Allied Artist's "Three For Jamie Dawn," with a brilliant cast headed by stars Laraine Day, Ricardo Montalban, Richard Carlson and June Havoc, is now showing at the New Albert Theatre where it is scoring heavily with an enthusiastic audience.

Packed with rich drama, the screenplay deals chiefly with three jurors in the murder trail of a wealthy heiress Jamie Dawn, and the attempts of the defense attorney to sway them to vote for an acquittal through various forms of bribery.

The film, produced by Hayes Goetz, is excellent screen fare. Particularly well done was the maintenance of suspense, and this reflects the fine direction of Thomas Carr.

Carlson turns in one of the finest performance of his screen career as the nefarious defense attorney who ultimately is caught in a web of his own fashioning.

On his payroll is Rgis Toomey, who does an outstanding piece of acting as the man who contacts the wives of two jurors, Montaban and Eduard Franz, and Miss Havoc. To them he gives the assurance that the one thing each wants badly can be acquired if Jamie Dawn is acquitted.

MISS DAY, as Montalban's wife and mother of two young girls, performs brilliantly and adds a blend of charm and pathos to the picture.

Montalban, as the debt-ridden father of the youngsters, one of whom is ill, presents a convincing performance doing much to keep the film on a high level.

NYC Urban League renovates building

NEW YORK — The Urban League of Greater New York will show a new face to the community when retonstruction and modernization of its four-story offices at 202-6 W. 136th St. are completed in Jan.

Edward S. Lewis, executive director of the interracial agency, stated that during the three-month modernization, the league will continue to serve the community and make available its facilities without interruption.

'The Opposite Sex' is attraction at Harlem

Such aspects of the ladies, little known to their male admirers, as backstabbing, hair-pulling, reputation-ruining and husband-stealing, are hilariously presented on the Harlem screen in M-G-M's "The Opposite Sex."

A stand-out group of Hollywood headliners holds the center of the stage in this malicious, merry and musical expose of the foibles and frolics of the famale of the species, headed by June Allyson, Joan Collins, Dolores Gray, Ann Sheridan and Ann Miller, with Leslie Nielsen and Jeff Richards as the men around whom the rumpus revolves.

Others in the Grade-A cast include Charlotte Greenwood, Agnes Moorehead, Joan Blondell and Sam Levene, with Art Mooney, Dick Shawn and "guest stars" Jarry James, Jim Backus.

Although primarily holding up a mirror to the more deadly proclivities of the opposite sex, the new picture, filmed in CinemaScope and Metrocolor—also has poignant moments.

Duke Ellington, native-born Washingtonian, who made good in the international music world comes back to the nation's capital Saturday night as guest artist with the National Symphony.

Taut drama on screen at Met

Front page drama as it unfolds step by step inside a great metropolitan newspaper is said to be graphically detailed in "While The City Sleeps," RKO-Bert Friedlob production now playing to the Met Theatre.

The story is taken from Charles Einstein's widely-read mystery-crime novel and ten of Hollywood's top-name stars are in the picture's cast.

A sensational Chicago murder case is declared to have been the basis of Einstein's book. According to advance reports the film adaptation parallels the original in most respects.

Reflecting the movie's entertainment quality is its cast which headlines Dana Andrews in the role of Pulitzer Prize winner columnist and television newscasters who paces a big-town manhunt. Rhonda Fleming will be seen as the dual-personality wife of a publisher-tycoon, played by Vincent Price.

George Sanders departs from his well known screen "gentleman" character to enact the outspoken part of a hard-boiled journalist.

ERNIE HARWELL will broadcast Oriole games for local baseball fans next year under the sponsorship of the Gunther Brewing Company. Harwell came to Baltimore in 1954 to broadcast games after six years of broadcasting for the Dodgers and the Giants.

'The Mountain' now at Regent

"The Mountain" starring Spencer Tracy and Robert Wagner and co-starring Claire Trevor, is a masterpiece of suspenseful, terrifyingly realistic story-telling, set against one of the most awe-inspiring backgrounds ever put on film.

The Paramount drama, now playing at the Regent Theatre, will stand among the year's great films and as the vehicle for one of Spencer Tracy's most memorable characterizations.

The tale of violence, greed and misdirected brother love unfolds at the top of the world, on the forbidding and treacherous ramparts of towering Mount Blanc. There, a luxurious airliner crashes and precipitates and adventure unmatched in recent memory for sheer tension.

* * *

TRACY AND Wagner portray French mountaineer brothers of totally different personality. Tracy is simple and ruggedly honest, retired climber of almost legendary prowess.

Wagner, the handsome darling of the female tourists, unprincipled, will do anything to get money and free himself from his poverty-stricken existence in the Chamonix valley.

With the failure of the plane wreck rescue mission, he sees his chance. His plan is to climb to the wreck and plunder the dead, and by threatening to try it alone, sure suicide, he inveigles a horrified Tracy into leading him.
