushroom sauce or with gravy, is a favorite way of finishing the holiday bird.

Make your usual pastry for a two-crust pie, using enriched flour. Roll one half to a circle about one-eighth inch thick and fit into a nine-inch pie pan. crust.

Arrange one and a half cups diced cooked turkey, a cup sliced celery, a medium onion, sliced, a half cup shredded sharp American cheese and two tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese in layers in bottom crust (using one-third of each ingredient for each layer).

Sprinkle each layer with salt and pepper. Dot with butter or margarine (using one-fourth cup in all). Place top crust over filling. Trim and flute edge. Prick or slash pastry to allow steam to escape.

Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) until crust is lightly browned (35 to 40 minutes). Makes four servings.

OR YOU MIGHT use leftover turkey in a delicious pot pie that features dumplings.

The dumplings are made with two cups flour, a half teaspoon of salt, an eighth teaspoon sugar, two teaspoons baking powder, a cup of milk and two tablespoons melted butter.

Sift the flour, salt, sugar and baking powder together. Add melted butter. Stir well and add milk.

Take two cups turkey, cut into small pieces, and a half pound of pork, cubed, and place in a large sauce pan. Cover with a quart of water or turkey stock. Add a small stalk of celery and an eighth teaspoon each of salt and pepper.

Bring to a boiling point. Cover closely and simmer for an hour and a half.

Drop dumplings from spoon into hot turkey and pork mixture about 30 minutes before serving time.

Cover the pan and keep closely covered while cooking the dumplings. When serving, place the meat in center of platter and arrange dumplings around meat. Be sure to serve plenty of gravy.

LEFT-OVER TURKEY may also be served in a delicious mold.

Use a cup of cold turkey, a cup of stock, pr half stock and half cream or milk, two eggs, two level teaspoons gelatin, an eighth teaspoon each of salt and pepper, a tablespoon parsley, a can of mushrooms.

Chop the turkey finely and add egg yolks. The yolks and whites must be beaten separately and the gelatin dissolved in the egg yolks. Now add mushrooms. Fold in egg whites. Turn into molds and chill. Serve garnished with greens.

AN ORANGY Pumpkin Pie is an autumn dessert that's certain to please. Line 9-inch pie pan with rolled pastry. Trim and flute edge. Make filling by combining ¾ cup brown sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon ginger, ¼ taspoon nutmeg and 1¼ cups cooked pumpkin. Combine 2 tablespoons orange juice, 2 beaten eggs, 1¼ cups hot milk, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind and ¼ cup chopped nuts. Add to pumpkin mixture, mixing well. Pour into unbaked pie shell. bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 10 minutes. Reduce temperature to 350 degrees F. and continue baking 40 minutes.

Dr. Templeton speaks to Howard U. group

Baltimore Chapter of the Howard University Alumni Association, met at the home of Miss Gwendolyn Biddle for its regular session, Friday evening.

The special feature of the meeting was an address by Dr. Fruman Templeton. A discussion followed in what Howardites might do to help meet the challenges of integration. Dr. Templeton brought to the attention of the group many areas in which help could be given. His address will form the basis of further discussion in their next regular meeting which will be held at the Y.W.C.A. 1812 Madison Avenue on Friday, December 7.

Attending the meeting were: Mrs. Esther Bailey, Mrs. Mary C. Frazier, Robert E. Anderson, Miss Maizie O. Barbour, Mrs. Thelma Ashe, Miss Ethel E. Wise, Clarence G. Contee, Miss M. Elaine Waters, Miss Anne E. Calhoun, Mrs. Mary W. Ellis, Miss Gwendolyn Biddle, Mrs. Eunice R. Brooks, Mrs. Gladys H. Taylor, Ernest Gambrill, Dr. Donald Brandon, Mrs. Vivian B. Owings, Luther C. Mitchell, Mrs. Lilla M. Barnum, William H. White, Mrs. Lillian Rustin.

Charles W. Howard, Jr., Mrs. Katrine White, Miss Marie E. Fitzpugh, Herbert M. Frisby, William L. Fitzgerald, the Rev. Oliver St. Clari Franklin, Dr. Maybelle Weaver, Joseph Jenkins, Theodore Elliott, Linwood G. Koger Sr.

Miss Gloria E. Parker, Mrs. Mamie C. Woodford, Mrs. Ethel J. Hucles, Howard L. Hucles, U. Theodore Hayes, Frank N. Johnson and Mrs. Gladys Fitzgerald.

The teachers of Baltimore, who are graduates of Howard University were the hosts for the November meeting. At the January meeting, the social workers will be the host group.

Chicken Imperial in shells splendid for wedding brunch

For a real gala dish for a wedding brunch, or other late morning entertaining, serve chicken imperial in puffed shells.

The puffed shells are made with a half cup water, a fourth cup, margarine, a half cup flour, two eggs, and an eighth teaspoon salt.

Measure water, margarine and salt into a small sauce pan. Bring to a boil. Add flour, all at one time. Stir over low heat until mixture is thick and leaves sides of pan, forming a compact ball. Remove from heat.

Cool slightly, about two minutes. Add one unbeaten egg, stirring to mix, then beating until mixture is smooth and shiny. Add second egg, and beat again until batter looks satiny.

Drop six mounds of batter two inches apart on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 45-50 minutes. Remove from oven. Quickly cut a slit in side of each puff. Return to oven for 10 minutes. Cool on cake rack.

These may be baked a day ahead of time. When wanted for serving, heat in moderate oven (350 degrees) 10 minutes. To serve, cut tops off puffs, and fill with chicken imperial and mushrooms. Replace tops and serve at once. Puffed shells may be stored in freezer until needed.

CHICKEN IMPERIAL is made with one-fourth cup margarine, one-fourth cup flour, liquor from mushrooms plus enough milk to make two cups, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one and one-half cups cooked diced chicken or two five-ounce cans boned chicken, one four-ounce can mushrooms, one-half teaspoon salt, one egg, beaten

Melt margarine in a saucepan. Stir in flour, mixing smooth. Add mushroom liquid and milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Season with salt and pepper.
