Sorority, community group hold fall tea

Iota Chapter, Lambda Kappa Mu Sorority, sponsored its annual Autumn Musical Tea recently at the Greenmount Recreation center. The tea was sponsored in cooperation with the Northern Improvement Association—and Miss Josephine Johnson, senior center director.

Mrs. Ruth Mann represented the Northern Improvement Association in the planning; she was assisted by Mesdames Annie Banks, Susie Silva, Mattie Mack, Mildred Thornton, Ada Spencer and Emma Westcott.

Sorority members participating in the arrangements were: decorations, Misses and Mesdames Imogene Douglas, Hattie Tilghman, Anita Smith and Myrtle Jones; tickets, Eulalia Stevenson and Veta Greig; publicity; Louise Turks; program, Eleanor Moore; refreshments, Mary Owens, Susie Myles, Eunice Brooks; Fannie Bwell, Bertha Sembley, Arabella Ross, Daisy Butler and Lillian Rustin.

On the program were: William Hassel, Ames Methodist Church organist and choir director; Mrs. Gwendolyn Nichols, music teacher; Mrs. Lucy Johnson, OES; Mr. and Mrs. John Maddox.

Mrs. Shirley Pinkett, Mrs. Eleanor Moore and Shellman Johnson, pianist and choir director for Union Memorial Methodist Church.

Elk Grand Officers Answer Charges Filed By Ex-Aide

Dismissal of suit is requested

By LOUIS LAUTIER
(For NNPA)
WASHINGTON

The Elk Grand Lodge filed in U.S. District Court Friday a supplemental memorandum in support of its motion to dismiss a suit brought against it by William H. Walker.

Charging lack of jurisdiction, the memorandum bases its plea for dismissal of the suit on a 1931 decision of the Fourth Circuit of Appeals Chief Judge John J. Parker and the history of the order.

Mr. Walker is ex-traveling auditor of the grand lodge. At the annual grand lodge session in Los Angeles in August, he nominated himself for grand secretary against the incumbent, William C. Hueston, and was overwhelmingly defeated.

HE IS SUING to enjoin grand lodge officers from allegedly "wasting the assets" of the order, to have their offices of grand exalted ruler and grand secretary declared vacant.

He demands that the election of Robert H. Johnson of Philadelphia and Mr. Hueston as such officers, respectively, at the last grand lodge session be declared null and void. He also is asking the court to appoint a receiver.

The grand lodge and the other defendants ask dismissal of the suit on the ground that the District Court here lacks jurisdiction and that Walker should have brought his action in New Jersey where the grand lodge was incorporated.

In addition to the grand lodge, Johnson and Hueston, the defendants are:

JUDGE PERRY B. JACKSON of the Municipal Court of Cleveland, grand treasurer; Hobson R. Reynolds of Philadelphia, civil liberties commissioner; Charles P. McClane, Steelton, Pa., commissioner of shrine and public relations; and George W. Lee, Memphis, Tenn., grand commissioner of education.

Judge James W. Morris of the District Court has the motion under advisement and may rule any day now as to whether the court here has jurisdiction.

Since an oral hearing on the motion to dismiss, attorneys for Walker have filed a memorandum in which they contend that the motion is groundless because the Elks were incorporated in the District of Columbia.

The records of the office of the recorder of deeds of the District of Columbia show that a certificate of incorporation was issued to the Elks Dec. 14, 1907, and that this certificate was recorded Jan. 22, 1908.

IN THE supplemental memorandum filed Friday, the grand lodge asserts that it was incorporated in the District of Columbia for reasons peculiar to its development and that such incorporation, as well as incorporation in Ohio and New York, does not impair its right as a New Jersey corporation.

Filed with the supplemental memorandum was a certificate of incorporation in New Jersey.

The memorandum says the decision of the Fourth U.S. Circuit Court in the suit brought by the grand lodge in the Federal District Court in Virginia to enjoin the use of its name by a Virginia corporation supports its contention that Walker should have brought his suit in New Jersey.

The court found in that case that the order was incorporated under the laws of New Jersey and had obtained charters in Ohio, New York, and the District of Columbia also.

IN THE opinion, Judge Parker said, "The effect of incorporation in other states is merely to give the order corporate existence in those states. That the same persons may incorporate under the same name in two or more states is too well settled to admit of discussion.

"The corporations thus formed have legal existence, of course, only within the jurisdiction of the states which have brought them into being; but a charter obtained from one state is not forfeited by reason of the fact that a charter is obtained from another. . ."

Based on Judge Parker's opinion, Perry W. Howard, grand legal adviser for the Elks, argues in the memorandum that while the Elks may be resident in several states, it has only one state of creation and it is that state which controls.

The "History of the Improved Benevolent and Protective Order of the Elks of the World," by Dr. Charles H. Wesley, president of Central State College, the memorandum asserts, supports the contention that the state of its incorporation is New Jersey.

THE MEMORANDUM also quotes from the history concerning a split which occurred in the order when Dr. William E. Atkins of Virginia became angered because Grand Exalted Ruler B. F. Howard changed the site of the 1906 grand lodge session from Brooklyn, N.Y., to Columbus, Ohio.

According to Dr. Wesley, Grand Exalted Ruler Howard decided to change the meeting place because opposition of white Elks in New York had reached its height in 1906, colored Elks were being arrested, and the New York Gentral Assembly was considering additional bills to prohibit the colored Elks from operating.

In effect in New York State at that time was the Grattar Law which prohibited colored Elks from wearing Elk badges of pins.

Also filed with the memorandum was an affidavit made by Mr. Howard, in which he calls the complaint filed by Mr. Walker "extravagant in expression, scandalous in intent and generally untrue."

MR. HOWARD also states that all of the actions alleged by Mr. Walker to have been wrongfully done were done with the unanimous approval of the grand lodge and with the full knowledge of the membership.

"The suit is brought vindictively as extortionate intimidation and out of sheer bitterness over defeat," the Howard affidavit alleges.

He adds that irregularities referred to in Mr. Walker's complaint "are being distorted with exaggeration into surfacing a front of a malicious intent to distroy both the organization and its officials."

Mr. Howard asserts that if Mr. Walker "had been allowed to continue to function in the job he once held, there would have been no complaint."

IN HIS complaint, Mr. Walker alleges that grand lodge officers perpetuate themselves in office by means of "an arbitrary payroll," on which "favorite delegates" to annual grand lodge sessions are paid sums varying from $25 to $400.

He also alleges that a Philadelphia firm of public accountants was hired to make an independent audit of the grand lodge, but no report of the audit was given at the last session.

He also charges that the laws of the order governing elections of officers were arbitrarily changed to do away with secret ballots. He calls this a "printing press" method of amending the constitution.

Teachers fete co-worker with surprise home dinner

with Lula Jones Garrett

By SHIRLEY KYLE
(Substituting for Mrs. Patterson who is on vacation)

Remember when Carey Cooper (she used to teach at Francis M. Wood School) became ill? Well, she has been confined to her home for the past few weeks, so a group of her former co-workers decided to cheer her up last Saturday with a surprise dinner at her home.

With Cora Hinsy collaborating with hubby Charles Cooper to make sure the surprise worked out, and Addie Butler and John Cathorn making all the plans, the affair went off like clockwork and Carey's eyes were brimming with tears of joy.

She received a beautiful plant as a gift.

Guests who joined her at the dinner table laden with chicken cutlets, tossed salad, hot rolls, coffee and lemon chiffon pie, were:

Louise Dennie, Terry Gilmore, Alma Reddings, Orangie Enos, Inez Redmond, Melissa Fox, Wiona Collins, Sadie Douglass, Edith Spriggs and Isaiah White.

THE CHATLER Chicks held their annual cabaret Thanksgiving affair, Saturday. Rita Briscoe is president; Bernice Larkins, secretary; Ruby Davis, Johnson, treasurer and Ruth Callen, business manager.

Speaking of clubs, the Cardigans are getting set for their trip to Washington, this month where they will be feted by their sister chapter in the capital city.

Officers and members of the club are:

Ruth Lee, president; Willie Cade, vice president; Bernice White, secretary; Vera Fry, treasurer; Elizabeth Butler, Jimmie Clay, Bernice Hall, Margaret Pick, Mary Stanley, Gloria Sims, Ruth Tonkins and Mary Williams.

Mrs. Ottie Dodson received the surprise of her life when she visited her granddaughter, Gwendolyn Lamont, last week.

Instead of helping Gwen with a club meeting, as she had planned, Mrs. Dodson found herself in the midst of a family reunion during which she was presented with a self portrait.

The painting was done by Charles Collire, talented young artist about town.

Among those present were:

Mesdames Daisy Bright and Kathryn Vickers, daughters; Walter Vickers, son-in-law; Walter Vickers Jr., grandson; Sandra and Alonzo Lamont Jr., great-grandchildren.

Other guests included Messrs. and Mesdames Charles Collier,

THE DEMOCRATIC Women's Club is giving a reception for the Globe Trotters basketball team, Sunday, Nov. 18 at the YMCA from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

On that night, the club will sponsor the basketball game popular comedy team. Proceeds from the event will be used for the Register-To-Vote campaign and the annual Children's Beach Party at Carr's Beach.

The Silhouettes' Cocktail-Fashion Show Sunday was the last word, I heard. Sorry I couldn't be there to feast my eyes on the gorgeous mink stoles and fancy cocktail frocks that were seen about.

Guests sipped on champagne served from tables decorated with cornucopias, silver candelabras, fall cut flowers and white, floor-length tablecloth.

Charm Centre furnished latest in fashions from lounging wear to dinner wear.

And a deep curls to Lettie Woodland and Rosita Uncles, president, who pioneered to get the Temple Emanuel Hall for the Silhouettes for the affair.
