'He fumbled for his registration'

"I was alongside him on my motorcycle. I tooted my horn. He looked at me and continued down North Ave. at about 50 miles per hour.

"He fumbled for his registration and didn't have an operator's license. If it wasn't for my holding him up, he wouldn't have walked."

Officer R. L. Frey was testifying Thursday in Traffic Court before Magistrate E. Everett Lane against James Jeffries, 39 1800 block N. Smallwood St.

Mr. Jefferies faced charges of operating under the influence of liquor, operating without a license and exceeding a 30 mile per hour speed limit. He was stopped at North and Moreland Ave. Sunday night.

Through his counsel, Solomon Baylor, Mr. Jeffries pleaded guilty to operating without a license, but not guilty to the other two charges.

"Operating under the influence was bad enough, but racing with an officer was even worse," Magistrate Lane told the defendant and fined him $300 on three counts of traffic violations.

Morgan president tells ATA to stress '3 Rs'

ATLANTA, Ga. — A suggestion that developmental and remedial courses in the three R's be organized in every school from elementary school to college has been proposed by Morgan State College president, Dr. Martin D. Jenkins.

Dr. Jenkins made the proposal in an address here last week to the 59th annual convention of the American Teachers Association.

ORGANIZATION OF courses in developmental and remedial reading, writing and arithmetic was one of the proposals the educator made as a means of developing the potential of the colored child, who, he said, continues to fall below national norms in test performance because of the disadvantages suffered through inferior, segregated schools and other socio-economic factors.

Emphasing that differences in performance of colored and white children will "disappear only when colored children have the same opportunity for development as their fellow Americans," Dr. Jenkins, nevertheless, made it clear that educators cannot wait for complete integration to begin to develop the potential.

In suggesting "the remedial and development courses, Dr. Jenkins explained that he was not suggesting a "curriculum or school experience for colored children which differs in any fundamental way from that for other children."

But he said, colored children cannot be permitted to learn social skills and "be like "at the expense of the fundamental tool skills."

"I AM CONVINCED," he declared, "that, particularly at the high school and college level, colored students are too much concerned with what Woodrow Wilson once called the 'side show' — singing and socializing, football and fraternities. Let us keep these activities in their proper perspective."

He also suggested that administrators and teachers pay particular attention to bright children, that administration and teaching be improved, that schools organize standard testing programs, and educating parents and community leaders to the problem.

In proposing that attention be paid to the bright student, Dr. Jenkins said that this should not be done at the expense of other children.

However, he declared that education has been too concerned with the so-average child, while, "the brightest pupils in any population constitute the reservoir from which our nation's academic and intellectual leadership is drawn."

The Morgan president also proposed that the ATA take the initiative in requesting some of the major philanthropic foundations, particularly the Fund for the Advancement of Education, to underwrite a program of several millions of dollars for the in-service education of teachers of colored children and also secure philanthropic aid in support of several major research projects designed to ascertain how the best performance of underprivileged children can be improved.

'Keep your knives in your pockets'

"You've got to learn how to Keep your knives in your pockets."

This warning was sounded in Criminal Court Wednesday afternoon by Judge Emory Niles before he imposed a sentence of six months in the House of Correction upon Lester Moore, 35, 400 block George St.

Mr. Moore, on trial for assault to murder, was accused of stabbing Walter Robinson, 700 block W. Franklin St., during an altercation at Pine and Vine Sts. on July 8.

Noting that both the defendant and prosecuting witness had lengthy police records, Judge Niles said, "Now, in this case both of you were wrong."

MR. MOORE testified that he stabbed Mr. Robinson when the man grabbed him in the collar and put his hand in his pocket as if to draw a weapon.

"I don't want nobody to hurt me, 'cause I've been cut up too much," the defendant said.

In a verbal opinion, Judge Niles said, "There's no justification to cut a man because he has a knife."

John Weiss, assistant State's attorney, said the defendant has a record of convictions dating back to 1938. According to the prosecutor, Mr. Moore served a two-year prison term in 1942 for assault and robbery.

Harlem Park Council seeks representatives

The Harlem Park Neighborhood Council is recruiting block representatives to work for neighborhood improvement. According to Edward Robertson, council chairman, the program is an opportunity for civic-minded individuals to represent their blocks in the council.

The area included in the program is bounded by Fremont St. on the east; Monroe on the west; Lafayette on the north a Mulberry on the south.

Churches, PTAs and other civic neighborhood groups may also submit delegates. Mr. Robertson can be contacted for further information at the council office, 724 N. Carrollton Ave., PL. 2-2000, Ext. 2111; or his home, 535 N. Calhoun St., GI-4383.

Mrs. Mary N. Brooks and Dr. Isaac Young are council co-chairmen.

Sunday will be Youth Day at UNION BETHEL AME Church, Randallstown, Md. The Rev. J. H. Cartwright will be guest speaker. The Rev. W. N. Edwards left the city Monday morning to attend the retreat at Kittrell College, N.C.

The Rev. Wayman Norris will be the guest speaker at CAMPFIELD AME Church, Howardsville.

Judges To Make Final Inspection On Sunday

OFF TO THE PARK go more than 300 Clean Block captains, co-captains and advisors, who brave light showers to attend the annual AFRO Clean Block picnic and outing held Tuesday at Druid Hill Park. This photo was made in front of the AFRO Building as the Clean Blockers boarded buses donated by the Diggs Bus Co. Ice cream, punch and cookies were their reward when they reached their destination.

Selection of winners seen difficult task

Clean Block Captains are expected to have their blocks sparkling clean and all polished up Sunday.

That's the date for the final inspection of the 22nd annual campaign.

The committee of AFRO Clean Block judges, armed with pencil and scoreboards will take on the task of determining the winning blocks.

* * *

IT WILL be no easy task insisted one of the judges who has seen several of the blocks in east, south and northwest Baltimore.

The judges are scheduled to leave the AFRO building at 10:30 Sunday morning. The tour will take them into all sections of the city.

After the inspection, the job begins, that of deciding the winners.

With so many beautiful blocks participating in this year's drive, it will be no enviable task.

Clean Block Calendar

AUGUST 17—Giant Jamboree No. 3 for East Baltimore Clean Blockers, Biddle Theatre, 1235 E. Biddle St., 10:30 a.m.

AUGUST 19—Final inspection of Honor Blocks by Jury of Clean Block Judges begins at 11 a.m.

AUGUST 24—Closing Program, Announcement of Winners, Awarding of Prizes, Knox Presbyterian Church, Broadway and Gay Sts., 10 a.m.

HORRIBLE, ISN'T HE? — This not so dainty insect symbolizes all those messy people who throw cans, paper and litter about our streets, parks and highways. AFRO Clean Blockers have declared war on him. 10,000 of these posters are being distributed by the Md.-Va.-D.C. Council of Brewery, Yeast and Soft Drink Workers in the campaign to "Keep Maryland Beautiful."

CLEAN BLOCK ● SIDELIGHTS ●

By M. FRANCIS MACKAY
AFRO Clean Block Director

We didn't worry too much the first of July because we thought everyone was waiting until the first of August to send in their donations.

Then came the heat wave. Now just before the next heat wave (the closing is Friday, August 24.) won't you send your contribution to the Clean Block Prize Fund so the youngsters will have a real celebration when the prizes are distributed?

* * *

REMEMBER NO amount is too small, no amount is too large. If you don't have cash, send a gift as a memorial in the name of someone else. But send a donation.

* * *

ANOTHER CLEAN BLOCK Campaign is almost history. As in former years the memories will be many. Several new angles were noted this year. For instance, there was the increase in the use of tires as sidewalk flower beds.

It has been quite interesting to me these last few days to answer the telephone and find so many would-be Clean Blockers wanting to register when the closing is but a week away.

* * *

CLEAN BLOCKERS should keep in mind that the prizes are offered as encouragement, not as payment.

Many will probably express dissatisfaction with your award or lack of award. Many will wish that they had attended the weekly meetings as they were warned to do. Others will wish that they had complied with the request to submit their workers' sheets.

But those who will not qualify for the top prizes can like the Brooklyn Dodgers, look forward to next year. And when next year comes just work a little harder. Work has never failed to pay off.

* * *

MANY OF the neighborhood clubs formed as the result of AFRO Clean Block Campaign have decided to make their organization permanent and meet the year around. It's an excellent idea and the best thing possible for community morale.

* * *

NOTHING CAN beat a neighborhood club. Many problems can arise within your block. If you are banded together, they can be solved without too much trouble. Best luck to these clubs.

* * *

WHEN YOU hold your meetings or plan any affair with your club group, be sure to send the news to the AFRO. Remember readers like to know what Clean Blockers do in the winter months.

* * *

NEXT WEEK will be the last edition of clean Block Sidelights for 1956.

10,000 litterbug posters on display

Organized labor has joined the fight to eliminate roadside litter and preserve America's scenic beauty.

Prepared and distributed by the Maryland - Virginia - District of Columbia Council of Brewery, Yeast and Soft Drink Workers, 10,000 copies of a sprightly new poster are going on display in beverage outlets throughout the area.

The posters show a "litterbug," greatest menace to scenic beauty in America, at work and carry the legend:

"Keep our parks and highways clean-
Litter always mars the scene
Don't be a litterbug"

* * *

JOHN L. HELM, president of the Council, said: "We feel that the fight against litter is everybody's fight. We are taking this means of helping to educate the public not to throw cans, bottles, paper and other trash on the highways."

John E. Clark, chairman of the Governor's Committee to Keep Maryland Beautiful, hailed this new recruit to the army of litter-fighters.

He said, "Labor shows it is aware of its responsibilities as a community force when it lends its support to a project like this. It is only through concerted efforts of all that we can lick the litter problem."

* * *

WALTER C. RIEGHARD, secretary of Local No 265 in Cumberland, has charge of the Western Maryland part of the distribution. He is distributing 1,500 posters.

Mrs. Nettie Mehaffey, International representative of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America is conducting distribution of 500 of these posters through industrial and other groups on the Eastern Shore.

Balance of the 10,000 posters are going on display throughout the rest of Maryland.

Mr. Helm urged other groups interested in helping distribute the posters to contact him.

City's $500 ups fund to $1106.25

The receipt of a $500 check from the City of Baltimore was like a blood transfusion to the AFRO Clean Block Prize Fund Thursday.

The man - size donation skyrocketed the total now available for distribution to winning Clean Blockers to a respectable $1,106.25.

In his letter accompanying the city's donation, Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro wrote:

"I am glad to hear that this will be the most successful Clean Block Campaign to date."

* * *

UNHAPPILY, no other donations reached the Clean Block office during the week.

With but one week left, before the closing of the campaign, Clean Block Officials were making one final appeal to civic-minded Baltimoreans to help.

All contributions are divided among the children. None is used to finance the campaign, the expenses of which are borne by the AFRO.

200 fill buses for 2nd annual outing

More than 200 Clean Blockers crowded the Clean Block office Tuesday morning amid showers to await the four buses which carried them to Druid Hill Park for the second annual picnic and outing.

The youngsters began gathering two hours before take-off time.

Happy smiles wreathed their faces, healthily tanned from working all summer in the sun getting their blocks ready for final inspection by the judges Sunday.

* * *

SOME OF THE boys and girls arrived back from camp just in time for the affair.

Serving as hostesses were Clean Block Director M. Francis Mackay and assistant director Edith Weaver.

Also coming to aid of these youngsters for the second time were Robert Diggs of the Diggs Motor Coach Co., and Lonnie Ellis, James Spencer, and Fred de Brooks, drivers of the buses.

These men provided transportation to and from the park for the group.

In addition to their lunch they ate 700 cookies, 360 cups of ice cream and fifteen gallons of iced punch.
