Judge upholds ouster of St. Johns pastor

Judge Edwin Harlan, in Circuit Court Monday, ended a three - month-old controversy between officials of St. Johns Baptist Church, 400 block N. Pine St., and the pastor, the Rev. Walker Dawson, by upholding a Sunday church membership vote which ousted him as the church pastor.

Judge Harlan also ruled that the church was to pay the Rev. Mr. Dawson, who lives in the 2000 block Norris Lane, $400 within 90 days as a final settlement.

The Rev. Mr. Dawson, in a bill of complaint filed on August 23, had charged that the church owed him $5,479.76, including $5,154.70 in salary and $325 he had loaned the church.

THE BILL of complaint was filed, after the Rev. Mr. Dawson was notified by church officials on August 12 that he was being released as the church pastor. The notification of release charged "unsatisfactory service," it was alleged.

To effect a settlement of the whole thing, Judge Harlan sanctioned a church membership vote Sunday under the direction of Michael Freedman, attorney for the Rev. Mr. Dawson, and Fred Kolodner, attorney representing the church.

The vote was 31 to 23 to oust the Rev. Mr. Dawson. Judge Harlan ruled Monday that the election was valid, and the church is now free to call another pastor.

Man asks $75,000 for auto injuries

Action to collect $75,000 for injuries allegedly received when he was struck by an auto was filed in City Court Monday by James E. Jackson, 200 block N. Broadway against Mrs. Audrey Andrew Evans, of the 500 block Potomac Ave., Baltimore County.

The case was filed by Anthony S. Federico, attorney, on behalf of Mr. Jackson, and charges that the accident at point occurred on the past October 6, at 7:40 p.m., at Broadway and Fayette St.

Mr. Jackson and Mr. Federico charge that Mrs. Evans was driving an auto which struck Mr. Jackson, as he was walking across the intersection, fracturing his left leg and injuring him permanently about the head, body and limbs.

THE THANKSGIVING holiday will be a bit happier for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bennett, 2131 Walbrook Ave., whose children, Jackie, 5, and Beverly, 3, were killed recently in a fire at their home in the 2500 block of McHenry St. Representatives of the Morgan State College Pan Hellenic Council are shown presenting the Bennetts with approximately 500 cans of food. From left to right they are Jack Farrington, Alpha Phi Alpha; Mr. Bennett; holding the three-month-old baby, Denise; Frederick Anderson, president of the Pan-Hellenic Council; Mrs. Bennett and Miss Corola Jernigan, Delta Sigma Theta. The Bennetts, left completely homeless, are staying with Mr. Bennett's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Glover at the Walbrook Ave. address.

—Tunnel opens

the city have complained for years.

Now 16 miles of expressway whisk traffic through the city and channel it through the Harbor Tunnel to save as much as 34 minutes travel time.

The maximum speed motorists may travel within the tunnel itself is 35 miles per hour.

THE TUNNEL represents Maryland's largest public project and the approaches to the tunnel connect it with all major through - traffic arteries in the Baltimore area.

The new through - traffic expressway is also being connected with the New England expressway system which is now under development.

Passenger cars (without atom bombs or tetrafluoroethylene high - explosive compressed gas) will be expected to pay a toll of 40 cents.

Motorcycles, pickup or panel trucks will pay a toll of 60 cents while 2-axel trucks are charged 60 cents toll.

Four-axel vehicles will pay 85 cents and unusual vehicles will be charged 95 cents.

THOSE WHO pay the 40-cent toll may buy books of 30 tickets at 25 cents a ticket which represents a saving of $4.50. However, the book of tickets must be used within a thirty-day period and by the same vehicle for which it was purchased.

The connecting speedway route from North to South via U.S. 40 to Glen Burnie-Annapolis areas formerly consumed approximately 47 minutes travel time with a total of 43 stop-lights.

By the tunnel route and via U.S. 40 travel time is about 13 minutes and the motorist will encounter no traffic lights.

Formerly motorists traveling from North to Washington and the South by the way of the Baltimore - Washington expressway and using Orleans, Franklin, and Greene Sts., found that it took at least 30 minutes to get through Baltimore.

The route went through at least 43 stop-lights.

However, motorists may now use the tunnel system by the way of U.S. 40 and in but 12 minutes time with no stop-lights.

VEHICLES traveling from the North to Washington and South by U.S. 1 using Orleans, Franklin, - Monroe, Wilkens and Southwestern Blvd. to Elkridge and U.S. 1 used to spend 35 minutes passing through some 50 stop-lights.

The route using the tunnel system and U.S. 40 will consume but 17 minutes and will encounter no stoplights.

Travelers going from the East to the West or vice versa by the way of U.S. 40 and those who were accustomed to using Orleans and Franklin Sts., Edmondson Ave., and the Baltimore National Pike usually consumed 34 minutes in travel time and met 51 stop-lights.

The tunnel route which uses the Harbor Tunnel and the Baltimore Beltway will take but 13 minutes and encounter no stop-lights.

Underway but not complete is the $300,000 landscaping project which includes sodding and planting of evergreens, - trees, and flowing scrubbers at points along the 16 miles of expressway system.

TOLL-TAKER Miss Ida C. Neal, 2300 block Bryant Ave., is one of 32 persons on duty today at the 14 toll booths of the Fairfield entrance of the new $130 million Baltimore Harbor Tunnel.

THE NEW Grand Patron and Grand Matron of the Myra Grand Chapter Order of Eastern Star, PHA Louis H. Martin and Mrs. Edith Mosby, flank Grand Master Willard W. Allen and Mrs. Allen with the outgoing officials, Junior Past Grand Patron Ronald C. Reid and Junior Past Grand Matron Mrs. Mary E. Jones of Haver de Grace. They are shown Tuesday, during a two-day session meeting here in Baltimore last week.

TOLL-TAKERS TRAINING CLASS is shown above assembled on steps of the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel administration building in Fairfield. These young women may be seen today (Friday) at stations in the 14 booths at the entrance at Fairfield or at the Canton exit. One hundred men are employed inside the tunnel as guards and workmen.

THIS IS THE SCENE motorists see today as they approach Maryland's new Harbor Tunnel located at Fairfield. The 1 7/10 mile long underwater twin-tube tunnel and speedway arteries connecting it were constructed at the cost of $130 million. Motorists travel some 7,600 feet entirely under the water of the Baltimore harbor and come out at Canton at a saving of as much as 34 minutes traveling time.

ANNAPOLIS DOINGS

By ELOISE RICHARDSON

More than 1,5000 pastors, elders, missionaries, laymen and visitors to the Washington Conference of the AME Church united their forces in the ninth annual session, held here last week at the Mount Olive Church, of which the Rev. Joseph S. Grant is pastor.

The Right Rev. Frank Madison Reid, presiding bishop of the Second Episcopal District, which comprises North Carolina, Western North Carolina, Virginia, Baltimore and Washington conferences, presided.

The conference sessions were conducted from Thursday through Sunday. A major project considered was the planning of a financial drive for the payment of a debt of Kittrell College by the Second District Laymen's Organization and the Alumni Association.

An inspiring feature of much significance was the "Youth on Parade" program when a number of young people's choirs made outstanding contributions.

Choirs participating were: Mount Olive, Annapolis; Mount Moriah, Annapolis; Elkridge Circuit, Falls Road Washington Metropolitan, Washington; Quinn Chapel, Frederick; Pilgrim, Washington; Turner Memorial, Washington.

Miss Josephine Powell, Annapolis, who played a piano solo, and Miss Rachel Cooke, who sang, were among others who presented musical numbers. Misses Patricia Makell, Annapolis, and Sheila Turner of Washington, gave readings.

MISS Carol Parrish, an active member of Mount Moriah Church, gave an informative talk on the work and aims of the newly - formed Hagerstown District Youth Council.

"In her talk, Miss Parrish stated that the group was organized to acquaint members and others interested, with the history of the AME Church; to build up interest in youth and give opportunity for active service.

She also pointed out that the council was organized to interest other young people in the church and to develop civic and race pride among its members.

A strong force in the conference is the Missionary Department, where women work in large numbers from all over the area to carry out that phase of the work.

On Friday afternoon their interesting program featured Mrs. Laura Bishop, the guest speaker, who was dynamic in her talk on the workings of Christianity. She was presented by Mrs. Pauline Mattison of Washington.

Solos were offered by Mrs. William H. Richardson of Annapolis and Mrs. Hattie Barmore of Washington.

Officers and members of the group are:

Mrs. Veatrice Reid, supervisor; Mrs. Anne E. Heath, Washington, connectional president; Mrs. Minnie L. McEaddy Washington, president emeritus; Mrs. Bessie G. Boston, Baltimore, president emeritus; Mrs. Lucille E. Dale Washington, president emeritus;

Also Mrs. Rachel W. Valentine, Washington, president; Mrs. Josephine Grant, Annapolis, vice - president; Mrs. Elsie Gibson, Washington, second vice - president; Mrs. Gonzell Thompson, Baltimore, recording secretary; Mrs. Celeste Duckette, Washington; corresponding secretary; Mrs. Melvina Outfit, Frederick, assistant secretary.

Also Mrs. Pauline Mattison, Washington, treasurer; Mrs. Willie Felix, Washington, statistical secretary; Mrs. Georgia Raby, Washington, parliamentarian; Mr. Ruby Powell, Annapolis, Christian social relations; Mrs. Mary V. Brawner, promotion and missionary education;

Also Mrs. Gladys Gantt, Baltimore, budget and finance; Mrs. Charlesetta Terrell, Washington, constitution and by-laws; Mrs. Darrie Robinson, Washington, Tanner-Turner Memorial; Mrs. Emma T. Humphries, Washington, Handy - Simms scholarship; Mrs. Arlie P. Lewis, Washington, music; Mrs. Leolia Brown, Washington, superintendent Young People's Department;

Also Mrs. Emma Ford, Baltimore, historiographer; Mrs. Ann Guiles, pianist; Mrs. Theodore Harris, Washington, assistant pianist.

Board members are:

Mesdames Della B. Greene, Leola Young, Lelia Hayman, Hallie Bailey, Rosa Rogers and Vera Mayo, all of Washington, and Mesdames D. A. Wilson and Mary J. Henry of Baltimore.

THERE WERE a number of distinguished visitors and delegates in attendance at the conference including Dr. R. W. Manse of Washington, secretary-treasurer of the AME Church; J. D. Cowans, president of the Second District Laymen's Organization; the Rev. Harrison J. Bryant, pastor of Bethel at Baltimore;

Also the Rev. J. R. Johnson, pastor of St. John at Norfolk; the Rev. R. W. Williams, presiding elder of the Portsmouth District, Virginia Conference, and the Rev. W. L. Hilderbrand, pastor of Emmanuel at Portsmouth.

The closing sessions of the conference were held at the Wiley H. Bates High School on Sunday.

Bishop Reid was the morning speaker, and music was furnished for the service by the Mount Olive choir. The Annapolis Choraleers and the Junior Choir of Jones also rendered selections. The Rev. Charles Guiles of Washington, presided.

In the afternoon, the Kittrell College choir was presented in a program of songs. The Rev. Mr. Mattison of Washington was the evening speaker. Music was furnished by the Metropolitan and Pilgrim choirs of Washington, and the Mount Moriah choir of Annapolis.

At the last session, Bishop Reid read the appointments at which time, very few changes were noted.

ON SUNDAY at 4 p.m., Pride of Annapolis Temple No. 76, Elks, will conduct a Rally, at the Elks Building.

Those participating in the rally, which is designed as a contest are:

Mesdames Edna Richards, Carrie Dow, Susie Duval, Dorothy Harris, Edith Kirby, Mary Jackson, Catherine Makell, Helen Ballard, Catherine Murry, Susie Randall, Ethel Ross, Viola Watkins, Dorothy Booze, Marjorie Thompson, Blanche Finley and Mary Boyd.

Members of the committee on arrangements are:

Mrs. Ida E. Harris, chairman; Miss Martha LaCompte, co-chairman; Mesdames Lula Upchurch, secretary; Elizabeth Jones, assistant secretary; Elinor Blackstone, treasurer; Edith Gantt, Grace Thomas, and Ophelia Barnett.

Miss Evelyn Perry is chairman of the program with Mrs. Elizabeth Watkins as co-chairman. Mrs. Margaret Taylor is daughter ruler.

THE ORCHID in Bloom Club observed its Club Day on last Sunday, when an interesting program was presented, followed by a tea.

Mrs. William H. Richardson, children's librarian of the Annapolis and Anne Arundel County Public Library, was the guest speaker. Solos were offered by Mrs. Flora Chambers and Messrs. Roland Colbert, Charles Simms, and Erneit Brown. Readings were given by Mesdames Edith Gantt and Anna Mae Hutton, and Roland Randall.

Clubs participating in the project were:

Charity Unit, Non-Sacenda, Purple Derby, Peerless Reniteles, Pride of Annapolis Temple No. 76, Elks; Ancient City Lodge No. 175, Elks; Reo Chelsea, Gay Bonnet Civic Club, Prseanality Club;

Also the LaCamoos, Mary E. Balain Flower Circle, Past Daughter Rulers' Council, Asbury Gospel Choir, Mt. Moriah Gospel Choir and the Charity Nine.

All members of the club wore purple carnation corsages, one of which was presented to the guest speaker.

Mrs. Edna Anderson, Miss Louise Diggs, and Mrs. Elizabeth Watkins poured at the tea tables.

Mrs. Gemima Kidd was chairman of he program; Mrs. Edith Gannitt, chairman of the social session, and Mrs. Pearl Smith is president.

THE WILEY H. BATES PTA will hold its last meeting of the year on Tuesday evening at 8:30. Mrs. Ida E. Harris is president.

When the Parole Elementary School PTA held its last meeting, the program featured a panel discussion on the subject, "Helping Your Child to Solve His Problems at Home, at Play and at School."

Speakers were Mrs. William W. Dyson, who discussed the subject from the poin of view of the child's problem at home; Mrs. Mary Green, at school, and Mrs. Gwendolyn Pindell, at school.

Mrs. Dyson and Mrs. Frances Wells were sent as delegates from the Parole PTA to the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers, when it meeting was held in Baltimore. They stayed at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, where the meeting was also conducted.

Mrs. Dyson also recently returned from Richmond, Va., where she was called because of the death of her brother's mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Eliza Johnson. Mrs. Johnson was a former resident of Baltimore.

THE REV. AND MRS. E. McKAY MILLER are spending the Thanksgiving holidays in Montclair, N.J.

Mrs. Miller is a new member of the Area Research and Development Command.

The big question this week is what happened to Ed Wiley and his band, who didn't appear at the Happy Hour Club dance on last Satdee at the Unity Hall.

The club had to call out the local high school band at the last minute to play for the packed house.

John Neal, known as "Old Soul," local boy who made good, was buried from his home church, St. Matthews Methodist, on last Thursday.

Broke out pane in effort to get to his wife

"The marriage counselor where I work told me to try and talk to her alone. I called her and she told me to come out to the house. "I hit the door with my shoulder and the glass broke."

This was the explanation Carlins Rivers, 29 - year - old clerk, 700 block N. Fulton Ave., offered Magistrate Linwood G. Koger Sr. at Northwestern Police Court Monday.

Mr. Rivers was charged with threatening his estranged wife, Mrs. Florence Rivers, 1900 block W. Lafayette Ave., and disturbing the peace at the same address.

MRS. MONIA DAVIS, grandmother of Mrs. Rivers, testified Mr. Rivers came there in the night saying, "I want Florence, I want Florence," and broke out a thick glass pane in the front door when she refused to let him in.

Mr. Rivers blamed the grandmother for his marital troubles.

Magistrate Koger gave him a suspended 60 - day sentence and probation for one year on the threatening charge and a $25 and costs fine on the peace disturbance count.

Cherry Hill zoning change okeyed

The City Council on Monday passed Ordinances 1566 and 1567, granting Local 31, Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America permission for an open area parking lot on the south side of Cherry Hill Rd., between Potee St. and Seamon Ave., and changing this area from residential to first commerical use.

The union proposes to build a local headquarters in this area, and use immediate surrounding property for off-street parking of motor vehicles. The ordinances are before the Mayor for signing.

Several weeks ago, residents of the Cherry Hill sector appeared at the City Council to protest these ordinances.

The City Planning Commission, prompted by Dr. Robert L. Jackson, veteran member, has disapproved the zoning change for this sector of Cherry Hill, contending the area should be kept residential for future homes.
