34 want own bundle of joy

"Thirteen persons want Betsy and calls are still coming in," Mrs. Louise Gilliam of the Department of Public Welfare was talking about the five-month-old bundle of joy, whose picture appeared on the front page of last Friday's AFRO.

The baby is available for adoption through DPW.

TWO WEEKS ago the AFRO ran pictures of babies from the Welfare Department's adoption division and some 21 persons called about them, Mrs. Gilliam stated.

It takes about 60 days to complete the adoption procedure which includes a home visit by a case worker and a personal interview.

The babies are both boys and girls and include all ages from infants a couple of days old on up. For further information call Mrs. Gilliam at the Department of Welfare, MUlberry 5-3600.

ELEVATOR BABY and mother, Mrs. Florence Davis, of 925 Myrtle Ave., were "doing nicely" when AFRO Photographer I. Henry Phillips visited them in the University Hospital Tuesday morning.

Infant makes surprise entrance on elevator

"They put me on the elevator and that's when the baby was born."

On Tuesday, Mrs. Florence Davis, 31, 923 Myrtle Ave. gave this account of the unexpected birth of her sixth child, Jerome, Monday at 1:15 p.m. on an elevator between the fourth and first floors of the Baltimore Federal Savings and Loan Association on Fayette and St. Paul Sts.

A former city policeman, Joseph F. Rahak, now a guard in the building, aided in the delivery of the baby.

He said, "I knew he was going to be all right because when he was born crying. The little fellow started yelling right away."

* * *

ANOTHER ex-policeman and guard at the same building, John H. Kehring, also helped deliver Mrs. Davis's baby who was due, says Mrs. Davis on October 27.

Mrs. Davis and her husband, Clarence were on the fourth floor of the building contracting for the purchase of a new home at 19 W. Bernice St. when it began.

Now in University Hospital Mrs. Davis said:

"While I was sitting at the desk signing papers, pains hit me in the back."

Mrs. Mary Riddick, 1200 block Oak Ave., on whose elevator the baby was born, said:

"They brought her to the elevator and told me to take her down quickly. She was perspiring and I knew something was wrong."

Both mother and child were taken to University where both were reported in good shape.

* * *

HENRY FIRK president of the Baltimore Savings and Loan Association has already started a savings account for the Davis baby and other employees of the building have started collecting to add to that account.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis are the parents of five other children. They are Eloise, 13, Bernice, 6, Josephine, 5, Clarice, 3 and Clarence Edward Jr., 20 months.

Mr. Davis is an employe of Bethlehem Steel.

Former Police Office Rehak also became a grandfather Tuesday morning when a baby girl was born to his son and daughter-in-law. He has helped to deliver five other babies.

Four principals visit Douglass Hi

By DAISY WILSON

Principals from four southern high schools visited Douglass last week.

They were Mr. Jones of Campton, Miss.; Mr. Bryant of Fort Valley, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart of Sheffield, Ala. and Mr. Griggs of Reidsville, N.C.

They are members of a team under the Phelps-Stokes Foundation interested in the improvement of instruction, in order to raise the level of achievement of students in the schools of the states that they represented.

Carolyn Ford, Martha Miles, Sandra Oliver, Patricia Morton, Carol Dickens, James Neil and others of the Leadership Clinic of Douglass talked with the visitors.

Arlethea Alsup, Doris Hatch and Yvonne Tucker of 11B17 attended a badminton clinic held at the Eastern High School. A demonstration of skills and techniques was presented by the top ranking world girl badminton player, Miss Judy Devlin and the top ranking Maryland State male player, Bobby Steinwald. Arlethea, Doris and Yvonne are members of the Douglass badminton group.

* * *

TO BROADEN their study of architecture, the art curriculum students of Douglass made arrangements to make class visits to the Walters Art Gallery at various intervals.

The Douglass High School Band under the direction of Chester Rowlette, won first prize for the best band in a parade sponsored by the Optimist Club in the Achievement of Youth on Nov. 6.

Members are: Sandra Ward; are: James Flowers, Harold Aston, Juanita Smith, Barbara Owens, Ann Smith, Skyler Cooper, Regina Williams, George Gallop, Roland Daughtery, Theodore Lee, Dionne Wilson, Larry Whiteheart, Vernon Williams, Earl Byrd, Ellis Dawson, Norman Jackson, Vernon Howard, Ralph Casteley, Adolph Lofton and John Quarrels.

Mrs. Lillian M. Parrott, principal, attended a conference in Chicago last week sponsored by the University of Chicago in collaboration with the National Citizens Council for Better Schools.

She was among four other persons representing Baltimore.

Expect 400 for Hi-Y, Tri-Y meet

An estimated 400 delegates are expected for the Tri-Y and Hi-Y Area Conference to be held at the Druid YMCA from Nov. 29 through Dec. 1, according to Joseph E. Lee, boy's work secretary of the Druid Hill Avenue YMCA.

Mr. Lee said that Christian homes are being sought so that suitable living space will be available for the delegates.

Tri-Y and Hi-Y groups attending the conference will be from Maryland, Washington, D.C., southern New Jersey and Maryland.

Officers of the local Hi-Y and Tri-Y Clubs of the city were installed recently by Mrs. J. Carey Taylor, member of the board of directors of the YMCA and former assistant superintendent of Baltimore city schools.

* * *

DR. TAYLOR also spoke to the gathering of approximately 60 high school student officers and other guests during the Fifth Annual City-Wide Officers' Installation Service of the YMCA.

The program was held at the Second Presbyterian Church, with Clay French, Towson Hi-Y Club president, as host chairman.

Installed from the Dunbar High School Hi-Y were:

William Bridgeforth, president; James DeVance, vice president; William Taylor, secretary, Larry Taylor, treasurer, and Berkeley Mosely, chaplain.

Neither of the other two Hi-Y Clubs affiliated with the Druid Hill Avenue YMCA installed its officers during the program.

Program agenda at School 128

At the recent meeting of the PTA meeting at School No. 128 an agenda of varied activities for the year was presented.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of a Thanksgiving program in a music and choral speaking by John Myers' sixth grade class. Pupils participating were:

Claudine Weeks, Valentine Davis, Delores Sanders, Jeanette Parson, Sandra Hall, Hazel Garrett, Janice Clayton, Loretha Moses, Shellye Hawks Barbara Smith, Ernest Tyler, Patricia Scott;

Alvin Jackson, Solomon Davis, Ann Williams, Lorraine Hawkins, Dorothy Maynard, Jerry Moore, James McDaniels, Doris Curry, Shirles Imes, Armelia Anthony, Wesley Dargan and Jeanette Mealy.

Presiding at the meeting was Mrs. Lilly Swift, PTA president. Other officers included Mrs. Rosalee Johnson, vice president; Mrs. Barbara Hill, secretary; and Mrs. Louise Jones, treasurer.

Coordinating Council Representatives are Mrs. Florence Maynard and Mrs. Susie Harding.

Play is planned

The Ira Aldridge Players of Morgan State College will present their first productions of the year Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 25 and 26, 8:15 p.m. in the Morgan Christian Center Little Theatre.

The production will be "Janus," a romantic comedy in three acts. The public is invited. There is no admission.

Overseas students appear on Morgan lecture program

Four overseas students now studying at Morgan State College gave thembers of the Lecture Group reports of their countries here last week.

The students appeared on a panel, "Youth Looks at New Nations," during a weekly lecture program of the organization, a local women's group devoted to study and analysis of significant issues, problems, and concepts.

Appearing on the panel were: Charles A. Cooper of Liberia; Jean LeClerc of Besancon, France; Mrs. Doreen Wilkin of Jamaica; and Juanito Barry of the Virgin Islands.

8 appointed at Morgan

Eight appointments and four resignations were announced by the Morgan State College Board of Trustees following its meeting Thursday.

They are:

APPOINTMENTS

RESIGNATIONS

Miss Maxine E. Luck, principal clerk; Miss Mary Goode, senior stenographer; Thaddeus Valentine, steam fireman; and Mrs. Dorothy J. Watkins, practical nurse.

Granted a year's leave of absence for maternity leave was Mrs. Bernice E. Kinard, senior clerk.

Observance at School No. 146

American Education Week's theme, "An Educated People Move Freedom Forward," dominated the week's observance at School No. 146.

Highlight of the week was the open house. Following visitation by parents, the Parent's Club was organized and plans formulated for the school term. This was followed by a social hour in the lobby of the main building where parents and teachers gathered.

The committee for the week was composed of Mrs. Dorothy Pollard, Mrs. Charlotte Watkins, Mrs. Jeanne Fitts, Mrs. Florence Kidd, Mrs. Eliza Dugas and Mrs. Ellen Fisher, chairman.

Clifton S. Murray is school principal.

Dr. Jackson back at desk

Dr. Houston R. Jackson, assistant superintendent of schools is back at his desk schools, is back at his desk.

His wife, Mrs. Constantia W. Jackson explained he might have to use the cane for some time because his "foot is very painful."

His condition has been diagnosed as rheumatoid arthritis. He was stricken, Oct. 20, while returning home from choir rehearsal at Union Baptist Church.

Fleming in Tenn.

Dr. G. James Fleming, associate professor of political science at Morgan State College, participated in the meeting of the Southern Political Science Association, Nov. 21-23 at the Mountain View Hotel, Gatlinburg, Tenn.

Dr. Fleming, who is a member of the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission of this city, will participate in a panel discussion of "Changing Political Arrangements in the South."

Dr. Robert L. Gill and Dr. Alexander J. Walker, professors of political science, also attended the conference.

ATTENDED SESSION

Jake Cox, instructor in education and director of Audio-Visual Laboratory at Morgan State College, attended the twelfth Seminar-Workshop in Visual Communication at Holyoke, Mass., recently.

SOME 2,500 pupils witnessed the crowning of the Douglass High School Queen, Barbara Harris, in the school auditorium recently. Mrs. Lillian Parrott is principal.

Royalty crowned at Douglass High

By Daisy Wilson

Royalty filled the air at Douglass last week as the king and queen were crowned. They were Leonard Hearn of 10A1, and Barbara Harris of 11B1.

Leonard, the seller of 2,760 tags received a portable television as a gift from the school and $5 through the courtesy of Nathaniel Aler.

The queen, Barbara, was the recipient of a portable radio from the school, a gold bracelet donated by Brockenbrott Jewelers, and a ceramic pearl set donated by Burdell's Jewlers of Mondawmin.

* * *

THE IDENTITY of the king and queen of Douglass was kept locked in the safe until the time of the crowning. Mrs. Lillian Parrott, principal at Douglass, announced the runners-up and the king and queen of Douglass for 1957-'58.

Serenus Churn, master of ceremonies, presented the court. The band played the royal salute and the stage became a picture of royalty. An array of camera bulbs flashed. The girl runners-up were attired in white evening gowns, while the boys dressed in dark suits.

Almie McIntyre, who sold the second highest number of tags which was 2,079, was presented a four speed hi-fi record player and a gift certificate from Arundel Ice Cream Company.

Each runner-up received a prize.

The runners-up are: Kay Neal, Paul Wilson, Luther Brickers, Morris Foote, Shirley Taylor, Raymond Jolley, Katherine Brown, Marian Cherry and Patricia McClary. Susie Jones and Carol Barner, campaign managers of the winning candidates were awarded genuine leather wallets.

This annual event marked one of the big highlights in the school's history.

In observance of American Education Week, Douglass held Student Day. That's the time when the students take over the management and the administration of the school.

Principal for the day was Houston Stansbury.

Reading shows increase in favor

Reading is on the upgrade in Baltimore, according to Arthur H. Parsons Jr., director of the Enoch Pratt Free Library.

From January through October, Mr. Parsons said, local library users of all ages checked out nearly 86,000 more books from the Pratt's various agencies than during the comparable ten months of 1956.

Recent circulation figures totaled 3,001,943, as against 3,005,986 volumes for the same period a year ago.

MEETING PLANNED

"Ethical Discovery in Education will be the subject of a talk by William G. Shannon, Executive Director of the Encampment for Citizenship, on Sunday, Nov. 22, 11 a.m., before the Baltimore Ethical Society, 19 E. North Ave.

The meeting next Sunday is open to the public.

TEEN-AGE MEDLEY

By LAVANIA RICE

If you were on McCulloh St. late Friday night and heard many weird sounds, don't worry, Sputnik didn't land, it was only a sound session by Dorsey Skinner.

The affair was quite a success and the refreshments were great.

A few of the guests were McNair Taylor, Russell Smathers, Evelyn Brown, G. Dorman, Elnora Johnson, Mary Scath, Pat Henson, Helen Flemmings, B. Johnson, Jenette Eady, Julia Butler, and last but not least, Michael Moses and Henderson Clarke.

On Saturday a welcome home party was given for Barbara Allen and Jackie Johnson. This party was a real scream, due to the fact that the hostess-Miss Annie Irby, got the date mixed up for the returning of the girls and so the party started and ended with a big bang — the funeral services are being delayed until further notice.

As consultant

Dr. Eunice Shaed Newton, associate professor of English at Morgan State College, served as a national consultant at the third annual conference on Improvement of Instruction sponsored jointly by the Phelps-Stokes Fund and North Carolina College.

The conference was held at North Carolina College in Durham and brought together a large group of public school teachers and other educators.

Historian speaks

Basil Taylor, well - known English art historian, will speak at the Baltimore Museum of Art, Thursday, Dec. 5 at 8:30 p.m. on George Stubbs, famous 18th century British painter of horses.

Mr. Taylor is librarian and lecturer in the History of Art and Architecture, Royal College of Art, London. He studied at Oxford University, the Slade School of Art, London University and is a Fellow of the Royal College of Art.

WHATS THAT?—These are some of the people who were snapped by the AFRO photographer as they watched the Boumi Temple Shrine Circus last week at the 5th Regiment Armory. More than 10,000 persons witnessed the week long show.

Cherry Hill has Education Week

Parents, pupils and teachers joined hands in our annual celebration of American Education Week at the Cherry Hill Junior High School.

On the opening day of the week, the members of the Future Teachers of America Club presented a play entitled "A Salute to Our Schools".

Mrs. Ruth Davis was in charge of the program.

The second feature of the week's celebration was a demonstration of the groups of instruments used in the orchestra. This activity was conducted by Mrs. Dorothy Avery, instrumental music teacher.

The closing assembly for the week directed the attention of the parents and students to the needs, purposes and problems of education through topics discussed by the following pupils: Joan Green, Robert Jones and James Anthony.

The overall program for the week was arranged by Robert Mitchell who made a survey of the amount of college training that the faculty had received.

The following information was revealed: that 47 teachers had spent a total of $250,000 for college training; this training had taken a total of 250 years; that the total number of college degrees represented among them was eighty (80), 25 of which were advanced degrees.

Teenagers hold dance parties

A series of "teen ball room dance parties" sponsored by the Department of Recreations and Parks are now being held at the Cherry Hill Community Center.

A total of 70 boys and girls have enrolled for the parties which are held on Wednesdays from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Recreation officials say the group was organized by the purpose of teaching young people basic dance floor manners and dance steps.

The club, comprised of youngsters in the 12 to 14 age group will conclude its activities on December 18 with a Christmas dance party.

The following girls and boys are enrolled: Charlie Alston, Camilla Bastyp, Gloria Boone, Barbara Boyd, Medford Campbell, Patricia Carroll, Yvonne Coleman, Ernestine Crafton, Reginald Eubanks, Gloria Early, Barbara Elliot, Raynold Gorman, Calvin Gaynes, Arthur Harris, Charles Harris, Marvin Hart, Marlene Henderson and Cheryl Henry.

Members of the Junior Teen Dance Party Series will appear on TV Teen Canteen in January 1958.

Mrs. Alice Caster, Bureau of Recreation staff member is supervising the activities of the Teen Dance Parties. She is assisted by Mrs. Myrtle Burge and Mrs. Alice W. Parham.

BTW group has meeting

By LINDA ROBINSON

The Student Affairs Committee held its initial program in the Booker T. Washington Junior High School auditorium the first week of November.

Under the direction of the Baltimore Music Club, Frank Zito, an accordionist, a delightful program of Spanish music was rendered.

The School band, under direction of Mr. Nolan, presented a number of selections, also.

HOSPITALITY NIGHTS

On Monday, November 25, the Baltimore Section of the National Council of Jewish Women will sponsor another in-its series of Hospitality Nights in the auditorium of the Patterson Park High School, located at Pratt Street and Ellwood Avenue.

Teacher's poem

(ED. NOTE — Teacher Mrs. Mary R. Carter of the Elmer Henderson School No. 101 penned this poem after several of her youngsters visited her while she was ill.

She said of this visit "Teaching the young is a rewarding job. You receive rewards far above monetary remunerations . . ." We agree with Mrs. Carter.)

Tonight they came a'calling
Two young men still unwed,
They knew that I was ailing
And languishing a'bed.
They came with fruit and flowers,
Told me how much I was missed,
Chatted cheerily beside my bed
But left me still unkissed.
Yet they assured me of their love,
And that my absence brought them sorrow,
Asked me to hurry and get well enough,
To return to class tomorrow.

Morgan honor unit initiates 13 students

Thirteen initiates and 49 pledgees of Promethean Kappa Tau, freshman honor society at Morgan State College, were told recently to forget "your environment has made second class citizens of you."
