Teen-age redhead's 'sharp' boyfriend just out—back in

"I got out of jail July 22," said William Jones.

"And after just one and a half months you're about to go back again," replied Judge Joseph L. Carter.

The jury in criminal court had just found William Jones guilty on Monday of burglarizing the Arundel Ice Cream company, of taking some potato chips, some cookies and ice cream, of stealing a car and having a pistol without a permit. Judge Carter had also just listened to the record of Jones' previous convictions.

In 1949 he was sentenced to five years for assault and battery; in 1955, one year for possessing a deadly weapon; while in 1954, Feb., he got 18 months for attempting to break and enter a shoe store at 2001 Pennsylvania Ave.

This time the jury stayed out from 3:10 until 3:30, found him guilty of burglary and larceny. The charges of rogue and vagabonder were dismissed.

Judge Carter held the case sub curia.

STANDING BEFORE the court to hear the verdict, Jones, who was smartly dressed in brown trousers, matching brown and tan suede shoes and a brown and green printed shirt, seemed confident he would get off this time.

He frowned as he heard the jury foreman declare him guilty and whispered to his attorney, Alvin Sellman, who stood beside him.

Earlier, during the testimony of Miss Muriel Holland, a red-headed, brown-skinned teen-ager in bobby-sox, Jones had smiled, assumed an air of confidence.

CALLED TO the stand to tell her story of what happened that evening of Sept. 13 when Jones was apprehended for the crimes, she indicated she was Jones' "girlfriend."

"He is my boyfriend," she said in a childish voice, the courtroom spectators giggled and tittered behind their hands.

Holding her brilliantly-colored tresses high, she told how she and some of her cousins had a birthday party which she and Jones attended together.

He left her after walking her home about 1:30, she claimed. The crimes were committed between 2 and 3 a.m.

"He left me about 2 a.m.," Miss Holland explained. "I have no idea what he did after that."

HER TESTIMONY was backed up by Miss Elsie Brinkley, 629 Carey St., who lives four doors from Miss Holland and who attended the party also.

"William Jones was at the party. It started about 8 p.m. We left the party about 1 a.m., walked home and Jones left us about 2 a.m.," she said.

Assistant States Attorney, Francis J. Meagher later indicated that the girls account of the party which was supposed to have taken place on a "cousin's birthday" on Sept. 13 was, according to them, on Sept. 5.

MR. SELLMAN in his defense of Jones stressed the fact that all evidence was circumstantial.

A car was stolen, some potato chips, cookies and ice cream were taken from the ice cream store, but no one saw Jones do it.

Jones had been riding in the stolen car with two other youths who thus far have not been apprehended. The crow bar and other articles were in the car at the time Jones was taken, but who saw Jones take them?

Judge Carter in his summary to the jury explained that in all crimes there is circumstantial evidence, that rarely is a witness on hand to see the actual crime.

Standing outside the courtroom at the end of the trial, Miss Holland held an infant baby in her arms.

"He (Jones) wanted a jury trial. His lawyer sure did all he could for him. He sure did. But he just had to have a jury trial," she said.

IT'S DEAN! DEAN! DEAN!—Wife No. 2, Mrs. Josephine B. Dean, holds a coat to her face as the shadow of Wife No. 1, Mrs. Loretta Mae Dean, falls on her. Both Mrs. Deans are leaving Northwestern Police Court Wednesday afternoon, where Mr. Dean has just been charged with bigamy.

—2 wives in court

in September 1942 and has two children.

"I didn't know he was married," she said, and added: "My daughter is 17. Today is the first time I've seen him since my boy was three months old." Pointing to her son, she added: "This child is now 12."

Wife No. 1, Mrs. Loretta Mae Dean, said she had not seen him since 1945: "I got a couple letters from him. He was in California." Neither wife seemed angry at the other, and neither looked at the defendant.

STILL CATCHING his breath, the magistrate exclaimed: "Both of you cannot possibly be his lawful wife!"

A third charge—bigamy was placed against Mr. Dean. Resting his face in his right hand, a very sad Mr. Dean told the court: "I'm guilty."

Referring to Wife No. 1, Mrs. Loretta Mae Dean, Mr. Dean said almost desperately: "I didn't know where she was. I sent money but it came back."

Clearly too much for a magistrate's court, the magistrate ordered Mr. Dean held for grand jury action on $5,000 bail for bigamy and $500 for each non-support charge.

The two Mrs. Deans left the courtroom together, after Mr. Dean was led back to his cell.

Vice President to speak at Timonium

Vice President Richard M. Nixon will climax his second nationwide campaign tour with a major address at the State Fair Grounds in Timonium on October 19.

The appearance of the Vice President — his second in Maryland in less than three months — was arranged by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, Senators John Marshall Butler and J. Glenn Beall, and Representative James P. S. Devereux.

On September 29, Mr. Nixon spoke to an audience assembled in the town square of Hagerstown. He was then on his first campaign swing through the nation.

The Vice President's speech at Timonium will be the highlight of an old-fashioned nighttime political rally, complete with fireworks, bands and entertainment.

—Powell for Ike

York on Oct. 3 and Stevenson was in Harlem on Oct. 4.

Mr. Stevenson spoke at 135th St. and 7th Ave. and had a reception at the Savoy Ballroom.

Congressman Powell was not invited to either, but one of his employees, David Licorish, received an invitation by telegram.

CONGRESSMAN POWELL said he had not reached a decision on what he was going to do, until he talked with the President.

He said he liked the President's attitude on two things:

1. The Right to Vote Bill that Attorney General Brownell sent his Congress last spring, which the House passed, but was kept bottled up in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

2. He also said that he had discussed with the President, Javits' formula (he's the attorney general of New York State, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate) for an anti-segregation amendment to Federal aid for school construction.

JAVITS, A few days ago, said the Powell Amendment lacks a standard.

Javits proposed that Federal funds be denied the school district which is ordered by a Federal court to comply with the Supreme Court decision, and which fails or refuses to do so.

He said that he did not get a definite commitment from the President on this, but that the President's attitude was favorable.

The reason he did not get a commitment was because he, Powell, had not yet made up his mind, but he would study the Javits' proposal.

ACCORDING TO the National Republican Committee, Mr. Powell said:

"I went into the White House today (Thursday) undecided; but made my decision after the President expressed his views on two matters of great concern to me.

"He indicated his strong support of the right-to-vote legislation and said it should have priority in the new congress."

'She wanted to get rid of me'

"When I was n jail my brother told me she said the reason she did that was because she wanted to get rid of me."

Brooks Fountain Jr., 26, 1100 block N. Gilmor St., on trial in Criminal Court Tuesday, told jurors this was the reason his former girlfriend had him arrested.

Mr. Fountain, a construction worker, was accused of assaulting Miss Mary Weston Aug. 15 and possessing a deadly weapon.

THE JURY of eight men and four women found the defendant guilty of both charges and Judge Joseph L. Carter assessed his punishment at a total of two years in the House of Correction.

Mr. Fountain denied having the weapon, a .32 calibre revolver, in his possession on the day in question. He did, however, admit a brief struggle with Miss Weston.

Describing a street corner dispute, Mr. Fountain said:

"She pulled out a little potato knife and I grabbed it and broke it. Somebody said, 'Here come the police,' and I got in a cab and left."

Bing Crosby fined $50 for 'crooning'

"We just had a little argument. She said I hit her. I didn't even touch her. I hit at her, but I didn't hit her."

Speaking was none other than Bing Crosby, no relation to the singer, whose tune was out of key. Mr. Crosby, 24, 1400 block Harlem Ave. was fined $50 Wednesday in Northwestern District Court by Magistrate Meredith B. Hoffmaster for striking Miss Gertrude Boller, 23, 400 block 22nd St.

Miss Boller's screams attracted the police. In court she told the magistrate: "He beat my head against a wall."
