—Bus boycott 'saint'

College, he is married to the former Miss Lois Brock of Montgomery, Ala. They have five children, Charles Jr., 19; Henry, 13; Clifford, 11; Rochell, 10; and Darrell, six months.

"I began as a minister at the age of 15. I preached revivals all over the South. I used to go to the tipple at the coal mines and while the workers were waiting for the coal to come up, I would preach to them. That helped me earn my way.

"I was licensed a minister at Rock Hill Baptist Church under Dr. Alexander Gregory in 1925," he recalls.

SPEAKING OF his father who was a coal miner, he said:

"I remember when my father would go into the mines before sun-up and would return after the sun had long gone down and darkness had come.

"My mother could tell when he was coming. The light on his miner's can would be swinging from side to side as he walked.

"Remembering him, his long working hours before labor laws came into effect, remembering his falling asleep in his chair, tired from more than 12 hours work, sick and unable to take a day off, I recall the struggle of the poor man from my childhood."

He pastored at the Atlanta Springfield Baptist Church which is 168 years old.

IN MAY when he entered the bus boycott he went to the FAMU campus to help quiet the students who were up in arms about the incident of the two coeds. He has taken the leadership ever since.

Dynamic, with the appeal of a great evangelist, he is able to sway the crowd with merely the utterance of a word.

HE RECALLS a revival in Montvale, Va., where he preached for 8 week and brought in more converts than ever in history. People came from everywhere in Virginia to hear him.

On his tour for the Tallahassee bus boycott he has spoken in the principal cities of the country and has caused money to literally "flow in" from every section of the country.

He has been arrested in the boycott three times. Once for an alleged traffic violation and the other two for transporting walkers."

The kingdom of God on earth is his theme. He preaches a practical religion which will help in people's daily lives.

"It was the central teaching of Jesus," he said. "I apply it to human relations."

THOSE WHO influenced his life are the Rev. Alexander Gregory, Mt. Zion Baptist pastor in Bluefield, West Va., the Rev. G. Nathaniel Ellis of Reed St. Baptist Church, Atlanta, and the late Dr. C. D. Hubert, former director of the Morehouse School of Religion.

"They were pastors and teachers, who touched my life," he said.

"I found in them Christian principles as found in few others.

"Love is the most powerful force in the world today. It is the only thing which endures all things, bears all things and never fails. It is a positive thing rather than negative.

"Many things have been variable in the boycotters' lives, but one thing has been constant; we have been walking and we will still walk."

A CONSTANT builder of morale, at a recent mass meeting he said:

"Our fight is just beginning. We will still walk. But we must wake up our sleeping brothers. We MUST go get 10,000 on the books to vote. If we do, then I will run for anything you want me to.

"We must comb the streets, street by street, block by block, and get our people on the books.

"When we get 10,000 on the books whoever runs for office will come by your house and see you. They will want you satisfied.

"We must organize in a vote registration campaign. It is a must now.

"We want our city to have a transportation system, but we want one which will treat our daughters and wives like ladies, not like female animals.

"I told 9,000 people in Denver last week: if they stop our cars we will use buggies and bicycles. If they take our buggies and bicycles, we will walk. If they cut off our legs we will crawl.

"We will not go back to segregated buses. Our fight has brought us together.

"We must teach our dollars some sense. We must tell them they can go only where they will bring us some good.

"We are still walking. When they were not arresting us, we were walking. When they struck at the very heart of our organization we kept walking. It is an inspiration to see the buses still empty.

"This morning, the reading of the ICC diary, in which we stated that we would not ride until the segregation ended, gave them a dose of good old fashioned American democracy there in court.

"Every country in the world will be for us. Soon the South will weaken and you can walk into any court here and sit down and make yourself at home."

Miss Washington hurt in crash

"Her condition is fair, and she is resting comfortably."

This was the report that came on Thursday from Provident Hospital about Miss Harriet V. Washington, 43, 2131 Dukeland St., a home visitor with the Department of Education, who was injured in an automobile accident early Tuesday morning.

The accident occurred in front of Houston Junior High No. 181 at Baker and Calhoun Sts. at approximately 8 a.m. Miss Washington was thrown against the steering wheel of her automobile and was taken to Provident where she received a broken knee and several loosened teeth.

—Ike or Stevenson

Eisenhower.

Listed below are the answers obtained by the AFRO reporters.

JOHN ROSS, 66, janitor, 1134 W. Lexington St.:

"I just got out of the hospital. While I was there I had time to think and read about both men.

"I still can't say who I want to vote for."

William A. Myers, 42, barber, 221 Silver Ct.:

"Ike's gotta be the man. He has so many good qualities. I can't say much for Stevenson. What has he done?"

Willie Durham, 40, construction worker 635 Vine St.:

"You couldn't give me Eisenhower on a platter. I voted Democratic the last time.

"When the Democrats are in power they do more for the working man."

"There's nothing like aid his party can do for me."

HERBERT WADDELL, 24, railroad employee, 1627 Darley St.:

"Stevenson's a Democrat, I'm a Democrat. We have a said candidate."

Randolph Campbell, 23, unemployed, 3117 Gwynns Falls Pkway:

"I haven't decided who to vote for. It's a hard thing. I might wait until election day before I make up my mind."

James Jones, 53, factory worker, 710 Pierce St.:

"I'm a Republican but this time I don't know. Stevenson talks good. I kind of like what he's said."

* * *

MRS. LENA FOWLKES, housewife, 1929 Ridgehill Ave.:

"I think I'm going Republican this time. Eisenhower has done a lot for the colored people."

Mrs. Vivian Reed, substitute teacher, 2422 McCulloh St.:

"I haven't made my choice yet. However, I'm a lifelong Republican.

"Expressing disappointment at the platforms of both parties, Mrs. Reed said, "I'm a firm believer in civil rights."

F. B. Johnson, 1619 Druid Hill Ave., a divinity student at Dickerson Theological Seminary:

"I'm voting for Ike because Stevenson to me is untrustworthy."

William Armstrong, former government employee, 1412 W. Lanvale St.:

"I'm voting for Stevenson. During the 20 years the Democrats were in office I had a job. The Republicans got in and I was out on the street in May. I was much better off under the Democrats."

WALTER F. SCOTT seaman 2802 Auchentorely Terrace:

"Stevenson. At the time I was reared, during the depression, it took the Democrats to bring us out of it. I feel that we would be much better off under the Democrats. As far as I know the Republicans are for the rich men and the Democrats are for the poor man, and I am a poor man."

Mrs. Lillian Greene, housewife 2539 W. North Ave.:

"I haven't quite decided. Since Eisenhower has been president we have been better off. Look at the improvements we have gotten. There has been quite a lot of non-segregation going around in the schools and in recreation."

Miss Gwendolyn Sterling, 642 Smithson St.: "My candidate is Stevenson. It seems to me that he is the man to help keep segregation down. We were better off under the Democrats.

"I feel that the Democrats are more for the little people and the Republicans are for the business people. Its a rich man's administration."

Fate Harper, warehouseman 2625 N. Hilton St.:

"I like Stevenson. I think he will be a better president for working men. I have always been a Democrats and I always felt that the Democratic party is better for the working man.

"We were better off under the Democrats than the Republicans because they were for the working man."

CHARLES MILLER, clerk 2416 Madison Ave.:

"I PICK Eisenhower. First of all I don't like Stevenson's running companion. I can see more progress for the colored people under the Republicans than under Democrats.

"When Roosevelt was alive I guess we were better off under the Democrats, but I don't believe Stevenson is the man Roosevelt was."

Nathaniel Felton, barber, 1502 Appleton St.:

"I don't know how I am going to vote but I was better off under the Democrats than the Republicans. I loved Truman and what he stood for."

W. S. Hutchinson, 716 Harlem Ave.:

"I might vote for Eisenhower but I haven't decided yet. I can't see Stevenson. He is a slick talker. When Truman and Roosevelt were in office they kept talking but Eisenhower acts."

JOSEPH W. TAYLOR, milkman, 2415 Pulaski St.:

"Eisenhower. As faras Stevenson is concerned, he's made too many conflicting statements I don't have any faith in him. I voted for him before but this time I am sticking with Eisenhower.

"Under the Republicans I am better off. If you could elect a Republican Congress you would be better off because you could get rid of people like Eastland in positions of power."

James Thompson, waiter, 1326 McCulloh St:

"I am for Eisenhower. I have been voting Republican all my life and I never intend to chnge.

We are better off under the Republicans. I think Eisenhower had tried to do more for our people than any of the preaidents in the past."

J. J. Hurt, barber, 1500 block to vote for. I'll probably make up my mind later. This is the first time I've ever been undecided. They are two good men."

Jessie T. Washington, 2200 block Reisterstown Rd. bartender:

"I don't know who I'm going to vote for yet. I think Stevenson will get it. I don't think Eisenhower will get it.

James McNich, 600 block Gold St., retired longshoreman:

"I don't worry about these things. Roosevelt fixed things for me. I'm not going to tell you who I'm going to vote for, but I'm a Democrat.

"A man must praise the bridge that carried him over. Roosevelt left a platform for them."

Mrs. Lucille Williams, 1100 block Carrollton Ave., retired:

"I'm for Eisenhower. I'm for the Republicans. They are the ones who caused us to be free."

Miss Rosa Allen, 900 block N. Mount St., retired:

"I'm for Eisenhower. I think that he is a God-fearing man and a Christian. I've always been a Republican. When I came here from Virginia, I rushed to the polls."

Mrs. Beatrice Brown, 2000 block W. North Ave., housekeeper:

"May the best man win. I'm for Ike. Over the last four years, I have been successful in many ways and I think the Republicans were at least partially responsible for this."

Norma Ross, 26, Wilmington, Del., a music teacher:

"The last time I voted for Stevenson, because I didn't think Ike was capable of doing the job. He was a military man stepping into politics.

"I like Ike now, but I think he is too much of a figurehead. He is put on too high a pedestal by his party.

"I think Stevenson is good, but Sevenson is overly optimistic. I guess I'm in the middle of the road."

William A. Finch, YMCA, stone quarry employee:

"I want Stevenson to win. I think he is for the working man. Ike's doing something because it was left over for him by the Democrats. A lot of people will try to put him back."

Edward A. Chance, 24 YWCA, a social worker:

"I will take my chances with the Republican party. There are too many prominent Southern Democrats. As a man, I prefer Stevenson. I think there's a lot more Ike could have done for integration."

Colden Murchison, 23, Morgan College student, sociology major:

"As far as the present administration is concerned, I am for the Republicans because the Republicans seem to have done more in the last four years than the Democrats did in the 20 years they were in office.

"I am for the welfare of the people, particularly the colored people. Therefore, I am looking out for the welfare of the people."

Miss Gloria Smith, 702 W. Lafayette Ave.:

"I pick Stevenson. I feel that he is the man. He was up before and lost and I think he will win this time. He is better suited for the job.

"I am sure that we will gain more under the Democrats than the Republican party."

'They were trying to make a fire'

"The only thing I heard is that they were trying to make a fire. It was an egg beater. They put wood inside, poured kerosene on the wood and the heater blew up."

The Rev. Wesley Dave O. Bryant, assistant pastor of House of God, in Washington, was sadly recalling what fireman told him concerning the tragic Thursday morning fire at 1524 W. Fayette St.

In the fire's victims were 12-year-old Joyce Ann Siler, was fatally burned and her classmate; Priscilla Snyder, 13, who had spent the night with her; was badly burned.

Joyce died the same day. Her friend, Priscilla, however, is "coming along nicely," hospital officials reported.

At the comfortable home of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Bryant in the 1800 block W. Fayette St., the uncle shook his head as he said: "I would like to know exactly what happened. The doctors said she was just parched, cooked up."

MRS. SALLY SILER, Joyce's grandmother, recalling Thursday morning, said: "Her brother, Jerome, came here for his breakfast. I asked him: 'Where's Joyce?'

"He told me, 'I left her and Priscilla in the bed. I called her before I left.'"

Somewhat desparingly Mrs. Siler, continued: "The folks in the house said they heard a hollering and a screaming, but they thought somebody was fighting."

MRS. SILER explained that her granddaughter's father, Harvey Siler, a truck driver, had gone to work and left the girls to prepare themselves for school.

"Their lunches were already packed," the uncle pointed out, remembering what firemen had told him. "I would like to know exactly what happened," he said thoughtfully.

He said that when the child's mother died about five years ago, his wife, Mrs. Annie Mae Bryant, who is Joyce's aunt, reared her until a few months ago when the father moved out with her and her 12-year-old brother, Jerome.

His voice low and grief-laden, the Rev. Mr. Bryant said of his niece: "Joyce was 12. Her next birthday she would have been 13."

Joyce attended School No. 182, with Priscilla. Both girls were in 7-B.

EARL TURNER, vice-principal of School No. 182, said that Joyce's classmates had collected about $16, which they used to purchase floral designs for her.

Money left over, Mr. Turner explained, is to be used to help purchase clothing for Jerome, also a pupil at School No. 182.

AT SCHOOL Joyce was a member of the Glee Club and the Future Teachers of America. She was a member of the House of God, 2000 block Pennrose Ave., Elder F. Sellers, pastor, and attended Sunday School there.

Funeral services for Joyce were held at 2 p.m. Monday at the House of God. Bishop W. H. Davis officiated. The Adolphus Hartsfield Funeral Home was in charge. Interment followed at Mt. Auburn.

Survivors are a father, Harvey Siler; three brothers, Jerome, Sonny and Aris; two grandmothers, Mrs. Sally Siler and Mrs. Ada Ayers, a grandfather, George Ayres; as well as eight aunts and eight uncles, and a host of other relatives and friends.

THE NEXT MORNING—These young women leave Northwest Police Court, where they were arraigned, after an early morning raid on a house of questionable merit in the 1100 block of Pennsylvania Ave. Miss Lillian Hunter, on the left was dismissed. Miss Jeanne Dixon was released on $500 bail.

Sentence delayed after 'fantastic testimony'

"This is truly a fantastic story," Judge Carter maintained throughout the trial. "Sometimes these stories are so fantastic, you wonder about them," he pondered, shaking his head.

The story which caused the court so much serious thought that Judge Carter decided to "wait for a probation department report", before imposing sentence, was told by Andrew Wheatfall, in Criminal Court Monday.

The first time I saw my common-law wife's husband, Robert McNealy, he came to our house and we talked together about a divorce for her."

"The second time I saw him was on the corner of Carrollton and Lafayette Aves." He and another man made me drive out to where I work with them. Afterwards they made me cash some checks.

* * *

"THE THIRD TIME I saw him was in the same place. The light man grabbed me this time. He had a pistol. They made me cash some more checks."

Wheatfall testified he has not seen the man since September.

Dressed in a neat gray-suit with a white open-neck shirt, Wheatfall also stated that he was living with McNealy's wife, has two children, ages 18 months and 7 months, by her.

"When he left her, she was pregnant. That son is five years old. McNealy claimed he came to see her from Philadelphia in Sept. on the way to North Carolina to see his son.

"He was in a car with Pennsylvania tags," Wheatfall added.

Judged Carter questioned Wheatfall frequently as to why he did not call the police when the husband and his friend forced him to cash the checks.

He also asked why Wheatfall did not seek help in the package liquor and bar where he cashed some of the checks.

Wheatfall insisted that "He was threatened," was afraid.

"He (McNealy) said he would put something in my baby's milk, shoot em, if I did anything," he said.

THE CHECKS amounting to over $350 were taken from the Pace Setter and Bond Construction Company near Pikesville, where Wheatfall, had been employed three years.

Wheatfall who lives at 1421 E. Fayette St., was arrested Sept. 26. He stated that he receives a check monthly for $33 a month from the army for disability. He was honorably discharged.

Represented by Alvin Sellman, Wheatfall admitted that his story sounded "fishy," but despite the fact, he wished to hold to it.

Witness Manuel Pulanski, who cashed a check for Wheatfall, and took his picture, stated that he seemed calm, unafraid at that time, and that he willingly got his picture taken.

"It's possible, this story," stated Judge Carter again, "but I'm going to ask the probation department to look in to him.

"It is so unbelieveable that it arouses curiosity in me to follow it further.

"I'll wait for the probation department report."

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON 1856-1956 — 100th ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

Goodwill Building Crusade

Booker T. Washington in his historically famous Atlanta Exposition Address delivered in Atlanta, Georgia a little more than 61 years ago, called the attention of the nation to the fact that "There is no defense or security for any of us except in the highest intelligence and development of all." Our land in that day was faced by group problems similar in nature to those that are affecting us today as an outgrowth of the Supreme Court's Decision of May 17, 1954. It is because of these problems that this the first in a series of messages from the Booker T. Washington Centennial Commission, is being issued.

This Commission was brought into existence in April to pay tribute to the one-hundreth anniversary of the birth of Booker T. Washington (April 5, 1956), through a year long program designed to focus the attention of the nation upon the present day value of the same fundamental teachings of this great American.

Since Booker T. Washington was an Apostle of Goodwill and since portions of our land today are being torn asunder by mistrust, fear, and hate among Americans of different racial strains, the Booker T. Washington Centennial Commission humbly invites all Americans to join its "Goodwill Building Crusade."

Ours is a land of many races and creeds. We have different origins, cultures, and backgrounds—but we are Americags all! Ours is a nation of Washington and Jefferson, Lincoln and Lee, and millions of ordinary men and women who toiled and sweated, sacrificed and died to build their wonderful heritage. It was worth their lives to build it—surely it is worthyours to preserve its hopes and ideals by working together in peace and goodwill.

Remember France's Maginot Line—built so strong of steel and stone that Frenchmen felt secure behind it—but France fell. Not so much because of a lack of strength in its great wall but mainly because of the spirit of its people. And remember too, Divine teachings set forth in these words in your Bible—no matter what your race or creed—"A house divided against itself shall not stand."

Hate and mistrust in your community might be wiped out if group representatives meet, discuss, and work together to find answers for the problems that are causing racial sores to fester.

Communities that pull together unite our nation. We invite you to help to make yours such a community.

All because of his pants

"We had an argument about my pants. It didn't look to me like she was trying to be a good wife. I got angry, grabbed her and slapped her, but I didn't hit her.

"I'm nervous. I turned her loose and walked on out the house." This testimony by a 24-year-old David Hayes, 1700 block Lorman St., may have influenced the magistrate to suspend a $50 fine Wednesday in Northwestern Police Court.

The defendant's young wife who said they have been married a year and a half, accused her husband's ordering her around, and accused him of hitting her "I work and pay those bills the same as he does," she said.

"If she doesn't fix your pants at the time, you want them fixed, she has a reason," the magistrate told Mr. Hayes and added: "You give her a hand washing the dishes some times."

"He's not himself. Anderson's not himself.

"He didn't act right.

"He's been acting foolish for about three months.

"I don't know; they tell me there are so many young people using dope."

Leaning for support on a kitchen table at her home in the 2400 block S. Paca St., tears welled in the eyes of Mrs. Eunice Best Saturday as she started to talk about her son.

She had been asked about Anderson Lee Best, 18, who has been accused of slaying of his sister-in-law Shirley Block, 16.

He is presently in city jail awaiting trial. No date has been set.

ASKED IF she had heard the tall brown skinned youth her son Mrs. Best tearfully replied; "he called me the night after he was arrested.

"All he said was 'get me a lawyer.' He wouldn't talk.

"I don't know what happened. I don't want to know.

"I haven't read the paper. I just don't want to know," the young mother said.

AS SHE turned to walk away her husband Henry Best, replied softly, she can't take much.

"I helped raise Anderson. He's an only child. I don't know what happened to him.

"Maybe he fell in with a bad gang of boys. I'm going to do all I can to help him" the distraught Mr. Best replied.

"He was here when the police came. They said: "Anderson, you know what we're here for." All he said was 'yes'."

No trial date set yet in slain baby-sitter case

Until then, no one had mentioned the details surrounding the youth's arrest.

Neighbors were aware how ever that a 16-year-old school girl had been raped, stabbed to death with a butcher knife, and left to die on the stairways of her parents home in the 2300 block W. Hamburg St.

The teenage girl had been baby sitting with the accused man's two children, before her death.

At the time of the slaying, Mrs. Pearl Best, the dead girl's sister, was in court waiting for her husband to appear in answer to a charge of non-support.

ASKED IF she had heard the tall brown skinned youth her son Mrs. Best tearfully replied; "he called me the night after he was arrested.

Monica Betancourt, Washington, D. C.
"Itching on my hands and arms from simple ringworm made me miserable. I tried many lotions and ointments. Then I read an ad for Black and White Ointment and decided to try it. It quickly relieved the itching, burning sting and I'm so grateful I want to tell others about it."

ITCHY HANDS
John Ruffin, Baltimore, Maryland
"In my work at a service station my hands get a real beating from gasoline, oil and grease. They used to sting and itch and become almost raw from irritation until I heard about Black and White Ointment. I started using it regularly . . . got happy relief. I can recommend it highly."

ECZEMA
Dolores E. Coleman, Chicago, Illinois
"I work in the sewing room of a large manufacturer where speed is important. When my hands and arms kept itching with what was called eczema, I was miserable with stinging torment. My forelady suggested I try Black and White Ointment and I got wonderful relief from itching misery."

TETTER
Bobby Terrell, Norfolk, Virginia
"Driving a big trailer truck on a long haul is no easy job. But when tetter broke out on my legs, the itching, stinging, burning made the long haul seem longer. A fellow at the truck stop advised me to try Black and White Ointment. It eased the itching, stinging fast."

ECZEMA
Meredith Johns, Chicago, Illinois
"I handle heavy machines in my work. Eczema broke out on my hands making them itch and sting. I tried many lotions and ointments without the relief I wanted. A friend told me to try Black and White Ointment. It gave me such welcome relief I keep a jar at work and another at home."

BLACKHEADS
LaReine LaMar, Brooklyn, New York
"The stinging, itching misery of blackheads and acne pimples made me terribly unhappy. I tried to get relief with several lotions and ointments but did not have too much luck until I tried Black and White Ointment. It quickly relieved the itching, stinging, misery. Now I always keep it handy."

TIRED, IRRITATED FEET
Ben F. Rogers, Detroit, Michigan
"It takes a lot of footwork to drive a cab all day and it makes my feet sweat a lot. At night they were red and irritated and itched real bad. I heard a fellow talking about Black and White Ointment and decided to try it. My itching, burning, stinging foot misery was relieved quickly."

TEEN-AGE PIMPLES
Joan Ruth Tarpley, Dallas, Texas
"I hated the itching misery of pimples and blackheads on my face. The itching, stinging discomfort bothered me a lot. I tried many creams, lotions and ointments until finally my mother bought a jar of Black and White Ointment. It really eased the itching, burning and sting fast."

HICKIES (Bumps, Blackheads)
Ira B. Scott, Houston, Texas
"Friends told me I made bumps and blackheads worse by scratching, but with their itching, stinging burn, I couldn't keep my hands off. One friend finally gave me a jar of Black and White Ointment and told me to use it. The relief it gave my itching misery was wonderful."

ACNE PIMPLES
Albertha Gladden, Philadelphia, Pa.
"Acne pimples can mean a lot of misery for anyone because their itching, stinging burn make it so hard to forget them. Finally, after seeing an ad for Black and White Ointment, I tried it. Thank you for publishing that ad, for Black and White Ointment gave me relief."
