Miss Virginia Keene to become bride on Saturday

with Lula Jones Garrett

Miss Virginia L. Keene, who has just won a degree from West Virginia State College, and a new teaching appointment in Syracuse, N.Y., will take on another new status, Saturday.

She will become the bride of Earl F. Lloyd, of the Syracuse Nationals.

The wedding will take place in Knox Presbyterian Church at 4:30 p.m., with the Rev. H. Octavius Graham performing the double ring ceremony. Walter Fisher will be at the organ, and Donald Dixon will be soloist.

Miss Keene, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Keene, will have as her matron of honor her sister, Mrs. Bettye K. Scott. Bridesmaids will be Misses Rita Robinson of Evanston, Ill., Lenora Tolson of Atlantic City, N.J., and Barbara Buchanan of Maxton, N.C.

The attendants, all of whom (except Mrs. Scott) were classmates of Miss Keene WVS, will wear gowns of mint crystal silk over taffeta, made with shallow neck lines at the front and deep V backs and three-quarter push - up sleeves. The skirts of the dresses have a wide front panel, and are shirred to the back.

They will wear small matching hats (that of the honor attendant alone being trimmed with small chrysanthemums) gloves and shoes, and will carry bouquets of gold chrysanthemums.

Oliver Ellis of Alexandria, will be Mr. Lloyd's best man. Ushers will be Freddie Johnson of Washington, Donald Knox of this city and Theodore Lloyd, a brother, of Washington. Mrs. Mercedes Douglass will direct the wedding.

Mr. Lloyd, also a graduate of West Virginia State, is the son of Mrs. Daisy Lloyd of Washington. He is at present matriculating in the graduate school of American University.

The couple will be in Washington until the seventh, when they will go to Syracuse, to be there for the opening of his basketball training season on the 10th.

MISS NELLE HACKNEY, of the Women's Bureau, Cleveland (Ohio) Police Department, was house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Ashe, and the party guest of ever so many townites, during her visit here, this week.

Miss Hackney had been vacationing for a week, having made her first stop in New York. Judge Jane Bolin and her husband were her hosts with the latter having showed her United Nations (he's on the staff). She saw "Mr. Wonderful" with Mrs. Louise Morris and was dinner guest of the Jack Mullinses, ere going to Danbury, Conn. for a visit with the Orpheus (Marian Anderson) Fishers at their 100 - acre estate "Marianna Farms."

Fast - talking Nelle, who can keep you spell - bound for hours on end with her experiences, did just that when her hostess, Letitia Ashe, held forth at an elegant dinner party for her on Monday.

Smart in blue lace, she met, or renewed acquaintances with Mamie Woodford, Verda Cosnell, Mae Williams, Lillian Parrott, Edna Gray, Mildred Seaborne, Beatrice Butler, Margaret Buck, Blanche McDonald, Victorine Adams, Dora Hutchinson, Dukye Woode and Lula Patterson

Mr. and Mrs. Rivers Chambers gave a dinner party for Miss Hackney on Tuesday.

The guests included Messrs. and Mesdames Hiram Butler, Edgar Ewing, William Gosnell, Pete Tyson of Washington, Mr. Carson of New York City, and Calvin Ashe.

From Baltimore, Miss Hackney went to Washington, to see the capital from the rooftree of Mrs. Monrieta Kennedy, and from there to Philadelphia, where she will be guest of Judge and Mrs. Theodore Spaulding and Mrs. Laura Claxton . . . then back at her native heath by Sept. 10.

ON SATURDAY evening Miss Dukye Woode entertained for her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herald Woode of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. Everett Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gross, Mrs. Rosaland Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Jones, Mrs. Elizabeth Henderson, Mrs. Edna Gray, Mrs. Lillian Parrott, Mrs. Bettye Phillips, Mrs. Ethel Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Matthews.

Mrs. Letitia Ashe, Miss Nelle Hackney of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Roseland, Alexander Malone, Mrs. Grace Hunt, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Monroe, and Miss Goff.

Miss Woode's niece, small Mary Margaret Woode, missed her birthday celebration, because she and the family were en route here.

Hence, the party for her, here, on Thursday.

Sharing the honors with her were her sister, Netta Beth; and brothers, Charles Henri Jr., and Arma).

Other guests were:

Marie, Benjamin and Rachel Phillips, Mary Driver, Kenneth Phillips, Robert Adams, Susan, Ruth, Renold and Heber Lighton; Sam Myers, Jr., Ronald and Anton Weeks, Harold and Clinton Jehnfer, and Robert, Bettye, Bonnie and Rodger Matthews.

WAYLAND BAPTIST Church was packed to the door with guests, and decorated to the hilt with standards of white gladiolas and tapers for the wedding on Sunday afternoon of Miss Gertrude R. Adams and Saterfield Venable.

The bride was a vision in ivory silk Peau de Soie, with panels of re - embroidered Alencon lace encrusted with seek pearls.

The moulded bodice had a scooped neckline and long sleeves of lace, and the skirt drifted into a sweeping chapel train. Her finger - tip double tulle veil was attached to an alluring peaked plateau of Alencon lace medallions, embroidered with seed pearls and crystals.

She carried a fan of double ruffled lace, sprinkled with rhinestones, pearls and showered with satin streamers tipped with tiny yellow orchids.

Miss Lorna Glascoe was maid of honor; and Mrs. Sallie Glascoe and Jean Mickens, bridesmaids. They wore Arcady blue velveteen sheaths with crushed cummerbunds and overskirts of taffeta.

Their small velveteen hats matched their dresses and they carried fans of yellow lace, rhinestone trimmed and showered with satin streamers tipped with lilies of the valley.

A tiny flower girl, Jeanette Lawson, was in a formal, floor-length frock of paler blue taffeta. The ringbearer, Maurice Ward, wore identical full dress to that of the masculine party members.

The latter included Ervin Lucus, best man; Dirgie Lawson, William Mumby, and Robert Wright.

Miss Adams was given in marriage by her father, Willie Adams.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Mary Ward wore pale beige lace, satin trimmed, with a contour hat and an orchid corsage.

The double-ring ceremony was read by the pastor of the church, the Rev. William W. Payne. Sherwood Fledge, accompanied by Miss Virgie Lewis, was soloist. Vernon Drake was at the organ.

A reception was held in the church hall.

Refreshing—but not filling

WONDERFUL what the modern diet trend — the trend to lighter, less filling food and drink — has done for people's looks, as well as for their health!

It's this up-to-date taste in diet that makes today's men so lean and trim, keeps women so lovely and slender.

Pepsi-Cola keeps pace with this wholesome trend. Today's Pepsi-Cola, reduced in calories, is never heavy, never too sweet. It refreshes without filling.

Have a Pepsi—the modern, the light refreshment.

Miss Eaton wed to Mr. Thornton

The Rev. Moses Williams officiated at the ceremony which united Miss Mary Elizabeth Eaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis H. Eaton, and James H. Thornton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Thornton, here, recently.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of silk taffeta which included a sequined and pearl trimmed bodice and a bouffant skirt of tulle. Her veil of illusion fell from a white lace headpiece studded with sequins and seeded pearls.

She carried a bouquet of white roses embedded in silver tinted leaves showered with satin streamers and centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Flossie Dupree, the bride's attendant wore an aqua gown of embroidered organdy and—a tiara of net studded with seed pearls. The bodice, similar to the bride's, included red roses embedded in gold tinted leaves.

Ernell Thornton, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

A RECEPTION followed the ceremony.

Assisting at the reception were Misses Mildred Thornton, Delores Robinson, Geraline Johnson, Bessie Somerville, Carolyn Jackson, Tessie Frederick and Mrs. Elouise Palmer, Mrs. Louise Whitfield and Mrs. Elizabeth Moore, Mrs. Sylvia Thornton.

Out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Claude Eaton of New York, Mr. and Mrs. William Bowden of Brooklyn, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bowden of Brooklyn, John Brown and son, Gene, of Brooklyn; Mrs. Rena Brown and daughter, Carey, of New Jersey; Mr. and Mrs. Cager Brown of New Jersey, Mrs. Eunice Bullock of Virginia and also Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Smith of New York.

HOMEWARD BOUND—After a trip to the beauty parlor, Mrs. Eudora Giles, 1505 E. Lanvale St., heads for home. Married to Theodore Giles, she is the mother of three children, ages 2, 3 and 4 and half years.

South Baltimore Notes

By GEORGE W. E. LEE

Nobody but God and I know how thankful I am to Him and my fellow man for the many blessings I received during my recent illness until recovery.

The writer is indeed grateful to the AFRO, especially to Mrs. Betty Phillips and to the circulation department for their services rendered and the beautiful flowers received.

I also want to thank Mrs. M. Francis Mackay who did much to keep me informed of the progress of the Clean Block Campaign. As the articles were received, they were placed on the bulletin board in the office of University Hospital, Ward 3 B, by the nurses.

We found these articles interesting and informative:

As concerned as I about the campaign were: Nurses Ruth Pickett, Barbara Ward, Delores McKnight, Stopak, Jean Gee, Ruby Staggers, Jean Wilson, Evelyn Tillman, Rena Robinson and Hattie Wilson; also Doctors Benige and Abrams. It seemed that all of them were well versed in civic affairs.

They said that the visitors received on the ward during my stay at the hospital broke all records. I shall never forget the thoughtfulness of Wendell Wright and Gerald B. Wilson, the director of the Baltimore Singers for entertaining Ward 3B with a play - back of a concert given in December.

Kind deeds were also done by ministers and members of the four churches of Mt. Winans—also the ministers of various other churches; the secretary to Bishop Love and the priest of St. Monica's.

Mrs. Charlotte Forbes Hill brought flowers three times a week. There were also many other flowers and plants — including bouquets from the ladies at Read's Drug Store, 700 block Washington Blvd.

Over 135 cards were received and also some money. I'm still trying to think what I've done to deserve all this. The shop was supervised by Roland Christian; Mrs. Charlotte Hill and daughter, Mrs. Grace Hines, looked after the AFRO's.
