Dr. Louis Johnson honored at Me-De-So Club dinner

With Lula Jones Garrett

Sunday, December 1 marked another birthday for Dr. Louis A. Johnson. His wife, Ruth, invited the family and a few friends in to celebrate the occasion at the Me-De-So Club.

Red and green were the predominating colors, suggested by the coming Holiday, Christmas.

This was carried out in the table decor, with ropes of evergreen and poinsettiers interspersed with tall red and green candles centering the length of the table.

At each place there was a Christmas bouquet for the women and snowmen for the men's lapels.

Admid the soft glow of candlelight, the guests sat down to a full course dinner, where the salad, ices and cake carried out the color scheme. During the meals toasts were given and many events in the life of Dr. Johnson were recalled. After dinner two sound films were shown.

SHARING THE pleasant evening and gifting the physician were:

Messrs. and Mesdames George Sides, Arthur Cooper, William S. Taylor, Robert Chaney, James Gwathney, William Pinderhughes, John Murphy, Jack Madden, James Jefferson, Charles Gaskins, Wilton Webb, James E. Lewis, and Dr. and Mrs. Walter Bundy;

Mesdames Lillian Carr, Alma Thomas, Phyllis Anderson, Bertha Cargill, Nellie Diggs, Lavinia Brent, Virgie Morris, Ruby Stewart, Misses Mary and Margaret Williams, Charlotte Brent, Messrs. James H. Carter, Leroy Taylor Sr., Leroy Taylor Jr., Nathan Harris Sr., Miss Alice Pinderhughes, and Masters Frederick Thomas and James Lewis Jr.

Out-of-town guests were:

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Nelson, Jersey City; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Powell, Washington, D.C.

FROM AS far North as Connecticut and as far South as Atlanta, Guardsmen along the Seaboard traveled to Baltimore over the Thanksgiving weekend for two major affairs and a host of parties.

The festivities started Thanksgiving night when Mrs. Kenneth Broom and Mrs. Talmadge Pinkney entertained for Dr. and Mrs. Ed "Lanky" Moore, Miss Daisy Stancil, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee and Miss Trudy Parker, all from New Jersey.

Balimoreans about were Messrs. and Mesdames William Matthews, Vernon Greene, Harry R. Parker, Matthew Payne, James Cley, Elwood Brown, Rip Williams, Adrian Datcher, Lawrence Robinson, Nathaniel Aller and Mrs. Charles Covington.

And, Miss Audrey Briscoe, Mrs. Audrey Butler, Lester Norris, Charles Tilghman, James Wood, Ward Williams, Charles Harris, and James Campbell.

THE FORMAL dance at the Morgan Refectory on Peiday evening and the closed party at the Blue Crest the next night were highlighted by beautifully gowned women and correctly grabed escorts and the tres fine music of Johnny Sparrow with Eura Bailey (Pearl's sister) as vocalist.

Prettiest dress seen about—the brocaded white with turquoise sash and bustle which kept admiring eyes in the direction of Mrs. Wilfred (Gwen) Seaborne).

And the sparzy red number which featured a criss-cross sequin strap and large white orchid on the bustle worn by Mrs. George (Arnetta) Lettier.

Many of the girls this season are going for white and pretty they are too: Mrs. Bee Forcman (Adelle) selected white brocade with what she calls a "poof" in the back.

Sen. Harry Cole's Miss Doris Freeland had white brocade sprinkled with sequins; Mrs. George Jude (Vashti) accented hers with a bustle.

* * *

FOLLOWING THE formal dance Harold and Ruth Jennifer invited guests to their Carlisle Ave. home to warm themselves before a comforting fire place and eat breakfast.

John and Dorothy Wood held forth at a catered breakfast at their Longwood St. home for many of the out-of-town guests as well as local folks.

Then there was the brunch given by Mrs. Charles Covington for Mrs. Ed Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Moore, Miss Daisy Stancil, Miss Trudy Parker, Mrs. Talmadge Pinkney, Mrs. Vernon Greene, Miss Patricia Greene, Miss Dale Covington and Charles Covington Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hillen had breakfast for the Clift Murways and their Brooklyn guests; and the James Dorkinses had a group in after the Saddee affair.

And Dr. and Mrs. Barnett Rhetta Jr. (Ellsworth) topped the weekend off with a fabulous breakfast at their Carlisle Ave. home with some six dozen guests in attendance.

* * *

AT THE Saturday night affair Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Brown had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Fred Z. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mapp, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Marshall Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnson;

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chester had Mr. and Mrs. George Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Blake and Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Chatman;

WEDDING PARTY OF Miss Elizabeth Parker, Douglass High School teacher, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Parker, who was married to Leroy Dyett, mortician, Saturday at Fountain Baptist Church. Mr. Dyett is part-owner of the Jackson Funeral Home. Miss Evelyn Robinson was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Misses Delores Cooper, Lillian Robinson, Mary Eason, Margaret Smackum, Pearl Exum and Antoinette Parker. Little Miss Renee Bates was flower girl. James A. Morton was best man and ushers were James A. Camphor, Henry James, Herbert Nutter, Joseph Brown and Rupert Johnson. A reception in the church annex followed the ceremony.

800 in attendance at the Blackwell-Russell wedding

The Douglas Memorial Community Church on Sunday was the setting of one of Baltimore's most beautiful early winter weddings as Miss Emma Russell, local beautician, 1001 Brantley Ave. was wed to Thomas Blackwell, an Othelia, Va. resort and hotel owner.

Some 800 persons were in their seats when Miss Russell walked down the aisle at 1:45 p.m. on the arm of her brother, Douglas Russell. She wore an ankle length white chantilly lace bouffant gown.

She carried a white prayer book as well as the bride's bridal bouquet of white roses and lace. Her necklace was a single strand of pearls. Her veil was shoulder length net.

Preceding the bride were her sisters who served as attendants.

Mrs. Evelyn Russell Dobson was matron of honor. She wore a pink satin gown brocaded with diamonds and a pink net veil.

Miss Myrtle Russell, a bride's maid wore azalia net fashioned with a full skirt.

Mrs. Dorothy Pullen also a bridesmaid wore deep blue moire gown. The bouquets were crysanthemums in shades of blue, rose, pink and yellow.

Small Stephany Pullen was flower girl and the ring bearer.

* * *

THE VOWS were read by the Douglas Church pastor, the Rev. Marion C. Bascom.

The Senior Choir sang the Lord's Prayer while soloist Eugene Ward sang "Because" and Mrs. Mary Randall sang "I Love You."

Mr. Blackwell was attended by Thomas Wormley, of Lillian, Va., who served as bestman.

The couple honeymooned in New York City.

Among those present at the reception which followed in the church parlors were members of the church, friends and relatives of the couple.

* * *

MISS RUSSELL has been a local beautician for more than 25 years. This is her first marriage.

Mr. Blackwell, a widower, is a native of Virginia, and a fisherman as well as the owner of a prosperous Rappahannock River beach summer resort.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were:

Mrs. Helen Anderson and Sidney Reed, New York; Mr. and Alphonso Brown, Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Lucille Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Otha Blackwell, Alvin Watson, all of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. George Seager, Troy, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Cresswell, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Morris, Louis Russell, Mrs. Janie Conners, Mrs. Gladys Bailey, and Miss Barbara Brooks, Miss Mildred Robinson, all of Washington.
