Magicians boasting bigger crowds, due here next week

The famous Harlem Magicians, playing before bigger crowds than ever before, are due to appear in this area next weekend.

Boasting a 20 percent attendance increase in games thus far this season, the fabulous clowns of the hardwood floor will show in Washington at Uline Arena on Friday, Dec. 27, and in Baltimore at the Coliseum on Saturday, Dec. 28.

The fall tour of Canada for 15 games was outstanding, the Magicians' second such tour in five seasons of basketball campaigning.

They also were a success in Mexico, playing again to capacity bull ring throngs. In Mexico City, they played three contests in one day.

THE MAGICIANS, managed by the classy Marques Haynes, are paced by showman Sam (Boom) Wheeler. Wheeler's fun bag, which is cleaned of its contests during each contest, includes a wide assortment of tricks plus a few schemes to keep officials, Ed Dossey and Chick Knight on their toes.

The former Globetrotter star heckles the referees by wasting time at the charity strip, by pretending to swat flys while Shamrock cagers are shooting free shots, and by calling most of the shots on such important matters as side outs, jump balls and what have you.

Haynes, the renowned ball handler and dribbler, chips in on the fun with a number of dribbling acts which finally end with the Shamrock defenders either going in circles or sprawling on the floor.

Two wins on road for fiery American U.

American University turned back two basketball foes on the road Monday and Tuesday to gain win numbers four and five.

AU rolled to a 73-66 victory over Mount Union in Alliance, Ohio and downed Ohio Wesley an 84-80, in Delaware, Ohio.

Frank Weiss hit for 26 and Willie Jones, former Dunbar High star, added 22 to push AU by onrushing Mount Union.

OHIO WESLEYAN forced American U. into overtime before bowing. Gene Richter, of Ohio, was the game's top scorer with 26 points.

Weiss and Eddie Clements both had 23 for AU. Jones at one point sank five straight baskets to keep the visitors in the game.

Navy gave AU its only loss.

'Too many guns for us,' Duck coach on Dunbar

"They just had too many guns for us. I don't think anybody in the city is going to beat them."

That was the way Coach Jack Payne explained the loss of his Douglass High School quint to the crack Dunbar five, 44-31, at Douglass Thursday afternoon.

Coach Sugar Cain's defending schoolboy champions had overshot an early 10-point lead of the Ducks, and wrapped up the contestin a 22-point outburst in the late minutes.

* * *

DOUGLASS grabbed a 12-2 bulge in the opening minutes, using a lightning fast break and taking advantage of an apparent overconfidence in the East Baltimore team's approach to the game.

Once Cain had shaken up his boys, however, there was little doubt as to the eventual outcome.

Payne was not dismayed by the licking, the second absorbed by his Douglass cagers in two Maryland Scholastic Association starts.

* * *

"I WAS QUITE pleased," he told the AFRO after the game. "They played well, showed a lot of hustle and gave me encouragement for later in the season.

"We're all small, as you can see. Our boys range between 5-feet-6 and 5-7. We don't have the six-footers th other fellows are carrying.

"Dunbar is powerful. I don't believe there's anybody in the city to beat them, at least not until February.

* * *

"I HAVE seen Patterson and I've seen Forest Park," Mack went on. "I am sure Dunbar can handle them. They've already beaten City and their other game with City is to be played at Dunbar. That means a lot.

"They lose some good men in Joe Pulliam and Cliff Johnson in February, though. That can make a difference.

"What's more, I'll be stronger in February. So they had all better look out."

Bowie marks dedication with 1st win

Bowie (Md.) State Teachers College made the dedication of its new $400,000 gym a happy one by trouncing Coppin State Teachers of Baltimore, 77-36, Saturday. It was the first triumph for Bowie who has lost four.

A crowd 500 watched Bowie score at will. Chief point-getter was Richard (Cool) Milburne who had 20. Coppin's high was 17 points contributed by G. Gibson.

Bowie lost, 57-44, to Howard University Jayvees at Capital Arena here and, 92-71, to Cheyney (Pa.) State Teachers College at Cheyney on Thursday and Friday, respectively.

Nothing Bowie did could stop David Allen of Cheyney as he burned the nets for 33 points. Milburne had 34.

Stepfather jailed in assault case

The second time proved unlucky for Richard Shadrick, 46, in Criminal Court on Tuesday as he was sentenced to three years in the Maryland House of Correction on carnal knowledge and rape charges involving his deaf and dumb 15-year-old stepdaughter.

In July of this year Shadrick had escaped imprisonment when a two year sentence, imposed after his conviction on a carnal knowledge charge involving the same girl, had been suspended.

According to testimony the alleged second attack on the child came at the home of Shadrick's wife, Mrs. Katherine Shadrick, the mother of the handicapped child.

Denying that he assaulted the girl, Shadrick said he had gone to the house to see his five children.

Burglars get four and six year terms

Clyde C. Lankford, 27, of the 1300 Block of Brunson Way was sentenced to four years in the House of Correction Thursday following his guilty plea before Judge S. Ralph Warnken in Criminal Court.

He pleaded guilty to a charge of burglarizing the home of Mrs. Charlotte House of the 3400 block of Mondawmin Ave.

In another case before Judge Warnken, two men were sentenced to six-year terms in the House of Correction after pleading guilty to burglarizing three Northwest Baltimore homes.

They are Edward Cook, 28, of the 1300 block of N. Gilmore St., and John W. Parker, 32, of the 700 block Whitmore Ave.

* * *

They pleaded guilty to charges of burglarizing the homes of Mrs. Nadine Gray, 600 block Glenolden Ave.; Mrs. Nettie Wilson, 2800 block Clifton Ave.; and William Young, 1600 block of W. North Ave.

The burglaries were pulled off during the months of September and November. All told, the men pleaded guilty to stealing clothes valued at over $500.

Arresting officers were Sgt. James H. Butler and Detz. Lloyd Johnson and James Watkins.

Charges filed in fatal tavern bout

A 27-year-old construction worker who allegedly stabbed a tavern patron to death following a dispute in the 1700 block of Lorman St., last November 16, was held without bail for action of the grand jury Tuesday.

In Central Homicide Court, George M. (Dunkey Sam) Graves of the 2300 block W. North Ave., entered a plea of not guilty in connection with the death of Paul O. Wade, 35, of the 1700 block Lorman St.

Sergeant Earl Dyson of the Northwestern District read a statement allegedly signed by the defendant in which he admitted stabbing Wade with an 11-inch butcher knife following "words" over a woman.

Wade was pronounced dead on arrival at Provident Hospital from multiple stab wounds of the chest and abdomen.

Police said that Graves was also cut in the early stages of the dispute, and was arrested at his home after going to Franklin Square Hospital for treatment.

Burglaries bring pair 2-year terms

"If you had carried out your plans to yoke and rob somebody, you would be facing a much stiffer sentence here today than I am going to give."

Chief Judge Emory H. Niles was speaking in Criminal Court Tuesday afternoon of two teen age youths, prior to sentencing them to two years each in the State Reformatory for Males for burglarizing two realty rants in the 200 and 400 blocks of St. Paul St. on November 25, and stealing a quantity of cigarettes and confections.

The accused youths are Henry Redwell Jr., 18, of the 500 block W. Biddle St., and Charles Owens, 17, of the 800 block Druid Hill Ave.

The youths told Judge Niles that they had started out together on the evening of the burglarly to yoke and rob somebody to get some money, but decided on the burglary instead.

Police officers arrested them at Monument St. and Poly Alley, according to testimony, when they noted the pair carrying several packages about 11:30 p.m.

4 years for $45

Judge S. Ralph Warnken in Criminal Court Wednesday sentenced two men to four-year terms in the House of Correction for the holdup robbery of $45 from Bernard Barnett, of the 1300 block N. Carey St., on November 17.

Sentenced were James Edward Wade, 29, of the 4500 block St. Georges Ave., and Alfred George Robinson, 25, of the 1000 block N. Stricker St.

Assistant State's Attorneys George H. Rosedom and James W. Murphy presented testimony which revealed that Mr. Barnett had been attacked at Laurens and Stricker Sts. by three many after leaving a tavern in the 1500 block of Laurens St.
