200 H·U Women return for yearly weekend on campus

By PEARLIE C. HARRISON and MARGARET STEWART

Rainy weather did not dampen the spirits of the women who attended the annual Howard Women's week-end activities.

Some 200 women attended the banquet worship and luncheon and breakfast which composed the break and activities highlights. The Howard University Women's Club of Washington was founded for the purpose of bringing Howard Women together for fellowship and for a re-evaluation of the responsibilities as Howard graduates.

Mrs. Corienne Robinson Morrow, research associate, New York City Commission on Intergroup Relations, was guest speaker at the Workshop.

Mrs. Morrow spoke on Housing—The Keynote to Civil Rights. Participating in the Workshop, which used as its theme, Housing—"A Vital Concern to Women," were:

Mesdames Ruth Spencer, member of the D.C. Board of Education; Nina Travnott, director, Commissioners' Youth Council of the District of Columbia;

Miss Jean Tanner, teacher, Cardozo High School; the Reverend Arthur F. Elmes, Peoples Congregational Church; Mesdames Virginia Quivers, chairman, Fair Workshop, United Church Women Reporter; Mrs. Etsye H. Moore, counselor, Elliot Junior High School;

Also Dr. Irene Hypps, assistant superintendent of schools, District of Columbia; Mrs. Josephine C. Smith, director of elementary education in charge of Administration, D. C. Public Schools; Dr. Marjorie H. Parker, associate professor, College of Columbia Teachers College; Dr. Hilda Bolden Shorter, pediatrician, director of Parkside Health Center;

Mesdames Ada Henry, public health nurse; Mrs. Dorothy Watts, instructor in public health, Howard University; and Margery K. Ware, community organization secretary, Washington Urban League; Samuel B. Danley, employment service adviser, Bureau of Employment Security; Mrs. Florence Johnson, teacher, Frederick Douglass Junior High School.

Others were James Banks, chief, relocation and management D.C. Redevelopment Land Agency; Mrs. Beulah McNeil, nurse, former chairman, East Central Housing Association, Philadelphia; Mrs. Alma S. Scurlock, member of the advisory council, Department of Public Welfare.

Mrs. Theodora W. Daniel, teacher, Cardoo High School, was moderator. Mrs. Bertha C. McNeil presided.

THE ANNUAL dinner was held Friday night at Baldwin Hall.

Founded in 1922 by the late Dean Lucy D. Slowe, the Howard University Women's dinner has been held each year with the exception of 1937, the year of Miss Slowe's death.

From 1942 through 1955 the Howard University Women's Club of Washington sponsored the Dinner. This year the event was under the sponsorship of the dean of women, Dr. Sadie M. Yancey, her staff and the students.

And with the Howard University faculty, faculty wives, alumnae, students and friends answering the call to come to Baldwin Hall at 8, Miss Henrietta Thayer who runs things kitchen-wise at Howard, had to fill more than six hundred and fifty plates.

BALDWIN HALL looked its best with flowers "blooming" on the speakers' table and with blue and white banners proclaiming a welcome to Howard women from here and there.

Miss Yvonne Bowman, President of the Women's League, presided.

Grace was by Miss Dolores Johnson, The Howard University String Ensemble furnished music, Louia Vaughn Jones, conductor.

Also lending melody to the occasion were Misses Gloria Foster, Bettye Flowe, Lorice Stevens.

Miss Zelma Mae Chaney, president, Howard University Women's Club, and Miss Valaida Smith, president of the Women's League 1953-54, brought greetings;

Miss Ruth L. Fuller of Long Island, N.Y., a senior in the College of Liberal Arts, and a Phi Beta Kappa, received the Lucy Diggs Slowe Cup Award. Mrs. Juanita Howard Thomas, alumni trustee, made the presentation.

Runners-up for the cup were Misses Augusta Greenfield of Washington, a senior in the college of pharmacy; and Sarah Roberts of Prichard, Ala., a senior in the school of music.

Dr. Mordekai Johnson, in his usual masterful way, addressed the group.

Among the guests introduced were mentors of 1953-54 as well as those of 1956-57.

• • •

RECEIVING prolonged applause for her songs was Miss Gloria Foster (1953-54 mentor), now studying music in New York; and for her brief but pointed speech, Miss Valaida Smith, Baltimore teacher.

Also from Baltimore for the "fellowship, inspiration and the rededication that is traditional for Howard women," was Miss Wilhelmina Steele.

Present too was the popular Mrs. Dorsay Bryant, formerly Miss Elaine Butler of Baton Rouge, La., now with the Occupational Therapy Department of D.C. General Hospital.

Also Mrs. Cephas Greene, the former Barbara Dixon; Miss Celona Foster, Mrs. Eula Fay Davis; Perry of Texas; now in the school of medicine at Howard University;

Miss Jacqueline Butler, supervisor of music in the schools of Charlotte N.C.

Mrs. Mordecai Johnson, wearing a black velvet gown and white mink corsage and looking much likt a queen, pleased no end, with her many "subjects," ssfiled her nicest "Hello."

Dr. Yancey, beloved by the girls in her charge, was radiant in rose beige sheath.

Among the guests who've followed Howard's dongs longest, Dr. Amanda Gray Hilyer, president of the Iona Whipper Home for Unwed Mothers and Miss Mae Belcher, long prominent in YWCA work.

Faculty wives present included Mesdames William Stuart Nelson, Blackburn, Henry Ryan and Granville Hurley

Among faculty members were Miss Camille L. Nickerson, school of music; Mrs. Dorothy Watts, Mrs. Mamye Foster, supervisor of the Quardrangle (Girls' Dormitories); and Mesdames Myrtle Grays, and Thelma Watson.

Cherry Hill Notes

By MARJORIE J. WARD

Veterans' Day will be celebrated on Sunday, Nov. 11 at 4 p.m. The American Legion Drum and Bugle Corp will parade through the community and then participate in a program at the Cherry Hill Community Presbyterian Church that will feature the church's Sanctuary Choir.

Everyone is invited to attend, especially veterans, their families and friends.

Mrs. Mildred Liston is the new director of music at the Church. She is a graduate of the School of Music of Howard University, a former supervisor of music in the school system of Charlotte, N. C., and an organist for an Air Force Chapel in San Antonio, Texas.

She is the wife of David Liston and the mother of a baby. Mrs. Liston assumed her position last week. The Rev. E. W. Ward is pastor.

The Women's Organization of the Cherry Hill Presbyterian Community Church will present the annual Thanksgiving dinner on Sunday, Nov. 25, from 3-6 p.m. Tickets may be purchased from any of the women of the church. Constance McCree is chairman and Jennie Butler is co-chairman.

• • •

A DOLLAR March, under the auspices of the Stewards Auxiliary, will be held at the Cherry Hill Methodist Church on Sunday, Nov. 11. Mrs. Louise Connor is president of the Auxiliary. The Rev. N. P. Perry is pastor.

The Common Wealth Concert Band and Chorus will be presented in a musical recital on Sunday, Nov. 251, at 6 p.m., in the Cherry Hill Community Building, 2700 Spelman Rd.

Proceeds will benefit the Cherry Hill Methodist Church. Harrison M. Dodd is the conductor of the band and chorus. Mrs. E. Greer is chairman of the program.

A pre-Thanksgiving dinner sponsored by the Cherry Hill Methodist Church, will be held at the Church Parsonage, 3225 Round Rd., on Saturday, Nov. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harvey of Hilliview Rd. are the parents of a new son, Stephen Bradley. The Harveys are members of the Community Presbyterian Church.

Crownsville auxiliary sets campaign for Tag Days

Tag days are here again. Do you have your tag???

If not, then check with a member of the Women's Auxiliary to Crownsville State Hospital.

Proceeds from these small, white tags, which may be purchased throughout the month of November, will be used to continue the weekly coffee hours on the wards at the hospital.

Tag Days was orginated by Mrs. Vashti Murphy in 1954 when the auxiliary was organized and she became its first president.

At that time, the women decided that the proceeds from the money raised through selling the tags would be used to finance luxury items for the patients which are not subsidized by state funds.

• • •

FUNDS FROM the 1954-55 Tag Days campaigns were used to open the canteen at the hospital which has operated on a profitable basis to the extent of giving monthly allowances to 600 patients.

The president this year is Mrs. Roy Hamilton. The Auxiliary is looking for volunteers workers to help out in the various functions of the organization. Those interested may contact Mrs. Hamilton at 5413 Denmore Ave.

Governor and Barbara at Turner Station dinner

THESE ARE THE LADIES — The smiles belong to a group of young ladies who next year will be seniors at Western High School. Right now they are juniors and last week they celebrated "Junior Class Day" at the school with appropriate ceremonies and a party. Front row, l. to r.: Carol St. Clair, Anastatia Phillips, Vernalia Jackson, Edith Veany, Julia Slowe. Second row: Lyndia Hall, Bernice Young, Dorothy Richburg, Priscilla Wallace, Mary Scott. Back row: Sally Gibson and Lavania Rice.

"For more than 300 years we have been known as the Free State and this is barren ground for bigotry."

As over 200 guests listened on Thursday night in the Auditorium of the Sollers Point High School, Turner Station, this is what Governor McKeldin had to say in the midst of a speech full of anecdotes and the history of Maryland.

This was the seventh anniversary dinner of the Turner Station Branch of the YMCA and for the occasion the Governor, high Y officials and Miss Barbara Prestwidge were the special guests.

• • •

THE TRI-HI-Y award, which last year went to Goria Lockerman, was made this year to Miss Prestwidge, winner on the nation wide TV program "Name That Tune." Mrs. McKeldin was given an award by the Mother's Club.

In his speech the Governor gave a colorful and dramatic presentation of segements from the state's history dealing with such little know phases as how "Maryland My Maryland" was originally written as an anti-union song during the Civil War.

The annual report of the branch was presented by Rudolph D. Wheeler, executive secretary, who noted that:

"Compared to other years the report is not too good statistically."

• • •

HE EXPLAINED that the membership enrollment had fallen short approximately $1,000 of its goal and said that the reason most given for the situation was the lack at Turner Station of facilities usually associated with the work of the YMCA.

Mr. Wheeler said that such a lack should serve as a greater spur for enthusiasm for the work that has been accomplished by the branch.

New members of the board of managers were introduced by Howard Flournoy, chairman of the nominating committee. The Governor was introduced by Dr. Eugene F. Byrd. Miss Elizabeth Williams served as mistress of ceremonies.

• • •

TRIBUTE to the branch was paid by Seth W. Heartfield, president of the Baltimore YMCA, who said:

"It (Turner Station) is one of the youngest branches in our organization and we feel that it is successfully finding its road."

Similiar sentiments came from W. Gordon MacGregor, general secretary of the Baltimore YMCA, who reminded the audience:

"We have an opportunity to make the Y important in the lives of the people of Turner Station."

George S. Whyte given testimonial

An educator for 30 years, George Sumner Whyte, retired principal of the Beale Elliott School No. 108, was honored recently at a testimonial banquet in Bethel AME Church.

Nearly 300 persons attended the testimonial at which Mr. Whyte was presented a portable radio from the school, $100 from the church, and other gifts from the Sunday School, the Nurses Unit of the Church, the Wide Awake Endeavorers' Club, the Baltimore District Sunday Schools of the AME Church, Trinity AME Church and others.

A native of Baltimore, Mr Whyte received his education here in the public schools and later graduated from Morgan College and Columbia University. In World War One he was an officer in the Marine Division of the U.S. Customs Service.

• • •

IN THE public schools of Baltimore, Mr. Whyte served as teacher, teacher-in-charge, vice principal and principal from 1926 to June of this year.

In the Bethel Church he has been a teacher in the Sunday School, assistant superintendent and is now serving his 15th year as general church school superintendent.

He has served as president of the Douglass High School Alumni, secretary of the board of managers of the YMCA, member of the Baltimore Museum of Art and board of directors of the Institute of Musical Arts, and chairman of the Monumental District of Boy Scouts.

• • •

AT THE testimonial banquet, Mrs. Bernice S. Whyte of the Beale School served as mistress of ceremonies.

Among the speakers were the Rev. Harrison J. Bryant, pastor of Bethel; Dr. Howard R. Jackson, assistant superintendent of schools; Miss Franchetta L. Wright for the Sunday School; Vernon F. Greene for Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity; Dr. John T. Gunn for the trustees, and William S. Rand for the Boy Scouts.

Music was provided by the senior and youth choirs of Bethel. Solos were given by Mrs. Mary Robinson, Miss Hazel J. Bryant, Mrs. Geraldine Powell and Mrs. Mary Hazel Ellerbe.

• • •

MISS CLARICE LEE gave the welcome address and the response came from the Rev. John H. Hammond, retired pastor of the Mt. Pisgah Church.

Mrs. Maude Hollans and Mrs. Lucille Monroe were general chairmen. Mrs. Marie Y. Mathews was chairman for the program committee.

Mrs. Elizabeth McLaren headed the hostesses.

In addition to his other activities, Mr. Whyte is also secretary of the Eastern Region Phi Beta Sigma National Fraternity, member of the Baltimore Area Council of Boy Scouts, board of directors of the Council of Churches of America, Urban League and the NAACP.

Acme markets have 'Penny Day'

"Penny Day" was observed by Acme Markets throughout the country yesterday (Thursday). Shoppers received with their change a single penny in a small envelope.

The envelope's message explains that the penny approximates the chain's net profit on each dollar of sales. Other chain stores also participate in the project.

The purpose of the 'day' was to dramatize the chains' theme "Feeding Millions for a Penny."

• • •

WHEN A SURVEY showed that some housewives believed that a food chain realized from 19 to 50 cents profit on each dollar sale, the "Penny Day" idea was originated. The research which showed the one cent profit was carried on by the chains in cooperation with Harvard Business School.

A chain store association spokesman said that the food industry puts six billion dollars per year into extra services — such as packaging and preparation of foods.

Today's housewife, he said, is buying freedom as well as food because average kitchen time is cut from nearly six hours to 4½ hours per day.

Words to Live by

By Rev. Robt. T. Newbold Jr. Pastor, Grace Presbyterian Church

"Slow Down and Live."

This is a current safety slogan. It is directed to motorists. The sky-rocketing rate of automobile accidents and fatalities resulting therefrom make it important. However, these words also apply to living in general.

The increasing number of cardiac cases, persons suffering from hypertension and "nervousness" suggest the necessity of everyone's heeding the message of the slogan. Why do we rush, and try?

One reason for the mad rush in which we participate is because of our desire for things. Someone has said: "God made things to be used and people to be loved." Modern man has tried to change this around. We are those who have fallen in love with things and frequently use and exploit people in trying to obtain them. Our belief, apparently, is that things alone can make us happy.

• • •

SO WE KILL OURSELVES trying to obtain things which we never live to enjoy. We push ourselves hard trying to accumulate money, which we will never spend. How foolish it is for us to try to change what God has ordained!

Another reason for the suicidal manner in which we rush through life is the belief that we are indispensable. "They can't go on unless I am there," is the statement I have heard many persons make. To be sure, it is important that all persons live up to their responsibilities. It is well for everyone to try and make a contribution toward helping make his community a "counterpart of the kingdom of God."

However, it is highly possible that sometimes we use this as a disguise for the process by which we inflate our own sense of importance. Membership or leadership in many organizations often make us feel "big," rather than provide us with the opportunity to do good.

• • •

A FURTHER REASON why some people need to think deliberously about this slogan is because of their misconception of what constitutes a "good time." Many of those in this calss are Epicureans who subscribe to the idea that pleasure is the highest good in life. So their motto is: "Eat, drink, and be merry; for tomorrow you may die." These are they who live to eat, and drink to be happy (sic).

Of course recreation is important. Relaxation is essential. However, it is often puicidal to make these ends instead of means.

These, therefore, are some of the reasons why we need to take another look at one of the slogan: "Slow down and live." The same message was given by Jesus when he said: Do not be anxious about your life. But seek first his kingdom and his righteousness.
