Snap out of it...

GET WITH THE REAL BEER!

If you want a better beer...a real beer...get with Gunther.

Gunther is brewed right to taste right...smoother going down.

It's the light beer with the real beer flavor...the kind of beer that's right for you—more flavorful, less filling! So...come on!

Snap out of it—get in the Golden Mood with the real beer...

If you're a "draught beer fan" —get Gunther on tap!

Gunther
Premium Dry Beer

...Get with today's Gunther!

©1956, GUNTHER BREWING COMPANY, BALTIMORE, MD.

SCENES FROM HOUSTON—One of the newest junior high schools in the city system is the Charles H. Houston at Baker and Calhoun Sts., once the home of Douglass High School. One of the features of the Houston educational picture revolves around the home room center classes, where one teacher instructs the same class in English, social studies, and health education. The first picture shows Miss Iris Weaver, teacher of one of the classes, and pupil, Frederick Williams, 7B-128. To the right is Frank J. Sorrell, the principal, who played a major role in the organization of the school.

Houston JuniorHigh occupies former home of Douglass Hi

Once the building at Baker and Calhoun Sts. was occupied by a senior high school, but now it houses the Charles Houston Junior High School No. 181.

The school was organized in 1954 and in September of the same year it began operation in the building that had served as the home of Douglass Senior High School, which had been shifted to Gwynns Falls Parkway and Pulaski St.

The 2,600 pupils who were in the school that first year came from the Druid Junior High School No. 137, Booker T. Washington No. 130, and No. 130A, and seven elementary schools.

* * *

THE SCHOOL was organized to serve the growing needs of the northwest area for additional junior high school facilities.

For some time the new unit was known simply by the numbers 181, but earlier this year it was named the Charles H. Houston Junior High School, in honor of one of the late leaders of the fight for civil rights.

At present the school population stands at 2,378, divided into 60 classes, with a faculty of 90, plus two vice principals, Howard L. Hueles, and Mrs. Annette C. Johnson, and a principal, Frank J. Sorell.

To keep the school in operation requires a custodial staff of 15 while the cafeteria requires an additional 13 workers.

* * *

THE SCHOOL is organized along the same lines of other junior highs in the system with one important addition — four homeroom centers.

In these centers the pupils are instructed by the same teacher in the fields of English, social studies, and health education. The pupils stay with the same teacher for at least three periods a day, wherein other pupils change teachers with a change in subject matter.

Through such a program, Mr. Sorrell believes that the student's adjustment from elementary to high school is made easier and the teachers have the opportunity to know their pupils better.

The only other junior high in the city with a comparable program is the Garrison Junior High.

* * *

MR. SORRELL, the man who heads the school, has spent 35 years in the school system. He was the former principal of the Druid Junior High, and incidentally he organized that school as well.

Before that he served as the principal of Elementary School No. 106 for two years, after having served as supervisor of mathematics in colored schools and as head of the department of mathematics at Douglass.

Baltimore Afro-American SCHOOL PAGE

JAMES D. WILLIAMS, School Reporter

The AFRO solicits news from all public and parochial schools. Address releases to City Desk, AFRO-AMERICAN, Baltimore 1, Md. — Tuesday edition deadline Friday noon. Friday edition Tuesday noon. If you desire photos of school events call City Desk MU. 5-6015 at least one week prior to event.

REPORT TO PRINCIPAL—The lady to the left is Mrs. Lillian Parrott, the new principal at Douglass Senior High School. The pupil is Miss Evelyn Parker, 319 N. Gilmor St., who took the opportunity on Tuesday to tell Mrs. Parrott of her experiences while attending the recent Governor's Conference on Juvenile Delinquency at the University of Maryland. Regarded as one of the top administrators in the school system, Mrs. Parrott credits her initial success at the school to the cooperation of the faculty and the pupils.

Dr. Jenkins to open Morgan assembly series

Dr. Martin D. Jenkins, president, will deliver the annual convocation address formally celebrating the opening of the 90th academic year of Morgan State College Wednesday, Oct. 3.

The convocation exercises will be held at 10 a.m. in the Hughes Stadium and will mark the first of the weekly assembly programs of the COLLEGE, J. Walter Fisher, assembly committee chairman, announced today.

Most of the assemblies will be held on Wednesdays at 10 a.m. in the E. P. Hurt Gymnasium. All are open to the public.

* * *

JAMES H. CARTER, a 1916 Morgan graduate and for 41 years an employee of the college, will deliver the Founders Day address on Monday, Nov. 19, in another highlight of the first semester program.

The complete first semester schedule announced by Mr. Fisher is:

Oct. 3:
Matriculation Convocation; Dr. Martin D. Jenkins, president of the college, speaker

Oct. 10:
American University String Quartet

Oct. 17:
Student Council Day

Oct. 24:
A United Nations Day Symposium. Speakers; Else Lunds Lindt, Foreign Press Section, United Nations Children's Fund;
Morris Greene, North American-Regional Administrative Officer, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations
Moderator: Dr. Irene Diggs, professor of sociology, Morgan.

Oct. 31:
Alumni Day: J. Hylan Reid, B. S., 1938; D.D.S., member, the City Council, Plainfield, New Jersey

Nov. 7:
Agi Jambor, pianist

Nov. 14:
Richard D. Weigle, president, St. John's College, Annapolis

Nov. 19:
Founders Day; James H. Carter, assistant to the president, speaker.

Nov. 28:
The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra

Dec. 5
Religion in Life Week Observance; Speaker, the Rev. T. B. Cowan, minister of Everybody's Church, Lexington, Ky.

Dec. 12
Bill of Rights Day; Speaker, Zechariah Chafee Jr., professor of law, Harvard University

Dec. 19
Christmas Musicale: The College Band, Choir and Dance Group

Jan. 9
Scovel Richardson, chairman, the United States Parole Board

Jan. 16
Carolyn Hill Stewart, monologist.

550 A WEEK for news tips and photos. Be on the alert call in your tips to the AFRO City Desk; Phones: MU. 5-6015, 6026, 1812 or 1813. Say "I've got a Newstip." If no answer call LA. 3-2811 or RI. 4-8080.

Adult education director named

Wilmer V. Bell, dean of the Baltimore Junior College, has been named to succeed Thomas A. Van Sant as director of adult education in the Baltimore Public Schools.

Mr. Van Sant was promoted recently to the position of assistant superintendent in charge of secondary, vocational and adult education.

Mr. Bell entered the school system from Glen Burnie High School, where he taught science for two years. His professional progress has been steady, although interrupted twice by military service during World War II and the Korean Conflict.

Mr. Bell graduated from Western Maryland College with an A.B. degree, received his master of Science degree from the University of Maryland in 1956, and has done extensive work in the graduate school of the Johns Hopkins University.

BTW leaders have workshop

A one period workshop for class presidents was held during Wednesday's sixth period by the Students Affairs Committee at the Booker T. Washington Junior High School.

The workshop was based on the booklet "A Primer for Class Presidents," organized and distributed by the committee.

How to sew and save was illustrated when the home economics classes of Booker T. presented "Fashion Bank for the Modern Miss." The models for the show were selected from home economics classes.

HIGH ON the list of endorsed fashions was a double breasted coat, modeled by Sadie Veney; a suit with a bloused back modeled by Angela Graves; a short black buttoned jacket over a slim sheath, modeled by Carolyn Williams, and a corduroy jumper with a blouse pointing up the popular Tyrolean look, modeled by Mildred Holly.

Jumpers with the high rising waistline, modeled by Claudia Sampson and Maxine Dates; a draw string dress topping a slim skirt, modeled by Gloria Hill, and a smart wrap-around skirt that buttons to either the front or back, were also popular.

A full skirt topped with a gay red blouse was modeled by Delores Martin; a charming plaid frock with a deep V neckline in back was worn by Sharon Phillips and a smart lace sheath dress featuring a taffetta cummerbund and floating back panels was modeled by Myrtle Jackson.

Other models for the show were: Carolyn Coleman, Marion Franks, Beulah Green, Nancy Harris, Sylvia Julian, Marcus Miller, Anita Turks, Lavern Wallace, and Florence Wilkerson.

PARENTHOOD TALK

Mrs. Miriam Garwood, national field consultant for the Planned Parenthood Federation of America, was the main speaker at the Fall Volunteer Training Course sponsored by the Planned Parenthood Association of Baltimore, Wednesday, at its headquarters 332 E. 25th St.

Nursery class wants students

Parents wanting to really enjoy their children, guide them well and give them the advantages of Cooperative Nursery Schools for their children and themselves may attend the course on Guiding Children's Growth, being offered this fall by the Baltimore Department of Education.

The class will open on Tuesday, October 2, at 8 p.m. at the Department of Education Annex, with Dr. Katharine Whiteside-Taylor, supervisor of parent education, as instructor.

The course will meet weekly throughout the spring semester and will cover such basic topics as, what to expect at different stages, and what to do about temper tantrums.

The course is open to all interested, free of charge. Those wishing to secure University of Maryland credit may do so by paying fees and meeting additional requirements.

STARTING COLLEGE CAREER — Shown above are members of the Morgan State College freshman class. The last official count put the number of new students at 503; but the total is expected to rise with additional registrations. Of interest is the fact that this year's freshman class has the largest number of foreign students ever enrolled at Morgan.

Robert Ford named principal at Douglass, 181 night schools

Dr. Robert T. Ford has been reassigned principal of the Douglass High School and School 181 evening schools, the Board of School Commissioners announced.

Other evening school principals reassigned include:

Henry W. Howsey, Dunbar High School and Leon Williams, Carver Vocational High School, each of whom will receive $12 per session; Isaiah E. White, School No. 182;

The board has also appointed a group of "helping teachers" to aid college students employed as special substitutes, who are preparing to meet the full qualifications of elementary teachers.

Each will receive an additional $450 per year for this school term.

They include Katherine Fristy, Mary Jacobs, Gladyce Gardner, and Vernice Matthews. Carrie Slaten, now on the Coppin Elementary School faculty, was appointed temporary demonstration teacher at a salary of $6,375.

Thomas Boone, School No. 106, and James McDonald, Booker T. Washington Junior High School, who will receive $11 per session.

Cyrus Marshall was reassigned vice principal of the Douglass High School at the rate of $10 per session.

* * *

INEZ D. KEY was reassigned part-time supervisor of home economics in the evening schools; and James O. Proctor, part-time supervisor of vocation and industrial arts in evening schools. They will receive $10.50 per session.

Among teachers who have met requirements for position of elementary teachers and who received appointments were:

Freda Mae Alston, School No. 101; Ruth M. Baker, Evelyn T. Beasley, Clara G. Blound, Alyce L. Brown, School No. 137; Marie A. Berry, School No. 133; Augustine T. Brown, School No. 141; Colonier Brown, School No. 180; Elaine W. Brown, School No. 140; Marlene L. Brown, School No. 101; Sonya Y. Carney, School No. 142; Minerva J. Carr; School No. 139; Elise H. Clarke, School No. 103;

Juanita W. Davenport, School No. 180; Daniel E. Dixon, Jr., School No. 145; Christine H. Faison, School No. 180; Melba C. Faison, School No. 100;

Earline M. Foster, School No. 159; Alice K. Frazier, School No. 139; Louise Fulton, School No. 101; Emily T. Galewood, School No. 111; Charles Gibbs, School No. 145; Dolores V. Greene, School No. 143;

Erma A. Hankins, School No. 128; Rose G. Hawkins, School No. 139; Glynnia K. Hill, School No. 138; Betty L. Jackson, School No. 103; Helen D. Jackson, No. 145; Beonta P. Jeter, No. 113;

June C. Jones, No. 180; Shirley Jones, No. 180; Essie M. Lee, No. 140; Aurelia Lonesome, No. 142; Mary I. Makel, No. 128; Sedonia Merritt, No. 113; Helen T. Miles, No. 101;

Lizzie Miller, No. 129; William N. Parrott, Jr., No. 101; Francis V. Roberts, No. 113; Mazie P. Robinson, No. 145; R. Eleanor Scotland, No. 159;

Warren Sheffer, No. 140; Dorothy Simms, No. 145; Shirley M. Simpson, No. 162; Laura A. Steele, No. 160; Blanche J. Strong, No. 139; Ardelle Vesels, No. 146;

Bernice S. White, No. 108; Arethea B. Williams, No. 139; India M. Williams, No. 121; and Amy Woolford, No. 101.

SHOP CENTER ...teachers elected included Audrey J. Brisco, School No. 107; Clarissa K. Matthews, School No. 109; and Bagrella G. McNair, School No. 117.

Blanche McDonald and Geneva R. Woods were elected to positions of occupational teachers and appointed to schools No. 116 and 116-A, respectively.

Vocational teachers appointed included:

Sineta P. Chaney, Carver; Roy W. Clark, Ossarew F. Gee, Jr., Louis D. Gray, Mary W. Pitts, Dorothy V. Briscoe, Ernest W. Lingo, Berryn McLemore, and Robert R. White, General Vocational;

George J. Davenport, Muriel A. Davis, Doris Denby, Jean Dodson, Bertha A. Goodman; Katherine Frederick, Barbara A. Jones, Esther Morris, Corine W. Selby, Leila B. Terry, School No. 181;

Albert L. Ferguson, Samuel A. Moulton, Ann W. Pinkney, Annie C. Pitts, Lewis H. Richardson, Booker T. Washington Junior High School;

Warren E. Hubbard, School No. 133-A; James O. W. Grady, Cherry Hill Junior High; Henry Phillyaw, Dunbar High School.

R. Joan Henderson and James N. Pennington, Jr., art teachers, were appointed to positions at the General Vocational School and School No. 183, respectively.

Positions as secondary school teachers of business education went to Della Cunningham, Douglass High School; Esther R. Laforest and Fannie B. Poulson, School No. 181; and Aresa C. Richardson, Carver Vocational School.

Home economics teachers appointed included Elnora Burton, School No. 181; Chandler Ricks, Carver Vocational and Georgiana J. Smith, General Vocational.

Industrial arts teachers appointed were Calvin Glascoe, School No. 106; Lester Nicholas, School No. 137; Elliott R. Ross, George F. Bragg School; and Philbin L. Scott, No. 181.

* * *

GEORGE MAXEY was appointed a teacher of instrumental music at the Carver Vocational School, and Ruby H. Gill at School No. 106.

Appointed to teach vocal music were Hiawatha Goins, Booker T. Washington Junior High School; Gregan Joyner, General Vocational; John H. Miller, Dunbar High School; and Consuella C. Newton, School 183.

Appointed to physical education positions were Samuel A. Costen, School No. 181; and Edward A. Forrest and Naomi L. Sullivan, School No. 146.

Wardelle Richardson was reassigned vice principal of Dunbar evening school. Vernon Press was reassigned as temporary teacher in charge of School No. 115, at a salary of $6,075.

Sadie A. Marshall was granted a sabbatical leave from Sept. 1, 1956 to January 21, 1957 to engage in a full program of study.

Live music recitals resume this fall

Twenty thousand Baltimore children in public schools will hear live chamber music concerts this fall, according to an announcement by Mrs. Charles Wood Collier, chairman of the Young Musicians series and Oscar Apple, president of the Musical Union of Baltimore City, A. F. of M.

The Young Musicians Series concert movement will be expanded to provide 50 school recitals before January 1, with 38 schools participating.

The Music Education Division of the Baltimore Department of Education is endorsing the plan and lending its cooperation to select schools which are not now reached by the Young Musicians Series, and assist in organizing the project.

The concerts will begin in the week of October 8 when the newly formed woodwind and brass quintets will visit schools providing a pair of concerts each morning. Twenty performances will have been given to roughly 8,000 children by the week's end.

* * *

THE TENTATIVE list of schools to receive concerts includes following:

Nos. 34 Barrister Charles Carroll School, 112 William M. Alexander School, and No. 108, Beale Elliott School, No. 107 Elementary School, and No. 132 Coppin Elementary School.

No. 101 Elmer A. Henderson School, No. 135 and 109 Elementary Schools, No. 122 Samuel Coleridge Taylor School, and No. 127, No. 13, and No. 22 Elementary Schools.

No. 20 Sir Robert Eden School, Francis W. Wood School, No. 28 and 139 Elementary Schools, 148 and 116 Elementary Schools, 160 Carter Godwin Woodson School, 150 Cherry Hill Elementary School, and 130 Cherry Hill Junior High School.

Classes again at School 110

The faculty of the Phyllis Wheatley Elementary School No. 110 returned to work in earnest at the start of the new school semester despite the fact that everything in the immediate neighborhood has been torn down but the school.

The Safety Committee provided for the safe arrival and return of pupils by forming a safety patrol. The group viewed a film on safety and discussions were held in the classrooms to set up safety rules. Thomas Boone is chairman.

The kindergarten has an enrollment of 79 active and alert five-year-olds who visited the cafeteria and the boiler room. Teachers are Mesdames Laura Jackson and Vonzella Murray.

The following classes visited Fort McHenry to learn why we celebrate Defenders Day. Mesdames Elizabeth Williams, Bertha May, Frances Hayes, Betty Isabelle, Bertha Gwynn, Mary Taylor, and Genevieve Meekins.

* * *

THE THIRD grade class of Mrs. Juliette Harris discussed the story about Defenders Day and wrote facts to remember the day.

The fourth grades held an assembly in the auditorium of the Poe Project, Mrs. Bernice Carroll's class sang the second stanza of the National Anthem and Mrs. Norma Lambson's class sang the third stanza.

"Song of a Nation," a film, was enjoyed by all the intermediate grades. The sixth grades used Citizenship Day as its theme, Mrs. Aurora Chambers and Mrs. Edna Henderson are teachers.

Mrs. Almira Miller is the music teacher, Mrs. Lillian H. Danley, vice-principal, and Henry N. West, principal.

TEEN AGE MEDLEY

By LAVANIA RICE

Ed. Note—This column will introduce Miss Lavania Rice, a junior at Western High School, who will report the doings of the younger set for readers of this page.

(Communications to Miss Rice should be addressed to her home at 1404 Argyle Ave. Now here's "Teen Age Medley.")

All of the synonyms for the world welcome have been constantly on the lips of everyone during the month of September as school started again.

So I'll just make mine a big "hello" and get down to the work at hand with a commendation for Howard Gaskins, who did a tremendous job last year in this space.

To start the season off and get everyone reacquainted, Julia Slowe gave a party. Everyone was bubbling over with the desire to greet his friends and learn what each did on his summer vacation.

Among those at the party were: James Johnson, Beverly Jackson, Howard Ricks, Albert Pastuer, Nathaniel Stewart, Jacqueline Johnson, Pamela Russell, Judy Grinnage, Barbara Battle, Danice Comegys, Dorothy Ransom.

Also Bette Harrison, Mel Carroll, Ellien Bowser, Albert Hawkins, Evelyn Brown, Annie Irby, Johnnie Quarles, Una Dobson.

THEN THERE was the party given by Lynda Hall at the Morgan Christian Center. It was a very well planned affair and all enjoyed themselves.

The guest list included the following names: Beverly Johnson, Bernice Young, James White, Joffre Junior, Senora Reckling, Howard Neal, Edith Veney, Dorthy Richburg, Julia Butler, Mary Caulver, Barbara Allen, Anastatia Phillips.

Carol Owens, Joyce A. Parker, Leroy Hawthorne, Charles White, Virginia Lottier, Cordiee Jackson, and Pat Gambrill.

Now that we have discussed the parties, let's get down to serious work and study hard this semester.

Adult class makes plans for session

The adult education class at Elementary School No. 135 ended the summer activities recently at the home of Mrs. Mary Dorsey, 1715 N. Wolfe St. Some 30 children were entertained and served refreshments.

The activities of the class were carried on through the summer months at the homes of Mrs. Gloria Phillips and Mrs. Mary Mosley.

On Tuesday, Oct. 2, the class will resume its weekly session. Mrs. Phillips is president, Mrs. Eglonia Green is the secretary, and Mrs. Blanche Hughes is the instructor.

Douglass '40 class to stage anniversary

All June 1940 graduates of Douglass Senior High School have been asked to join in the preparations for the class' 17th anniversary celebration.

A meeting will be held Monday, Oct. 1, at the Sphinx Club on the second floor at 10 p.m. The graduates are invited to attend.

Only parents offered course

A class for ONLY PARENTS designed to help parents rearing families single-handed is offered by the Adult Division of Baltimore's Department of Education this fall.

It opens at 8 p.m. Tuesday night, October 2, at the Administration Headquarters 3 E. 25th St. under the leadership of chief psychiatric social worker, Veterans Administration, Dr. Kurt Frendenthal.

Mothers or fathers left to rear children alone by either death, divorce or temporary separation due to military service or long term illness will find help in both the practical and emotional difficulties they face.

With the wide-spread absence of fathers in service and the increasing divorce rate, many requests for a course of this kind have been received by the Adult Division.

It is open to both mothers and fathers who are residents of Baltimore free of charge. Registration will be taken at the first meeting of the class. Come and bring an interested friend.