'I've lived to be 76 because I refuse to worry about things'

By B. M. PHILLIPS

"I guess my formula for happiness is 'do unto others as you would have them do unto you,' and maybe I've lived this three quarters of a century because I just refuse to worry about anything.

"I'd advise any young man or woman who wants to enjoy a full life not to worry about anything. Worry doesn't change anything. Worry is only interest on sorrow. And I'd advise them to live by the Golden Rule . . ."

John Henry Murphy Jr., namesake of the founder of the AFRO - AMERICAN Newspapers, and oldest of his three surviving sons, was speaking about his approaching birthday on Saturday. He will be 76 years old.

And he adds this other advice which he says he believes essential for a happy life: "Never try to get more from somebody else, than what you want to give them.

"Keep what you have. If you can lend, lend. If you can't don't borrow. Never borrow money. One thing, it is hard to pay back.

JOHN H. MURPHY JR.
76 years old on Saturday

* * *

MR. MURPHY plans to spend his birthday 'quietly' at home, 1725 N. Carey St., with his wife, Marie.

That evening, some friends will probably gather, and there will be a lively pinochle game. He has been a pinochle fan for 45 years.

Some of his friends accuse him of inventing rules for the game; but 'Mr. John' or 'Jack' as his friends call him explains:

"There are never the same rules all over the country. Over in Washington, a man will take a bid and then throw his hand in.

"Over here, we take a bid and then play. But as long as there is in the deck more than you take out, we go ahead and do it.

"There are always a thousand aces, eighty kings, 600 queens, 400 jacks. So if you take anything about 385, you got 400 to measure on. And lots of times you get something. I've had every possible hand in the deck."

* * *

KNOWN TO dozens of youngsters throughout the city as 'Uncle John' 'Uncle Johnny' or 'Uncle Jack,' Mr. Murphy has always regretted that he had no children of his own.

He has compensated for this by adopting children of his brothers and their children, his wife's nieces and nephews, children of friends, neighbors, acquaintances and employees.

"I always wanted children and since they didn't come along, I adopt other people's," he said with a twinkle in his eye.

Adopting them means that on their birthdays, their wedding anniversaries when they grow up and at Christmas, they can look forward to gifts of money and fancy things they would not ordinarily get from Santa or their parents.

In fact, at Christmastime, 'Uncle Johnny' himself resembles a miniature Santa. It is not unusual to see him making house-to-house visits dispensing boxes of fruit, candies and envelopes of silver dollars. Over 60 children are on his Christmas list.

* * *

ONE DAY a week, Mr. Murphy makes a 7 a.m. visit to the barbershop where he has his nails trimmed, his hair cut, his goatee clipped and his face massaged. 'That's the way I keep young' he explains.

The goatee is his trademark. He began wearing it after he lost an election bet 28 years ago. His friend, the late George Thomas, bet him Hoover would beat Al Smith. Al Smith lost and he's been wearing the goatee ever since.

Mr. Murphy is also an inveterate fisherman. For 35 years, he has made a fishing trip twice a month, weather permitting.

Brielle, N.J. and Ocean City, Md. are his favorite fishing spots. He goes for deep sea fishing.

He always gets some Blues, Bonitas, Albacores, White Marley, and on the last trip got a 25-pound king fish, a green derby, 18½ pounds and other lesser fish weighing 10 and 12 pounds. He and his fishing pals caught 18 on the last trip out and 48 the trip before.

His fishing cronies include: Cliff Gross, Edgar Whittaker, James Diggs, Dr. Louis Johnson, and Dr. Albert Burwell.

* * *

RETIRED SIX years ago as circulation director of the AFRO, Mr. Murphy still makes regular visits to the newspaper office, and acts as a special assistant to the president.

He usually sleeps late in the mornings, but his day rarely ends before 2 a.m.

If he isn't playing pinochle, he is busy as secretary of the Enterprise Lodge of Masons No. 3. He has been a member of the lodge since 1907.

He has been master of the lodge twice and has served as secretary for 23 years.

A former imperial potentate (1935-39) of the Shriners, he is also active in Jerusalem Temple of this group. He is an active 33rd Degree Scottish Rite Mason.

* * *

A CONTRIBUTING member of Douglass Memorial Church for the past fifteen years, he has held active membership in the church for the past four years. He recently resigned as a trustee.

He is also past president of the Falcon Rod and Gun Club. During his presidency three years ago, the group completed construction of its clubhouse near Waterloo, Md.

Mr. Murphy is president of the Eastern Skeet and Trap-shooting Association.

Oldest living incorporator of the AFRO-AMERICAN Co., which was incorporated in 1892, Mr. Murphy also holds the distinction of being the oldest active member of the company's board of directors.

Like other members of his immediate family, he joined the family business while he was still in high school.

He began in the job printing department (since abandoned); later was in charge of the composing room, and still later, worked in the circulation department and was director of circulation when he retired in 1951.

Mr. Murphy's favorite food is bread and gravy "plenty of brown gravy." His favorite drink is "good scotch."

He weights 175 pounds and stands five feet, two and ½ inches tall, and adds "I feel fine."

'You must be calm to be a police officer'

"I think you did very wrong. I'll give you a fine this time. You must exercise calmness if you're going to be a police officer."

Magistrate Linwood G. Koger, Sr. speaking Wednesday in Northwestern Police Court made these statements to Arthur Glover, a 23-year-old probationary patrolman in the police Academy, charged with striking his wife and sister-in-law.

Mrs. Alice Glover, 22, 1400 block Edmondson Ave., speaking in quick, nervous sentences said: "That wasn't the first time he struck me. He called me stupid, dumb. He hit me. He threatened to break every bone in my body."

* * *

MRS. GLOVER, neatly dressed in a tan ensemble, seemed on the verge of tears as she said: "Seems like we're drifting apart. I wanted to make our marriage work.

"I have a 14-day-old son and a 14-month-old son. He knew about his job before he hit me. I don't care anymore. He called me a child. I'm 22 years old. If I haven't grown up I never will."

Mrs. Glover glanced at her sister, Mrs. Helen Camphor as she said: "I'm not happy. He's not happy."

* * *

MRS. CAMPHOR said that she heard the disturbance and tried to intervene, but her brother-in-law struck her too.

The young patrolman, casually attired in a red sport shirt and light colored trousers, said: "I hit my wife.

Mrs. Camphor didn't have any business in there. I pushed her slightly."

He was fined $100 for striking his wife. A $50 fine for striking his sister - in - law was suspended. Captain Norman J. Schleigh of the Police Academy was present, but he did not testify.

Mr. Johnson looked like Mrs. Johnson

"Your honor, I am not guilty of leading a dissolute and disorderly life." That was the testimony Wednesday in Northwestern Police Court of Armand Henry Johnson, 29, 1200 block Bloomingdale Rd.

Red-haired Mr. Johnson appeared in court wearing a torn white blouse, a blue skirt and tan low-heeled shoes. There was a gold band on the fourth finger of his left hand.

Officer Jack Cook testified he had seen the defendant early Wednesday morning dressed as a woman.

* * *

"WHEN I called to him, he ran into a house on Argyle Ave. officer said.

"I came to a birthday party. I left at 3:30 a.m. to go home. I don't give nobody any trouble." Mr. Johnson insisted.

He was sentenced to 20 days in jail when he told Magistrate Linwood G. Koger, Sr. he could not raise $50.

Buses roll in Tallahassee

By SAMUEL HOSKINS

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — The bus service here, suspended since July 1, resumed operation Thursday morning, but the two-month-old boycott continues.

Despite the hiring of four colored drivers, the Inter-Civic Council rejected what it termed a "halfway measure" on part of the bus company.

The Rev. Charles Kinzie Steele, president, declared:

"WE STILL are opposed to our people being herded like cattle to the rear of buses, even though the drivers are colored."

The boycott continues, he said, and the regular mass meetings will be held as usual.

Dan Speed, chairman of the council's transportation committee, said the four colored drivers are operating on the two routes which transverse predominantly colored neighborhoods.

* * *

"SOME COLORED patrons are riding," he declared, "but most of them probably thought the boycott had ended as the company put on the colored drivers."

Estimating the number at approximately 20 per cent of the total riders, he said that most of them probably will refuse to continue riding when they learn the boycott is not ended.

The Rev. Mr. Steele reiterated the ICC's previous terms on which it will end the boycott: "Abolish segregated seating."

'Doing your mother like that is a terrible thing . . .'

"That's my son. He came back yesterday from Washington. He had been drinking. He called me every name a man would call a common woman. I couldn't stand it any longer. He doesn't give me five cents."

Mrs. Mary Henson 1005 Edmondson Ave., an elderly lady who walked slowly to the court rail, dressed in a green dress, blue sweater, blue shoes and white stockings, testified Monday in Northwestern Police Court against her son, Ernest Henson, 33, of the same address.

"Doing your mother like that is a terrible thing. You don't deserve any consideration," Magistrate Linwood G. Koger, Sr. told the defendant. He was sentenced to 45 days in jail for disorderly conduct.

HERE'S A CLEAN BLOCK — This is graphic evidence that Captain Patricia Turner and Clean Blockers of 1000 block Briscoe St. in South Baltimore have really been working. Her block made the Honor Roll.

Clean Block Pep Rally Shifting To Lafayette

Free eats, drinks to be served

The scene of the weekly Clean Block pep rally will shift next Friday, August 10 from McCulloh Homes to an outdoor assembly area of the new sky high Lafayette Courts project.

That was the announcement made Friday morning by Clean Block Director M. Francis Mackay, who urged all Clean Block captains, co-captains and advisors to be present.

A special program has been planned by the Lafayette Court Clean Blockers to be enhanced wh a flag - raising ceremony.

Of particular interest to the youngsters is the announcement that free soft drinks cookies and other refreshments are in store for all Clean Blockers who attend.

Not only the refreshments are expected to prove an attraction, but a full program of athletic events and music by the Drum and Bugle Corps of the Junior Herd No. 115, East Baltimore Elks, should prove a drawing card.

The corps is under the direction of Major James Baker.

The athletic events will be directed by Daniel Clark of the Bureau of Recreation.

* * *

BRIEF REMARKS will be brought by Assemblyman Truly Hatchet, F. C. Hockreiter of the Housing Authority and Van Story, Branch, manager of Lafayette Courts.

The Honor Flag will be presented by Clean Block Director M. Francis Mackay to Captain Laura Finch of 1100 block Orleans St., who will make a brief acceptance speech.

Dedication of the flag will be led by Miss Glines Winkler.

The program is scheduled to get under way at 10 o'clock.

All Clean Blockers, who regularly attended the Friday meetings are reminded that the Lafayette Court Program will take the place of the meeting next Friday, August 10.

* * *

THERE WILL be no meeting at McCulloh Homes on that date.

For the benefit of Clean Blockers who do not know how to reach Lafayette Court by bus, directions are printed below on this page.

Clip this out and bring it with you when you board the bus.

CLEAN BLOCK • SIDELIGHTS •

By M. FRANCIS MACKAY
AFRO Clean Block Director

The fifth complete tour of competing blocks reveals that Clean Blockers are getting ready for the final judging on Sunday, August 19.

Our records show that there are now 231 blocks participating in this year's drive, more than 12,000 youngsters, their parents and interested freinds are enrolled in the campaign.

If you're in East Baltimore, take a look at the 1690 block Ellsworth St. It is one of the neatest and most beautiful in the city.

* * *

IT COULDN'T have come at a better time. Clean Block officials agreed as they renewed their plea to civic minded Baltimoreans to open their hearts and their pocketbooks.

In addition of the Faith Baptist Contribution, checks arrived from eight other individuals and clubs.

$5 gifts were received from William B. Day, who operates the Day Employment Service; Milton H. F. Saul, an attorney at law; and Mrs. Rufus Tucker, local School teacher.

A $3 check from Robert O. Matthews of 807 McKean Ave. was accompanied by a letter from Mr. Matthews, who wrote:

"The AFRO Clean Block Campaign is my pick as a worthy program, not only from the standpoint of beautifying and cleaniness; it also has these valuable characteristics: it sets a pattern for leadership, responsibility, cooperation, and team work which is very valuable for our young generation."

"Cleaniness," insisted Mr. Matthews, "is everybody's business; churches as well as everyone else.

"The church preaches cleanliness of the heart. Cleaniness fo the community is also important. I have heard much talk from the pulpit in favor of some politician; why not a little encouragement to this movement?"

* * *

THE LIST of more recent donors and the amount they gave follows:

$25.00
Faith Baptist, Rev. Walter E. Paige; Pastor
Mrs. Helen Holland and Mrs. Anna A. N. Monroe
$5.00
Milton H. F. Saul
William B. Day
Mrs. Rufus Tucker
Emory R. Cole
$3.00
Robert O. Matthews
Earl Koger
$2.00
The Blue Orchid Club, Mrs. Mildred Brown, president
The Tulip Club, Mrs. Milfred Brown, President.
James W. Miller
$1.00
Miss Inez Anderson
William Kirkwood

IT IS not too late to get the neatest and most beautiful in the city.

* * *

JAMBOREE TIME is rapidly drawing near. East Baltimore Clean Blockers will again be the guest of Manager Robert Lee of the Biddle Theatre. The East Baltimore date is August 18.

Northwest, West and South Baltimore Clean Blockers will be divided in two groups for their jamborees as guests of Henry Hornstein of the Recent Theatre on Pennsylvania Ave. The Regent theatre dates will be August 15 and 16.

* * *

WARNING TO captains! All who have neglected to send in workers sheets will not receive tickets to the GIANT JAMBOREES.

Don't disappoint your little helpers. Get your workers sheets in at once so they can receive tickets to the funfest. Hurry! Hurry! Hurry! You only have until August 10.

Captain Delores Adams of the 900 block Harlem Ave., writes that she will have all the painting completed by August 10. More power to her.

* * *

VICTORY REPORTS ARE DUE IN THE CLEAN BLOCK OFFICE BY WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 15. Have you mailed yours, yet?

* * *

MRS. MARY RANDALL, advisor of the 100 block Argyle Ave., plans a weiner roast in her back yard for her Clean Blockers.

It will be combined with a talent show with prizes and games. These little energetic workers have already received an appreciation award.

* * *

CAPTAIN SHIRLEY EPPS of the 2800 block Rayner Ave., sends a note of appreciation to the 2700 block Riggs Ave., for their cooperation in helping to make their supper a success on Friday. They write they will be very happy to return the same cooperation.

* * *

CAPTAIN MARIE ALLEN of the 2200 block McElderry St., writes: "Some workers fell by the wayside, but we are trying hard to get most of the group to cooperate.

CLEAN BLOCKERS of Wilson Park held their annual Clean Block Lawn Party on Saturday. Square Dancing was the highlight of the evening.

FATHER RICHARD SWIFT called this week to say "The AFRO Clean Block is a wonderful program. South Baltimore is doing wonderful work and great. The cooperation in the community is wonderful."

Many friends expressed how enthusiastic the people are this year. It's much better than last year.

* * *

CO - CAPTAIN ROSELEE FROST of 1100 Stricker St., called Monday afternoon. She's very happy because her group is going on a straw ride to Ft. Smallwood. The treat is coming from Glen R. Moore.

* * *

WEST BALTIMORE Clean Blockers had a real treat on Saturday. They boarded a bus at 9:30 a.m. for a trip to Ft. Smallwood.

To make the trip more exciting the bus drive carried us 40 miles in the wrong direction before we knew we were not headed for the beach.

We then turned around and headed in the right direction. Many of the Clean Blockers went in swimming. Others spent the day resting in the shady spots.

'Country Fair' to be held in Cherry Hill

Plans have been completed for "Country Fair" to be held today (Friday) from 2-6 p.m. at the Cherry Hill Community Building.

"Miss Midget Softball" and "Miss Junior Softball" will be crowned at the Fair. Teams are selling tickets for the popularity contest.

Mrs. Lucille Sharp, Bureau of Recreation staff member, will assist the teams with the operation of the Country Fair.

68 now on Honor Roll

The addition of 19 more blocks this week skyrocketed the number of Honor Roll blocks to an impressive 68 total Thursday.

The new blocks were cited by Clean Block Director M. Francis Mackay after a thorough inspection of registered books in the Gilmor, Douglass, Somerset, Lafayette, Fairfield Poe and McCulloh housing projects.

In addition, several city blocks were found to have completed their work and ready for placement in the coveted honor circle.

* * *

THE NEW Honor Roll additions were:

208 Fremont Ct., Captain Elizabeth Keene
902 Lexington St., Captain Valerie Watts
467 Mullikin Ct., Robert Harrison
1208 H Ct., Captain Dorothy McLeod
1210 Canal Ct., Captain Thelma Welborn

3400 Chessell Ct., Captain Patricia Carrow
3400 Chessell Ct., Captain Ann Waters of the unit block Castle St. receives her Honor Flag from Captain Elissa Lyle of the 1600 Bruce Terrace.

How you can reach scene of Clean Block meeting

Here's how to reach the Lafayette Courts for the next pep rally on Friday morning, August 10, 1955.

South Baltimore Clean Blockers should ride Bus No. 28 to Charles and Mulberry, where they transfer to Bus No. 12, get off Bus No. 12 at Aisquith St. and walk south half block to the playground.

Northwest Clean Blockers should ride trackless Trolley No. 21 to Caroline and Orleans Sts. Walk west to Aisquith St., and walk half block south to playground.

They're Working, Too!

Six more 'Clean Block Captains, who put it off until the very last minute, rushed the lists of their advisors, co-captains and workers to the Clean Block office this week.

There are still several score blocks known to be working, whose captains have failed to submit these lists.

Clean Block Directo M. Francis Mackay, warned again that unless these lists of workers are in the office that Captains who do not submit lists of workers will not receive tickets to the big jamborees scheduled for later this month.
