Ala. A&M grads hear of keys to success

NORMAL, Ala. — President Stephen J. Wright of Bluefield (W. Va.) State College told some 67 summer graduates at the Alabama A. and M. College exercises here last week that there are three principles for better living.

"The first key to achievement," he said, "is making the decision; second is willingness to pay the price for accomplishment, and third is the willingness to take the chance to reach the objective."

'Twice as bad,' says fireman of new post

"Things are twice as bad. "I just wanted their newspapers, touch, the television set, or drink out of the same coffee pot because I'm not a member of the club.

"I can't join the firemen's "Coonskin Club" because I'm colored."

One month after being transferred from a Fire Department station house where he once described conditions as "unbearable," that's the situation Firefighter Argel Pettit now finds himself in at Engine Co. No. 27 at Washington Blvd., near Monroe St.

A member of the Department for 11 months, the six foot six fireman who resides in the 3500 block Round Rd., Cherry Hill, was transferred from Engine Co., No. 35 in Brooklyn after complaining to his commanding officer about separate living facilities.

Reprimanded by the Board of Fire Commissioners last month for violating four regulations Pettit, who said he was punished for complaining about discrimination was placed on 48 hours continuous duty for six days.

COMMENTING on his new assignment Pettit declares, "things are much worse.

"All a colored fireman can do at No. 27 is sit and hold his hands.

"He has no one to talk to, or nothing to read unless he brings his own paper or book.

"Members of the 'Coonskin Club' can read the same paper, turn on the television set and drink the same coffee.

The "Coonskin Club" is a club made up of the station personnel who contribute money toward providing entertainment for the men when on duty.

In order to join the club, a man should be a member of fireman's local 734. According to some firemen however, that regulation is often overlooked.

Colored firemen are not accepted in the union.

ACCORDING TO Mr. Pettit, when I first arrived at No. 27 I asked the commanding officer to ask the men if I could join the club. He asked and they told him 'no'!

The station in Brooklyn had a number of things I didn't like, but at least while there I could read the papers, drink coffee and turn on television.

"Out of 105 colored firemen in the department, I have been told that I'm the only one that has ever made a complaint.

"From what I can see it's the men not the officers responsible for the segregated setup in station houses around town.

"ALL HOUSES ARE NOT like that but most do have segarate toilet and bed facilities.

"In a few, some men are allowed to become members of the club although they are not permitted to join the union.

"If I'm going to be a fireman I want to be one all the way.

"I want nothing special. I just want to use whatever other firemen use" Mr. Pettit declared.

Wanted to get back to camp

"Why did you do what you're charged with doing?"

"I just got confused."

"What confused you?"

"I wanted to get back to camp."

This question-answer series took place in Criminal Court, Tuesday between Judge S. Ralph Warnken and an 18-year-old sailor on trial for burglarizing a place while he was AWOL.

Charles Blakey, 1100 block Edmondson Ave., pleaded guilty to entering an equipment firm at 2223 Maryland Ave. on July 31 and again on August 3.

* * *

ACCORDING TO J. Harold Grady, deputy state's attorney, Blakey stole a quantity of copper and brass on the first occasion but was apprehended by police the second time.

The prosecutor said the young man, AWOL since July 16, had a receipt in his pocket when he was arrested indicating that he received $22 for the material that he admitted taking.

When Judge Warnken wanted to know what his friend occupation was, Blakey replied "Nothing but loating around the street."

Blakey told the judge he spent his 13-day leave with his mother and "then I went to live with a friend on Patterson Park Ave."

'It was raining hard so I went on'

"Coming down Lafayette Ave., I felt something. I stopped and got out, but I didn't see anything. It was raining hard so I went on."

Dee Bee Harris, 31, 1000 block N. Fulton Ave. was speaking Thursday before Magistrate Richard Gilbert in Traffic Court.

Mr. Harris faced charges of reckless driving, unauthorized use of a vehicle, failure to stop after an accident and operating without a license. He pleaded not guilty to all four charges.

JAMES L. TAYLOR of the 2500 block W. Lafayette Ave. stated that about 9 o'clock Monday night he was home, when someone drove into his car, which was parked in front of his home, knocking about $85 worth of damage.

In view of the friendship of the two men and Mr. Dorsey's statement that he would not have called police had his car not been involved in an accident, the defendant was bound not guilty of unauthorized use of a vehicle.

Joseph I. Paper, counsel for the defense, pointed out that his client cooperated with the police in every way and that his intentions were good.

In spite of this and the fact that Officer P. Reinfelder testified the defendant's statement that it was raining the night of the accident, Magistrate Gilbert fined Mr. Harris $50 for operating without a license, $100 for reckless driving, and $100 for failure to stop after an accident.

'I saw a radio, snatched it and ran'—'15 days'

"I was coming from my brother's house. I'd been drinking. I just happened to see a radio there, so I snatched it up and started running."

This was the testimony of George Junius Stuckey, 28, 2700 block Parkwood Ave., Tuesday in Northwestern District Court. He was charged with larceny of a $25 radio from Paul Boswell, 1900 block W. North Ave.

Sgt. Robert Mc Kay presented the shattered radio as state's evidence and said: "We observed Mr. Stuckey running on North Ave. with this radio under his arm. He admitted stealing the radio.

PAUL BOSWELL, the prosecuting witness said: "I was sitting on the steps. I went upstairs to see about the baby. When I came back the radio was gone."

Mr. Stuckey was sentenced to 15 days in jail after the magistrate said: "Some people just have to steal something."

'I was in the car with a carload of colored boys'

"I was in the car with a carload of colored boys.

"They said they were carrying me home but when I knew anything I was in this house... They went through my pockets and took my money."

Jack Frederick, 19-year-old bland, 100 block N. Hilton St., was testifying as a prosecuting witness in a robbery case in Criminal Court Tuesday afternoon.

The witness admitted he had been drinking heavily and could not remember all of the circumstances surrounding the incident.

The defendants in the case were Robert L. Saunders, 21, 2800 block Woodbrook Ave.; Donald L. Pridgen, 22, 2323 W. North Ave.; George T. Holton Jr., 30, 1700 block Linden Ave.; Denselow Curtis, 17, 1500 block Ridgeland St.; and Harry (Lorenzo) Coger; 19, 1500 block N. Fulton Ave.

After hearing all the evidence Judge S. Ralph Warnken found the five guilty and set punishment at one year in jail and a fine of $75 and costs against each man. The jurist suspended the jail term and placed the men on probation for two years.

"Mr. Frederick certainly didn't use much discrimination in selecting his places for drinking," noted Judge Warnken before he announced his verdict.

ACCORDING TO Frederick he was drinking in a bar, in the 2700 block Pennsylvania Ave. on July 30 a short time before the men took his money while at at house in the 1500 block Ridgeland.

Frederick said he lost between $60 and $70. However, three of the men said in statements to police that only six dollars was taken from the man.

Holton, the only defendant to testify, said he met Frederick in the bar and they started drinking together. He stated that when the bartender told them they had had too much to drink they left the place.

According to Holton, Frederick bought four cans of beer and they went to the Ridgeland St. address where they met the other defendants. He said the six of them started to sing and the beer was consumed.

"All during this evening did you and Mr. Frederick have a compatible time?" asked Jacques Leeds, attorney for Holton, Pridgen and Curtis.

"Yes, sir," answered Holton.

The witness stated that sometime during the evening Coger grabbed the victim and Saunders took his wallet.

OFFICER CLAUDE Stith, testifying for the defendants, said: "I couldn't afford to shoot because of the crowd," the officer said.

Officer Doherty related that after arresting the pair he learned of the robbery.

"Did either Lindsey or Wortham try to escape?" asked Mr. Engle while cross examining the officer.

"No, sir," replied the officer with a smirk, "they wouldn't have made it."

IN A POLICE statement, read to the court by Saul Harris, assistant state's attorney, both defendants related that they were walking down the street with a man whom they'd met at a party that night.

When the fellow suggested yoking the man, according to the statements, both Lindsey and Wortham advised him against it and continued walking.

Both defendants contended that after the man took the money he tried to catch up with them.

"I'd never been in trouble before and I got excited and ran," testified Mr. Wortham. "I didn't want to be caught with him after he had robbed somebody."

Mr. Lindsey also maintained innocence on the witness stand. In a verbal opinion, Judge Nice said:

"If all three were together and there was one act they'd all three be guilty.

"On the other hand, if innocent citizens were on the scene and see a robbery, innocent citizens would make a cry or something.

"They would have gotten away except for the fact that the officer saw them."

Judge Nice later said:

"I think that this is a close case. In both these cases I think they're technically guilty."

Northern District, said Frederick reported the robbery to him and he went to the house where he found the man's wallet hidden under a pillow on a chair.

"This is not the usual case of what we call a robbery," argued Peter Woodbury, attorney for Coger at the end of the case.

'I couldn't afford to shoot because of crowd'

"There hasn't been any testimony that these men took anything from Mr. Riley. Their statements were taken separately and they show they knew nothing about it."

Paul Engle, attorney, was arguing on behalf of two clients on trial before Judge Deeley K. Nice, Monday, for robbery.

The defendants were Kelly Wortham, 23, unit block Monroe St., and John E. Lindsey, 22, 1400 block W. Fayette St. They were accused of being two of three men who robbed Edward S. Riley, unit block S. Fulton Ave., of $71 on August 4.

The defendants, however, denied participating in the robbery. In statements to police following their apprehension also, on the witness stand, the pair contended that a third man was solely responsible for the robbery.

Judge Nice withheld a final verdict in the case pending a possible quick apprehension of the third man, who is known to the police.

MR. RILEY, who admitted he had been drinking when accosted at 2 a.m., said three men "beat me and knocked one of my teeth out."

"I saw three colored men in what I'd call a fast gait," testified Officer Gabrael Doherty. "When they saw me, they ran."

Officer Doherty said he arrested the three men, and one of them escaped while he was frisking the defendants.

'Don't want to be think I'm a snitch'

"I asked him about giving us a statement and at first he said he would.

"Later on he said, 'Well, I'm going to have to do time with them because I don't want them to think I'm a snitch.'"

Officer Phillip Smith, Northeastern District, testifying in Criminal Court Tuesday, was referring to conversation he had with Nathaniel Gardner, 24, 1400 block N. Gay St., one of three defendants on trial for robbery.

Gardiner, William H. Sewell, 18, 2100 block E. Chase St., and Otis Jenkins, 18, 2200 block E. Preston St., were accused of yoking Robert Berger, 57, 1432 N. Chester St. on July 28. They got no money.

OFFICER SMITH, off duty at the time, said he was attracted to Hoffman and Chester Sts. by Mr. Berger's outcry. He related that he gave chase and caught Jenkins and Gardiner.

Sewell, who escaped Officer Smith, was arrested in front of the district station after the officer observed him peeping in the window as his friends were being booked.

"This matter of yoking—the idea that one can't be out on the streets either day or night for fear of something being done to them has got to stop," said Judge S. Ralph Warnken before passing sentence.

Gardiner was sentenced to five years in the House of Correction. Jenkins and Sewell were each given terms of not more than five years in the Maryland State Reformatory for Males.

THE THREE defendants denied on the witness stand that they tried to rob the man.

However, Officer Smith said after he was attracted by "faint cries of help" he observed the youths beating the victim.

"When I took off after them they ran toward my car and I chased them for about three blocks," said the officer.

Explaining that he was in plain clothes, Officer Smith said, "They didn't know at first I was a cop. When they saw who they didn't know I was a policeman."
