Nothing contained in Sections 1-5 of this article shall be construed to include or to apply to any institutions, club, or place of accommodation which is in its nature distinctly private, nor to prohibit the mailing of a private communication in writing sent in response to a specific written inquiry.

4. Penalty and punishment. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of Section 1-5 of this article by denying to any citizen, except for reasons applicable alike to all citizens of every race, creed, color, national origin or ancestry, the full enjoyment of any of the accommodations, advantages, facilities or privileges enumerated herein, or by aiding or inciting such denial, or who shall aid and incite the violation of any of the said provisions shall, for each and every violation thereof, forfeit and pay the sum of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500) to the City to be recovered in a civil action, with costs, and shall also, for every such violation, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be subject to a fine of not more than five hundred dollars ($500) or imprisonment of not more than 90 days, or both and suffer suspension of his business license for 30 days.

(a) Action for penalty; costs and attorney's fees. Any person aggrieved by violation of judgment, whether the grieved party or parties in any action authorized by this article, may institute said action in the law courts of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City. # New program at Morgan explained for principals

How Morgan State College is experimenting to develop an "opportunity" program with stiffer standards was explained to 24 secondary principals, supervisors, and counselors here Saturday.

The discussion of new developments in the college program was a major item on the agenda at the Seventh Annual High School Principals Conference, held in Morgan's Memorial Refectory.

Morgan Dean, George C. Grant, chairman of the conference, described the "abilities-differentiated freshman curriculum," which was instituted this fall and other aspects of the program which seeks to give every student the opportunity to succeed while strengthening the academic standards of the college.

Also describing new program developments were Registrar Edward N. Wilson, who discussed the new selective admissions policy which requires that a student rank in the upper three fifths of his class; Miss Madge Hibler, assistant professor of English, who discussed the speech program; and Dr. Maurice A. Lee, professor of English, who explained how the college is working to provide formal classroom experience in reading for all freshmen.

* * *

IN A second phase of the conference, William H. Fauntleroy, principal of the Robert Moton High School, Easton, Md., was the moderator of a discussion of "Pre-College Factors Affecting Success in College."

Speaking on this copy were six Morgan honor students who are graduates of Maryland high schools.

They were Miss Eleanor Queen, Bates High, Annapolis; Miss Marie Brown, a departmental honor scholar in the department of English and a graduate of Dunbar High, Baltimore; Miss Audrey Covington, also a senior honor student majoring in English and a graduate of Salisbury High, Salisbury;

Also Miss Thelma Moore, Carver High, Rockville; Maurice Dorsey, a product of Douglass High, Baltimore; and Morris Thrower, Sollers Point, Dundalk, graduate.

A luncheon concluded the conference.

Chipman, principal, Salisbury High, Salisbury; Charles J. Coates, principal, Pocomoke High, Charles County; Elmer D. Davis, counselor, Worcester High, Snow Hill;

Miss Minnie H. Woolford, principal, Percy H. Williams, principal, Central Consolidated High, Bel Air; and Henry T. Yost, principal, Baltimore City College, Baltimore.

Attending from Morgan were Dr. Ruth C. Brett, Frederick R. Dedmond, Nick A. Ford, Thomas F. Fraser, Maurice A. Lee, Clarence Monroe, Benjamin Mazur, George Pinkney, Florence Stephens, Julius H. Taylor, Albert N. Whiting.

Also Mrs. Vivian E. Cash, Mrs. Norma P. Collard, Miss Madge Hibler, Dr. Otis D. Lee, Mrs. Ruth McDaniel, Mrs. James E. Lewis, Eugenia Stanley, Edward N. Wilson, and J. Percy Wood.

PERENNIAL YOUTH — That's what Ralph Lee, 8, 1134 N. Stricker St., represents as he whizzes down the sidewalk rolling a rubber tire and carrying a book and a bundle from home. The lad slowed down long enough to say "I want to be an artist when I grow up."

Teenage Medley

By LAVINIA RICE

In addition to the excitement of the football games, this week the juniors of Western High were quite excited about their official recognition as juniors.

The entertainment was supplied by the Glee Club of City College.

Sterling Wallace and James DeShields played several selections to accompany the Glee Club. Those who sang with the Glee Club were: Elliot Harrington, Alvin Cannon and Wesley Whiten.

THE "CARANAVAS," some of whose members are Sterling Wallace, Raymond Boyd, Barry Howie, Tromas Taylor and James Buster, a Poly student, sang many of the favorite rock 'n' roll songs.

A few of the juniors who were present at the program were:

Census asking race verified

"Certainly we are doing it because it is an important fact to know when we make a school population study.

"We could make a mistake as much as 50 percent in providing school space for a neighborhood if we failed to consider the population factor in changing communities.

Our position on this is that nobody's race is a disgrace. The major consideration here is that we must have all of the factors in order to map our program."

That was the comment Friday of Dr. John Fischer, superintendent of schools concerning an AFRO story that a school census entitled "a child population register as of Oct. 31, 1957" is asking that race and sex be identified in code.

Instead of asking whether children are colored or white teachers have been asked to identify their pupils as follows:

White female, code 1; white male, code 2; colored male, code 3 and colored female, code 4.

NOW THEY CAN—When Mrs. Georgia M. Boston (left), 1603 Harlem Ave., and Mrs. Anna G. Dixon, 1815 N. Smallwood St., started taking oil painting lessons about two years ago from Mrs. Rebecca Mills, right, they both declared they couldn't draw a straight line. Wednesday they joined in proudly exhibiting some of their work. A new oil painting course for adults start Thursday, Nov. 7 at 827 N. Arlington. Classes are held 8-10 p.m. and students pay $1 an hour for lessons. Mrs. Mills says there is no class limit for enrolling.

Approximately 1,600 fourth, fifth, and six graders, as well as high school children of Anne Arundel County went to a Biltimore theatre recently to attend a showing of "This is Cinerama."

The witnessing of this picture stemmed from an outgrowth of the Social Studies Units which the children are studying in their respective classrooms.

Miss Sarah V. Jones, area supervisor, made this educational venture possible. The PTA's and principals provided the necessary transportation.

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—The actions of the only female member of the Anne Arundel County Board of Commissioners in connection with recent anti-integration incidents at Deale, Md. has caused her to be sharply censured by the Sixth District Democratic Club here.

Mrs. Paulina W. Remey was charged by the Democratic group with "acting and speaking in violation of her duties as a public official in the Deale school situation."

The group referred to Mrs. Remey's actions in the school situation involving Dr. Harry N. H. Jones, who withdrew his six-year-old son from the Deale School annex in September following violence and threats against him.

At that time, Mrs. Remey said she didn't advocate violence as long as the Supreme Court order was the law of the land, but at the same time she termed the high court integration mandate a "political" thing.

The Democratic committee in its monthly publication stated: We strongly recommend that the club neither endorses nor supports any candidate subscribing to such unstudied action seeking office under the banner of the Democratic party."

Douglass and Morgan win youth honors

Morgan State College and Douglass High School figured prominently in winning honors during an Optimist International Parade here Wednesday held in observance of Youth Appreciation Week.

The group referred to Mrs. Remey's actions in the school situation involving Dr. Harry N. H. Jones, who withdrew his six-year-old son from the Deale School annex in September following violence and threats against him.

At that time, Mrs. Remey said she didn't advocate violence as long as the Supreme Court order was the law of the land, but at the same time she termed the high court integration mandate a "political" thing.

The Democratic committee in its monthly publication stated: We strongly recommend that the club neither endorses nor supports any candidate subscribing to such unstudied action seeking office under the banner of the Democratic party."

Cheers came from the crowd when Sgt. Richard E. Robinson, instructor of the outfit, yelled instructions to the crack company during close order drills.

Meanwhile Douglass High School walked away with first place honors for the best band in the parade as the young musicians performed through the streets and in front of the reviewing stand at City Hall.
