Colts List Biggest Tan Contingent; Await Skins

BALTIMORE

With the addition of two more colored football players within the past week, the Baltimore Colts are prepared to take the field Sunday against the Washington Redskins with the largest tan contingent in their history.

Halfback Chuck McMillan returned to the fold from the army on Wednesday. His arrival, on the heels of the acquisition of tackle Gene Lipscomb from the Los Angeles Rams, brought the total of tan players in the local lineup to six.

They are halfbacks Buddy Young, Lenny Moore, Jesse Thomas and McMillan; tackle Lipscomb and end Burrell Shields. Four of the six are likely to see action in the Sabbath debut.

Conversely, the Redskins will present the same kind of lily-white lineup with which they have steadfastly held out against integration — the only team in pro football with such a record.

For the Colts, the veteran Young and rookie Moore, in all probability, will occupy the safety positions for kickoff and punt returns. Thomas is a fixture at defensive halfback, and Lipscomb is reasonably certain to be called on for limited service as a defensive tackle or end. McMillan, naturally, needs some time to readjust himself, having played nothing but service football in Germany since his induction after the 1954 NFL campaign.

SHIELDS HAS been out of action for more than a month. He suffered a torn ligament of the left knee during the August 6, intra-squad game at Municipal Stadium and underwent surgery at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Now out of the cast, the big Ohioan is walking on a cane. He will watch the Redskin battle from the sidelines along with the other "walking wounded" of the Colts.

Sunday's tiff is the last of a pre-season, exhibition games for the Horses. Their next appearance will be in their September 30 opening of the pro schedule against the Chicago Bears at the Stadium.

THE COMING affair will mark the first chance home fans have had to see Moore under colors. When the Colts were unveiled in August, Lenny was tied with the College All-Stars for the annual all-star football game in Chicago.

The angular Penn State star was the first draft choice of coach Weeb Ewbank and Co. last fall. He has struck for three touchdowns in the last two games, one of them following a 79-yard run.

THE GAME will be nationally televised by CBS but blacked out in the Baltimore, Washington and adjacent areas.

The Redskins and Colts go into the contest with similar records—2 and 2—for pre-season play. Washington defeated Los Angeles and Green Bay while suffering setbacks from San Francisco and—the Chicago Bears. The Colts split with Philadelphia in two meetings, topped Pittsburgh and lost to New York.

In three pre-season games in the past, the Colts have won two and tied one with Washington—the fierce 28-28 tie of last year. In league play, however, Washington holds a four to one edge in the inter-city series. — SAM LACY.

Paratrooper to jump for N.C. Eagles

DURHAM, N.C.—James Byrant spent nine years as a paratrooper in the U.S. Army before he decided to enter North Carolina College to try for a major in physics and also for a berth at end with the Eagles' gridders.

A native of Williston, Ind., Bryant now makes his home in Durham. His wife graduated from NCC last June.

NCC footballers are glad to have Bryant on their side this season. He was one of their toughest opponents in their practice games with his unit at Ft. Bragg (NC) for the time he was a paratrooper.

The brusing Bryant stands 6,1½" and weighs a lithe 192 pounds. He is a boxer as well as a baseball player.

Jefferson sees stronger line key to Buc hopes

HAMPTON, Va. — Coach Harry Jefferson said this week that he expects to have a heavier line on this year's Hampton Institute football team.

The basis of this belief is the fine showing made in practice sessions by veteran lineman, George Brown, a leading candidate for all-CIAA honors; Sanford Wilson, Clemmie Strayhorn; and Clybe Clack, outstanding tackle in 1955 who has been shifted to end to help fill in gaps caused by the loss of three regular ends — Jesse Whitehead, John Harris and William Dudley, tackle.

Freshman linemen who have looked good in training are James Harrison, tackle, from Las Cruces, New Mexico; Thomas Robinson; guard, Washington, D. C.; Raymond Ormsby, tackle, Torrington, Conn., Frank Smith, center, Richmond, Virginia; James Foster, end, Orange, New Jersey; and Willie McGhee, guard, Washington, D. C.

Coach Jefferson and backfield Coach, Jimmy (Little Train) Griffin are having difficultly replacing 1955 stars Fletcher Battle, Robert Crawford and Dick Clary in the Pirate backfield; however, certain veterans and freshmen are showing well in pre-season sessions.

Alphonso Charles, Walter Melton and Alfred Smith are contending for the opening quarterback slot. Charles was second-string performer on last year's team. Smith is returning to the position he played in 1954 after spending a season at fullback.

ALTHEA 1st

TORONTO — Althea Gibson captured the women's singles crown of the International Invitation tennis tournament here Wednesday, defeating Shirley Bloomer of England, 6-3, 6-1.

For Miss Gibson it marked the beginning of a heavy, schedule of fall tournaments that will be climaxed by the Australian championships at Sydney next month.

THE SLENDER Harlem ace, runner-up to Shirley Fry for the USLTA title at Forest Hills, goes from here to Denver, Colo., and then to Los Angeles for the Pacific Southwest championships.

Her schedule calls for her participation in the Pan-American games also.

Against her youthful British Wightman Cupper Miss Gibson was never in danger. She held her own service consistently and appeared able to break up Miss Bloomer's game at will.

Causion was a member of the second-place Mexico City Tigers.

The young Marylander is a lefthander all the way. He played 110 games, missing ten days during the campaign as result of a leg injury.

Causion's mother, Mrs. Sarah Causion, lives in Towson. She has three daughters and two sother sons, Mesdames Dorothy Dixon, Sarah White and Tracelea Hall, and Wilbur and Robert Causion.

Pro 5 gets 1 tan star, loses one

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Hawks of the National Basketball Association last week came up with one Negro star, but also had lamented the loss of another.

The pro quint announced late last week that it had signed Morris Taft, clever all-court court guard at UCLA, to a 1956 contract. Taft was a star of the Pacific Coast Conference championship outfit (San Francisco is not in the PCC) in 1956, along with Willie Naulls, both of whom were drafted by the Hawks.

However, the St. Louis brass was forced to announce at the same time that it must do without the services of Julius McCoy, scoring sensation of the Michigan State five the past two years.

The 23-year-old Farrell, Pa., star was inducted into the Army.

Uncle Sam's draft took precedence over that of the locals.

Saxton dethroned As Welter Champ

Basilio TKO victor in 9th; rematch assured

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Carmen Basilio, homebred Italian, regained the world welterweight title here Wednesday night, scoring a technical knockout of Johnny Saxton of New York.

Referee Al Berl, one of three Gotham officials imported for work the fight, stopped the action at 1:31 of the ninth round.

By conditions of the contract, Saxton can press for a rematch within 90 days. Basilio received an estimated $37,500 from box office and radio-TV receipts, and had to make up the difference to $50,000, which he left in escrow to guarantee the return go in accordance with the contract agreement.

Saxton's 40 per cent share of the take was believed to be $75,000.

A near sell-out crowd of 8,546 persons, the great majority of them Basilio supporters, paid $134,939 (gross) to watch the battle. Millions of others witnessed the brawl on television.

They saw a determined ex-Marine commence from the opening bell, a corner-to-corner chase of the man who had lifted his crown six months before in a hotly-disputed Chicago match.

They saw Saxton unwisely elect to trade punches with an opponent he admittedly could outhex but with whom he stood no chance in the power department.

They saw Johnny permit himself to be drawn into fighting Carmen's fight, and suffer the consequences.

Basilio, taking advantage of the peculiar Saxton strategy, punished Johnny about the body with a steady barrage of hooks and short rights. So bruising was the attack inside that whenever Carmen decided to step back for a shot to the head he had a clear target.

FROM THE third round, it was a one-sided bout all the way. Saxton, who had earlier eluded the plodding Basilio in Chicago, was pummelled unmercifully when he stood up for the early exchanges.

And when it began to get home to him that he was being thoroughly outgunned, Johnny resorted to the stick-and-run tactics that had gained the title last March.

This time, however, the challenger was not the awkward, missing answer of their earlier meeting. This time, Carmen did a more professional job of cornering his adversary and flailing away.

SAXTON LOST THE first round, but took the second by a shade. He was behind in the third by a narrow margin, but in the fourth and thereafter it was all Basilio.

The New Yorker drew a trace of blood from Basilio's nose in the second heat, but in the fifth he too was bleeding.

In the eighth, Basilio opened a gash in Saxton's lip and the gore flowed freely. Dr. Charles Beck of the New York Athletic Commission, examined Saxton in his corner at the close of the eighth round.

HIS VISIT was occasioned by Saxton's having been rocked by a series of lefts and rights to the head. Dr. Beck permitted the action to continue after a word to the referee.

A crushing right to the jaw caused the champ's knees to buckle at the start of the ninth. He gamely tried to fend off Basilio with his flickering left but the damage he could do was negligible.

CARMEN SENSED the kill and refused to be denied. He was on his opponent with an avalanche of blows and in a matter of seconds Saxton was reeling along the ropes.

Berl stepped in and halted the struggle.

AFTERWARDS, BLINKY PALERMO, manager of Saxton, objected to the referee for stopping the fight.

Palermo, unable to work in Saxton's corner because New York refuses to license him, asserted: "He (Berl) should have let him (Saxton) hit the deck like a champion should."

Blinky declared he big every inclination of making Basilio live up to the return-bout clause in the contract. He said he will insist that the rematch be held in California or Boston—where he can work as a second to Saxton.

Golden Bears green, but Hurt thinks future bright

To the experienced eye, the Golden Bear of Morgan State College has a greenish hue as he prepares for the 1956 football opener at Central State College next Saturday.

But Eddie Hurt, who has a reputation for being sober in pre-season estimates, is inclined to admit the future doesn't look so dark.

The experienced eye, incidentally, belongs to Hurt, he is a coach of gridiron activity at Morgan. And it is he who put the stamp of "greenness" on the squad that is working out twice daily at the Hillen Road campus.

"Our line is going to be all right," Hurt told the AFRO late this week. "But the backfield lacks experience. Its a green bunch for the most part, lot of promise.

"As you can see, the only letters we have with a reasonable amount of college football behind them, are Jerry McArthur and Hank Smith," the Bear mentor continued.

"McARTHUR appears to have come into his own. He's looking better in drills than I've ever seen him. I guess it has dawned he realized how much weight is going to be on him this year. Then too, this is his senior year and he probably wants to make the best of it.

"Smith did an excellent job at quarterback for us last year. But that was first season at the position and he's sure to improve.

"After that, though, we're in a process of stumbling. We have a lot of kids, and some of them are showing off right well. That's why I think we may not be as bad off as we at first feared.

"FULLBACK mabe be in pretty good hands. Lawrence Buffalo, who played third string in 1955, is showing tremendous drive. He's on the small side but makes up for it in speed and shiftiness.

Then we've got Ernie Mosby. He's a nephew of Morgan's two earlier Mosbys — Walter, who played a lot of tackle in the 1930s, and Wallace, the outstanding fullback of the early 40s. Young Mosby looks as though he has a great future in college ball, too.

"BOBBY GORDON appears ready to solve one of our halfback problems. He was a transfer from Ohio State in 1954. you know, and he had to sit out a year of eligibility.

"He became eligible for varsity competition last spring and that's how he happened to be able to help us win the sprint relay title at the Penn Relays. Gordon's a 9.7 man in the hundred, and a very good ball carrier.

"Also impressing us in camp work are Elmer Flye, who played end with Spingarn High (Washington) last year, and whom we've shifted to halfback; Jimmy Allen, the kid from Mosby's Lynchburg (Va.) high school, and Jimmy Bowen, one of Douglass High's fine crew last season.

THAT'S THE nucleus from which we hope to build our backfield, although you must remember that some one of the other kids can change the picture over night.

"We're not greatly concerned about the line. Up front we seem to be in pretty good shape," Hurt went on.

"Co-captains Tiny Gordon and Jake Jacobs are back at their tackle and center posts. And we've got John Sewel, George Ruff and Dolph Williams, among others, to hold things down up front.

"STANLEY HOWARD, a son of Bones Howard who played here in 1936, looks like he may be 6-foot-3, 245-pounder and on the do on a job at tackle. He's a fast side.

"Another newcomer who might move somebody is Bob Opie, a 240-pound guard tackle who had a fine high school record at Tarrytown, N.Y.

"At the ends we're pretty well off, too. Jack Rozier, Art Dean, Joe Buckson and Lee Randall, among others, seem able to take care of us there." —LACY

Varsity play scarce in MSA slate

The Maryland State Scholastic Association undertakes its first season of integrated athletics this fall, but varsity football competition is virtually nil.

Schools with predominantly colored enrollments are booked for only three games — one apiece—will their predominantly white fellow members.

Dunbar and Carver will play one game each with Patterson Park. Douglass and Douglass will compete on the gridiron once with Poly.

THE POETS meet Patterson on October 10, at Kirk Avenue Stadium. Carver and Patterson play on October 16, at the Kirk field. Douglass and Poly tangle on October 9, at Kirk.

Junior varsity and cross-country engagements are sprinkled liberally through the fall schedules of the three schools, however. The complete fall program follows:

Sept. 21—Armstrong at Carver, Easterwood (varsity football)
Sept. 21—Spingarn at Douglass (varsity football)
Oct. 5—Armstrong at Carver, Easterwood (varsity football)
Sept. 21—Spingarn at Douglass (varsity football)
Sept. 26—High school cross-country at Clifton Park (all schools)
Sept. 27—Dunbar at Poly (junior varsity football)
Sept. 27—City at Carver, Easterwood (junior varsity football)
Sept. 28—Spingarn at Dunbar (varsity football)

Cincy prospect 'player of year'

DURHAM, N.C. — (ANP)—A colored player, Curtis Flood of the High Pond-Thomasville Hi-Toms, was named last week as the player of the year in the Class B Carolina League. He received 21 of the 28 votes cast.

A second colored player, home run king Leon Wagner of the Danville Giants, was second in voting. Five colored were among the 14 voted to the all-League team. They were:

Willie McCovey, Danville, first base; Flood, Wagner and Carl Long, Kinston, outfielders, and Curt Hardaway, Winston-Salem, utility outfielder.

As player of the year, Flood will receive a plaque and a $100 bond. He and Wagner were unanimous choices for the all-league team.

Track aces in European meets

LONDON — A three - man track unit, including Lane Stanley and Charley Pratt, arrived competing in two cinder meets on European soil.

Dave Sime, crack Duke University sprinter who suffered leg injuries that threw him out of the Olympic Games competition, was the third member of the group.

Following the meet here, the trio plates to Glasgow, Scotland, where it also is booked to run.

Stanley is an alternate in the 800-meters run on the U.S. Olympic squad. He was runner up in the NCAA final and finished fourth to Tom Courtney's record-breaking performance in the Olympic finals.

Sinclair Announces

A NEW POWER DISCOVERY

New Super-Premium Sinclair Power-X Gasoline with X-Chemical Increases Power, Cats Operating Costs as You Drive

Eliminates power-robbing engine deposits

90% more effective than any other gasoline additive in preventing spark plug fouling

70% more effective in stopping power loss from pre-ignition knock

All Cars Need It—Only Sinclair Has It

What makes a brand new car start to knock and lose power after a few thousand miles? What causes sluggish performance in older cars? The chief reason is carbon or other combustion deposits that form on spark plugs and pistons.

Now—for the first time in automotive history—a rare chemical has been developed that eliminates power-robbing engine deposits, thereby increasing power in older cars—retaining peak power in new cars.

Other gasoline additives, intended to combat spark plug fouling and pre-ignition, actually build up harmful deposits of their own. But Sinclair's new X-Chemical has none of these damaging after-effects. INSTEAD, IT CHANGES HARD, CRUSTY DEPOSITS INTO HARMLESS, POWDERY MATERIAL.*

After just three tankfuls of new Super-Premium Power-X, you can feel the improvement in performance—provided you do not mix it with other gasoline. See your Sinclair Dealer and power up with new Sinclair Power-X Gasoline.
