$4,185 is raised by Sharp Street women

A day long rally in observance of Women's Day netted $4,185.71 at Sharp St. Memorial Methodist Church Sunday.

Mrs. Frenonia V. Carroll, who served as chairman, expressed confidence that the $5,000 goal would be reached when all the reports have been received.

Money raised in the annual effort is used to defray expenses of operating Sharp Street's Community House, it was announced.

"THERE CAN be no peace without freedom and there can be no freedom without peace," participants in a panel discussion on world peace agreed Sunday evening.

Speakers were M. F. Rahmaswamix of India, a Johns Hopkins graduate student, Kwabena N. Duncan of Gold Coast West Africa, of Morgan, and Dr. Robert Gill, also of Morgan, who expressed the viewpoint of Egypt.

Miss Doris Shamleffer of the Baltimore Peace Center serving as moderator, declared that the Western world "must recognize the world struggle for dignity and freedom if there is to be peace".

* * *

MR. RAHMASWAMI, pointing out that India achieved freedom through a peaceful process, expressed hope that "the clouds of war will soon be swept away."

Mr. Duncan, whose native land will become the independent nation of Ghana on March 6, predicted there "will be no peace in Africa until truth and justice grips the hearts of all men."

Dr. Gill expressed the belief that Nasser violated no international law in nationalizing the Suez Canal, pointing out that for 50 years Egyptians got nothing out of the profitable operation of this waterway through their country.

Music at the evening service was furnished by the Carver High School choir, Mrs. Lucile Marsis, director; the Coppin State Teachers College Choir, Purnell Williams, director; and the Polish Student Octet, Edward Pula, director.

"UNLESS THE United Nations and other movements toward world understanding are undergirded by the church they all amount to practically nothing," Dr. Gertrude Rivers, Howard U. professor, declared during the morning service.

She reviewed how Protestant denominations had organized themselves into regional, national and world councils of churches to create "a unity of spirit in Christian witnessing."

The combined choirs of Sharp St. directed by Morris Queen and with the Rev. Julius Carroll at the organ, sang during the morning hour.

The call to worship was made by Mrs. Juanita Mitchell, who served as program chairman. Mrs. Louise Dennis introduced Dr. Rivers, while prayer was offered by Mrs. Virginia Love and Mrs. Edna Rawlings.

Great Hymns Choir to present concert

Baltimore's Great Hymns Choir, Daniel Ridout, Sr., director, will be heard in a program of hymn interpretations, music Susday at Union Memorial Methodist Church, Harlem and Warwick Avenues, at 5 pm.

The affair is being sponsored by the church's Commission on Missions, of which Mrs. Mary E. Hawkins is chairman, and Miss Agnes Allen, secretary. The Rev. N. B. Carrington is pastor.

Among the choir's offerings will be hymns from the sixth to the 19th centuries, three Slovak Carols from the 12th century, and choral works from the classic, romantic and modern schools.

The Matthews Jubilee Singers of Susan, Va., will appear at Simms Memorial Baptist Church, Pennsylvania Ave., and Cumberland St., Sunday at 3:30 and at Gillis Memorial Community Church, Calhoun and Mulberry St., at 6 p.m. Mrs. The Matthews Jubilee Singers of B. B. Forrest is manager of the group.

Words to Live by

By Rev. Robert T. Newbold

There is a new cult in America today. It is not formally organized. No accurate figures are available concerning its membership.

Some are outside of the church. Many are church members. Nevertheless, the influence of this cult is incalculable. I refer to the cult of success-worshipers.

Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick has made this poignant observation: "Our fathers may have cried in earnest, 'What must I do to be saved?' We that must generation has been reared to cry, 'What must I do to succeed.'"

Indeed, the cry of our fathers has been silenced. For the goal of the average American — regardless of whether he be a Christian or non-Christian — is not to be saved," but to be successful.

The crime rate, breakdown of family life, much of the mental ills and many other maladies of modern society can be directly traced to this fact.

Our entire concept of success needs to be cast in a new mould of thought. The old one is fallacious. And those who cling to it do so only at the price of their happiness.

Many of the heroes of our age are successful men and women.

We think of their success — not merely in terms of what they have contributed to the social growth and spiritual development of man; but in terms of what they own.

Our secret or revealed desire is to become like them. We believe we have "arrived" when our possessions are similar to theirs.

This merely points up the fact that our criteria of success are based on what an individual has, what he can purchase, and his fleeting popularity.

* * *

TO BE SURE, none of the characteristics we have come to look for in our heroes are evil in themselves.

Our sin is often at the point of allowing anyone or all of them to become ends which cause us to seek for and enjoy them rather than to glorify and enjoy God.

This brings us to the heart of the matter: No Christian can be vindicated for being a part of the new cult in America. For such an affiliation is incompatible with the teachings of Jesus.

The Master emphasized the fact that success is not based upon possession.

The Rich Young Ruler owned many things, but he was not successful.

The Rich Fool was prosperous but not successful.

* * *

NO MAN who neglects the deeper hungers of the soul in the process of trying to meet the hungers of the body can be accounted successful.

Jesus also made clear the unalterable fact of life that success is not measured in terms of what one gets, but in terms of what he gives.

"He who would be greatest among you, let him be the one who renders service." Whosoever will lose his life for My suke the same shall save it."

These are some to the disturbing reflections which should merit consideration on the part of those who are a part of—as well as those who are becoming a part of—the new cult in America.

Baltimore doctor massages baby's heart, saves life

Dr. Marcus W. Moore, Sr. surgeon from Baltimore, now with the Armed forces, in the department of surgery at the Travis Air Force Base Hospital, California, saved an infant's life by massaging the arrested heart after it had stopped, during a plastic operation of the hand.

Dr. Moore, a thoracic (chest) surgeon, was visiting in another section of the operating room suite, when Dr. Sharon S. Storey the attending anesthesiologist, noticed there was no heart beat.

Responding to the alarm, Dr. Moore opened the chest and with his bare hands gently and rhythmically massaged the heart for approximately fifteen minutes, restoring the heart beat and the normal flow of blood to the infant's vital organs by manuel pressure.

It is an established fact, that if the heart stops pumping blood to the brain, lives, kidneys, and the heart muscle over a short period of several minutes, these vital organs will immediately deteriorate.

* * *

THE INFANT is being observed closely post-operatively, and at the time of this report remains in critical condition.

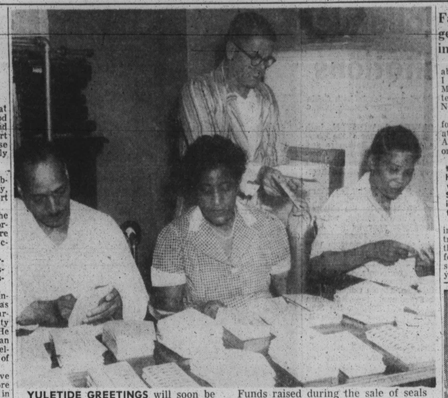
Dr. Moore, a captain in the Air Force Medical Corps, is originally from Baltimore, where he maintained a surgical practice prior to July, 1955.

He is a member of the surgical staffs of Provident Hospital, Sinai and Lutheran Hospitals of Baltimore.

He has had extensive training in thoracic surgery and was a Fellow in experimental cardiac surgery at the University of Maryland Medical School. He is a diplomat of the American Board of Surgery, and a fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

He is the author of twelve surgical publications. Dr. Moore did his post-graduate training in surgery at Provident Hospital in Baltimore and Freedmen's Hospital in Washington.

He is an honor graduate from Howard University Medical School and Lincoln University, Pa.



YULETIDE GREETINGS will soon be coming your way and the patients at Montebello State Chronic Hospital are sending out Christmas Seals to more than 210,000 Baltimore residents. Funds raised during the sale of seals will go to support the tuberculosis control activities of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.

Father of five gets 30 days for indecent exposure

"I don't remember a thing about it. I have five children I need to work," Harrison T. Mosley, 27, 1700 block N. Chester St. pleaded Wednesday in Northwestern Police Court.

He received 30 days in jail for indecently exposing himself at Biddle St. and Druid Hill Ave. and was fined $50 for disorderly conduct.

Officer Calman Bernstein testified that the defendant had been disorderly the previous evening in a Biddle St. theatre and later had been indecently exposing himself to a group of children.

After Mr. Mosley made his impassioned plea, the magistrate said to him: "You should think of that when you do those foolish things. Would you like some man exposing himself to your children?"

World war vet is heart victim

A military funeral was held on Tuesday at Baltimore National Cemetery, following services at Holland Funeral Home for Daniel Dixon, Sr., 57, of 1216 W. Fayette St., who died Friday at Ford Howard Hospital following a heart attack.

A native of Unionville, Virginia, Mr. Dixon was a veteran of World War I and former U.S. Army employee.

He is survived by his wife, Lillian and five children, Messrs. George and Daniel Dixon Jr., Mrs. Lillian Roberson, Mrs. Shirley Carter and Miss Gwendolyn Dixon.

Mr. Dixon was also a member of the Military Order of Cooties, 1000 Nits, Pup Tent No. 16.

IS YOUR ENGLISH HOLDING YOU BACK?

"Many intelligent men and women are held back in their jobs and social lives because they use poor English or can't speak and write effectively," says Don Bolander, director of English at Career Institute, Chicago.

"Adults who realize that their English is holding them back use our new home method to stop making embarrassing mistakes in English, to improve their writing, to increase their vocabularies, to speed up their reading, to acquire the techniques of fluent conversation. But the use of effective English pays off in unexpected ways," says Bolander, "because language is a tool of thought as well as a tool of expression.

"You use words with which to think. The more you learn about words and how to arrange them to express your ideas, the better your thinking becomes. The improvement of your English—including your thinking—can lead to amazing personal achievements."

Write today for free 32-page booklet, Your English and Your Career. It explains the importance of English in your personal, social and business life. It shows how the new Career Institute Method can help you achieve your special goals quickly in your spare time at home. Address a card or letter to Don Bolander, Dept. AA-6, Career Institute, 25 East Jackson Blvd., Chicago 4, Ill. The booklet will be mailed to you promptly.

He had everything from soup to nuts

"He had everything from soup to nuts for Thanksgiving.

"He could have done his own cooking.

He had 12 cans of Sterno and enough food."

When John Walter Scott, 37, of the 1900 block N. Castle St. trudged off to jail Monday to serve six months for larceny of $75 worth of canned food, those were the comments heard around the Northeastern District station house.

Arrested shortly after the food was reported stolen from an automobile belonging to Joseph Fientain of the 1700 block E. Eager St., the convicted man pleaded not guilty to taking the following:

Twenty-four cans of corned beef, 24 cans of beef stew, 48 cans of pork and beans, 24 cans of cranberry sauce, 48 cans of milk, 48 cans of apple sauce, 12 jars of perserves,

24 boxes of salt, a box of assorted candies, 12 cans of Sterno, 24 boxes of mixed nuts and 48 boxes of walnuts.

'Man told so many lies, it was hard to keep up . . .'

"The man told so many lies it was hard to keep up with them."

Sgt. George Frederick, Eastern District, was referring to a statement given him by a 40-year-old former convict being tried before Judge E. Paul Mason Tuesday on a charge of burglarizing a firm where he worked.

Sam Briggs, 900 block W. Franklin St., was accused of entering the C. J. Langenfelder and Co., 810 Quail St., on Nov. 3 and taking a generator, electric saw and electric drill. The items were valued at $1425.

Judge Mason found him guilty and sentenced the defendant to two years in the Maryland Penitentiary.

* * *

EARLIER Tuesday the jurist affirmed a Traffic Court conviction of Oct. 24 when Mr. Briggs was fined a total of $290 for a series of six violations.

Tucker Dearing, attorney, represented Mr. Briggs in the case of the appeals from Traffic Court but told the court he was not retained to handle the burglary charge.

Sergeant Frederick testified that Mr. Briggs was arrested in a pawn shop while trying to dispose of the stolen equipment.

The officer said Mr. Briggs told him at one point that he was trying to get rid of the equipment for another man, and later said some man forced him was trying to get rid of the equipment for another man, and later said som man forced him to take the stolen goods to the pawn shop.

According to Norman Pulski, assistant State's attorney, Mr. Briggs has a criminal record dating back to 1938.

'Mr. Gallup, you can't drink. . .'

"Mr. Gallup, you can't drink. It makes you another man. There is no question about it. You are guilty."

These were Magistrate Linwood G. Koger's Thanksgiving Day words to 41-year-old Samuel Gallup, a barber, who lives in the 2200 block Westwood Ave.

Officer John Livesay said that Mrs. Adaline Gallup had called police to the Westwood Ave. address about 10:25 p.m. Thanksgiving Eve and had stated that her husband had practically wrecked the house and beat her and their 15-year-old daughter.

Mrs. Gallup, wearing a bright red coat, for Thursday's brisk wind, her daughter standing beside her, told the court:

"He came in. I fixed his supper. We were looking at television. He jumps up and hit me."

Speaking confidentially, Mrs. Gallup further stated that her husband drinks and that "You can't reason with him. He does things. The next day he doesn't remember them."

Mr. Gallup insisted that he had only defended himself from his wife who he accused of taking a hammer and an ice pick against him, and that he had struck his daughter for staving out late.

While waiting to be sentenced, Mr. Gallup pleaded: "I have a business and no one to run it. Please give me a suspended sentence."

He received a four months House of Correction sentence, suspended, and was placed on a year's probation for striking his wife. A $50 fine for striking his daughter was also suspended.

In sentencing the defendant, Magistrate Koger looked at him and said firmly: "I remember very seriously that you let alcohol go.

"You have a good looking wife and daughter. You ought to hold on to those possessions."

Building Goodwill — Your Job and Mine

A PROGRAM OF THE BOOKER T. WASHINGTON CENTENNIAL COMMISSION

By Sidney J. Phillips - President

Editors Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles issued by the Booker T. Washington Centennial Commission as a part of its year-long GOODWILL BUILDING CRUSADE which pays tribute to the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of Booker T. Washington.

Your forefathers and mine toiled, sweated and bled to pass on to us the wonderful heritage that is America — a heritage that today represents the striving and sacrifices, the prayers and achievements, the hopes and ideas of the more than 160,000,000 individuals who call it home. It is your job and mine to preserve this heritage and pass it on to future generations of Americans even as it was passed on to us.

Mr. Phillips

Grbup tensions in many parts of our land are militating against the kind of community teamwork that is so highly necessary to the well-being of our nation. The Booker T. Washington Centennial Commission, aided by an appropriation from the Federal Government, is trying to do its humble bit to relieve these tensions by directing national attention to the power of goodwill as advocated by Booker T. Washington. This great American proved through his own life and achievements that men CAN pull together for their mutual welfare regardless of race or creed.

It is your job and mine to help build sufficient good will in our various communities to offset the waves of ill-will that are threatening to break the ties that make progressive community life possible.

Even the questions of integration and segregation, which are the bones of contention that are causing the present ill-will, can be tackled in a spirit of goodwill. In our democracy men have a right to disagree and to contend for that which they desire. Good Americans do not, however, settle their differences of opinion by hating each other, by killing team spirit, or doing anything that might in any way reflect upon the glory of the heritage that has been passed on to us. Let's not forget—building goodwill to protect our heritage is your job and mine.

You can help in this GOODWILL BUILDING CRUSADE by purchasing copies of "Up From Slavery," an autobiography by Booker T. Washington, at 50 cents each, and Carver-Washington half dollars at $1.00 each. These may be secured by writing the Booker T. Washington Centennial Commission at Booker Washington Birthplace, Virginia.
