NYC beauty is new Shrine queen

By MARY STRATFORD

Victory, honor, acclaim and the glory of a crown.

All these belonged to Miss Norma Cobb, 21, of New York City, Wednesday night when she was awarded the title "Miss Shriner Princess of 1956." With the title goes a $1,500 scholarship to the school of her choice.

Competing against 20 other beauties, Miss Cobb plummeted to victory, not only as reigning princess, but as the most talented performer of the night. She sang, "My Joe," from "Carmen Jones."

WASHINGTON'S OWN Sheila Peters, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cortez Peters, won second prize in the 10th annual Shriner's beauty pageant. A senior at Dunbar High School, she did an interpretive dance to the tune of "I'm Available." She received a $1,000 scholarship.

Other finalists in the contest, viewed by approximately 7,000 at National Guard Armory were:

* * *

GAIL THOMAS, Philadelphia, Pa., third place winner of a $500 scholarship; Geraldine Hessen, fourth place, Buffalo, N.Y., $250 scholarship, and fifth, Mary J. Patterson, Birmingham, Ala., a $100 scholarship.

Miss Hessen, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hesson, will attend the Youngstown University in Ohio this fall. She performed a dance interpretation of the song, "Caravan."

OTHERS WHO competed and the temples they represented were: Misses Maxine Freeman, Miss Arabic, Hartford, Conn.; Matine Dalton, Miss Shara, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Marsha Dimmy, Miss Alla Baba, Columbus, Ohio;

Misses Kathy Sanders, Miss Marraci, Detroit, Mich.; Wilma Barnes, Miss Zembo, Milwaukee; Patricia Bryant, Miss Platia, New Orleans;

The girls were judged on the basis of appearance in two categories, bath suits, and evening wear, and talent. The finalists were also judged on personality.

Judges were Robert M. Adams, director, Television promotion, WTOP; Dr. Margaret J. Butcher, former District Board of Education members; Mrs. Clemme B. THE FIRST place winner, Miss Cobb, represented Medina Temple of New York City. Describing her reaction to the announcement that she had won the title, Miss Cobb said: "It's a feeling that is hard to describe."

Second place contestant, Miss Peters, who studies ballet at the Haywood School of ballet, plans to attend schools in New York City, California and Paris after completion of her high school studies.

Miss Hessen, who felt "just great" as third place contestant, plans to pursue studies in elementary education.

The girls were in Washington with the 55th annual session of the Imperial Council of Shriners who met with their women's auxiliary, the Daughters of Isis in a six-day convention here.

All contestants were winners of local eliminations in their home cities.

Last Monday night, the Shriners and the Daughters of Isis entertained the contestants at a party held at the Dunbar Hotel.

DRUM MAJORETTES like Miss Ann Clark, of Morning Star No. 40, Washington, cut pretty capers during the Shriners' two-hour parade, Wednesday. The parade was part of festivities sponsored by the Shriners at the 55th annual session of the Imperial Council.

Alpha Phi Alpha sets up $25,000 fund at Cornell

ITHICA, N.Y. — As highlights of its 50th anniversary celebration, Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity established a $25,000 Memorial Scholarship Fund at Cornell University here last week.

Some 920 Alpha men, their wives and sweethearts, witnessed the ceremonies as Frank L. Stanley Sr., Alpha president, presented a $12,500 check as initial payment toward the fund.

Dr. Lloyd Elliot, executive assistant to the president of Cornell, the campus of Alpha's founding, accepted the check on behalf of the university.

The ceremonies were held in the swank Statler Club on the university campus. Regular convention sessions were at Hotel Statler in Buffalo.

* * *

ANOTHER highlight of the day's activities included the presentation of 50th Anniversary Medallions to the Jewels (founders) of the fraternity.

The three surviving founders—Henry A. Callis of Washington, George B. Kelly of Troy, N.Y., and Nathaniel A. Murray of Los Angeles — were introduced by Roscoe C. Giles.

Incidentally, Mr. Giles is the first of his race to graduate from Cornell's medical school. He is also a former national president of Alpha.

Families of the deceased founders, Robert Ogle, Verner W. Tandy, Eugene Kinckle Jones and Charles H. Chapman, received other medallions.

* * *

IN PRESENTING the scholarship, Mr. Stanley said it would be available to any qualified student "regardless of race, creed or sex."

Dr. Elliott said the award was another significant chapter in the life of Cornell University. Dr. William Hale, Clark University, director of educational activities of Alpha, also appeared on the program.

Dr. G. Alex Gaivin, prominent physician of Ithica, an Alpha and member of the medical faculty of Cornell, was toastmaster.

Mayor C. Ryan welcomed the entourage, that traveled from Buffalo via a 15-car train. Mr. Stanley noted that only 400 were expected to make the trip. Some 1,500 registered for the Buffalo convention.

GOP civil rights plank said better

SAN FRANCISCO (NNPA)—Rep. Kenneth B. Keating of New York called the Republican civil-rights plank "a distinct improvement on the Democratic plank," although not as strong as he hoped.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, and Joseph L. Rauh, national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, described the Republican plank as "a thin shade stronger than the Democratic platform."

In a joint statement, they expressed regret at the failure of the Republicans "to pledge an effort to eliminate the filibuster rule which has blocked all federal civil rights legislation."

This Story Festival of the Moon
The moon is the Queen of Heaven, and on the fifteenth day of the Eighth Moon, when she gloriously rises full and at her brightest immediately after noon, great celebrations take place in her honor throughout the Orient. The moon is honored in every way under the light of the harvest moon, refreshments, games, and round moon cakes, garnished sometimes with the shape of animals, rabbits and frogs are served.
Many tales recording the background of this serene heavenly abode. Legend says that a rabbit sitting under the shade of a Cassia tree pounded the herbs of immortality, grinding gold, jade, and silver ore for into what goes to make up the famous Elixir of Immortality. Others say that once upon a time, around 200 B. C., a fairy queen of the west, Sui Wong Mu, gave a banquet in honor of the handsome emperor for the sake of Wu Jen. His executive wife, Shang Ae, however, made it so drunk it and, in order to cleanse her husband's soul, had the moon goddess Chang Ngo leave the merciful gods of the heaven took pity and changed her into a three-legged toad, the symbol of unattainability. During "Moon Yue" in the Chinese call this festival, Chang Ngo is the goddess most trained as she very been upon the surface of the cool silvery luminary.

Lambello coats setting pace in fashion, wear

WASHINGTON

Fall, 1956, finds fashion news being made all over the country by the introduction of Lambella coats to children's, girls and subteen departments in better stores everywhere.

Why the excitement? What is Lambella? What makes these coats so sensational?

LAMBELLA 15 a fine 100 per cent pure virgin wool. It is butter soft, yet sturdy, warm and practical. Lambella is a sheared, cropped fleece with a lustrous, luxury look.

It is a solid 22-ounce weight cloth, yet has a creamy, feather-soft hand. This Lambella cloth, despite its precious appearance, has a durability so great that consumers will outgrow Lambella coats sooner than outwear them.

United States Testing Bureau reports showed that the Lambella fabric took the abuse of the equivalent of four years wear before showing signs of fraying.

* * *

EVERY LAMBELLA coat bespeaks meticulous attention to fine tailoring and detail.

Every Lambella coat has milium insulated lining for plus protection.

Every Lambella coat has estron interlining that satisfies the rigors of warmth requirements in every part of the country. Estron plus milium, a combination you can not beat for heat!

Every Lambella coat is readily identified by its exclusive, charming lamb printed lining.

EVERY LAMBELLA coat allows for growth with full, deep generous hem and sleeve allowance to insure an extra year's wear.

Every Lambella coat features an inside storm tab, that buttons across to keep out chill winds.

Every Lambella coat carries a metal chain so that you can hang them up properly—anywhere.

Every Lambella slack has adjustable, detachable slack straps.

Every Lambella coat has hand sewn bone buttons and broad woven flannel pocketing.

Every Lambella coat is keyed to a matching hat.

* * *

THE APPEAL of a sheared face fleece is new in concept, a fabric look that has never before been available in the Children's, Girls' and Subteen markets.

The approach to fashion is under-stated, the look is basic, yet the silhouette, detail and trim denote the new season's important influences.

Belts, pockets, buttons, leather, braid, seaming, new sleeve treatment, good body line, all have been combined to produce fashion that is restrained but refreshing.

As important as design is the color story of Lambella. The range of colors resemble those found in the high priced imported cashmeres.

THE BEIGE, the blue mist, the yarn dye gray, the rose petal, and the frosty red in addition to the traditional camel and navy, afford a variety of colors which is at once high fashion and at the same time practical.

The muted tones and ever-so-slight frosting in these shades make them extremely desirable to mothers as they will not soil easily.

The two leading fashion publications, Vogue and Harper's, have recognized the good looks of Lambella and have editorially featured these coats as epitomizing good taste in children's, girls and subteen coats.
